One break comes every year in my quiet life. Then I go to Dresden, and there I am met by my dear friend and companion, Fritz von Tarlenheim. Last time his pretty wife Helga came and a lusty, crowing baby with her. And for a week Fritz and I are together, and I hear all of what falls out in Strelsau, and in the evenings as we walk and smoke together we talk of Sapt and of the king and often of young Rupert, and as the hours grow small at last we speak of Flavia, for every year Fritz carries with him to Dresden a little box; in it lies a red rose, and round the stalk of the rose is a slip of paper with the words written, "Rudolf—Flavia—always." And the like I send back by him. That message and the wearing of the rings are all that now bind me and the queen of Ruritania, for—nobler, as I told her, for the act—she had followed where her duty to her country and her house led her and is the wife of the king, uniting his subjects to him by the love they bear to her, giving peace and quiet days to thousands by her self sacrifice. There are moments when I dare not think of it, but there are others when I rise in spirit to where she ever dwells; then I can thank God that I love the noblest lady in the world, the most gracious and beautiful and that there was nothing in my love that made her fall short in her high duty.

Shall I see her face again—the pale face and the glorious hair? Of that I know nothing. Fate has no hint, my heart no presentiment. I do not know. In this world perhaps—nay, it is likely—never. And can it be that somewhere, in a manner whereof our flesh bound minds have no apprehension, she and I will be together again, with nothing to come between us, nothing to forbid our love? That I know not, nor wiser heads than mine. But if it be never—if I can never hold sweet converse again with her or look upon her face or know from her her love—why, then, this side the grave I will live as becomes the man whom she loves, and for the other side I must pray a dreamless sleep.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

CURE

Sick Headache and relieve all the troubles incident to a bilious state of the system, such as Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Distress after eating, Pain in the Side, &c. While their most remarkable success has been shown in curing

SICK

Headache, yet Carter's Little Liver Pills are equally valuable in Constipation, curing and preventing this annoying complaint, while they also correct all disorders of the stomach, stimulate the liver and regulate the bowels. Even if they only cured

HEAD

Ache they would be almost priceless to those who suffer from this distressing complaint; but fortunately their goodness does not end here, and those who once try them will find these little pills valuable in so many ways that they will not be willing to do without them. But after all sick head

Two Little Stories.

There is a little story in the memoir of Sir Charles Bunbury which may well be remembered among the strange tales of kings. When Humboldt was at the Tuileries for the last time in 1847 and was about to take leave Louis Philippe said to him: "Tell my good brother the king of Prussia that I am very firm here. I am very popular. All France is at my feet. The kings of Europe may sleep soundly, for there will be no more revolutions." In little more than two months Louis Philippe was a fugitive.

Another story in this volume which has its touching side concerns Sir George Napier, the fine soldier. After the battle of Toulouse a group of English officers were petting a French dog, whose owner had taught him to accept food only when it was offered with the right hand. But Sir George had to offer a crust with his left hand because he had no other. The dog looked at him steadily for a moment—and took it.

A Queer Deception.

Wanted.—By a lonely, childless couple, a baby to adopt; good home and kind treatment. X. Y. Z.

A mother of seven, reading the above advertisement, almost choked.

"How sad!" she said. "How touching! I am very sorry for the poor, lonely pair. I do hope they get a nice baby."

But her husband, a detective, grunted.

"That advertisement," he said, "comes, ten to one, from a baby farm. Whenever you see an advertisement like that you can be reasonably sure that it is some money making dodge. Were you to answer it you'd find that you would be expected to pay $2 or $3 a week board for the adopted babe.

"Babies are very, very plentiful. There is no need to advertise for them unless you want them for money making purposes—unless, like a baby farmer, you handle them in wholesale lots commercially."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

KILLED AT BOWMANVILLE.

Distressing Accident West of Grand Trunk Station.

Bowmanville, Nov. 8.—A distressing fatal accident happened about 500 yards west of Bowmanville station of the Grand Trunk Railway yesterday afternoon by which Charles Stanford was instantly killed. The way freight from the west was being run into the siding to the freight shed and this young brakeman was going to close the switch after it.

In jumping from the front end of the conductor's van on the north side he held the railing by his left hand instead of his right, as he should have jumped from the train. Stanford was thrown under the van and his scalp was almost completely severed from his head, so that his brains were let out.

His home is supposed to be at York, and this was his first day out as a brakeman. The body was carried to the freight train and went west on No. 7 express last night.

PREFERENCE INEVITABLE.

Jameson's Declaration at Grahamstown, South Africa.

London, Nov. 8.—(C. A. P.)—Mr. Jameson, speaking at Grahamstown, referred to the policy of preference enunciated by Cecil Rhodes as a link in the consolidation of the Empire. Although the colonies received a slap in the face at the Imperial Conference, Imperial preference would come as sure as fate, and the South African colonies would continue the policy of preference till the Mother Country realised its inevitability.

New Provincial Detective.

Toronto, Nov. 8.—John Miller of the Hamilton police force has been appointed, it is understood, to the position of a provincial detective. Since the death of John Murray, Sergt. Reburn has been acting as an auxiliary and will continue to do so, Detective Greer being at present on vacation, and Detective Rogers suffering from indisposition.

Mr. Miller has been 14 years on the Hamilton police force, 11 of these in the capacity of detective. He is about 35 years of age, and is considered an excellent and clever officer. It is understood that his salary will begin at $1,500.

Bank President Sentenced.

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 8.—Dr. F. J. Tygard, president of the Bates National Bank of Butler, Mo., which failed a year ago, was sentenced Wednesday to five years in the penitentiary. The conviction was on the charge of misapplying funds of the bank.

Tygard is past 70 years old, and is partially paralyzed. He pleaded guilty to the charges and was given the minimum sentence.

Three Years For Theft.

Woodstock, Nov. 8.—For stealing $1 from Roy Rudd, a clerk in H. E. Douglass' cigar store, Wm. Bates was yesterday morning sentenced by Police Magistrate Ball to three years' hard labor in Kingston Penitentiary. Bates is a bad character, and arrived here recently from Detroit.

His mother is now serving a long term for trying to kill him and his sister with a hatchet in the spring of

TERRIBLE DEATH TOLL.

In One Year 5,000 Persons Were Killed on U. S. Railways.

Washington, Nov. 8.—The interstate commerce commission bulletin upon accidents upon railroads of the United States during the year ended June 30 last, shows total casualties 81,286, or 5,000 persons killed and 76,286 injured. This shows an increase of 10,352 casualties, or 775 killed and 9,577 injured, as compared with the previous year. These figures include only accidents to passengers and to employes while actually on duty. The bulletin says:

There have been heavy increases in all of the items, except accidents in car couplings and from striking against overhead obstructions. The number of passengers killed and injured in collisions and derailments has increased to an alarming degree. In this item the very large total reported in 1905 is now exceeded by 17 per cent. The comparative smallness of the increase in casualties due to coupling and uncoupling cars, and in accidents to men on the tops of freight cars, is undoubtedly due in large measure to improvements in the maintenance and care of automatic couplers, and to the increased use of airbrakes on freight trains. The disastrous record of casualties to passengers in train accidents (4,108 killed), is due in large measure to ten accidents, which caused the death of 291 persons.

BLACK HAND THREATENS.

Residents at Soo Receive Demands For Money—Police Baffled.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Nov. 8.—Attempts of the Black Hand to obtain money through the medium of threatening letters have created considerable excitement here and detectives from the provincial department, Toronto, have been in the Soo some days endeavoring to ferret the matter out.

During the past week or so Capt. Letcher, a wealthy Englishman; John McKay, barrister, and John Dunseath, merchant, have received threatening letters from the northwest, in the vicinity of Medicine Hat, demanding sums of money under pain of death and destruction of property.

The money was to be left in certain places, and in order to catch representatives of the Black Hand a watch was kept on Letcher's home Wednesday night. A dummy parcel was placed in the spot named, and, no one appearing, the detectives left at 5.30 yesterday morning. Letcher went for the parcel an hour later and it was gone.

The matter was not regarded in a serious light until proceedings at the Letcher home leaked out, and as a result the Soo is greatly excited. Police are still working on the case, but acknowledge they are so far baffled.

A "GOLD-BRICKED" CITY.

St. Catharines Cannot Get Trace of the Lady Wanted.

St. Catharines, Nov. 8.—The whereabouts of the woman who so gently "touched" Leonard H. Collard for $200 is still a mystery, though A. W. Marquis, barrister, was at Niagara Falls, N. Y., all Wednesday afternoon in search of a trace of her. All he could find out was that she had been seen getting off the St. Catharines trolley, and that she had been around till afternoon. He compared the signature on the forged note, and found it to correspond with the handwriting on the telegram, and the clerk in the office described the woman as the same person who worked the swindle game. After she left the telegraph office no trace of her could be found.

Dr. Workman's Statement.

Montreal, Nov. 8.—Rev. Dr. G. C. Workman, who has retired from the chair of Old Testament exegesis at Wesleyan Theological College, issued a statement yesterday.

Dr. Workman denies that his teachings are Unitarian either actually or in drift, and affirms that they differ from evangelical faiths only as critical statements from ungritical.

He further claims that the termination of his connection with the college is a breach of an agreement reached at the Montreal conference, and accuses Principal Shaw of spreading unfounded reports of his unorthodoxy among members of the board.

LEARN DRESS-MAKING BY MAIL

in your spare time at home, or take a Personal Course at School.

To enable all to learn we teach on cash or instalment plan. We also teach a personal class at school once a month. Class commencing last Tuesday of each month. These lessons teaches how to cut, fit and put together any garment from the plainest shirt waist suit, to the most elaborate dress. The whole family can learn from one course. We have taught over seven thousand dress-making, and guarantee to give five hundred dollars to any one that cannot learn between the age of 14 and 40. You cannot learn dress-making as thorough as this course teaches if you work in shops for years. Beware of imitations as we employ no one outside the school. This is the only experienced Dress Cutting School in Canada and excelled by none in any other country. Write at once for particulars, as we have cut our rate one-third for a short time. Address:—

Travelling Secretary's Plans.

Manila, Nov. 8.—United States Secretary of War Taft has definitely decided to return home by way of Vladivostok, through Siberia and Europe. He has received, through the American consul at Vladivostok, the assurance of the Russian Government that the recent disturbances there will have no effect on his plans. The Secretary will sail from here at noon on Sunday on the flagship Rainbow.

Wife Honorably Acquitted.

Ottawa, Nov. 8.—Mrs. P. Charbonneau of Nominingue was ill-used by her husband, and was forced to leave. In her husband's absence she returned and appropriated some personal and bed clothing which belonged to herself. Her husband had her arrested for theft. In the Hull court yesterday the magistrate honorably acquitted her.

Dangerous Fire at Hastings.

Hastings, Nov. 8.—About 11.30 yesterday morning, fire broke out in the furniture store of P. N. Howard, and owing to a strong wind it looked for a time as if the east end of the town would be destroyed. However, the fire was prevented from spreading, and the loss was not as great as was anticipated.

Bride and Groom Lost Lives.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Nov. 8.—The bodies of Michael Cantlin and his bride, whom he married Wednesday night, were found in their apartment in a local hotel yesterday, both having been accidentally asphyxiated by illuminating gas.

Drowned In Klondike Lake.

Renfrew, Nov. 8.—John Chisholm of Renfrew was drowned in Klondike Lake, Algoma, last Friday. He was crossing in a canoe, which upset.

Collins Will Hang.

Ottawa, Nov. 8.—The Governor-General yesterday approved of an Order-in-Council yesterday allowing the law to take its course in the case of Thos. Collins, now in Albert County jail, New Brunswick, under sentence of death for the murder of Mary Ann McAully. Collins will be hanged on the 15th inst.

Snow In New York.

Watertown, N. Y., Nov. 8.—A heavy snowstorm, the first of the season, is prevailing in northern New York. It began at an early hour yesterday morning and continued until 9 o'clock. Several inches of snow fell.

Japs Becoming Naturalized.

Vancouver, B. C., Nov 8.—Twenty-five Japanese applied for naturalization papers before the county judge yesterday.

Fire at Strathroy.

Strathroy, Nov. 8.—The Bincombe planing mill was destroyed by fire last night.

THELA TEST DEAN PATTERNS

A PRETTY FRENCH FROCK FOR HOME MAKING

The new designs for dresses for small children are quite simple enough to be made at home if mother so desires—as so many mothers do. The prettily shaped yoke of the model here sketched offers ample opportunity for the display of some fine hand embroidery or braid trimming, while the rest of the dress may be left plain, with the exception of the cuffs, which should correspond with the yoke. Narrow tucks regulate the fullness of the blouse at the yoke line in front and back, while two downward turning tucks decorate the bottom of the skirt. There is a wide choice of suitable materials of which to make this charming little frock, including China silk, nun's veiling, albatross and, if preferred, a lingerie fabric. The 4 year size calls for 2p 5/8 yards of 36 inch material.

4275—6 sizes, 1 to 6 years.

Paring a Pineapple.

The hardest way to pare a pineapple is to keep the fruit whole and pare it from the outside, as one would an apple. A much easier method is to first cut out the blossom with a sharp knife, then cut the pineapple in two and cut the inside out close to the rind. Another easy method is to slice the pineapple crossways in inch slices and then remove the rind from each slice.

Manager Central Ontario Sun Life of Canada
Peterborough, Ontario.

DEAR SIR,—

Your favor of the 24th inst. received enclosing statement of profits allotted to my policy 7001, in the "Sun Life" for the past five years.

Above policy is for $1,000 on the whole life five year distribution plan on which I paid an annual premium of $28.36, or $141.78 for the five year period.

I find the CASH PROFITS amount to $53.85, or about 40 per cent. of the total premiums paid during the five years. This is certainly a splendid showing and speaks volumes for the earning powers of the Sun Life Company's investments.

Thanking you and wishing your company continued success,

Yours truly,

Social Evening at T.A.S. Rooms

Members Enjoy Progressive Euchre—The Prize Winners

An enjoyable social evening was spent last night by the members of the T.A.S. in their rooms.

About one hundred and seventy-five persons were present and progressive euchre was played. Two handsome prizes were awarded to the lady and gentleman having won the most games. Miss Annie Fagen carried off the honors for the ladies while Mr. Michael Sweeney took the gentleman's prize.

After euchre had been enjoyed for two hours, dainty refreshments were served, and the gathering dispersed at twelve o'clock.

Trial Trip of the "Bessie Butler"

The New Government Boat Took Party Down the River Yesterday

The official trial trip of the new Government steamer, "Bessie Butler," was made yesterday, down the Otonabee river, and was in every respect a success. The craft is admirably fitted up, and possesses every convenience. She is a speedy, steady, and even running, and is a credit to the fleet of the Trent canal, as well as to her builders, the Polson Iron Works, Toronto.

Among those on board were Mr. J. J. Main, chief engineer, of the Polson Iron Works, Toronto, Mr. Gerth, government engineer, of Montreal, Messrs. J. H. Larmonth, Richard Hall, A. A. Hollingshead, W. T. Hall, A. J. Grant, superintending engineer of the Trent Canal, Robert Fair, T. F. Matthews, Dr. Bradd, D. Conroy, Wm. Quinn, E. S. Clarry, and others.

Prof. Beane Known to Many Old Residents

His Death Occurs Suddenly in Los. Angeles—Taught School in Peterborough

(A Los Angeles, Cal., despatch contains the announcement of the death of a Prof. George S. Beane, who was a member of the staff of the Peterborough Collegiate Institute. He will be remembered by many of the older residents of the city. He was a brother-in-law of Mr. W. Sailsbury, of Toronto, who formerly conducted a bookstore here:

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 7—The sudden death here of Prof. George S. Beane, Ph.D., formerly of Toronto, has caused great sorrow throughout Southern California. Dr. Beane was head of the department of physics and electrical engineering at the University of Southern California. In company with three of his children, who are attending the university, he left his home in the suburb of Bervanza, and ran to catch a street car. The effort was fatal, for Dr. Beane had hardly boarded the car when he fell and almost immediately expired.

Dr. Beane leaves a widow and five children. The immediate relatives of the professor, outside of his family, live in Toronto, in which city he was born, May 14, 1860. He was a graduate of Toronto University, where he gained high honors.

WON LANG AND MAHER'S SPECIAL

Mr. Alf. Robson Largest Competitor at Norwood Fair

Mr. Alfred Robson, of Norwood, has won Lang & Maher's special prize, which was offered at the Norwood exhibition for the competitor taking the largest number of prizes. Mr. Robson also won the prize last year and deserves congratulation on his splendid showing. Lang & Maher have received the following letter from the secretary of the East Peterborough Agricultural Society:

Messrs. Lang & Maher,
Peterborough.

Dear Sirs.—This is to certify that Mr. Alfd Robson was awarded the prize for your special, he having won 86 first, 50 second and 20 third prizes, thereby securing 387 points. His nearest competitor took 167 points.

Yours truly,
JOHN E. ROXBURGH
Sec.-Treas.

Norwood, Oct. 30th.

The donation of the special prize by Lang & Maher has done much to stimulate interest among the large competitors at Norwood fair. Mr. Robson is a firm believer in the policy that farmers should exhibit at the local fairs, and has met with great success in this line.

MR. BORDEN TO TAKE A REST

Ottawa, Nov. 7.—Mr. R. L. Borden M.P., left for Montreal this afternoon whence he goes for a couple of weeks' rest in the Southern States.

Plural Marriages In Canadian West

Rev. G. T. Webb Says Mormons Consider Canada as Next Stronghold

"There are as many plural marriages in Canada today as there are in the United States." This statement although seemingly incredible, was made in the course of an interview, in Winnipeg by Rev. Geo. T. Webb, brother of Rev. J. R. Webb, Peterborough and general secretary of the Baptist Young People's Association, of America. He assured the correspondent that it was correct, as he had himself gleaned the information from interviews with the Apostles of the Mormon Church."

"While out West," continued Rev. Mr. Webb, "I intend, if possible, to visit the Mormon settlement and learn what I can of the situation. The people of Canada are not awake to the danger the Mormons have on Canada. In Utah the Mormons are loosing their hold, and this rather quickly. Two Gentile councils have been elected at the past two elections and this they do not like. Now they consider Canada as their next stronghold. They are in Canada now, and these plural marriages take place, and the people of this country do not know of it. While in Salt Lake City I happened to learn these facts, and I believe Canadians should know about it."

Mr. Soden Had Finger Broken

Mr. R. J. Soden, while lifting some heavy poles had the misfortune to have one fall on his right hand, breaking the bone of the third finger. As he has considerable handling of his Christmas goods to do, at the present time, he will be greatly inconvenienced by this accident.

A Toronto electric line man was killed yesterday by being crushed under a Yonge street electric light pole.

New Addition To Schoolhouse

Miss Coon, of East City, Will be Assistant Teacher

The contract for the building of the addition to May's school house has been awarded to Mr. W. J. Martyn, and he has a gang of men busy at the work. The school is quite inadequate at present for the number of pupils attending as there are 76 on the roll and more ready to enter. The average attendance for the month of October was 58.

Miss Coon, daughter of Rev. W. C. Coon, east city, has been engaged as assistant for 1908 to Miss Hamilton, who will be the principal.

Think Simpson Will Push Him Hard

Peterboro' Man Will Give Longboat a Grand Argument

The Toronto News says: Tom O. Flanagan and Tom "O." Longboat bought themselves a shave, a shoe shine, packed away their clean handkerchiefs, and hied them away for Montreal last night the advance guard of the Toronto contingent for the great C.A.A.U. sanctioned independent harness 15-mile team race in Montreal Saturday. To-night the rest of the L.C.A.C. team and the Central and West End teams leave in charge of Fred Smith and C. H. Ashley and N. H. Crow, the secretary of the C.A.A.U. The race is creating the keenest interest all over Canada, and judging from the caliber of the entered, it is anybody's race. There are 14 teams entered, and while Tommy Longboat is the logical favorite, and should win, many think that in 15 miles Fred Simpson, the Peterborough Indian, will give him a grand argument, and Frank Lawson of the West Ends; W. B. Goldsboro, of the Central's; Abbie Woods, of the Gordons; George Adams, of Hamilton; and Cumming and Green of the L.C.A.C., will be there, knocking on the door all the way. They should keep the red-skins hustling. Longboat should win after the trial he ran yesterday, at Varsity, when he ran 10 laps of Varsity track in 29.30, beating Green a lap and Price a lap and a half. Price had a sore leg. Once lapped, Green clung to Longboat grimly, and they had a whipping finish. Tom barely beating off the Mohawk, who had a sore ankle, from the Hamilton Herald road race. The Toronto teams:

THE DAYLIGHT STORE

"He's a Clean Cut Looking Fellow"

This remark is often made concerning the young man wearing one of our Handsome Suits.

The young man of to-day demands the very newest fashion—the very latest innovations. No shabby coats, no narrow lapels, no bag-bagging garments for him this season. We select certain lines of Suits from tailoring houses that are specialists in Young Man's Clothes, whose styles are patterned after what one sees on the college campus—dashingly daring, but not too extreme.

Suits at $12.00, $15.00, $18.00

OUR OVERCOATS too are extremely stylish and yet moderately priced. Don't fail to see what we can do for you. We have many new customers daily. Why? Because we have the best goods at the price.

The disease is believed by the doctors to have been brought here from Manitoba.

Bright Knobs on Planet Saturn

Information Communicated to Local Branch of Astronomical Society

Dr. Neal, secretary of the Peterborough branch of the Royal Astronomical Society, has just received a bulletin from the observatory at Harvard College, stating that a telegram had been received from Prof. W. W. Campbell, a director of the Lick observatory, to the effect that bright, prominent knobs, had been discovered, during the last week in October on Saturn. There are four of them, two on the east, and two on the west side. The knobs have been attracting great attention from astronomers.

SHORT SIGHTED POLICY OF SOME OF THE TRUSTEES

Will Not Comply With Act and Cannot Get Their Government Grant

County Treasurer Elliott has still $1,329.80 on hand from the Government grants to Public schools in the county. This money has not yet been paid over to a number of schools entitled to grants because they have not yet complied with certain provisions of the School Act, principally the one making it necessary for each school to have a library. Some of the trustees of the rural schools seem determined not to comply with the Act, and as a result they lose their grant, for the money will not be paid until the provisions of the Act have been met. The short-sightedness of their policy is apparent, as a library could be put in for less than $25, while in the majority of cases the grant is about $100.00, and in no case less than it would cost to institute a library.

Was Disorderly on the City Streets

Farmer Had an Exciting Time—Fined Heavily in Police Court

"Chas Brann, you are charged with being disorderly on the public streets of this city last evening," said His Worship this morning at the police court, to a man who looked like as if he had come through a threshing machine, so badly battered was his face.

"I rather think I'm guilty," said the prisoner, "Well you'll soon know if you once look in a mirror," said the magistrate.

Brann had evidently been in a pugilistic encounter. His face had several scratches and cuts, and a black eye completed the list of damages.

Chief Roszel went into the box and stated that the prisoner, with his wife and father-in-law, were driving out McDonnel street, about six o'clock last evening. His team were driven into a telegraph post. Soon a large crowd gathered, and there was great excitement, getting the horses to the middle of the road again. Brann was making considerable noise, and wanted to fight. The police were phoned for. When P. C. Adams arrived, the farmer started to run, but after a good chase the policeman got him and brought him to the station.

His Worship imposed a fine of five dollars and costs amounting to $8.75, which was paid forthwith.

Another charge of escaping from the police was held against him but the magistrate dismissed it.

TWO VAGRANTS

"Mousey" McDonald, who has been away from the city for some time, returned from Cobourg yesterday, and this morning, appeared in the police court. "What are you doing here?" he was asked. "Cobourg can take care of its own vags. Get a ticket for him, Chief, and send him back with our compliments," were His Worships remarks.

Chas. Young came to the police station yesterday in despair, and asked to be sent to gaol for the winter. He is out of employment and claims that he cannot get work. His Worship gave him the choice of going to Central Prison or getting out of town. He chose the latter and promised to leave the city at once.

Price of Flour May Come Down

Cost Has Decreased in Winnipeg—Likely to Follow Here

In all probability the price of flour made from Manitoba wheat in Peterborough will decrease within the next few weeks. The high figure demanded for some time past at Winnipeg, has come down 20 cents per barrel. A prominent millling man remarked today, that the same change would be made here. The financial difficulties have to a great degree been accountable for the rise and fall in the price of wheat. The farmers in the West were unable to get their wheat shipped on account of having no money and the banks ceased advancing funds. This increased the price of grain, but the situation has been greatly relieved, and flour has come down to its former mark, although, the decrease has not been made here.

The fact that the price will be lowered very soon will be welcome news to bakers and to every one else who has to buy flour.

It is predicted that flour will be high next spring. The supply of wheat this year will be all used up by the mills so quickly that a scarcity is bound to come and the great demand may cause the price to advance.

HOCKEY

Lindsay is agitating for an intermediate hockey league team this year.

J. S. McDonald was sentenced to four years in the Dorchester Penitentiary for robbing North Sydney, post office.

Simpson's Cup on Exhibition

The beautiful silver cup won by Fred Simpson in the Hamilton Herald race on Thanksgiving day, is now on exhibition in the window of Lang & Maher's store, George street. The trophy is a handsome one and is attracting a great deal of attention.

ROADS IN VERY BAD CONDITION

And Party Could Not be Conveyed to Sandy Lake To-day

The road between here and the northern part of the county are in a very bad condition at present, owing to the recent heavy rainfalls, in many places there are nearly impassable, in many places there are utterly impassable.

Mr. J. Irwin, of Inverlock, Sandy Lake, was to have come to the city today to take a party consisting of Mrs. A. C. Bliss, Mrs. Pentland, and daughters, and Messrs. Perry Alexander and T. Boyd to Inverlock Cottage, Sandy Lake, but owing to the condition of the roads found it impossible to make the trip.

The party will drive back to the lake, when the roads are in a more favorable state for travelling, and with the exception of Mr. Alexander will probably remain there about two or three weeks. Mr. Alexander will stay at Inverlock, the guest of Mr. J. Irwin, until after the first of next year, and will spend most of his time in the pursuit of game in the woods at Sandy Lake and vicinity.

Good Clothes At Low Figure

Where One Can be Outfitted at Reasonable Outlay

Many families of new-comers who are finding it hard to procure the necessaries of life, and to whom luxuries are for the present denied, will find the Wardrobe Store, on Aylmer street, near Hunter, a very practical place to go to when clothing is required as winter comes on. At this place, for a trifling price, a good outfit of clothes can be procured, and lean purses can be made to stretch out for a longer time than they would otherwise. Mr. Jay is always on the lookout for supplies of a suitable character, and has a good assortment always in stock.

GREAT DEAL OF EXCITEMENT OVER THE GAME

Greater interest is being manifested in the game tomorrow than in any that has been here this season. It is quite natural, too, that this should be the case, as the issue of the match is of the greatest importance to both teams. The team winning becomes champions of the O. R. F. U. and will play off with the intercollegiate winners, for the championship of Canada.

A JAUNDICED VIEW

While the conduct of a few of the young men who went to Lindsay on the Thanksgiving Day excursion, was not what it should have been, the Watchman-Warder's scurrilous statements are not at all justified. The young men of Peterborough, as a class are as respectable and as law-abiding as those of any town in the country and the statements of the Lindsay paper demonstrate the author of them to be a "knocker" of the first magnitude and, to recall the statement of the small boy, who replied to his opponents, who had called him vile names, with the words, "All them things you said I am, you are, and more too."

The first election in the Philippines for provincial governors was held on Tuesday. Returns, while not complete, indicate that the Progressive Party has scored a victory.

The foregoing were the officers elected at the third annual meeting of the Young Conservative Club held last evening in their rooms on George street.

There was a large attendance and the gathering was a most enthusiastic one. In the absence of Vice-President Mr. J G. M. Wilson, who was confined to the house, Mr. T. E. Bradburn, M.P.P., presided.

The first part of the evening was taken up in the reading and adoption of reports.

Mr. M. Mowry presented the secretary's report in which reference was made to the success of the work during the past year. Great regret was expressed at the loss to the club of such valuable and respected members as Dr. Considine, E. M. Denmistoun and J H Burnham, who have removed from the city.

Mr. E. Phelan presented the report of the rooms committee, in which reference was made to the liberal manner in which the games department had been patronized. Mr Sam Campbell, the faithful custodian of the club quarters, also came in for considerable praise for his untiring work.

Mr. Wm. Buller presented the treasurer's report which was encouraging. The club has between 600 and 700 members.

Mr. Wm. Aitcheson read the auditors' report and afterwards the election of officers was proceeded with.

Messrs. James Edgar and J W Garvin moved a hearty vote of thanks to the old officers for the efficient manner in which they had discharged their duties. This was carried amid applause.

For the presidency of the club, Mr J. H. Burnham, now of Toronto, having retired, there were several nominations, but all withdrew except Messrs. Wm. Buller and J G M Wilson. A ballot was taken and Mr. Buller was declared elected. On motion, his selection for the important position was made unanimous.

The new president then took the chair and returned thanks for the honor conferred upon him. He promised to fill the office to the best of his ability and asked for the hearty co-operation and support of all the members.

The election of the other officers was next proceeded with. A meeting of the newly elected executive will be held on Saturday, Nov. 15.

A small honorarium was voted to Mr. M. Mowry, secretary, in order to defray the expenses for postage, etc., during the past year.

CONFIDENCE IN LEADERS

A resolution of approval and confidence in Mr R L Borden, the Liberal-Conservative leader, and in his wise, progressive and statesmanlike policy, was moved by Mr. T. E. Bradburn, M.P.P., and seconded by Mr. E. Phelan and unanimously carried. Mr. J. W. Garvin and Mr. R. E. Layfield moved an appreciative resolution of confidence in Hon. J. P. Whitney. They spoke in terms of high praise, of the clean, honest and upright administration that he had given the Province of Ontario.

After this had been carried, with applause, the gathering broke up by singing the National Anthem, and ringing cheers for the King, Messrs. Borden and Whitney, and the newly elected officers.

The third annual meeting of the Young Conservative Club passed off most pleasantly, and was characterized by harmony, unity and enthusiasm. Another successful year in its history has been passed, and the prospects of the club for the future are of the brightest and most encouraging character.

During the evening appreciative references were made to those who had kindly given addresses before the club last year, as well as to those who had assisted in the musical programmes and other entertainments

FIRST ANNUAL WATCH CONTEST

On Saturday night a Jar of Beans will be placed in the box office of "The Crystal" and each person presenting one of the coupons issued by us during the week will be entitled to estimate the number of beans therein or to make as many estimates as coupons he presents, and the person making the closest estimate to the number of beans contained in the jar will receive the prize—

A GOLD WATCH

The number of beans in the jar will not be known to anyone until they are counted by a prominent citizen on the following Monday.

Rev. Dr. Workman Makes Statement

Denies That His Views are Unitarian Either Actually or in Drift

Montreal, Nov. 7.—Rev. Dr. C. C. Workman, ex-Professor of Old Testament Exegisis at the Wesleyan Theological College, who has resigned on account of the dissatisfaction of the board with his views, issued a statement today.

Dr. Workman denies that his opinions are unitarian, either actually or in drift, and claims that they differ only from evangelical faiths as critical statements from uncritical.

Dr. Workman further claims that the termination of his connection with the college is a breach of the agreement reached at the Montreal Conference, to which Dr. Shaw was, he states, partner.

In addition he accuses Principal Shaw of spreading unfounded reports of his unorthodoxy among members of the board.

Noted Visitors Attended Lodge

Bros. Derbyshire and Blackeby Addressed the Oddfellows Last Evening

At the regular meeting of Peterborough Lodge, No. 111, I.O.O.F., held last evening there was a large attendance of members, as well as several visitors from Otonabee Lodge, No. 13.

The first degree was conferred in good style on three candidates, two being from Norwood Lodge.

The meeting was made very interesting by the presence of Bro. Daniel Derbyshire, of Brockville, Grand Warden of the Grand Lodge, and Bro. A. H. Blackeby, of Kingston, Superintendent of Agencies of the Oddfellows Relief Association. Bro. Blackeby gave an instructive and helpful talk on Oddfellowship, its principles and progress. His remarks were closely followed and much appreciated.

Grand Warden Derbyshire gave a humorous address and kept all in good spirits by his witty sayings. He was accorded a hearty welcome.

At the close a vote of thanks was tendered the distinguished visitors, on motion of Lt.-Col. Miller, P.D.D.G.M. Both the guests warmly complimented the degree team on its efficient work, and said it was equal to that of any degree team that they had ever witnessed.

AMUSEMENTS

"The Mayor of Laughland" is the kind of musical production that affords a good evening's jollity without imposing a serious strain on the ntellect, and that is its exact purpose. The audience that saw it at the Grand last night was very much pleased with it, judging from the laughter ad applause with which t was greeted. The play was bright and tuneful and the chorus, while small, had some lively and attractive members and a large variety of costumes.

Tom Waters, as Michael Ignatius O'Flynn, the Mayor of Laughland, was the chief laugh provoker, and gave a clever portrayal of the role. His trick and legitimate piano playing were features of the programme that appealed strongly to his listeners and won him many encores.

One of the oddest comedy character never seen on the local stage was "the boy," Jimmy Short, a bell boy, the part being taken by Major Casper Nowak, a diminutive little fellow, who lacks many feet physically, but who makes up for any defects in this respect by a voice that is fully as strong and natural as that possessed by the average man. He cut up some droll antics and his every appearance on the stage was a signal for an outburst of laughter. Charles Fulton, as Charlie Shultz, was easily the most gifted male vocalist of the cast, and rendered "My Lonesome Little Maid," and "My Pipe and My Stein" in good voice. He is the possessor of a pleasing tenor of good range. Other of the more prominent members of the company were Otto Koerney, Walter V. Milton, Bessie Merrill, May W. Waters and Lenore Butler.

The plot of the piece affords scope for enough action to carry it through without it ever becoming monotonous, and during its unravelling is interspersed with several catchy musical numbers, among the best received of which, including the two mentioned above, were "Boss of the Town," sung by Tom Waters; "Eak," an Eskimo ballad, marked by the typical Indian style of melody that has been so popular ever since Williams and Van Alstyne wrote their "Navajo," "Linda," a darky melody of the better class, the rendition of which was aided by pretty light effects; "Jolly Old Tars," introducing the diminutive "Major" to good advantage, and "Soldiers of the U.S.A."

The Successful Starters Were Given Prizes

Were Guests at "Mayor of Laughland" and Mr. H. R. H. Kenner Made Presentations

At the Grand Opera House last night, owing to the generosity of Manager J. J. Turner, thirty-five local athletes, taking part in the various road events on Thanksgiving day, were the guests of the management at "The Mayor of Laughland," on the occasion of the presentation of the prizes to the Examiner Road Race winners, and of the re-presentation of the trophy won by Fred Simpson, when he ran second in the greatest road race event in Canada. Mr. David Hartley, the local walking wonder was also among the guests.

Sometime before the opening of the performance, many of the starters in the Examiner senior and junior events were on hand. When Simpson, accompanied by his trainer, Dick Baker, and Ben Howard, who ran second in the senior Examiner event, entered, he was given a flattering reception by the audience. As the various other athletic parties took their seats they were also generously applauded.

Between the first and second acts of the play, Mr. H. R. H. Kenner gave the winners their prizes, preceding the presentation by a very neatly expressed address, in which he summed up the brilliant showing of Canadian athletes in recent years, and spoke of the prowess the sons of the different spheres of athletics. He showed a wide knowledge of the sporting situation in so far as Canada is concerned, and during the course of his concise and meaty review, his voice could be heard to all parts of the auditorium.

"As this is my first appearance in comic opera," he said at the beginning of his remarks, "I hope you will be lenient with me." He said he had been requested to present the prizes to the Examiner Road Race winners. He told of the different sports in which Canada excelled, and remarked on the great enthusiasm showed by Canadians in walking and running. Mr. Kenner told of the famous battle at Marathon Greek, and of this historic run of the Greek soldier. The same course has been run since by modern athletes and Sherring won great fame for Canada, when he came first in the event in 1906. The next famous course is probably the Boston Marathon, while the third most celebrated is the Hamilton Herald race. In the last named event, Mr. Fred Simpson, the fleet-footed Hiawatha boy, won second place in a field of Canada's fastest runners. Mr. Ray East finished 25th at Montreal in a race that was contested by a particularly large number of fast men and his showing was a highly creditable one.

Mr. Kenner stated that while he was no prophet, Simpson was going to meet Tom Longboat. This remark was greeted with thunderous applause and cheering.

The successful starters in the Examiner senior and junior events were then presented with their prizes. Fred Simpson was handed the cup he won at Hamilton, and Mr. David Hartley was introduced to the audience. As the different athletes made their appearance on the stage they were given a great ovation by the audience.

Fourteen Deer for Ketchecum Club

Harry Winch's Party Meeting With Great Success

The Ketchecum Lake hunting party had fourteen deer on Wednesday night. Mr. Hazen Ritchie, who was one of the party, returned to the city yesterday and brought back the above gratifying information about the success of the club. Fourteen deer in less than a week's hunting is surely "going some" and there will be venison galore when Harry Winch and his men return.

SENATOR COX STEPS DOWN

Retires From Presidency of Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company

Toronto, Nov. 7.—At a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company yesterday there were some changes in the officers. Senator Cox resigned from the presidency, his place being taken by Mr. G. G. S. Lindsey, K.C., who has been general manager for some time. Mr. James D. Hurd, of Duluth, succeeds Mr. Lindsey in the general managership.

The long expressed wish of the Hon. George A Cox, to retire from the presidency was, with great regret given effect to at yesterdays meeting of the board of the company. This office the Hon. Mr. Cox has held for nine years, during which he has given freely of his time and energy to build it up to the immense proportions it today attains. But Mr. Cox's desire to lessen the burdens of too many responsibilities had to be yielded to.

Mr. G. G. S. Lindsey, K.C., was at the same meeting advanced to the office of president, vacated by the retirement of the Hon. Geo. A Cox, with the understanding that as chief executive, he devote all his time and attention to the duties of that position and, as this in turn involved the appointment of a new general manager, that office has been filled by the selection of Mr. James D. Hurd, of Duluth, a mining engineer of long experience. Mr. R. M. Young becomes the secretary of the company.

The new president is a graduate of Upper Canada College and the University of Toronto, and in 1886 he was called to the bar. In 1890 and 1891 he was an alderman in this city and three years later unsuccessfully contested West Toronto in the Liberal interest. He was also president of the Toronto Reform Association for two years. In his college days he founded the periodical known as "Varsity," and afterwards assisted in the publication of "Cricket," a journal devoted exclusively to that sport. Mr. Lindsey is at present a member of a number of clubs in Toronto, Winnipeg, Nelson, Spokane and Butte, Montana. Besides the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company, Mr. Lindsey is connected with the Morrisey, Fernie and Michel Railway and the Crow's Nest Pass Electric Light & Power Company.

Granted License as Local Preacher

At a meeting of the Quarterly Official Board of Charlotte-st. church, held last evening, Mr. G. F. Horsley, president of the Epworth League was given an examination by the pastor and members and granted a license as a local preacher. It is Mr. Horsley's intention later to enter the Albert College, Belleville, and prepare for the Methodist ministry.

LINDSAY PAPER TALKS FREELY

Peterboro' Has "Ignorant Young Men of the Lowest Class" Etc.

The Lindsay - Watchman-Warder hands out the following hot stuff:

A Peterborough paper on Friday had a timely editorial headed "Advertising Peterborough," and points out how the success of Peterborough sports in the various lines benefitted the city by advertising it. The Watchman-Warder desires to call attention to the fact that Peterborough is getting another class of advertising that is decidedly hurtful. We refer to the tough, rowdy element (such as came here from Peterborough on Thanksgiving Day). This element advertises Peterborough as a city of ignorant young men of the lowest class — vulgar, mouthy, noisy rowdies. It is up to the press of Peterborough to educate its youthful fry. They should be taught the fact, that lack of decency, lack of sense, and a profusion of ignorant noise, are simply evidence of lack of training, and inherent poor breeding.

The gang here on Thursday were a disgrace to their city—to any city; as well as annoyance to the town they visited. Surely certain small respect and courtesy is due to a town visited.

Not only did the Peterborough toughs, create disturbance here, but further performance was indulged in on the train. Three fellows got into a dispute regarding the payment of their fares, and battered up the conductor and the brakesman. In this connection Lindsay may be pardoned for feeling pleased that one of these fellows was fined $95, another $75.

PASSEPARTOUT PICTURES AND MOUNTING BOARD

The fad for passepartout pictures is again growing very general. Many who have used this means of decorating their rooms, find there is no other way of treating pictures, that is so economical and satisfactory. The Review has a new line of passepartout in all shades, mounting papers and pictures in the popular sepia tints. Call and see them and fix up a few pictures for your friends for Xmas. Nothing is more acceptable than a pretty picture.

WEDDING BELLS

SHORT—NEISH

The wedding was celebrated at the home of the bride's parents, Mr and Mrs. John Neish, in Otonabee, of Miss Margaret Neish and Mr. Richard Short on Wednesday, evening in the presence of about fifty guests. Rev. D. D. McDonald tied the nuptial knot. The bride was becomingly attired in a gown of cream voile, and was attended by her cousin, Miss Jennie Comrie, who wore cream colienne. Mr. H. Short supported the groom. The bride was the recipient of numerous handsome and costly presents. The happy couple will reside in Otonabee.

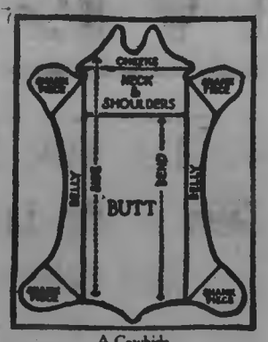
Has Tough Heels

Improvement Number Five

A Soft Right Angle Heel



A Cowhide

A Foot-rite Tough Heel

There's always some part of everything that's neglected. In a shoe it's the heel. Any old stuff for the heel is the policy of most shoe makers. Wood, paper, leather shoddy, scrap leather—every sort of shoe factory junk is put into the heel. It's the most adulterated part of a shoe. And this junk is nailed on with cheap wrought iron nails, which crumble on hard pavements like chalk.

Well, what of it? Just about this much. A heel made of shoe junk commences to slough off at the back at the first wearing, and after ten days that heel looks like a right angle with the long flat side up, and the hypothenuse on the bottom. At the right angle point this right angle heel has jammed up into the arch of the shoe, destroying its form and giving the feet a slouchy, slovenly, kidney shape. (See illustration above).

We can't make a heel that'll last always. Might as well say we could make a shoe that would last forever. But we can make, and do make, a heel that will last a mighty long time, and this is how:

Every Foot-rite heel layer is solid leather. Every layer of leather is selected "butt" stock. Don't know what "butt" stock is, do you? The picture of a cowhide above will explain. The "butt" is the thickest, finest fibered, most unwearoutable part of the hide. This "butt" skin is treated with oak bark tannic acid by a new and secret process exclusively Foot-rite, which renders it as flexible as whalebone and as hard as a hoof. These layers are attached with wide, thick brass nails, driven in near the heel's circumference. We've tested all nails and brass is the toughest. Then the heel's bottom edges are cleverly beveled, which throws all wear on the nails.

Foot-rite tough heels save expensive repairs, save shape, save shoe looks, give comfort.

Anywhere in America, Canada or Great Britain—$4.00, $5.00 to $6.00. Goodyear Welt machinery makes them worth more.

A GOOD SELECTION

It is gratifying to learn that the members of the Board of Education believe in the principle of promotion and that in the selection of a new head master for the Peterborough Collegiate Institute, they have not gone to some outside point. The Board deserves credit for choosing Mr. H. R. H. Kenner for the new Mr. H. R. H. Kenner, for the important and responsible position. Mr. Kenner is in every way well qualified for the honor by reason of scholarship, experience and training, and will doubtless discharge the duties in an efficient manner. He has been for fourteen years a faithful and energetic member of the staff, and his work has been of the most satisfactory character. He is a good disciplinarian and has always taken a broad view of the functions of a teacher. He has given time, talent and energy to many literary movements in the city, is secretary of the newly organized Canadian Club and has long been identified with clean, healthy sport. Mr. Kenner's many friends will warmly congratulate him on his elevation, and believe that, under his jurisdiction the Collegiate Institute of Peterborough, will lose none of its prestige or usefulness. He will assume his duties of the principalship in September next. The numerous friends, of Mr. C. Fessenden, for 17 years head of this institution, while regretting the cause which has led up to his voluntary resignation are glad that he has been retained on the staff, and trust that in the less responsible and exacting position of senior mathematical master, he may enjoy many more years of service and devotion to the profession of which he has so long been an ardent and honored member.

PEN POINTS

The many friends of Mr. William Butler will congratulate him on his election to the presidency of the Young Conservative Club. Mr. Butler has been an indefatigable worker in the interest of the club, and as treasurer, was faithful in season and out of season, in promoting its welfare. He has shown executive ability of a high order and his promotion is well deserved. Mr. J. G. M. Wilson, who was a candidate for the presidency, has also rendered this association good, faithful service, and while his defeat is regretted by his many co-workers, they promptly moved that Mr. Butler's selection be made unanimous, and tendered their best wishes to this newly elected president, amid loud applause.

The Toronto Globe of 1857 said: At length, we believe, the people of Canada are to have an opportunity, expected and ill-timed though it be, to pronounce their verdict upon the men and the policy by which they have been ruled for the past three years. . . The character of the Government is well nkown. Its intrigues, its false pretences, its corrupt practices, its reckless extravagance, its bad statesmanship, its internecine strife, its demoralizing shifts to retain power, its immorality, public and private, its desperate condition peculiarly, and the certain ruin that stares the country in the face if longer subject to its rule, should cause it to be loathed and abhorred by all honest men and hissed from every hustings where it ventures either in person or by deputy to show its head." If the Globe would only apply these remarks to the Laurier Government today, how it would hit the nail squarely on the head.

Dancing has been introduced as a feature of the public school routine in New York. It was introduced by writers in The World's Work, to give school girls "interesting and helpful recreation that would have a real part in their lives outside of school hours." Dancing was found to be superior to gymnastics in having, like the latter, the element of "control," and in addition the "play" element. Hence it answered the problem of finding "the form of organized play which would bring the greatest amount of good to each child." When the proposal was made to take up dancing in the schools as an exercise for girls, says the writers, Dr. Luther H. Gulick and Harry J. Smith, "three things were said in its favor." The first was that in the limited space of the gymnasium, the roof play ground, or the school basement a larger number of children can be handled at once in a dance than in any other way. The second was that in a given space there was more all-round physical exercise in dancing than in gymnastics or any team game. And the last was that in the few instances where it had already been tried elsewhere, the children had become enthusiastic about it. That was a strong argument; for it must never be forgotten that the object of the undertaking was primarily to develop the play spirit. Anything perfunctory would defeat its own ends."

HE RAN NAIL INTO HIS FOOT

Mr. J. G. M. Wilson, a popular employee of the C.G.E. Co., ran a nail in his foot while at the C.G.E. Angling Club House, a few days ago. Mr. Wilson has been unable to get around since, but is progressing favorably.

Ops Man Says He Owns Big Portion of Lake Scugog

Makes Claim That Part of the Trent Valley Waterway Belongs to Him and He Intends Proving His Right

The Lindsay Watchman-Warder says: Mr. W. B. Fee, Ops, was a caller at the Watchman-Warder office this week. Mr. Fee thought that in the reference last week in these columns to his case against the Belfer Company that mention should have been made of the fact that case arose out of the ownership of the Scugog river. Mr. Fee admitted that the case did not hinge on this point but rather on the question of damage done by the ditched cribs of logs which hurt his fence.

At the same time Mr. Fee maintains that part of his reason for taking the action was to prove his ownership of part of the Scugog river. This is a pretty big claim, but Mr. Fee has at least some color of right in the contention and much documentary evidence to support his point.

To know that part of the wonderful Trent Valley waterway may be private property is, to say the least, very interesting.

Briefly, Mr. Fee's claims are supported as follows:

In a grant from the Crown dated February 28th, 1833, one Cheeseman Moe, was given the title in 200 acres of land, INCLUDING ALL THE WOODS AND WATER THEREON. This land grant corners the land now owned by Mr. Fee. And certain others in this district are in the same position. The Scugog river, then but a small creek that could be literally stepped across, was one of the waters included in this grant. Moe deeded the land to a Mr. Waddell, and from Waddell the 100 acres came to Mr. Fee. The grant was given during the reign of William the Fourth, and the document in Mr. Fee's possession is a very interesting exhibit. The grant and subsequent deeds give all the land and waters down to the original channel. Then along comes the Trent Canal, with the flooding and widening of the waterway. This, Mr. Fee says, put 8 acres of his land under water. When claims were made for damage by flooding, etc., Mr. Fee and some of his neighbors whose farms front on the water, did not put in claims nor receive recompense.

Mr. Fee now claims that he still owns this land and water covered by the original grant, and he says that perhaps he will take the matter to a higher court for a decision.

That any private individual may own any part of the wonderful waterway is almost enough to make the Laurier Government develop another scandal in the cabinet.

Charlotte Street Methodists Will Erect $30,000 Church

Edifice Will Seat 1000 Persons and Will be Built on Site of Present Building—Strong Committee Appointed to Arrange All the Details.

At a meeting last night of the Quarterly Official Board of Charlotte-st. Methodist church, Rev. H. M. Manning presiding, the report of the subcommittee appointed some time ago to consider the advisability of erecting a new church, was received and adopted.

The report was to the effect that a new structure be built to cost about $30,000 and capable of seating 1,000 persons. It is expected that the edifice will be built on the site of the present one and that work will begin early in the spring.

A strong committee was appointed to arrange all the details, costs, plan, subscriptions, etc.

The reasons for erecting a new church are many. There are at present about 200 families connected with Charlotte street church, who are unable to obtain either sittings or pews, as the edifice seats only about 500 persons. Then again, there are 500 or 600 scholars attending Sunday school, who are unable to be present at the services in the church owing to lack of seating capacity. The committee felt, in view of these facts, that a new structure was urgently needed, and that the seating facilities should be doubled. The recommendation of the committee was unanimously adopted.

CATARRH CANNOT BE CURED

with LOCAL APPLICATIONS, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Cure is not a quack medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing Catarrh. Send for testimonials free.

Lift Lock Closes on November 15th

Important News to Navigators on Local Waters

Mr. J. H. McClellan, Superintendent Trent Canal, announces that the hydraulic lift lock will close for the season on Nov. 15th. All persons interested in navigation on the local waters should make a note of the date of closing, so that any shippers having freight that is to come down to the lower section, or go north, shall not be disappointed.

The lock is temporarily closed for a slight repair to one of the gates, but it is expected that the lock will be in commission again in the course of a few days.

GOOD PROGRESS IS BEING MADE

On Installation of Machine Telephone Plant at Edmonton, Alta.

The "Telephone Age" has the following, regarding the installation of the plant of the Canadian Machine Telephone at Edmonton, Alta.,—

"The work of installing the new machine telephone system in Edmonton, is making good progress and the people of that enterprising Alberta city, will certainly have a fine exchange when it is finished. The outside plant is put up in a workmanlike manner, and there will be very few open-wire leads. All work in the business section is underground and the distribution is from can terminals, placed on poles in the lanes. The city has been handicapped in the outside construction because of a considerable amount of defective cable, the sheathing of which seemed to be crystallized, so that it would break open when bent. The cold, wet summer was responsible for delay in finishing the telephone building, for the concrete did not thoroughly dry. The whole building was, therefore, damp and unfit for the reception of telephone apparatus and machinery. The trouble is being remedied, now that the steam heat is turned on. We gather from reports to hand that the Exchange will be very strongly patronized, and the original equipment of 1,200 lines is likely to be utilized almost immediately. There is no good reason why the City of Edmonton should not have 1,800 subscribers, and Strathcona 500 more. The latter place is directly across the river from Edmonton, which will give service to both towns.

Outlook in West Not Discouraging

Mr. J. R. H. Dixon Says That Nobody is Worrying—Threshing Completed

Mr. J. R. H. Dixon, general merchant of Belle Plaine, Sask., a nephew of Mr. A. E. Dixon of this city, writing to a friend in Peterborough says,—

"The threshing in this section is almost finished, and as one after another field is finished, it is a repetition of the same old story, "Feed wheat." The outlook, however, is nothing like it was three years ago, when that frozen crop put me down and out. Nobody seems to be worrying and I can tell you I certainly am not. Money has been coming in fairly good, and would be much better, if it were not for the same old story, shortage of cars. Last week, there was shipped from here four cars, where there should have been at least twenty-five or thirty. I have not done as much collecting as I should have liked, but you consider, I have done as well as could be expected. I think I will be able to make just as good a clean up this year, as last, if not better, and if I can do as well as last year even, I will have no grounds for complaint.

"We are still having that glorious Indian summer weather, for which this country is noted in the fall of the year, but we are fast drawing near the time when we can look for it being colder and more stormy. As a rule freezing up comes about the middle of the present month, so we generally figure on having our storm doors and windows in place by the 15th.

FEW KNOW THIS

Should Drink Plenty Water and Avoid Stimulating Liquors.

Recent insurance reports show a tremendous increase in the number of deaths resulting from some form of Kidney disease. While there are many cases here, yet few have resulted seriously thus far, states a well-known local authority. Kidney troubles are the most dangerous because the disease is generally far advanced before anything wrong is suspected by the sufferer.

Pain in the back, sides and above the groins, foul, discolored urine, which shows brickdust sediment after settling, frequent desire to pass it, irritation and weakness of bladder, are but symptoms, the cause of which can generally be traced to feeble, inactive kidneys, which fail to filter the poisonous waste matter and uric acid from the blood, causing such symptoms as rheumatism, blood disorders, and general debility and weakness.

Such persons should drink plenty of good pure water, and refrain from the use of all stimulating or spirituous liquor.

Patent medicines containing large portions of alcohol should be avoided.

A good, safe and almost certain regulator and healing and cleansing tonic to the entire kidney and urinary tract is made up of the following.

Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Karzon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces.

Mix by shaking in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and again at bedtime. Any druggist here can supply the ingredients, which are entirely harmless and inexpensive.

It would be well to have this prescription, and at the first sign of these dangerous troubles, mix some and give it a trial, as there is no better remedy known, nor anything more simple and easily prepared.

Mr. Ernest Thompson-Seton, the naturalist, who has just returned from a trip of 2000 miles north of Athabasca Landing, says the so-called barren lands are covered largely with grass that reaches to a man's waist and teem with caribou and other animal life—right up to the Arctic islands.

Mission Band Had Great Success

Mark St. Young Workers Held Sale and Concert Last Evening—An Interesting Programme

A most successful sale and entertainment was that which was held last evening, under the auspices of Market Street Methodist Mission Band. The basement of the church where the affair was conducted, was prettily decorated, and the several booths presented a very attractive appearance. Mrs. C. A. Throop and Mrs. Smiley, the superintendents of the band, are to be congratulated on the success of the evening.

Commencing at seven o'clock, until eight o'clock, a sale was held and the numerous articles made by the band were disposed of. A fancy work and useful articles booth was in charge of Misses Leta Wicker and Eva Noyes, while the candy table was looked after by Miss Bertha Record and Master W. Carruthers. A bargain counter, which was well patronized, was presided over by Miss Pearl Brisbin, and Master Lorne McIntyre. A picture den, where many pretty photos were sold was looked after by Masters Cecil White and Willard Coon.

A Japanese tea room, where dainty refreshments were served was a very pretty spot. The decorations were chrysanthemums, and the waiters were attired in the Oriental garb, Mrs. J. H. Smith, and, Mrs. A. A. dowler, with Misses Clara Dodds, J. Elliot and Addie Dixon, looked after this department.

Soon after eight o'clock, Rev. C. H. Coon called the gathering to order and introduced the following programme,—

Opening—"All Hail the Power."
Prayer.
Chorus.—Mission Band.
Recitation—Hettie Record.
Recitation—George Dodds.
Instrumental Solo—Maggie Weart.
Recitation—Myrtle Coon.
Recitation—Harry Smith.
Japanese Chorus—Misses C. Dodds, Josie Elliot, Addie Dixon and Eva Noyes.
Recitation—Lorne McIntyre.
Chorus—Primary Class.
Recitation—Maggie Weart.
Recitation—Harry Nellis.
Solo—Viola Fluke.
Recitation—Pearl Brisbin.
Exercise—"Watchman of the Night"—Misses Myrtle Coon, A. Dixon, L. Fluke, and B. Record.
Recitation.—Josie Elliot.
Instrumental—A. Dixon.
God Save the King.

Particular mention must be made of the Japanese number by four young girls in which Miss Eva Noyes took the solo part in a faultless manner. The Mission Band are indebted to Mr A. W. Crossman for material loaned for decorating. The proceeds amounted to $45 which is devoted to mission work.

High Praise for Nicholls Hospital

Inspector Smith Compliments the Management of the Institution

The report following the recent visit to Nicholls hospital of Dr. R. W. Bruce Smith, inspector of hospitals, is in the hands of the board, an dreflects great credit on the management of that institution. The wards are stated to be "in excellent order and are apparently well cared for. The dietary is suitable and is evidently well prepared and properly served. Records are neatly kept by the superintendent and the report concludes by saying "great improvements were noted with pleasure in the appearance of the wards and rooms of this hospital, and all parts of the building were found neat, clean and in good order."

The latest fool with a gun was found yesterday in Ridgeway, Ont. Walking carelessly along behind Mr. Hibbert, the postmaster, with his gun cocked, he managed to empty the full charge of shot into Mr. Hibbert's shoulder and face. Grave fears are entertained that Mr. Hibbert will be blinded for life.

MEETING OF CITY LEAGUE

Last Years Executive Meets at Y. M. C. A. To-night at 8 O'clock

A meeting of last year's executive of the City League will be held to-night at the Y.M.C.A., when the special committee appointed at the last meeting of the League will present a revised draft of the constitution. The applications of teams desirous of entering the league will also be dealt with.

Reynolds and Hartley to Meet

Matched Race to Take Place in Toronto Next Saturday

The Port Hope Guide says: Jimmy Reynolds has accepted an offer of the Toronto Mail and Empire for a matched walk with Hartley, of Peterborough, to be pulled off in Toronto one week from Saturday. The match is for a fair heel and toe walk for twelve hours and will take place in the armouries. Fifty per cent. of the gross receipts are to be given to the contestants to be divided as they see fit. The contest will create widespread interest and no doubt will be witnessed by a monster gathering.

David Hartley could not be seen today in reference to the above statement, but several of his backers stated that there was no doubt but that the local walker would be only too glad to meet Reynolds. They would like to see the fifty per cent. of the receipts divided on the basis of forty per cent. to the winner and ten to the loser. If the contest takes place there will be plenty of Peterborough money to back Hartley.

H. Wilmot Young, Margie Adams Young and a company of 20 people in "A Broken Heart" Grand Opera House, Monday, November 11th.

FOR SNAP SHOTS

Why not put all those snap shots you took this summer into a little book and use it as a Christmas gift for those of your friends who will be interested. We have a fine stock of mounting papers in brown, grey and white, that are the proper ones to use. The cover can be made of leather to match, or of a pretty embossed card. Call at the Review office and see the styles of paper used.

RUNNING

In spite of the fact that Toronto is sending out three teams for The Montreal long distance team race, Tom Coley, I.C.A.C. crack, who won the Hamilton Herald road race, will have doughty opponents in the five-mile race at the Garrison open handicap games Saturday night. Like Fred Simpson, the Indian, who chased Coley home in the Herald race, Coley's two stoutest opponents will be from Peterborough. The Peterborough Y.M.C.A. Harriers last night wired the entries of Ernie Wilson and Ben Howard, the two men who ran a dead heat, until the last ten feet in the Peterborough Examiner road race on Thanksgiving Day, doing the distance in 55.16 minutes.

Wilson is held around Peterborough to be superior to Simpson in five miles, Ben Howard, is the Mississauga Indian, who, after winning the Indian mile race at the I.C.A.C. games at Hamilton, romped around and beat Percy Selkan, the holder of the Canadian five-mile record of 25.26, in a whipping finish.—Toronto News.

RUGBY

Westmount have secured the services of Phil McKenzie as referee for their championship game with Peterborough on Saturday at Peterborough to decide the championship of the Ontario Rugby Football Union, while Jack Hayes, of Toronto, will umpire.

The Westmountera had their final signal practice last evening at the gymnasium in Victoria Hall, when all the senior team turned out, doing good work under Coach Powter. The team has not been chosen as yet, but will be picked from the following, who will be taken up to Peterborough Friday night:—Brophy, full back; Cornell, Pennell, Will, Ross or Budge, halves; Baillie, quarter back; McLeod, Severe, Brown or Sutherland, scrimmage; O'Laughlan, Steedman, middle wings; Duckett, Drennan, Smith or Astell, outside wings.

The fact that Westmount figures once again since their intermediate days in a championship match has created a great deal of excitement in Westmount ranks, and many of the club's rooters will see their club battle against Peterborough on Saturday. The team and officials, together with the rooters, will leave on Friday night by the C.P.R. train at 10 o'clock. There will be a final practice tonight.—Montreal Gazette.

WALKING

A gentleman from Port Hope, who is in the city today, said Reynolds is still the centre of talk and admiration of the Lake Ontario town, and stated that, while everybody there admitted that Hartley's walk was a magnificent effort, they nevertheless thought Reynolds would be the winner should a match between the two ever take place.

Westmount and Peterboro' For O. R. F. U. Championship

The Winners of the East and the Winners of the West Meet in the Finals To-morrow—Match Most Important of Season and Should be One of the Best Played on Any Gridiron This Year—Locals in the Best of Condition for the Big Battle.

The Peterborough Rugby team are in the best of shape for their game with Westmounts tomorrow and when they face the famous Easterners at Riverside Park tomorrow afternoon, will be in a condition to put up a great fight.

It is unnecessary to remark that the Easterners will bring with them their strongest aggregation, and, judging from all reports, they will have easily the fastest team that Peterborough has been called upon to face this season.

Intending spectators are ensured of the contest being a clean one. Phil McKenzie, of Montreal, will act as umpire, and Hughie Hayes, one of most capable officials in the business, and who invariably gives the highest satisfaction, will referee.

The locals have even surprised themselves by their particularly good work this season, and seem to have a pretty fair chance for the Dominion championship. It is altogether too premature, however, to make any predictions to that effect, as it is a hard matter to size up the relative ability of the Peterborough and Westmount fourteens, the latter being total strangers to local enthusiasts, who can only judge of their ability and style of play, by the press reports of the games in which they have figured. There is no doubt, however, that they are very fast and aggressive and play a splendid game on any gridiron, as was shown by the remarkable form they displayed when they trimmed the Limestones of Kingston last Saturday, on the latter's own battle ground.

If Peterborough wins tomorrow they will send a team to Ottawa to play the Inter-Collegiate winners for the championship of Canada. The laurels have been coming fast this year, but the shekels have been somewhat slow in dropping into the club's coffers. All good sports in the city should see the game tomorrow and help the team out by giving them financial and moral support. The club will be under a big expense in connection with the game, and will have further heavy expenses to meet when they go to Ottawa, should they win the game tomorrow.

The Westmounts will probably line up as follows:—

Full back—Brophy.

Halves—Cornell, Pennell, Ross, Wills or Budge.

Quarter—Baillie.

Scrimmage—McLeod, Severe, Brown or Sutherland.

Wings—Snowden, Atkinson, O'Laughlin, Steedman, Duckett, Drennan, Smith and Astell.

Peterborough's line-up will be selected from the following:—Hurtubise, Mulborn, Crough, Colledge, Quinlan, Lundy, Clarke, O'Brien, Deanard, Dickson, O'Connor, McDonald, Caniff, Fitzgerald, Dillon, Crowley, Wilkie, Evans and Davidson.

The members of the team are requested to be on hand at 2 o'clock sharp.

A signal practice of the team will be held tonight at the Y.M.C.A. from 7 to 7.35. All members of the team are requested to be on hand at 6.45 sharp.

Millbrook Man Shot Himself

Gun Accidentally Discharged and Ball Lodged in His Head

(Review Special)

Minden, Nov. 8.—Mr. David Milligan, of Millbrook, accidentally shot himself at Otter Lake, near Minden, yesterday. He was one of a hunting party of ten, and he was untying his hound at the camp, when his rifle was accidentally discharged, the ball striking him between the eye and nose, coming out at the top of the head. Death resulted in a few minutes. Deceased was a blacksmith by trade, and leaves a widow and two children.

DEBATE CAUSED MUCH INTEREST

There was an unusually interesting time at the meeting of the Chosen Friends in the Sons of England hall last night, the feature being a debate on the subject, "Resolved, that a young lady from the country makes a better wife than one from the city." The speeches on both sides brought out many interesting points much to the amusement of the large number who were present. No decision was given on the debate.

Company Must Build Bridge

Judgment has been handed out to Mr. Ruddy, solicitor for Mr. S. B. Carew, by the Board of Railway Commissioners of Canada, in the case of Samuel B. Millbrook Will Vote on Local Option

At the regular meeting of the Millbrook town council held on Monday evening, a petition signed by over 100 ratepayers—77 being the 25 per cent. required—praying the council to prepare and submit a bylaw to a vote of the electors at the municipal elections in January next. On motion of Councillor Keith, seconded by Councillor Doak, the petition was received and the necessary steps will be taken to have a vote on local option at the aforesaid election.

NO ADHESIVE PASTE ON BREAD LABELS

Mr. Bredin Tells How These Offensive Little Pieces of Paper are Attached to the Loaves.

Mr. M. Bredin, president of the Bredin Bread Company, Limited, has written to the Toronto News in regard to a decision of the Legislative Committee of the City Council to ask for legislation forbidding the putting of paper labels on bread loaves. He denies the statement made during the committee's discussions, that adhesive paste is used in affixing the labels. The labels, he says, are made from good, clean paper. They are simply dropped in the bread pan and the loaf of soft dough set on it which causes the label to adhere without the use of either gum or paste. The label, he continues, is not a new thing, the union label having been used on bread for twelve years past without objection from the health authorities. Some people want a higher quality of bread, and it is easier and more satisfactory, Mr. Bredin says, to vary the weight of the loaf than to have two or three different prices. "What can be fairer to the public," continues the letter, "than seeing exactly what weight they are supposed to get in each loaf they purchase.

Are Slandering The Best Citizens

Two Wandering Preachers Make Violent Attack on Norwood People

Two wandering preachers, without either name or church connection of any kind, are being permitted by the trustees of the North School to hold meetings there every night. Their talks seem to consist of a perfect tirade of abuse of everybody they can think of, either dead or alive. Their bold onslaught upon the names of some of the prominent citizens of this locality is so violent, that these gentry are advised to remember that defamation of character is punishable in the courts of this country.—Norwood Register.

WEDDING BELLS

NEW—SANDERSON

A quiet wedding on account of the illness of Mrs. Sanderson took place at the home of Mr. Jno. Sanderson, Omemee, on Thursday, Oct. 24th, when his adopted daughter, Edith, was united in marriage to Daniel John New, a Captain in the Salvation Army. Capt. New has just returned from the Klondyke where he labored two years. Mrs. New is also an officer in the Army and has been nearly a year in New Ontario. Rev. R. McCulloch performed the ceremony and Melville Kerl played the wedding march. The happy couple took the evening train for Montreal where they would take the steamer next day for the Isle of Wight, England. They expect to return to Canada in January. They have the heartiest congratulation of their many friends.

Prices Still High; To-day's Market

Many in Attendance—Fowl Very Plentiful, Especially Turkeys

To-day's market was a fairly good one and the farmers held to the high prices marked for the several kinds of produce offered. There seemed to be a great abundance of fowl, and especially turkeys, for sale. They sold at from 75 cents to $1.50 each and were eagerly sought after. Geese were also plentiful and sold at $1.00 and $1.10. Ducks went at from 80c. to $1.00 a pair. Chickens were numerous and brought 50c and 60c a pair. Butter and eggs retained their high figure of the past few weeks and sold at 30c per pound and 30c. per dozen, respectively.

On the outside market there was a good supply of beef, lamb and pork. The former realized 4 1-2 and 5c. per pound for front quarters and 5 1-2 and 6 cents for the hind ones. Lamb sold at 9c and 10c and pork at 10 and 11 cents per pound.

Potatoes were 75 cents per bag and snow apples went at $2 per barrel.

ONLY ONE PERMIT HAS BEEN ISSUED

Building Operations are Becoming Slack—Tight Money Market May be Cause

Only one building permit was issued at the city hall during the past week and it was for a $75 job. This is the smallest number that has been issued since the permit system was established and would seem to indicate that there is not going to be a great deal of building going on in Peterborough during the coming winter. Of course the amount of building always falls off in the late fall, but the decrease seems unusually marked this year.

There is no doubt but that the present stringency in the money market has something to do with the matter. With money as scarce as it is no one wants to start any large construction work.

The permit issued this week is for a lumber shed for the estate of A. McDonald, to be erected on George street. The estimated cost is $75.

The Christmas sailings via the Allan Line, Dominion Line and the famous Empresses of the C.P.R. Atlantic S.S. Line promises to be very heavy this year, especially in the third class. Peterborough's New Inspector Given Royal Welcome by Teachers

Mr. Alexander Mowat Honored at Meeting of Teachers' Association Held at King Edward School Last Night—Mr. J. E. Hodgson Was Chairman and Messrs. Fair and Mowat Also Spoke.

The first general meeting of the Peterborough Teacher's Association was held last night in the Kindergarten room of the King Edward school, and was a most pleasing and successful function in every way. The outstanding feature of the occasion was the address of welcome tendered Mr Alexander Mowat, late principal of the Brockville Collegiate Institute, and who has been chosen to fill the position of inspector of public schools for Peterborough, vacated by the retirement of Mr. Duncan Walker. Mr. J. E. Hodgson, president of the Peterborough Teacher's Association and Mr. R. Fair, chairman of the Board of Education, were the speakers, and extended Mr. Mowat a most hearty welcome and expressed the opinion that the choice of the Board, in selecting him to fill the important office to which he had been called, was a most happy one. Rev. Father McColl was also to have spoken on behalf of the Separate School interests in the city. He was unable to be present, however, and, therefore, unfortunately, could not be heard from. Mr. Mowat, in replying to the many pleasant and well expressed remarks made concerning him, expressed his great pleasure being so cordially received, and told of the great bearing education had on the various phases of work and conditions in the more useful spheres of life. His address was listened to with intense interest by the large audience representing the Collegiate Institute and the different schools of Peterborough, and among the gathering were also several guests, who were not connected with the Teacher's Association.

At the conclusion of the address a piano duet was most acceptably rendered by Mrs. McFadden and Mrs. McCallum, and an excellent spread provided by Mr. T. H. Hooper, was enjoyed by those present. The remainder of the evening was spent in social intercourse.

At different intervals during the evening, a section of the opera house orchestra, consisting of Messrs. Cunningham, piano, Howarth, violin, and Bingham, cornet, played in an excellent manner, several well rendered and appropriate selections. The acoustics of the room were most favorable, and the music was heard to splendid advantage.

THE CHAIRMAN'S ADDRESS.

Mr. Hodgson, in making his inductory remarks, said that the development of the social spirit among the teachers of the city would make the citizens feel that they were a unity and that the most congenial and desirable relations had been established between them. He said that the teachers in attendance were to forget that they were from different schools. They were there to develop the feeling of friendship unity and fraternity.

There was always something attractive about a new house, and a new home and there was also something particularly delightful about this assembly of those present at the King Edward School. The speaker hoped the school would be given a house warming that would long be remembered. Mr. Hogson extended a warm greeting to Mr. Mowat on behalf of the teacher's association. He was pleased to note the presence of Mr. Fair, chairman of the Board of Education and called upon that gentleman to speak.

BOARD'S REPRESENTATIVE.

Mr. Fair said he wished to convey the greetings of the school board to the new inspector, and it gave him much pleasure to do so. Mr. Mowat was very welcome in their midst. He felt that no mistake had been made in this selection, and he came to Peterborough with the highest recommendations.

THE KING EDWARD SCHOOL
Where the Teachers' "At Home" Was Held Last Evening.

MR. ROBT. FAIR
Chairman Peterborough Board of Education

At the conclusion of Mr. Fair's remarks, Mr. Hodgson read a letter from Mr Duncan Walker, who expressed his regret at not being able to be present, and in a few well-chosen remarks, told of the former inspector's valuable services to Peterborough, during the time he had occupied that office.

In introducing Mr. Mowat, he said he was sure that the new inspector would discharge his duties in a capable manner, and win his way into the hearts of all, with whom he came in contact.

AN ADDRESS OF MERIT.

Mr. Mowat, on advancing from the audience to appear before the gathering was generously applauded. In his opening remarks, he thanked the executive of the teacher's association, for their thoughtfulness, in arranging the meeting at a time that suited his convenience. He was glad that the teachers from all the schools had taken advantage of gathering together.

VALUE OF EDUCATION.

Mr. Mowat believed that education was not for the few, but for the many. He thought that teachers sometimes failed to realise the important part they took in the advancement of the country, and spoke of the relation of education to the home, church and state.

At present a democracy is on trial, and what would the people be, if their interests were not looked after by educated men. In business we know that a man goes to the wall unless he has a trained intellect. The teachers have a profession that they need not be ashamed of, and they play an important part in the country's advancement.

The speaker said he could make no promises as to what he would attain in Peterborough, and hoped to take up Mr. Walker's work, where he had dropped it, and said if he performed his task efficiently he would have few minutes to spare.

Mr. Mowat said there was a large field of work, which the supervising inspector had to do, that was yet practically untouched. He stated that he would be no respecter of persons, and would look after the interests of the boys and girls of this city, first and last and all times. In conclusion he said, he hoped he would be helpful in making Peterborough, what it was destined to be, a great centre of education.

The audience which listened with great attention, to what Mr. Mowat said, expressed their approval of his sentiments by their hearty applause.

ORCHESTRA'S PROGRAMME.

The following are selections that were given by the orchestra,—

Old Faithful.—March.
Royal Chef.—Selection.
Casino Tango.—Waltz.
You and I.—Waltz.
Great Divide.—March.
Light Cavalry.—Overture.
Rialto.—Medley.
American Home Songs.—Medley.

The Machinery is Offered for Sale

Wm. Hamilton Company Not Likely to be Reorganized

The following advertisement appears in to-day's Toronto papers:

For sale—All machinery, tools, motors and equipment contained in machine shop, pattern shop, moulding shop and boiler shop of William Hamilton Company, Limited, manufacturers of saw mill machinery, water wheels, mining machinery and contractors' supplies. Peterborough. will be sold in parcels or en bloc. Apply to R. R. Hall, Peterborough, Ontario.

The following reading notice is also printed:—"The plant of the William Hamilton Co., Ltd., forced into liquidation by the failure of the Ontario Bank, has been purchased by Mr. R. R. Hall, M.P. of Peterborough, from the liquidators, the Trusts and Guarantee Co., of Toronto. The Hamilton plant was established in Peterborough in 1847, and was in continuous business ever since until the failure in December last."

Mr. Hall when seen to-day by the Review stated that the foregoing was substantially correct and added that the machinery was now being offered for sale in parcels or en bloc. Mr. Hall further stated that all propositions looking to a reorganization of the William Hamilton Company had fallen through and that one of the contributory causes was the present stringency of the money market. It is learned that about 60 or 70 men are still engaged at the works, but of late members of the staff has been gradually reduced and nearly all those who were formerly employed have secured positions with either local or outside concerns.

RUNNING

Last night's Toronto Star contains an excellent cut of Ernie Wilson, the local runner, who to-night in Toronto stacks up against Tom Coley, the famous distance runner.

Wilson and Coley to Run Five Miles

Peterboro' Boy Left for Toronto To-day to Meet Famous Distance Man

Ernie Wilson, accompanied by Trainer Dick Baker, left for Toronto this afternoon to run in the five-mile invitation race against Tom Coley, the Irish Canadian distance man. Ben Howard, of Hiawatha, who gave Wilson such a hard run on Thanksgiving Day was also to have competed in the event and was expected to have gone to Toronto with Wilson, but at the last moment decided to withdraw.

Wilson is in good condition for the race and his local supporters think he should acquit himself well when he meets the celebrated winner of the Hamilton Herald road race, and the man who beat Fred Simpson.

The event is creating a great deal of interest in Toronto and since Howard has decided not to enter, has practically the same significance as a matched race between Coley and Wilson.

The winner of the race is entitled to a five-mile go with Long next. If Wilson should manage to beat out Coley he will certainly cover himself with glory.

WILL PREACH IN NORWOOD

The thank offering service in connection with the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society and associate organizations, will be held on Sunday, Nov. 17th, in the Presbyterian church, Norwood. Rev. Henry J. Keith, B.D. of Knox church, Peterborough, and formerly missionary to the University men at Calcutta, India, will preach morning and evening. A special thank offering will be taken up. Rev. Mr. MacLennan will take Mr. Keith's pulpit, for the day.

Inspector Was On the Lookout

But He Found no Deer Killed Out of Season

A Haliburton correspondent says: We have had a Government Game Inspector up here since last Thursday looking after hunters going out without licenses or permits. He was also on deck at the station on Saturday morning, so that no deer caught out of season were shipped; it was a "cold morning" in both respects, cold weather and no deer. Haliburton ought to be known by this time, all over Canada, to be the most lawabiding village and inspectors are not at all necessary.

THE DAYLIGHT STORE

"He's a Clean Cut Looking Fellow"

This remark is often made concerning the young man wearing one of our Handsome Suits.

The young man of to-day demands the very newest fashion—the very latest innovations. No shabby coats, no narrow lapels, no bag-hanging garments for him this season. We select certain lines of Suits from tailoring houses that are specialists in Young Men's Clothes, whose styles are patterned after what one sees on the college campus—dashingly daring, but not too extreme.

Suits at $12.00, $15.00, $18.00

OUR OVERCOATS too are extremely stylish and yet moderately priced. Don't fail to see what we can do for you. We have many new customers daily. Why? Because we have the best goods at the price.

NEW NORMAL COURSE TO BE ANNOUNCED SOON

Rural Districts Have Been Remembered Particularly in This Respect.

The new course of study for the Ontario Normal Schools will be made public shortly.

Further attention will be given the academic side, as it is said that, so far, the course has been largely professional, without sufficient instruction for scholarship.

Rural ungraded schools in adjoining county or counties will affiliate with the Normal schools for observation.

Every Normal school master, must devote one week a year to an inspection of these rural schools, accompanying the public school inspector for that purpose.

Another Comet Comes into View

Can be Seen in South Eastern Sky in Early Morning

Another comet has loomed into view. It is known as Mellish's comet, and it is visible about 5 o'clock in the morning in the south-eastern sky. It can be discerned with the naked eye and can be seen quite plainly with a field glass. In size it is about a one-third magnitude star, and will not be much brighter than it is at present. The comet has not much of a tail, at least not much of an appendage can be seen with the unaided eye.

ENGINEERS WILL REMAIN ALL WINTER

Vancouver, B. C., Nov. 6.—Ten engineering parties engaged in locating the route of the Grand Trunk Pacific between Yellowhead Pass and the coast, will remain in the field all winter. This decision was reached owing to the desire of the executive of the road, to have the work rushed to completion and avoid delays in awarding the contracts for construction.

This announcement was made today by C. W. VanAradola, the chief engineer, who has just returned from an inspection trip covering more then eight hundred miles. He left Prince Rupert immediately after the visit of President Hays and party, and by canoe and horseback traversed the country to the east.

In an interview, Mr. VanAradol said: "In various sections, alterpative routes may be adopted and this has involved the examination of topographical features of a very large area of country. Many timber and land speculators are now scattered throughout the northern country and most of them will have another guess coming, in determining where the railway will be actually located."

OUR NATIONAL SONG.

Canadian Courier Thinks "Maple Leaf" Isn't Literary.

The Canadian Courier is a "literary" journal. It doesn't like Old Aleck Muir's Maple Leaf song. Aleck wasn't literary. The literary man in Canada must be a Francomaniac. And what does The Courier find in Muir's song? It finds "in the very first verse a boastful allusion to British victory over the French, which is hardly desirable in a national song." If the Courier is right there are few national patriotic songs in this world properly built, from The Courier's literary point of view. A patriotic song without boast, without allusion to the nation's success at arms, would be about as appropriate as a limerick contest for the purpose of advertising tea.

The Courier would abolish Muir's blood-thirsty and British lines, and would substitute for them "a song worthy of the Dominion," made by a French-Canadian gentleman a couple of decades ago, and called the "Chant National." The Courier quotes from an English version of this French song, and a glance at it shows that Canada is a "beloved Fatherland," whose arm hath wielded the sword.

"Militarism" Is There

In the second verse this male and masculine Canada is possessed of "her stalwart sons," and thereafter the fatherland seems to be a motherland. In the third verse—perhaps to show that there is no "militarism" in the song, the "flag" is made to float "by day and night," contrary to the military rule, which pulls it down every evening and hoists it every morning. Here is a sample of the verse:

Favored of God, by mighty flood and hills,
Constant in hope, her stalwart sons abide;
With the surging blood of our restless sires,
Our cradles rocked in peace,
With the stills of heaven on our glistening spires
In blessing that ne'er shall cease.

Stalwarts Not All French.

Recited dramatically to an audience of people who know not the English language, that might make quite an effective noise — it might be even grand. But what does it mean? Does it mean that stalwart sons, worked up by surging blood, proceed to rock cradles in a peaceful manner while the sun shines a blessing upon the tin on yonder spire, and at no other time? We suppose that the "restless sires" alluded to must have been French, for the Briton is not usually said to be that way, and we venture to record the fact that there are several stalwart sons of Canada who are not of French stock.

Mr. Muir's song may lack literary merit; but we think that, long after this Chant National is forgotten outside of Quebec we shall continue to hear about "the May-pole Ed'ward."—Hamilton Spectator.

SECRET WRITING.

How Letters May Be Made Safe From Prying Eyes.

Even with the most unromantic of us occasions sometimes arise when we should like to make some memorandum or write some letter which cannot be read except by those we wish to do so. Here is a simple method:

Soak a sheet of note paper in cold water and lay it perfectly flat upon a pane of glass. Place above it another sheet, dry this time, and on the upper sheet write your message with a fairly hard pencil. You now destroy the dry paper and allow all the moisture to evaporate from the wet piece. Don't hold it to the fire, but let it dry naturally. If you then examine it closely you will see not the faintest trace of writing, but if you moisten the paper once more and hold it up to the light you can read quite plainly all you wrote. It will show up like the watermark on a postage stamp. This method, by the way, is sometimes adopted by convicts. They use their gruel cans instead of glass and a sharp piece of wood for a pencil.

Another way is less dirty and even more effective. Lay several sheets of paper on a flat surface and write upon the top one. Then remove the bottom sheet, on which no impression appears. If you hold this in the vapor of iodine, however, the writing will turn brown and be quite legible. The explanation is plain. The note paper contains starch, which on being pressed turns to hydramide, a substance which is acted on by iodine in the manner described.—Answers.

CHURCH AND CLERGY.

An unbroken list of forty-two vicars of the parish church at Scarborough, England, takes it back to the time of the Norman conquest.

The Rev. Frederick J. Kinsman, professor of ecclesiastical history in the General Theological seminary, New York, has been elected vice rector of St. Paul's school, Concord, N. H. Mr. Kinsman is an alumnus and former master of the school.

Rev. Frederick Mueller, pastor of the Fourth Reformed church of Albany, has entered the Albany Law school in the freshman class. He will not become a lawyer, but believes that a law school course will give him a better command of the English language.

The University of Leeds has conferred the degree of doctor of letters on Rev. Robert Collyer, the well known Unitarian clergyman of New York, who will be eighty-four years old in December. He was born in Yorkshire, England, and started life as a blacksmith.

The task of uniting all the free churches of Great Britain and the colonies into one great federation has been undertaken by Rev. F. B. Meyer, who is working now in England and will go next spring to South Africa and then to the Australian colonies and Canada.

ANKLE REDUCING

("One of the 14")

A DOLLY VARDEN ANKLE

Some athletes have clumsy figures while others enjoy the graceful lines of a Sandow.

Some feminine ankles are swollen and bulky while others are as slender as a fawn's.

Whether clumsy or graceful, bulky or slender the method of shoe training is the cause.

The ankles are completely surrounded by muscles. If these muscles are constantly strained and stretched by the feet wabbling about on unskillfully built shoe foundations, bulky ankles cannot fail to ensue.

Dolly Vardens reduce bulky ankles and preserve slender ones. Why?

Because of their Free Flat Tread, which allows the feet to rest free and flat on the sole. This prevents bending and and bowing of the ankles and the consequent stretching of the ankle muscles.

Because of their newly devised steel archsupport, which holds up the arch and relieves the vertical ankle muscles from the strain occasioned by falling arch.

Because of their Dead Level Ball and Heel Balance which throws the ankles into their natural vertical position.

Because they fit the foot and ankle firmly at every point.

The Dolly Varden Agent will be pleased to show you Ankle Reducing Dolly Vardens. In the States and Canada at the same price—$4.00 to $5.00. Every pair Goodyear welted.

GOD SAVE THE KING

Today is the 66th birthday of His Majesty King Edward VII. Long may he reign! Although his natal day is not officially celebrated in November—Victoria day being officially set apart for that purpose—there are millions upon millions of loyal subjects in all parts of the great British Empire, who reverently return thanks to God, for the health and happiness of him, who is following so well, and worthily the footsteps of our late, beloved Queen, Victoria the Good.

All peoples unite in heartiest expressions that His Majesty may have many more returns of the day, and that His reign may be long and happy, marked by the same earnestness, tolerant beneficence, and diplomacy in the future, as have characterized it since his accession to the throne, January 22nd, 1901—a day of extreme sadness throughout this British dominions, and the wide world, over the death of Queen Victoria.

King Edward has proved himself to be a strong, tactful, constitutional monarch. He is following the glorious example of his illustrious and honored mother, and has now the confidence, affection and esteem of all his loyal and devoted subjects to a marked degree. The influence and efforts of His Majesty, are ever on the side of peace and justice; he has been well termed "the peacemaker." International complications foreign entanglements and jealousies and rival powers have all disappeared as if by magic, through the silent, secret influence, foresight, skill and diplomacy of a sovereign, who today, is the central figure in the world's honor roll. He has ever exercised marvellous discernment, and admirable judgment. Doing just what was proper, and just what was required under every and all circumstances, has won for our present monarch a place unique in history. He lives today in the hearts of his millions of subjects who delight to do him honor, who revere his name and appreciate him as a man, ruler and emperor. Peace and prosperity abound throughout the land. For the many blessings enjoyed, for the liberty and constitution we enjoy, for the flag that gives us protection, for the best laws and the best country under the sun and for the happiness health and continued reign of him, who guides the destiny of the greatest empire of either ancient or modern times—all will join in fervently singing with new meaning "God Save the King."

SOCIAL SIDE OF LIFE

That was a happy, family-like function at the new King Edward school last evening, when the teachers of the city, held a social reunion and warmly greeted the new inspector, Mr. Mowat. Such gatherings cannot fail to be productive of much good, and lead to a better understanding and pleasanter relationship among the teachers. The welcome accorded the new inspector was hearty and sincere. There was a delightful informality about the whole proceedings and the teachers were most favorably impressed by Mr. Mowat, and believe that in him they have a kindly, genial, helpful inspector, with whom they can work hand in hand, in the upbuilding and strengthening of the great work in which they are engaged. Mr. Mowat will find the public school instructors of Peterborough, willing, earnest and faithful in the discharge of their respective duties. The new inspector last night, delivered an admirable speech. He created an impression that was decidedly favorable He is deeply interested in his work, and thoroughly imbued with the importance of it. He is a man who inspires confidence, and commands respect, and, under his direction, unless all signs fail, the schools of Peterborough will prosper, and continue in the good work, who has been so characteristic of them in the past.

Teachers, inspector, principals, and trustees, all enjoyed a social evening last night, and it is hoped for the esprit du corps of these actively identified with our educational advancement, for that sympathetic, earnest fellowship so necessary in all ranks, for the good and welfare, of each and all, that such re-unions will be more frequent.

And the occasion last night, incidentally marked the formal opening of the handsome new King Edward school, which is a credit and an ornament to the public school buildings and progressive Peterborough.

PEN POINTS

It looks as if the real, old-fashioned time honored, genuine Indian summer weather was here, but how long will it stay?

Messrs. Belcourt and Campbell are to go to the Senate after rather strenuous public careers, and will henceforth enjoy peace and the palm garden variety of politics.

Now that a war is on between the brewers and hotelkeepers, the slogan of battle is for a moment temporarily not directed against local optimists.

It looks as if it is only a few years when one of the last relics of civilization—the grade crossing—will like the toll gate, be compelled to disappear.

The threatened stringency has increased the work of some men, while it has decreased that of others. For instance, the members of the Court of Revision cannot very well complain of having nothing to do.

Now they say that Hon. Dr. Pugsley is not satisfied with the portfolio of Minister of Public Works, and desires another department. "Slippery William" wants to get all that's coming to him, and "just a little more."

Mr. Borden is taking a two weeks' rest in the south before the opening of Parliament. He certainly deserves a holiday, for no public man has done more strenuous work than the honored leader of the Opposition during the past few months.

President Flexner, of the University of Toronto, is in demand as a speaker. He addressed the Canadian Club in Toronto on Monday, when he urged Ontario to show sympathy toward the rest of the Dominion. There should be no narrrow provincialism, and there should be an escape from sectionalism. Ontario, for example, rich and intelligent, must feel the necessity for generosity toward the rest of the Dominion, possessed of a broad point of view, and not shut up to local interests. President Falconer advised men to travel, so as to be better able to unite the interests of the country, because the future is full of difficulty.

Hon. Clifford Sifton, who is still member for Brandon, though no longer a minister, is off for England at the opening of the parliamentary session. Last session, and the session before. He was absent most of the time, though many scandals relating to his own administration of the interior department were brought to light and discussed. When Mr. Sifton did appear he complained because these matters were brought up in his absence. No doubt he will do the same next spring. There are many reasons why Mr. Sifton should be home in the coming season, when a good deal of attention will be given to deals for which he is largely responsible.

WILL LECTURE ON TEMPERANCE

To-morrow Afternoon at Conservatory Hall—Mrs. McKee of Barrie Will be the Speaker

At the Gospel temperance meeting to be held tomorrow afternoon at 4.15 o'clock at the new conservatory hall, Mrs. McKee of Barrie, who has been attending the convention of the W. C. T. U. at Cornwall, will give an address. Everyone is cordially invited to attend, the meeting being open to men as well as to women. A song service, commencing at four o'clock will be led by Rev. J. G. Potter. The Torrey-Alexander hymn book will be used.

Misses C. Reesor, Ruth Dawson and Lillian Moore will sing solos, and Miss Slemon of the Conservatory staff will be the accompanists.

The meeting will no doubt be a very interesting one, and productive of much good.

No Great Desire to Sell Dwellings

The Threatened Stringency Has Not Affected Real Estate

In view of the threatened stringency of the times, a well known local citizen remarked yesterday that there was a slump in real estate, and several property owners were rushing to the real estate offices to have their places listed for sale. They did not want to hold them for fear the prices would decline, but desired to get rid of them now, before the slump came.

The Review, on inquiring of a prominent real estate man, well acquainted with the situation, if the foregoing statement was true, remarked that there was no foundation and it is merely talk. There has been no rush of property owners to get rid of their dwellings, and little danger is felt of a decline in real estate prices. Business is brisk and transfers are numerous. The local firms admit that there have been better years for real estate than the present one, but it certainly had not been a poor one. The citizen who made such a remark, the real estate man thought, must have been laboring under a false impression, as no such conditions existed.

Will Hold Gospel Temperance Meeting

In Conservatory Music Hall To-morrow Afternoon at 4.15 O'clock

Mrs. McKee, of Barrie, president of the provincial Woman's Christian Temperance Union, which has been meeting in Cornwall during the past week, is in the city, with a view to organizing a local branch of the W. C.T.U.

A gospel temperance meeting will be held in the Conservatory of Music hall, tomorrow, Sunday, afternoon, at 4.15 o'clock to which the public is cordially invited.

Mrs. McKee and others will give addresses.

WHERE, O WHERE! WAS HE?

To the Editor of the Review,

Sir,—The many guests invited to make the trial run on the new Government steamer, "Bessie Butler," on Thursday last are still wondering what became of mine host J. H. McClellan.

His Apollo-like form gorgeously arrayed in nautical costume, prepared for the occasion, were sadly missed. Fie, fie, Apollo I, why did you withhold the light of thine eyes from your friends and so force them to seek oblivion in the ambrosial nectar provided so generously at the expense of the Government!!!

Yours, etc.,

A FARMER'S TRIALS

Weak and Worn Out Through Overwork and Long Hours.

The farmer's life is always a hard one, but if he is weak or suffering it is almost unbearable. The hours are long and the work so hard that none but the strongest can stand it. An illustration of the effect of hard work on the system is given by Mr. Geo. Huntsberg, a farmer of Spry, Ont. He says: "I have lived nearly all my life in this Bruce peninsula. I am a farmer and have always had my share of hard work, and like a good many other men, I thought there was no wearout to my system. In this I was mistaken for about a year and a half ago. I began to go gradually down hill. I would tire at the least exertion; my appetite failed me; I had a severe pain in my side and around my heart. The doctor told me I was suffering from pernicious anaemia; that I was almost bloodless. I doctored for six months, but instead of improving, I grew so weak that I could hardly move without assistance. I lost flesh, until I was almost a skeleton. A friend from Stokes Bay, told me of the great benefit she had derived from the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and advised me to try them. My sister-in-law had also received great benefit from their use, so I decided to give them a trial. After using the pills about a month, I began to gain strength, and from that on I improved rapidly. New blood seemed to course through my veins, my appetitie improved; the pain left my side and heart, and I gained in weight. After using about a dozen boxes of the pills, I was again enjoying the best of health. I have nothing but praise for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as they cured me after medical treatment had failed—I really believe they saved my life."

Good blood is the secret of health. Keep the blood pure, and such diseases as anaemia, rheumatism, sciatica, indigestion, heart palpitation, eczema, and the secret ills of women will not exist. The most perfect blood tonic, and nerve restorer in the world is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

New Pipe Organ Placed in Church

The new pipe organ for the Methodist church was shipped here on Tuesday, and is now being installed in the alcove, lately constructed for that purpose at the rear of the rear of the main body of the building. The basement has been partitioned into class rooms for the Sunday school, and the whole interior painted and renovated. The auditorium, too, has undergone a thorough renovation, and when completed will present a fine appearance. It is expected that Sunday, Nov. 24th, will be re-opening day.—Campbellford Herald.

OBITUARY

MR. DAVID BROWN.

One of the best known residents of this community died on Saturday, in the person of David Brown, who had been in declining health for some time past, says the Campbellford Herald. In early life Mr. Brown was engaged in farming in Percy township, but many years ago he moved to Campbellford, and engaged in the hotel business. A number of years ago he retired and since then he has resided the most of his time in Campbellford. He was 59 years of age, and was twice married. Of the first family six survive—three sons, Wallace, of Toronto; Garnet, of Seattle, Washington, and Carman, of North Dakota, and three daughters, Mrs. (Dr.) Ramsay, of Toronto; Mrs Reynolds of Spokane, Wash., and Mrs. Alfred Simpson, of Peterborough. Mrs. Simpson and Mrs. Reynolds were home for the funeral, as was also Wallace, the eldest son, Mr. W. J. Waters, of Hamilton, whose wife was daughter of the deceased, and who was recently bereft of her, sent a beautiful wreath in expression of his sympathy. A widow and several children survive.

MRS. LOUIS MEEHAN.

The death occurred early this morning at 203 Rink street, of Mrs. Louis Meehan, after an illness extending over two years. Her death was due to pernicious anaemia. The late Mrs. Meehan was forty-six years of age and was born in Bobcaygeon, she being a daughter of Mr. George Smith of that place. The deceased was widely known and was highly esteemed by all who knew her. She had resided in this city for many years.

Besides her husband, two sons, Messrs. Norman and Herbert, of this city, are left to mourn her loss.

The funeral will take place on Monday to the Little Lake cemetery.

Special Meeting of the Presbytery

To Deal With Calls to Two Well Known Ministers

A pro re nata meeting of the Presbytery of Peterborough, will be held in St. Paul's church on Monday next at nine o'clock to deal with the calls of St. Paul's church to Rev. Robt. Pogue, of Philadelphia, and Havelock Presbyterian church to Rev. J. A. G. Stirling. All the members are urgently requested to be present.

The Individual Communion Cups

May be Used in Murray Street Church—Vote to be Taken To-morrow

At the morning service in Murray street Baptist church tomorrow, a vote will, it is understood, be taken on the advisability of introducing the individual communion cups. It is said that the proposition was recently discussed by the deacons of the church and it was decided to take a plebiscite of the congregation.

In connection with the observance of the sacrament in several of Peterborough's city churches, individual cups are used, and the congregations, in every instance, have been favorably impressed by the change.

FELL ON HEAD; HAD FACE CUT

Mr. Thomas E. Robinson, of Norwood, met with an accident Monday night. He was bringing some apples in from the country and was sitting on the top of a milk can on the rig, when the horse tumbled and the sudden jolt threw him out upon the road on his head, resulting in a badly disfigured countenance.

TREMBLAY ON TOP

Montreal, Nov. 8.—Eugene Tremblay, champion lightweight wrestler of America, won two out of the three falls from Otto Reohm of Buffalo, who holds the amateur championship of America. First fall was won by Tremblay in 46 minutes; second fall was won by Reohm in 16 minutes; third fall was won by Tremblay in 20 minutes. The match was very fast and Tremblay had many close calls. Reohm's appearance here tonight at Sohmer Park was his first as a professional.

Splendid Address Before Boys' Club

Boys Greatly Appreciate a Short Talk by Mayor McWilliams

The Boys' club of Knox church, had a splendid time last night, the feature being an address by His Worship Mayor McWilliams.

The president, (Walter Perks, presided during the business part of the meeting which was held first and then Walter Buyers took the chair during the programme. Mayor McWilliams spoke on "The Right Spirit in Sports," and gave the boys some valuable advice. He dwelt on the importance of fair dealing and manliness in athletics and emphasised the point that it was better to use fair means even though you were defeated than to win by resorting to improper tactics.

At the conclusion a hearty vote of thanks was tendered Mr. McWilliams.

It is the intention of the club to have addresses from several prominent citizens during the winter and other speakers are now being arranged for.

SMITH FARMER CHASED BY BULL

Was Crossing Field When the Animal Attacked Him

On Monday last Mr. D. W. Blewett, of North Smith, had an exciting encounter with a bull. Mr. Blewett was crossing a field on his farm when the bull attacked him. The animal, although it was dehorned, tossed him in the air a number of times and trampled him with his feet. His son Silas, who was working in a field near by, noticed the bull worrying his father, and at once went to the rescue, but the enraged animal immediately turned on him and gave him some pretty rough usage. Fortunately Mrs. Blewett arrived on the scene with a pitch-fork and the animal was driven off. Mr. Blewett was badly shook up, and as a result is confined to his home.

LIQUOR CASES

Four parties appeared before R. R. Casement, J.P., on Saturday last, charged with a breach of the Liquor License Act. Two of the offending parties were let go on suspended sentence, while the other two cases were dismissed for want of evidence. Suspended sentence means that either of the offending parties may be called by the J.P., and convictions entered, any time he may deem expedient, and it will depend upon their future conduct, whether or not the same will be pursued. Several other charges were laid but for want of evidence, were withdrawn. — Madoc Review.

Three Million Dollar Fire Raging Fiercely in Superior

Big Elevator, Three Flour Mills, Forty Houses and Many Thousand Bushels of Grain go up in Smoke —One Man Perishes in the Flames.

Special to the Review.

Duluth, Minn., Nov. 9.— Fire, which started in the Great Northern elevator, Superior, Wis., about nine o'clock last night, was still burning at an early hour today, after having destroyed the elevator, three flour mills, forty homes and 700,000 bushels of grain. Two scows, a derrick and two tugs were also destroyed. The loss is estimated at three million dollars.

One man, who entered the plant of the Duluth Superior Storage Co., to rescue a tool chest was not seen again, and it is thought he perished in the flames.

$400,000 Went Into Farmers' Pockets From Cheese Sales

Peterborough Cheese Board Has Just Concluded most Successful Season—A Resume of the Operations of the Board and Some Interesting Statistics.

No. of boxes boarded, 41,118.

Average price per pound, 12c.

No. of meetings held.—12.

Average boarding of cheese per meeting, 3,426 boxes.

Estimated value of cheese sold on board during the season, $400,000.

The above gives in brief form the operations of the Peterborough Cheese Board for the season of 1907. The last meeting was held on Wednesday of this week and with it the board closed one of the most successful seasons in its history. A brief resume of the operations of the board for the season is of considerable interest. Twelve meetings were held, the first on Wednesday, May 15th, and the last on Wednesday, Nov. 6. The total number of boxes registered during the season was 41,118 and the average price was 12c per pound. The average weight of a box of cheese is 80 pounds. Figuring the number of boxes boarded during the season on this basis, and at 12c per pound, it is found that the total value of the cheese sold at the twelve meetings is approximately $400,000. This money goes into the pockets of the farmers of the Peterborough district, and gives some idea of the magnitude of the dairy industry and also shows what an important organization the Peterborough Cheese Board is.

The meetings of the board have been presided over during the season by President John Riddell, who has at all times been courteous and impartial in his rulings. The other officers of the Board, Secretary Coughlan and Treasurer Hawthorne deserve credit for the way everything has been conducted. It is generally conceded that the Peterborough Cheese Board is one of the best conducted in Canada.

The largest boarding during the season was on July 17th, when 6,000 boxes were offered for sale, and the smallest at the first meeting on May 15th, when only 809 boxes were registered.

Compared with last year there was a falling off of about 4,000 boxes in the number of boxes of cheese sold during the season. Last year 45,380 boxes were boarded, and the average price was the same as this year viz., 12 cents per pound. The estimated value of the cheese sold last year was $446,500.

Below will be found a summarized statement of the dates of the meetings, the number of cheese boarded and the ruling price for the season.:

May 15, 809 cheese boarded,; ruling price 11 1-2c.

June 5, 2,987 cheese boarded; ruling price 11 5-8c.

June 19, 4,133 cheese boarded; ruling price 11 5-8c.

July 3, 4,386 cheese boarded; ruling price 11 5-16c.

July 17, 5,000 cheese boarded; ruling price 11 5-16c.

Aug. 14, 2,986 cheese boarded; ruling price 11 5-16c.

Sept. 4, 4,612 cheese boarded; ruling price 12 3-16c.

Sept. 18, 2,929 cheese boarded; ruling price 12 5-16c.

Oct. 2, 2,971 cheese boarded,; ruling price 12 9-16c.

Oct. 23, 2,860 cheese boarded; ruling price 12 3-16c.

Nov. 6, 2,840 cheese boarded; ruling price 12 3-16c.

Are "Hold Up" Men Becoming Too Numerous in the City?

Recent Events Point in That Direction—How a Prominent Citizen Foiled the Plans of Man, Who He Believes Was "Laying" for Him.

Is Peterborough becoming a centre for more than its share of "hold-up" men?

This question has been suggested by a number of recent events and a prominent citizen expressed the opinion yesterday that Peterborough was getting too many citizens of the kind it did not want.

During the past week two attempts were made to assault women on streets that are largely travelled which show that the perpetrators of the acts are not without a generous supply of nerve and do not seem to have great fear of the officers of the law.

A well known business man informed the Review yesterday that he believed that an attempt to hold him up had been planned by some character, but fortunately for the gentleman, the crook was not able to carry his schemes into effect. Late one night last week the citizen in question was coming from the west end of the city and when a short distance west of the Roman Catholic church noticed a man lurking in the shadows as if lying in wait for him. As the gentleman approached the unknown threw back further into the shadows. This made the gentleman suspicious and he decided to take no risks. Instead of proceeding along the street he was on he turned down Downie street until he came to Charlotte street and came up that thoroughfare to George street.

The citizen who dodged the "hold-up" man thinks that some of the citizens Peterborough has gained during the past few months are not of the best character and that the police should keep a sharp eye on all suspicious personages.

Flags Fly from Flag Poles Of Two New Institutions

A bright new Union Jack floats gaily today in the aristocratic breezes from the flag staff at the new Normal school. The dome is about completed and the flag staff in place, so that a Union Jack could flutter in the breezes on the King's birthday, 1907.

The flag pole is also in place on the new Collegiate Institute and a flag is also flying from it today.

It may be surprising news to many citizens to learn that these buildings are so far advanced. It shows that the contractors have wasted no time.

The Renewal of Spiritual Life

Subjects and Speakers at Mark St. Church Next Week

The subjects and leaders at the Mark Street Methodist Church special services next week, will be as follows,—

Monday night—The pastor, Rev. C. H. Coon, will speak on the subject, "The Christ we need."

Tuesday night.—Rev. S. A. Pearson, B. A., will preach.

Wednesday night—The subject will be, "Jesus Christ, the Great Optimist."

Thursday night.—Rev. H. M. Manning will speak.

Friday night.—Rev. A. H. Brace, pastor of Park Street Baptist Church will speak.

A song service will open each service at 7.45 o'clock. The New Alexander Hymnal will be used. All are cordially invited to these meetings for the revival and renewal of spiritual life in the congregation, and the salvation of sinners.

Chief Raymond, of the fire department of Blind River, in New Ontario, has been arrested in connection with the recent incendiary fires there.

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH

The services in commemoration of the dedication of St. John's church will be continued on Sunday. Parochial communion will be held at 8.30 a.m., and special sermons will be delivered both morning and evening by Rev. W. B. Heeney, M.A., of Barrie. Mr. Heeney is an impressive and earnest speaker and no doubt large congregations will be present to hear him.

Herr Brand, for libelling Prince von Buelow, has been sentenced to eighteen months' imprisonment.

HARTLEY WILL MEET REYNOLDS

Contest Will Take Place on Saturday Next

David Hartley, Peterborough's famous long distance pedestrian, has written the sporting editor of the Mail & Empire, accepting the terms and proposition of that journal, to meet Jimmy Reynolds of Port Hope, in a twelve hour contest in the Toronto armouries on Saturday, Nov. 16 fifty per cent. of the gross receipts to go to the contestants, all expenses to be borne by the Mail and Empire.

Hartley stated to the Review today that he had started training and would be in first class shape for the match. He feels confident of defeating Reynolds. He says that he will be satisfied with a fair distribution of the fifty per cent. receipts which will go to the contestants. Hartley thinks that thirty of the fifty per cent. should go to the victor, and the remaining twenty per cent. to the loser. He thinks that Reynolds will agree to this. There will be plenty of Peterborough money to back Hartley, and the heel and toe walk at the Toronto armories next Saturday, should attract an enormous crowd.

AT THE THEATRE

Commencing Monday night at the Grand Opera House, H. Wilmot Young and Company, will hold the boards for four nights. Mr. Young is a favorite, popular-priced actor, a Canadian by birth, and never plays outside of the Dominion.

A. W. Martin's everlasting "Uncle Tom's Cabin," will give a matinee and night performance on Saturday.

The Proposed Constitution of the City Hockey League

Executive Met Last Night—Seven Teams Likely to be in League—Annual Meeting Tuesday Night.

The executive of the City Hockey League met last evening at the Y.M.C.A., and adopted a revised draft of the constitution. The annual meeting of the hockey league will be held on Tuesday night next at the Y.M.C.A., when it is expected that representatives from all clubs, desiring to enter will be present. It is likely that seven organizations will be represented — Strathconas, High Life's, Charlotte Street, T.A.S., Y.M.C.A., Norwood, and Lakefield. The prospects for the season are very bright.

THE CONSTITUTION.

The proposed constitution, as accepted last night is,—

1. That this association be called The Peterborough City Hockey League.

2. The annual meeting of this League to be held not later than Nov. 15 of each year.

3. The active officers of this League shall consist of the President, 1st Vice-President, 2nd Vice-President, Secretary-treasurer, and a representative from each club.

4. A majority of the officers shall constitute a quorum, and due notice must be given to each representative two days before such meeting.

5. The entrance fee of $2.00 must accompany each application for admission to the League, same being returned if application is not accepted.

6. No club can be represented at the annual meeting, unless the admission fee of $2.00 is paid on or before date of meeting.

7. No verbal proxies will be accepted at any meeting, and all proxies must be signed by an officer of the club and witnessed.

8. The amount of deposit required from each club, to be determined by incoming executive, and must be paid to the secretary, before December 25.

9. O.H.A. rules to govern all games, so far as actual play is concerned.

10. All games must commence on advertised time. Any teams delaying games, will be fined $2.00 per team.

11. All games must be played to a finish.

12. Competing teams to agree on a referee two days before each game, and in the event of their inability to agree, this matter be left in the hands of the President and Sec.-Treas.

13. Any club playing a man who violates any rule of this League must lose such game, and is liable to suspension.

14. No team is allowed to enter the League after Dec. 15th.

15. Each club is requested to register their colors with the secretary before the first schedule game.

16. No permits issued to any club under any consideration.

17. A player in the City Hockey League, must be a bona fide resident from Dec. 1st, of the municipality in which the team is located, with whom he has signed a certificate.

18. Each player in the City Hockey League must hold a certificate from the League to entitle him to play in such games.

19. That the number of playing certificates from each club be limited to ten.

20. Players who have participated in any League games for the Peterborough Hockey Club, other than the Borough Hockey Club in the O.H.A. series, since and including the season of 1905-06, are not eligible.

21. All City Hockey League games must be played on Peterborough ice.

22. The team winning the Cup must furnish the secretary-treasurer a satisfactory bond for $25.00, against loss or damage to the Cup.

Tom Coley in the Feature Event

Will Run Wilson of Peterboro' in Five-Mile Race at Armories

The Toronto Star says: The feature event at the open C.A.A.U. meet at the Armories, under the auspices of the Garrison Amateur Athletic Association, Saturday night, will be the five-mile invitation race, between Tom Coley, the Irish Canadian's grand little Englishman, to whom all distances from one mile to twenty look alike, and Ernie Wilson, the crack Peterborough Y. M. C. A. five-miler, and Bon Howard, the Sunderland's I.C. A. C. Missasauga Indian. Arrangements for the race were finally completed yesterday.

This will be Coley's first appearance since the day he carried the orange and green home in front in the Herald's great 20-mile road pound.

"I haven't donned a shoe since the Herald race," said Coley today, "and I guess my 20-mile training will have showed me up some, but I guess I am equal to the task before me Saturday."

R. M. Glover, the secretary of the Peterborough Y. M. C. A. Harriers, says of Wilson, "Wilson is a young runner and a good one. He runs for the honor, glory and pure love of the game. When I said 'Coley' to him, he said 'I'd just as soon have a gallop with the topnotchers as with anyone else.' I don't say he'll win sure, if Coley is in form, but he'll be there knocking on the door."

The Howard-Wilson set-to, should be a duel to the bitter end, even if Coley does win. They raced five miles neck-and-neck, and finished practically dead level in a 10-mile road race on the holiday, doing the distance over rough roads in 55 minutes. Howard claims he stopped thinking he had the race won, and welcomes the opportunity to prove that he is the better man, and that Wilson won through a misunderstanding. Baker, the one who braved Simpson, the Indian, who ran second at the Herald road race will be down with Howard and Wilson.

WALKING.

Troy, Nov. 7.—Weston, the 70-year-old walker, who is hiking from Portland, Me., to Chicago, arrived here yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock for 48 1-2 miles. He is 70 miles ahead of the record.

After a nap of three hours at the Mansion House, he left for Schnectady where he spent the night.

He is in good condition physically, but complains of the financial stress which is placed upon him by reason of the heavy expenses he is obliged to meet in the way of paying for the carriage which is accompanying him. Weston has already dispensed with the services of one of the men who accompanied him for this reason. In this city he was met by several who accompanied him for a short distance on this similar task forty years ago.

HOCKEY

Judging from the interest shown in City League circles this year, the league will have a more successful season than ever.

NORWOODS PROSPECTS.

Present indications are that Norwood will have a strong hockey team this season. The team will consist of most of the Trent Valley team which made such a good showing when they played a few years ago. We understand that the boys have definitely decided to enter a team in the Peterborough League.—Norwood Register.

The Westmounts Reached Here This Morning

Have a Strong Lineup—Accompanied by About a Dozen Rooters

The Westmounts arrived in the city this morning via C. P. R. at about seven o'clock, leaving Montreal last night at ten. They came provided with a special sleeper and brought along about a dozen supporters. Phil McKenzie of Montreal also accompanied the team.

Westmounts are in good condition and while they think their chances of winning are pretty good are not prepared to back their opinions to any extent by arguments of a financial character.

Local sports are not very anxious either to place very much poin on the outcome of the match.

The easterners have strengthened their team since their game with Kingston, Rowe playing on the back division in place of Brophy, who is one of the spares, and Severs, taking the place of Sutherland in the scrimmage.

"Buzz" Bailie, the crack quarter back and captain of the Westmounts is looked upon as one of the most dangerous men on the line-up of the visitors. It will be remembered that he turned out with Montreal early in the season, but re-joined the Westmounts later.

Snowden, one of the inside wing men, is president of the club, and Hickson Holland, Secretary-treasurer, is among those who accompanied the team.

The Longue Pointe Parish church was destroyed last night by fire. Apart from the money value the loss is irreparable as the building was one of the oldest in Canada, and contained historic reliques and vestments which cannot be replaced.

The Immigration Question As it Applies To-day to Canada

Able Address Delivered Before the Canadian Club, Perth, by Mr. J. H. Burnham—Refers to Utterances of Kipling as Unfortunate—Lively Discussion.

The Perth Expositor of this week, contains an excellent report of the address delivered before the Canadian Club, of Perth, by Mr. J. H. Burnham, of Toronto, formerly of Peterborough.

The Expositor says:

"Mr. Burnham was introduced by ex-Mayor Foy, in the absence of the president of the club, Mr. J. A. Stewart. Mr. Burnham said the question of the admission of the Japanese, Chinese and Hindoos to Canada, was not one that could be considered as an economic question. It was not a political issue, and it behooves every Canadian to look at the question fairly and squarely. If these three peoples are admitted to Canada, it will be but a short time until we are in the same position as the Southern States are in today with reference to the colored race. There a strong agitation is on to have all the negroes shipped back to South Africa, where they belong, and where they do not want to go. The difference in the color of our skins should not make much difference, but it does, and the whites would never assimilate with the negro, the Japs, the Chinese or the Hindoos. A Jap hates a white man and the whites return the compliment. The three peoples which most concern us in Canada, with reference to the immigration question, soon learn that they are despised by the white men, and consequently they hate the whites. At present the Province of British Columbia is taking stringent measures to stop the flow of immigration from these sources, on the ground that they are gradually getting control of the forests, the market garden, the fruit trade, as already they have the fishery industry captured, so that the white man has no chance. He contended that it was nonsense to think that the conditions in the western provinces demanded the admission of these races. It is contended by the railway builders that if we want the railroads we must allow these foreigners in but the speaker suggested that the railroad builders wait. We have to wait for them every day, he said. They run their trains to suit themselves, not the public, and it was now time the railroad builders had a turn at waiting. He thought the cause of the agitation to admit these foreigners as laborers was that the railroad contractors had taken contracts at a time when the cost of living was not as high as it is now. With the increased cost of living, white men demanded a higher wage. If this were granted, the contractors would not make as much money, hence their desire to get in this class of laborers. We do not want our laboring men to be crowded to the wall by the off-scourings from other countries—men who are not of our own flesh and blood—men who cannot assimilate with us.

MR. J. H. BURNHAM

SHOULD LIVE DECENTLY.

We want our laboring men to live decently, make fair wages, educate their children, and in general that he be strong, healthy and as good a man as any one else in this fair Dominion. That's what we want and that's what we are going to have. The yellow race can live on next to nothing—hash and such stuff—and if we admit them to Canada our working men will have to live on the same food if they are to work at the same work. Beyond this lies the degradation of every man, woman and child in Canada. Prof. Goldwin Smith has gone so far as to say that the admission of the colored races into Canada is the beginning of the end of the British empire. The Japs are a fighting people, they are a "cocky" race, and will not put up with anything but the full protection of the British flag. Unlike the Chinese, they want to exercise the franchise. They will not long content themselves with the menial occupations, but will eventually be engaged as carpentrs, mechanics, engineers, railroaders, and the white man will be crowded to the wall. 'Tis true the older countries are overcrowded, but if we are to have immigrants, let us have those from England, Ireland and Scotland. Why are there strikes in the West? Because there, they are face to face with the labor question, and the whites see that they are being slowly but surely crowded out. In the East some say let the Japs have a chance. We do not know the conditions in the West. When the offer was made to ship 300 Japs to the city of Ottawa to assist in the labor market there, see how it was received. They were not wanted there. Why, then, should they be wanted in the West? "What's good for the goose should be good for the gander," the speaker thought. Australia will not have them. In Natal there are 97,000 whites and 100,000 Orientals, and the white man is wiped out as a factor, while the Orientals rule the country. The Japs, if admitted free to Canada, would demand equal rights with Canadians. We own this country. Our forefathers fought for it and cleared it, and started the foundation for the great country we have now, while we have all helped to bring it to the degree of prosperity we find ourselves to be enjoying now. Now the Japs, the Chinese and the Hindoos want to come over here, and reap the benefits of our prosperity. Did the Japanese nation allow the Chinese to settle in their islands? No, indeed, they are prohibited. If Canada is to remain a Dominion firmly welded together, each province must support the other, and we must remain a white man's country—a free country—and we cannot do so if we allow the colored races from every country in the world to flock to our shores.

DISAGREES WITH KIPLING.

Mr. Burnham referred to what he termed the unfortunate utterances of Rudyard Kipling with reference to this immigration question. He considered, basing his remarks on the reports of Kipling's speeches as they appeared in the public press, that he, Kipling, had favored the admission of the Japs, as they were essential to the progress of Canada. The speaker thought this an uncalled for utterance and thought Kipling was influenced by the fact that some of the ventures he was interested in in the West might suffer by the exclusion of the Japs.

An exception was taken later in the evening by two members of the club, to the views as expressed by Mr Burnham in this respect, we were asked to insert a paragraph, which appeared in the Toronto News, as one Kiplings statements in his Ottawa address, and the one on which Mr. Burnham based his statements. Here it is:—

"The great need was men to develop her vast potential wealth. No selfish policy of exclusion was permissable in a country so situated, the cry was for more men to do the work of development. 'I do not understand,' he observed, 'how Canada proposes to control the enormous Oriental trade and at the same time hold herself aloof from the Asiatic influx, which is the natural concomitant of that trade.'"

Col. Matheson, Provincial Treasurer, moved a vote of thanks to the speaker of the evening for the very interesting and instructive address. Speaking to the motion he said that to-day Canada had a population of five or six millions and it would not be surprising that if in ten or fifteen years time it was double that number. In our days of prosperity immigrants would come to our shores and it was the duty of the government of the day to control this tide. He thought first attention should be given to the men and women from Great Britain. Then the Swedes, the Norwegians and the Scandinavians are a very desirable class of settlers, and these should be encouraged as much as possible. They readily assimilate with our people. They are an intelligent, industrious, clean, healthy people and that is the class we want. Referring to Canada he said that we have practically the last tract of unsettled land in the world for the white people, and it is very essential that we get the proper class of settlers there. He did not think the great influx of Japanese was spontaneous, but that there was some influence from Canada. The Provincial Treasurer took exception to the remarks made by the speaker of the evening with reference to the views held by Kipling on the immigration question, and he contended that the man of letters was misrepresented.

Mr. McIntosh, the Principal of the P.P. school, addressed the audience. This is the first time Mr. McIntosh appeared before a Perth audience as a public speaker and the impression he left was a good one. He is a pleasant speaker and possesses a good flow of language. Speaking to the question he did not see that there was any great haste in having Canada populated. He preferred to have immigrants from Great Britain first. He also thought Mr. Burnham misrepresented the attitude of Kipling.

Judge Senkler seconded the motion made by Col Matheson, and the same was unanimously carried.

Peterboro' Man Has Invention Recently Patented in England

Mr. John Bain, Water St., Introduces an Automatic Chain Reliever to be Used in Woollen Mills—Will Shortly be Patented in the United States—An Excellent Machine.

A new device in the shape of a piece of machinery that is bound to have a ready sale in England and the United States, has recently been patented in the Old Country, and in the course of a few months will be introduced into the United States. It is the invention of Mr. John Bain, 943 Water street, formerly foreman of the spinning room of the Auburn Woollen Mills. Last night, in conversation with a Review representative, Mr. Bain gave some interesting facts regarding the new contrivance. It is an automatic chain reliever, which is attached to a plattmule, a piece of machinery used for spinning in a woollen mill. This chain reliever does the work of keeping the same tension on the yarn while the bobbin is gaining its circumference. Previous to the invention of this machine a man had to operate the feed of the plattmule by hand, but with the introduction of of this chain reliever an operator is unnecessary, and the work can be performed much quicker. The chain reliever is being used in the Auburn Woollen Mills with much success.

Although recently patented, the initial machine has been made for some time. Mr. Bain forged his first patterns at the blacksmith shop of the the Auburn Mills, and then cut them in wood, from which the patterns for the machine were taken. He was about six months working at it before it was completed. An expert draughtsman from Toronto took drawings of it and had them sent to England, and the papers of the English patent are now in Mr. Bain's possession. He expects to receive the papers for the American patent next March.

When asked if he intended to manufacture his invention Mr. Bain replied "No," but would sell out to the manufacturer of the plattmule machine, and this new device could be sold in conjunction with it.

Mr. Bain is to be congratulated on the success that has so far attended his efforts, and it is hoped that his invention will have a ready demand and a large sale wherever it is introduced.

THE MAIN BLOCK OF CANADA'S PARLIAMENT BUILDING.

Fire Destroyed Catholic Church

At Fort William—Was to Have Been Dedicated by Bishop Scollard, November 15

Fort William, Ont., Nov. 8.—Fire started last night in the new Catholic church, corner of McIntosh and Connely streets in the local dock section, and was totally destroyed, nothing but a small portion of the walls remaining to-day. The building was of brick veneer, the main part being 45 by 80 feet and the nave 20 by 20 feet. The massive tower is also completely ruined. The basement was being furnished partly as a school room for the children of that neighborhood.

The insurance will fall far short of the actual loss. The total cost was $15,000, which was subscribed by the poor people of the coal dock neighborhood, who, for the most part have been saving with this object in view.

Construction of the building was commenced in the latter part of May and the edifice was to have been ready by the fifteenth of this month on which date it was to have been dedicated by his Lordship Bishop Scollard. The people in the neighborhood state that some time elapsed before they were able to get the fire hall by telephone, but no delay was experienced once the alarm was rung, the brigade making a record turnout and were at the scene in a very few minutes after the alarm was turned in. They were, however, too late to save the building as by that time the flames were mounting high in the air, lighting up the whole town. Considerable alarm was felt as at first it was thought the whole of the coal dock section was in flames.

The cause of the fire is at present unknown, but it is supposed to have been incendiarism or else caused by some tramps as there was no stove or heating apparatus in the building.

Will Hold Gospel Temperance Meeting

Provincial President, Mrs. McKee Will Speak Here To-morrow

A gospel temperance meeting will be held in the Conservatory of Music Hall on Sunday afternoon next at 4.15 o'clock. Mrs. McKee of Barrie, president of the Provincial W. C. T. U. will give an address. Other speakers will also be present. A branch of the W. C. T. U. will be organized in Peterborough.

A WARNING TO MOTHERS

There are unscrupulous dealers, who for the sake of trifling gain are willing to sacrifice the health—perhaps the lives—of little ones. This is proved by the fact that there are a number of imitations of Baby's Own Tablets offered. The mother can protect her child by seeing that the full name, Baby's Own Tablets, and the four-leaf clover, with child's head on each leaf, is found on the outside wrapper around every box. Do not take anything else, as you may endanger your child's life. If you cannot get the genuine tablets from your dealer, send 25 cents to the Dr Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., and get a box by mail, post paid.

It Looks Like War to the Knife Between Brewers and Hotelmen

Latter Object to Increase in Price of All Malted Goods and Say There is no Justification for the Advance —Brewers May Reconsider Increased Quotations.

Toronto, Nov. 9.—To say that relations are somewhat strained between tween the hotelmen of the Province and the brewers is not deviating from the truth. The trouble originated when the brewers put up the price of all malted goods about nine per cent a few days ago, and, were it not that, as one hotel man put it, 'we are at the mercy of the brewers," there would be further trouble.

As it is, a deputation of local hotelmen waited on the brewers yesterday, and requested that the price of malted liquors be put back to what to what it was originally. The brewers refused to give an answer offhand, and told the deputation that they would take the matter into consideration, and let them know in the course of a few days.

NOT ENTITLED TO INCREASE.

The hotelmen pointed out to the brewers with figures that they were in no way entitled to increase the price. "There is no justification for it at all," was the way once man put it, "and it looks as if you are trying to get all you can out of us."

The brewers replied that the high price of malted goods and barley necessitated the increase, but that, nevertheless, they would consider the question of going back to the old scale.

"If the brewers refuse, we can't do a thing," said a hotel man in speaking of the matter this morning. 'They practically have a combine to which belongs every brewer in the province. They all agreed to put up the price, and if they refuse to lower it, what can we do?"

NO POSSIBILITY OF INDEPENDENT ACTION.

"How about the hotelmen starting a brewery of their own?" the reporter asked.

"That's all talk," he answered. "We have never seriously thought of going into the brewery business ourselves. In fact, we can't, for the simple reason that if we did we couldn't get any malt. The brewers have that cornered good and fast."

"In the meantime the brewers are not worrying. They heard what the deputation had to say, and will take their own time about giving an answer.

Peterboro' Hunting Parties Are Having Splendid Luck

Cavendish Township Alive With Nimrods—Harry Winch's Chase After a Deer—Annual Dance of Ketchecum Party—Black Ducks Are Numerous.

(Review Special).

Cavendish, Nov. 9.—Hunters are more plentiful in the wilds of Cavendish township then usual. Deer are also quite plentiful.

The Casement-Fraser-Kidd party are camped on Mortimus Lake and are having fair luck. They have four fine deer.

A party consisting of Gus Corcoran, M. O'Brien, Dr. Amys, D. Johnston Mr. Head, were storm stayed on Bottle Creek over night on Monday. They are going into camp on Sucker Lake portage.

The Geire-Rastch party on Stony Creek, have two good deer.

The Winch-Simpson, or Ketchecum Hunt club, have made a record.—In two days, Friday and Monday, they got 9 deer—5 bucks and 4 does. Much of this good luck was due to the cunning and craft of the veteran, Harry Winch and Alex. Simpson, with the renowned deer dog "Uno." Each member of the party has already got his first deer.

The Eastwood party are camped in the old depot camp, and are having good luck.

Both the Eagle Lake and Gold Lake parties are having good luck.

There are not as large a proportion of "big bucks" to be seen as usual. This is accounted for by the phenomenal number taken in the hunt last year.

H.C. Winch and Alex Simpson chased a deer on Friday both on, through and under the ice on Pencil Creek. Part of the time both deer and dog were under about 3-4 of an inch of ice. They, however, bagged their game.

It rained all day both on Saturday and Sunday, and a great gale passed over the lakes.

Enormous quantities of black ducks are to be seen. Some of the small lakes are literally covered with ducks. This is a most unusual sight in this country.

The Ketchecum party have invitations out for their annual dance on Friday night. The residents are looking for a better time then ever, and the boys, especially Archie Morrow, and Manson Ormstock, are making great efforts to signalize the event as an enjoyable one.

The British railway dispute has been settled, an agreement drafted by Mr. Lloyd-George, president of the Board of Trade, having been signed by eleven companies.

Ocean Liner Lands Cargo of Great Value at New York

Cunarder Lusitania Clinches Hold on Blue Ribbon.

Weather Was Unfavorable—But She Clips One Hour and Twelve Minutes Off Previous Record — Also Makes Best Day's Run—Machinery Worked Well—Had Nearly $12,000,000 on Board.

New York, Nov. 9.—The marvelous record established less than a month ago by the giant turbine Cunarder Lusitania, when she cut several hours from the passage time across the Atlantic, already has been broken. But the Lusitania still retains the title of Queen of the Seas, as it was she herself that established the new low mark, and incidentally she added several new records to her credit. These include the best single days' run—618 knots, made on Nov. 6—an average of more than 600 knots for every full day, and an average hourly speed of 24.25 knots for the full 2,781 miles.

The best previous record for the westward passage across the ocean was made by the Lusitania on her last voyage when she covered the distance in four days, nineteen hours and fifty-two minutes. The voyage ended yesterday over the same course, and was completed in four days eighteen hours and forty minutes, thus clipping one hour and twelve minutes from the previous low mark. And this was done in the face of conditions none too favorable. From the start the weather was stormy, and on the last two days, when the big steamer was on the home stretch, where the greatest burst of speed might have been expected, she drove straight into the teeth of a strong wind, high confusing seas, and occasional sharp squalls. The day's runs were 21, 616, 618, 610 and 310 knots.

In the Lusitania's big vaults was stored nearly $12,000,000 in gold engaged abroad by American bankers since the present movement began.

HONOR FOR TUPPER.

Sir Charles Is Created Privy Councillor on King's Birthday.

London, Nov. 9.—The Government having decided not to recommend any appointment to the House of Lords during the agitation against the Upper House, the list of honors on the occasion of King Edward's birthday to-day is a comparatively short one.

Sir Charles Tupper, the ex-Premier of Canada, appears first on the list of the new privy councillors.

To membership of the Imperial privy council attaches very considerable dignity and honor. The appointment, in some respects, is a more enviable one than admission to the sacred circle of the peerage, since it cannot be obtained by other than distinguished service to the state or the Empire in some one or other of the many capacities in which it may be given. The members range down from the first prince of the blood royal to private gentlemen possessing no title except the dignified one of "right honorable," which is conferred by membership itself. Privy councillors who are commoners, take precedence immediately after the knights of the garter. The duties of the privy council are more nominal than real, only a few members specially summoned attending the ordinary meetings. General gatherings are rare, being limited to such occasions as the accession of a new sovereign. Membership is for life.

Sir Charles Moss.

London, Nov. 9.—(C. A. P.)—Hon. Charles Moss, Chief Justice of Toronto, has been created a knight bachelor. He is now entitled to the distinction Sir Charles Moss.

Robert Miller Coulter, Deputy Postmaster-General, is given a C. M. G.

Will Oppose Mayor Ashdown.

Winnipeg, Nov. 9.—Municipal power is the whole topic of discussion in the city, and Monday night's session of the City Council promises to be a record-breaker in point of interest.

The power men will likely bring out a candidate in opposition to Mayor Ashdown, and it promises to be the biggest fight in the municipal history of Winnipeg.

The Labor party last night passed a resolution condemning the mayor for vetoing the power proposition.

First Diabolo Victim.

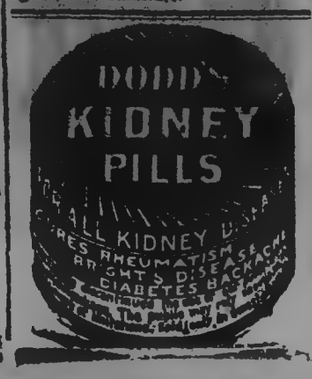
San Sebastian, Spain, Nov. 9.—The first death as the result of diabolo is reported from Pampelona. A boy, who was playing the game, threw the spool very high. He misjudged its position as it fell, and it struck him on the temple, inflicting an injury which caused death.

Aged Hunter Dropped Dead.

Cornwall, Nov. 9.—Joseph Merkley, one of the oldest citizens of Chesterville, dropped dead while hunting near South Indian. The old man was 85 years of age, and it is supposed that the excitement of the chase produced heart failure.

Nurse Charged With Cruelty.

Montreal, Nov. 9.—The second case in a month of a nurse in a home beating a child came up yesterday when two nurses were called. The little boy was black and blue. The accused nurses said he had hurt himself against the furniture.



PROFESSOR FROZEN TO DEATH.

Escaped From Sanitarium While Mentally Unbalanced.

Rochester, N.Y., Nov. 9.—Fred. H. Abell, professor of modern languages in West High School, and escaped from the sanitarium of Dr. Graham some time after midnight Thursday, was found dead near the Highland Park reservoir early yesterday morning. The body was in a sitting posture by the fence, with an arm hooked about a fencepost.

Prof. Abell had frozen to death during the snow and sleet storm. He was dressed only in his night clothes. Prof. Abell was suffering from temporary aberration of the mind, caused by the death of his only child.

Cut to Pieces by Work Train.

Parry Sound, Nov. 9.—Robert Menzies, a workman on the C. P. R. construction, was run over by a work-train on that railway, and was instantly killed. He was a young Scotchman, not long out, and was engaged in the C. P. R. gravel pit at Barker's Corners, and it was while returning up the track, walking, that he was overtaken by the train and cut to pieces.

FOR MR. HEARST'S BENEFIT.

Remarks of United States Ambassador at Nottingham.

Nottingham, England, Nov. 9.—Whitelaw Reid, the American ambassador, delivered a speech on Anglo-American trade relations at a dinner given here Thursday night by the Nottingham Chamber of Commerce, of which he was a guest.

Referring to the amount of trade carried on between the United States and Great Britain, Mr. Reid said:

"Neither of us is trading with the other out of benevolence or philanthropy; we are doing it on both sides mainly because we think we are thus getting the most for our money.

"This being the case, should not he who for spleen or petty political demagogism utters a word or does an act to interrupt the present friendly relations between such customers be characterised as one of the most disagreeable, as well as one of the most pernicious, of the public enemies?"

Could Not Oust Brokers.

New York, Nov. 9.—Under the decision of the appellate division of the Supreme Court of New York State the curb stock market will continue to be one of the unique features of the financial district.

James A. Allan sought to secure an order from the court several weeks ago to compel the police commissioner to abolish the curb market on the ground that its noise and crowding of Broad street was a detriment to the business occupants of nearby office buildings.

A lower court, however, dismissed Mr. Allen's application, and on appeal the appellate division sustained the decision yesterday.

Petawawa a Grand Camp.

Ottawa, Nov. 9.—Dr. Hodgetts, the Provincial Health Officer, has submitted his report concerning the sanitary conditions at Petawawa camp.

He states that the water supply is perfect. He speaks in highest terms of its purity and arrangements for distribution. The location of the camp in general he also characterizes as excellent.

The enquiry was instituted to ascertain the cause of the numerous typhoid cases, which developed among certain corps, particularly the detachment from Pembroke.

Dr. Hodgetts is still at work upon this phase of the enquiry, and will report shortly.

Mr. Belcourt's Successor.

Ottawa, Nov. 9.—The candidates for the representation of Ottawa, in the place of Mr. Belcourt, who goes to the Senate, are Mr. Auguste Lemieux and Mr. Emmanuel Tasse. There is likely to be a tussle over this, although Mr. Lemieux is the favorite with the Liberal leaders in the association.

FLOOD AT MARSEILLES

Terrific Hurricane Swept Over City Yesterday.

Immense Damage Done to Docks and Other Waterside Property—Number of People Killed by Falling Houses—Excessive Rains in South of France — All Work Has Been Suspended.

Marseilles, Nov. 9.—A hurricane swept over this city last night, causing immense damage to docks and other waterfront property. The gas works were flooded by the terrific downpour that accompanied the storm, and the city was plunged into darkness. A number of people were killed by collapsing houses, but in the confusion and the darkness it is impossible to determine the extent of the casualties last night.

All of southern France continues to suffer from the floods following the excessive rains. In many places the inundations are worse than the horrors which followed the September storm. The extensive coal stations at Grassessaic have been completely flooded, and all work has been suspended.

ACTOR WILL DENY CHARGES.

Hitchcock Will Attack the Character of His Accusers.

New York, Nov. 9.—Henry J. Goldsmith, attorney for Raymond Hitchcock, has announced that the first step in preparing his client's defence would be an application for permission to inspect the minutes of the grand jury which found the six indictments against the actor. An attempt will be made to attack the characters of the girl witnesses who testified against Hitchcock and to show that they are not worthy of belief.

In the Voecks blackmail case Hitchcock, under cross-examination before his disappearance, admitted taking little girls in his auto to his home in Great Neck, where they were kept over night in his wife's absence. He also admitted taking two of them to a house on 41st street, where he had a furnished room. His attorney will claim that in his attentions to these girls Hitchcock acted purely out of the goodness of his heart and that he was inspired by no evil motives; that he was not guilty of the offences with which they have charged him.

The whereabouts of Hitchcock during the week that he was a fugitive from justice are still shrouded in mystery. Hollis E. Cooley, manager for Henry W. Savage, who went on Hitchcock's bail bond in the Police Court, has a farm in the Hoosac Mountains, about twenty miles' drive from North Adams, Mass.

Inspector McCafferty sent Detective Wilbur to investigate a clue that the actor was at North Adams. Wilbur spent two days searching in the mountains for Hitchcock just prior to the latter's return.

WHAT ANGORA GOATS DID.

Derailed Work Train and Tore Up Track at St. Louis.

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 9.—A work train drawn by an electric engine on the Illinois Traction system ran into a flock of forty-five angora goats near here Thursday. The long goat-hairs wound around the trucks and wheels in a way that derailed the engine and six cars. The track was torn up for 400 feet and traffic delayed for 12 hours.

Miss Maloney Indignant.

Philadelphia, Nov. 9.—"I never married Samuel Clarkson. It is all a lie—a mean, despicable lie. I never went abroad with him. I never eloped with him. There is nothing between us and never was. Now, it's all settled and I won't say one word more."

Helen Maloney-Osborne, hurrying from her father's mansion here to his summer home at Spring Lake, N. J., where the scandal that followed her recent disappearance is to be laid at rest through the sanctification of the previous Osborne marriage by the church, made this passionate pronouncement Thursday night.

Safety Valve Was Defective.

Trenton, Nov. 9.—The coroner's jury, which was empanelled at Trenton by Dr. Crowe, to investigate the cause of the fatal accident at the canning factory, returned a verdict that George Graham, and Louis Dube came to their death through an explosion of one of the retorts, the cause of the explosion, in the opinion of the jury, being a defective safety valve on the said retort, which should have released at a pressure of ten pounds of steam, and on investigation afterwards would not release at a pressure of 57 pounds.

Curzon to Contest West Hull.

Hull, Eng., Nov. 9.—Lord Curzon of Kedleston, chancellor of Oxford University, and ex-Viceroy of India, has consented to contest the situation in the House of Commons for West Hull, made vacant by the elevation of Hon. Charles Henry Wellesley Wilson to the peerage.

Italian Killed at Cobourg.

Cobourg, Nov. 9.—While alighting from a passenger train here Domencia Troisi, an Italian, accidentally fell under the wheels and was so badly mangled that he died a few hours later.

Falls From Scaffold.

Belleville, Nov. 9.—A scaffold at the gas works broke yesterday morning and a bricklayer's helper, John McGillivray, fell about twenty feet and sustained injuries which may prove fatal.

King's Birthday at Capital.

Ottawa, Nov. 9.—The 23rd Field Battery will furnish a party to fire a salute to-day at noon in honor of the King's birthday. The battery will parade at Nespean Point.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS
PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 days or money refunded. 50c.

BEER* BENEFITS THE WHOLE BODY
(NO OTHER FOOD-BEVERAGE DOES THAT MUCH)

NOT six people in a thousand (and those six have either diabetes or gouty tendencies) can get anything but real good from the use of good beer with their meals. Because that kind of beer (and no other kind is brewed in Ontario) benefits the whole body of the normal adult,—enriches the blood, vitalizes the stomach, makes kidneys and liver active, builds flesh and betters nerves.

Beer Is Not A Mere Tonic

Good beer, drank with meals and at bedtime, is not merely a tonic—for a tonic simply gets one part of the system to work better for a while, by stimulating its activity, while beer, rightly used, does the whole system permanent good.

Beer Builds Up Thin Folks

That is why good beer is such a notable flesh-builder, and why it is so effective in changing the too-white blood of anemic people into the red, strong, healthy blood of the vigorous. It has qualities that are very valuable to women, especially. It is distinctly NOT an intoxicant, nor a hurtful stimulant. Ask your doctor if beer wouldn't be good for you as an item of daily diet.

* BEER is a term which covers lager, ales, porter and stout; and, in the practise of Ontario brewers, implies beverages made under most hygienic conditions from Ontario barley (the best in the world) malt, hops, and pure water. 303

BUCKINGHAM RIOT CASES.

Six Strikers Appeared In Hull For Trial Yesterday.

Ottawa, Nov. 9.—Adelard Hamelin, Hilaire Charette, Louis Landry, J. B. Clement, C. D. Bastien and G. R. Coteau, the six strikers implicated in the Buckingham riot of over a year ago, by which three lives were lost, appeared yesterday afternoon for trial in Hull before Magistrate Talbot.

The chief witnesses were Dr. McComb of Buckingham, who performed the autopsy, and Albert McLaren, president of the James McLaren Lumber Co., against which the demonstration was made. The story of the riot was retold.

Before the adjournment C. J. Brook, one of the counsel for the McLarens, made a strong appeal to have the prisoners committed, but this the magistrate refused, and they were admitted to bail. The fact that during the past year none of the men charged has made any attempt to leave the country was commented on.

LOST IN VIOLENT GALE.

Three Men Believed to Have Lost Their Lives.

Charlottetown, P. E. I., Nov. 9.—Great anxiety is felt for the safety of Thomas Stewart, miller, middle-aged; Howard Poole, aged 17, and Reeves, aged 20, who left Souris on Wednesday night at 9.30, in the midst of a furious northeast gale, in the schooner Haleyon, for Georgetown, 22 miles distant. The Haleyon was only 30 tons' burden and carried no ballast. The men on board had little knowledge of seamanship. The trip should have been made under ordinary circumstances in five or six hours, but no tidings of the missing vessel have yet been heard. It is feared she capsized while attempting to clear Boughton Island. Wreckage of the same color has been seen in Cardigan River. The missing men all belonged to Woodville Mills, Lower Cardigan. Stewart is a middle-aged man with a wife and six children.

Will Go to Senate.

Ottawa, Nov. 9.—It is probable that the three Senate vacancies in Ontario will be filled at a meeting of the Cabinet within the next few days. It is understood that two of the vacancies will go to Mr. Archibald Campbell, M. P. for Centre York, and Mr. Belcourt, M. P. for Ottawa. For the third vacancy the name of Hon. John Charlton is most prominently mentioned, but no definite decision has yet been reached. The appointment of Messrs. Campbell and Belcourt will necessitate bye-elections in Centre York and Ottawa.

Large Tannery Burned.

Quebec, Nov. 9.—A large tannery, the property of Edmond Julian, at Limoilou, Que., was totally destroyed by fire at an early hour yesterday morning. The Quebec brigade hurried to the scene a few minutes distant from the city, and succeeded in protecting the surrounding buildings, which were threatened. Loss, $25,000; insurance, $6,500.

Mystery at North Bay.

North Bay, Nov. 9.—Deep mystery surrounds the finding of a body covered by straw in a barn about two miles north of here yesterday morning. Every effort has been made to identify the dead man, but up to the present have been unsuccessful.

Drinking; Was Drowned.

St. John, N. B., Nov. 9.—Robert Smith, a sailor, while attempting to board his vessel last night fell into the harbor and was drowned. Smith, who belonged to Yarmouth, N. S., had been drinking.

Dies From Injuries.

Orangeville, Nov. 9.—John Davis, postmaster at Alton, who was seriously injured at Kelly's railway crossing, second line Caledon, Oct. 28, died yesterday morning.

The Empress of Germany at the earnest request of the King and Queen, it said to have changed her mind and decided to accompany the Emperor on his visit to England.

For robbing the North Sydney post Office, U. S. McDonald has been sentenced to four years in the penitentiary.

Hints For the Home Dressmaker

The Latest Dean Patterns

Some Timely Suggestions Giving Directions in the Leading Styles and the Best Materials to be Used

A JAUNTY EFFECT IN PLAID SILK

A PRETTY OVERBLOUSE FROCK

Overblouse dresses are still popular, and an attractive one of recent design is shown. A pretty striped wool in brown and biscuit was used for the dress, with brown ribbon velvet for trimming. The body portion is here made of tucked China silk, with fine embroidery for garniture, but a warmer material may be substituted if preferred. The shoulder straps give a pretty effect to the V shaped overblouse and are most becoming to the small wearer. Any of the seasonable materials may be used for the dress, 4 yards of 36 inch material being needed to develop the 5 year size.

4255—Sizes, 3 to 7 years.

The price of this pattern is 10c.

Leave your order and 10c. at THE REVIEW OFFICE and pattern will be sent you by mail.

A TUCKED SHIRTWAIST IN SILK

The tucked shirtwaist is so much in vogue this season that many charming designs have been produced. One of the newest is here shown, and although its modelling is simple, it lacks nothing of style and piquancy. The perfect fit of the prettily shaped yoke is a noticeable feature, while the groups of tucks in the front, ending at the bust line, dispose gracefully of the fullness. The tucks in the back, extending from neck to waistline, produce an effect of slenderness which the woman of full figure will appreciate. The sleeves may be made in full or shorter length, as desired. In the present instance embroidery was used for trimming, but any preferred garniture may be used. The waist would make up prettily in any soft silk or wool material, or in a lingerie fabric, if this is preferred. For the medium size 2¾ yards, 27 inch material, are required.

6995—6 sizes, 32 to 42 inches bust measure.

The price of this pattern is 10c.

Leave your order and 10c. at THE REVIEW OFFICE, and pattern will be sent you by mail.

A PRACTICAL HOUSE-WIFE'S SET

The busy housekeeper who does not disdain to work around her own house will find the set here sketched very practical for protective use. It consists of a circular apron, (which may be made with or without the ruffle), a dust cap and sleeve protectors, all of which are quite indispensable in any sort of housecleaning. The shaping of the apron is convenient and comfortable, being especially designed to fit easily over the bust while affording plenty of space for free movement at the hem. Checked gingham was used for making the apron and sleeve protectors, and this material may also be used for the cap, if desired, 6¼ yards of 36 inch goods being needed for the entire set.

6003—One size.

The price of this pattern is 10c.

Leave your order and 10c. at THE REVIEW OFFICE and pattern will be sent you by mail.

FOR THE LITTLE MAN'S SUIT

Much of the energy with which the average small boy is endowed seems to expend itself in the endeavor to wear out his clothes with as much celerity as possible; hence the mother of such a boy, never being quite through with the work of making new garments, is naturally eager to find designs that are easy to make and to keep clean. The little blouse suit here sketched will unquestionably prove welcome, since it exactly fills these special needs. The blouse, which is tucked in front and back in triple box-pleat effect, is modelled after the Russian style, and fastens on the left side, the closing being concealed by the tucks. A pleasing departure from the usual mode, however, is seen in the position of the belt, which terminates on either side under the tucks. The pleated sleeve is constructed on the most approved models for little boys' wear. Serge was used for modelling the suit as shown, but any pliable cloth might be chosen, the preference being given to a fabric that may easily be sponged and pressed when necessary. A tub fabric may be substituted for the wool, if desired, such suits being frequently made of washable material, regardless of the season. For the five-year size, 4 yards of 27 inch goods will be needed.

4273—6 sizes, from 2 to 7 years.

The price of this pattern is 10c.

Leave your order and 10c. at THE REVIEW OFFICE and pattern will be sent you by mail.

A CHARMING LITTLE APRON

Aprons are no longer thought of as plain, unbecoming articles of protection, for many of them are as pretty as dresses, and often serve to dress up a frock, as well as protect it. Here is sketched an apron which is easily made, and suitable to very dainty trimming. The front and back are tucked from the top in pointed outline, the edge being left plain, or finished with a beading and narrow lace. The shoulder pieces may be of the apron material, or all-over embroidery. For the medium size 1¾ yards of material, 36 inches wide, are needed.

4233—Sizes, 2, 4, and 6 years.

The price of this pattern is 10c.

Leave your order and 10c at THE REVIEW OFFICE and pattern will be sent you by mail.

CRYSTAL BASKETS.

Unique Table Ornaments For Holding Flowers and Fruit.

Crystal handle baskets, both large and small, which must surely commend themselves to the hostess who has an eye for beautiful table furnishings, were seen recently at one of the avenue shops. The large baskets are twelve or fifteen inches in height and are used for flowers. They are ideal receptacles for roses, as was demonstrated by a hostess at a recent fashionable dinner, who provided them, filled with these flowers, as favors for her guests. The smaller baskets are decidedly new and lined with green leaves make charming receptacles for berries. For a dinner where one of the large handle baskets filled with flowers is used as a centerpiece the smaller ones can be used effectively for a dessert course of ice cream, surrounded by fresh berries with a few of their leaves.

Even smaller still are the little baskets intended as individual dishes for salted nuts. They are not more than three or four inches in diameter and are exceedingly graceful in shape. Some of the baskets are of clear crystal, with a hair line of gold or green twisted about the handle. Others are green with rich floral designs in gold.

Historic Swiss Bell.

One of the historic bells in Switzerland is the silver bell in the minster at Berne. It rang "for the service of God, the festivals of state, and the execution of the evil doer." When the forces of the young French republic captured Berne in 1798, the citizens painted it a funereal black, and under this disguise it escaped from the rapacity of the Gauls.

A TRIM FITTED JACKET

A PRETTY FRENCH FROCK FOR HOME MAKING

The new designs for dresses for small children are quite simple enough to be made at home if mother so desires—as so many mothers do. The prettily shaped yoke of the model here sketched offers ample opportunity for the display of some fine hand embroidery or braid trimming, while the rest of the dress may be left plain, with the exception of the cuffs, which should correspond with the yoke. Narrow tucks regulate the fullness of the blouse at the yoke line in front and back, while two downward turning tucks decorate the bottom of the skirt. There is a wide choice of suitable materials of which to make this charming little frock, including China silk, nun's veiling, albatross and, if preferred, a lingerie fabric. The 4 year size calls for 2p 5/8 yards of 36 inch material.

4275—6 sizes, 1 to 6 years.

The price of this pattern is 10c.

Leave your order and 10c. at THE REVIEW OFFICE and pattern will be sent you by mail.

HOW TO BE A SUCCESSFUL BOARDING HOUSE KEEPER

Attractive Way to Serve Cheese

A Plentiful Supply of Towels is a Necessity

A Pitcher of Ice Water is Always Appreciated

Heavy China is never Dainty

Simple and Artistic Table Decorations

MANY years ago, while traveling in Italy, I met a good old Yankee housekeeper who came, as she herself told me, from "way down East." I think it was on the Maine coast.

What had ever moved her to leave her comfortable home and wander in what she called "furrin parts," I could never determine.

She was woefully homesick, and finding in me a fellow housekeeper of congenial tastes, she waxed confidential and gave me many details of her home life.

"Say," she broke out one day when we had been exchanging domestic views over a cup of tea in my private sitting room, "did you ever keep boarders?"

I owned that this was a branch of industry in which I had had no experience. "Neither did I!" she said with vigor. "I hev washed and I hev ironed, but that is one thing I jest won't do! I won't keep boarders!"

Perhaps one who has had no experience in this line, and whose sentiments against it are as strong as were those of my old New England friend, is not in a position to speak authoritatively on how to keep a boarding house.

And yet it is the looker-on who sees most of the game.

If I have not kept boarders I have at least, for my sins, been kept as a boarder, and have thus had opportunity to form some pretty clear views on the subject.

SPOTLESS LINEN

Let me preface them by saying that all my compassion goes out to the keeper of a boarding house.

I don't know a more thankless position, unless it may be that of a stepmother.

As a rule she satisfies few, if she pleases one she fails to suit another.

In view of all this, to my apprehension, the only thing she can do is to go ahead and follow the leadings of her own judgment, deferring as far as she can to the preferences of her boarders, but not permitting herself to be made miserable by their complaints or lack of praise.

If I were asked what are the requisites for keeping a boarding house well I am pretty sure that among the first qualifications I would name cleanliness.

Doubtless some persons think that would be a matter of course, but I can assert confidently that it is not taken for granted in all establishments where boarders are kept.

A few of such I have known where the table linen was spotless as it is in a well-kept private house, where the bed linen was changed twice a week; where the supply of clean towels was plentiful, where the napkins were fresh at least once daily, if not at every meal.

PLENTY TO EAT

But these places were such exceptions to the common rule that they had long credit marks by their names in the memory of all who knew of them.

Never shall I forget the awe-struck tone in which a young friend of mine, in recounting the advantages of a boarding house at a winter resort, added, as a crowning touch, "and they give you fresh napkins at every meal!"

Such cleanliness should, of course, extend through every department of the house, and would mean well swept and well dusted rooms, neat maids, spotless china and glass, as well as fresh linen.

It takes time to achieve this, time and patience and work and money. But they are among the things I esteem indispensable in keeping a boarding house.

Next, I would name liberality, and I do not put it second because I hold it of less importance than cleanliness, although I am not sure but what a clean and scanty meal is more desirable than a plentiful supply where neatness is left out.

But if you wish to keep a boarding house and to keep it well you must try not to be stingy.

I do not say you must not economize, but it should not be in the meat and vegetable and grocery bills.

Economy should be practiced by carefulness in the household, by watching small leaks, by purchasing carefully, by planning judiciously.

All these are legitimate. What is not fair is to take the money of your boarders and then give them poor food or to have good food poorly cooked.

You must have good servants and pay them well if you wish good service for your boarders. You must get good provisions, not cheap articles, if you wish to set a good table.

Another thing I would encourage is sincerity, or rather lack of pretence.

I would not try to do what I could not accomplish, or put so much time and effort into achieving "style" that I would have no energy left to make the house or the food really good.

TOO MUCH STYLE

I recollect very well what was said to me once by an old lady who had for years kept one of the most successful pensions in Florence, known and visited by a recurring succession of American and English tourists, to whom the old lady was a friend as well as a hostess.

As her health failed, her son took up the work. His first step was to tear out the old furniture which gave the place its homelike look, to put in new and expensive decorations and plenishings, and, as he said, "to bring the place up to date."

"My son says people will like all this," said the old lady, looking about her rather wistfully at the made-over salons.

"I don't know about it, but I know one or two things they do like. They like a good roast of beef, and a good cup of coffee, and a good piece of bread and butter, and plenty of other good wholesome food.

"For my own part, I don't believe that all these frills and frescoes will take the place of that."

I may add that it did not, and that under the new management the successful old house dwindled in popularity and prestige to such an extent that the friends who had known and loved the old lady were thankful she had not lived to see the falling off she had anticipated.

SERVE GRACEFULLY

So don't think that candles on the tables will make up for indifferent food on the plates. The candles are very nice, and fine finger bowls and lace doilies and centerpieces may be soul-satisfying, but they do not, in vulgar phrase, "stick to the ribs" as does good food.

Have all the daintiness you can achieve. I approve of that; but be sure your ambition as a caterer is satisfied before you transfer your ideals to furbelows.

And by this I do not intend to suggest that you should allow yourself to be careless about how your meals are served.

The time has gone by when gentlefolk eat after the manner of factory hands or farm laborers.

Your food must not only be plentiful, but well and gracefully served.

You can no longer put all the meats and the vegetables on the table and let your guests help themselves, with a pleasing indifference as to who comes out second or third best.

Good service is required as well as good eating, and you must keep up with the times if you wish to make a success of your work.

"But," some one will say, "will not this swallow up all my profits?"

That this is not likely is proved by the fact that good boarding houses exist from one end of the land to the other, and that the persons who keep them continue to do it.

They would not hold on to a money losing enterprise.

That many do fail only goes to prove that women undertake the work who have no idea of how to conduct it.

Every woman who knows something of housekeeping seems to think she could keep boarders if other means of subsistence failed. I was talking with one such woman the other day, a woman of a complaining turn of mind, an excellent housekeeper to a family of medium size who deferred to her prejudices, praised her successes and judiciously refrained from criticising anything.

Her husband's death, the marriage of two sons and the engagement of a daughter made it desirable that she should do something to eke out her income.

"I know I could keep bourders," she said complacently. "If I do say it, I am a first-class cook and housekeeper. I am sure I could make a success of it, but my children won't hear of my trying it."

I knew the family well enough to have heard some of the outbursts of wounded feeling called forth by their failure to give adequate approval to some course of action, and in my mind's eye I saw what would be the speaker's state of mind should some brutal "mere" man refuse to like her Indian pudding, or remark that his steak was not cooked right, or that his coffee was too weak.

Decidedly, women with "feelings" should not attempt to keep a boarding house, any more than should women without great strength of mind and body and large patience.

But if they have all these and the other qualifications I have mentioned, if they love housekeeping and have a pride and pleasure in catering, they should be able to achieve success.

I have no doubt that among our constituency there are some such women. I wish I could hear from them, as well as from those who cherish theories as to how to keep a boarding house.

The comparison of views would be interesting.

Housemothers' Exchange

ON THIS blessed summer day I have cooked and eaten cranberries which I put up in an air-tight jar last February.

I used cold water as a preservative, and nothing else. I held the jar under the faucet about one-half minute and then sealed it as in putting up other fruit.

The berries were as plump and fresh as when I packed them in the jar, and even the water in which they had lain all these months was not in the least discolored.

Think of eating fresh stewed cranberries in summer with a chunk of ice in the dish!

Thus an esteemed contributor, better known to the readers of the daily papers than to those of our weekly Exchange. He (for it is a masculine member) has discoursed to us upon divers topics, and always to edification.

In another paper he had something to say of the cold water process of preserving fruits and vegetables. He gives no uncertain sound in praise of the labor-saving method.

Like many another correspondent, and the editor, he was unsuccessful with tomatoes.

In a note accompanying the above he adds:

> If my cranberry experience is worth anything, print it. They were a genuine treat.
>
> I put up but one jar as an experiment, but next year I shall put up a peck in like manner. L. D. B. (Chicago).

It is with profound gratification that I make room for the indorsement from a responsible source of the "cold-water method," much talked of in our columns two years ago.

It so commended itself to me, by cheapness, promised relief from the heat and reek and toil attendant upon the old way of canning, that I seized eagerly upon the suggestion, and forthwith invested much coin of the realm in two-quart jars and the appurtenances of tops and rubbers; had a bushel of fine tomatoes of uniform size gathered, and put them up according to directions sent to me by practitioners of the new school.

The air was carefully expelled from the jars after they were filled with tomatoes by running each full to overflowing with fresh well water; the covers were clapped on under water—the rubbers being in place—and screwed down firmly.

When the jars were turned upside down, not a bubble appeared within.

Finally, the jars were packed, upside down, in clean sawdust and left in the cellar for six weeks.

At the end of that time they were brought into the light, and a right loathsome spectacle they were!

I spare the reader particulars.

I am assured by other highly respectable witnesses beside "L. D. B.," whose address is at the service of any one who would consult him directly upon the matter, that the cold-water process is not a myth of some sanguine housewife's imagination.

Will any member of our honorable body who has tried it successfully, not once alone, but repeatedly, write out particulars for the benefit of housewives who would fain can fruits and vegetables without the adventitious aid of chemicals, and also without fire when the mercury is in the ninety-odd?

No sugar is used in the work.

The fruit, it is claimed, is as fresh when the water is poured off as when it was picked from the parent stems.

"The Private Secretary"

Our whilom friend and contributor, "The Private Secretary," has doubtless had his reasons, and such as satisfy his conscience with respect to his remissness toward, for a three months' silence. And it would be a poor return for the present favor to greet his reappearance with reproach.

O, D'ye Know

1. That when you are cooking doughnut, or croquettes or frying potatoes and the overheated fat takes fire you should pour milk in the pan instead of water?

The water floats the grease to the top and makes it blaze higher. The milk mixes with it and "downs" the flame.

2. That you may remove a scorch from a sheet or tablecloth or a boy's trousers; in fact, from any other article, washable or non-launderable, by applying this mixture:

Shave off a handful of white soap from a cake; pulverize as much fuller's earth and pour over them a cupful of vinegar.

Pound three medium-sized onions to a paste, squeeze out the juice and mix with the other ingredients.

Put all into a saucepan and cook until they thicken. Let the paste cool and put into a covered jar for emergencies, i. e., scorches.

Apply the paste thickly and put aside for a day.

Brush out the powder. Unless the iron has gone deep into the soul of the stuff, the scorch will be gone.

3. That it is throwing time away to try to clean lacquered brass or nickel with pomade or any other preparation which you would apply to real brass or silver plate?

Put a very little kerosene into a pint of water, a little more than lukewarm. Wet a flannel rag in this, wring out well and wash the lacquer with it.

Wash with pure water of the same temperature, wipe thoroughly and polish with chamois.

4. That grass stains are readily removed by rubbing into them all the black molasses they will hold, then leaving them alone for a day and washing in the usual way?

5. That hard wax will rubbed into tar spots will make clean work of them? Let the lard soak well in, then "wash in the usual way."

6. That plaster of Paris will not stiffen too fast to be used within an hour if mixed with vinegar instead of water?

Suggestions From New Housekeeper.

I am a new housekeeper.

Indeed, I have been married only six months, but we went at once to housekeeping; and as I was always fond of cookery and had been trained in housework by my dear mother, I have not had as many "downs" as a majority of girls seem to have, and quite a gratifying number of "ups."

Or so John thinks.

I am so proud, and so is he, of one of these successes, that I am running to you with it, as a child that has found a pretty flower or pebble scampers with it to his mother.

You are a foster-mother to us all, aren't you?

My successful composition is a new salad dressing. John brought a friend home unexpectedly, and I wanted to give a festive touch to our simple dinner.

We have a little garden, where we grow flowers and lettuce and mint, etc. We had had boiled beets the day before, and I was wondering how I could serve them as a "left-over," when the inspiration took me. I minced them very fine, and when my mayonnaise was made, I whipped the chopped beets into it.

You have no idea how pretty the color was.

A sort of rich red orange, and it tasted so good. I garnished the lettuce with two hard-boiled eggs sliced and put a slice upon each "help" of salad.

I served heated crackers and cottage cheese with it, and made a separate course of the salad. That was nicer than to serve it with the meat, wasn't it?

If you won't think me vain and silly, I should like to tell you some time of what John calls my "chef d'oeuvre"—that is, what I did with a hopelessly tough steak one day. May I come again?

R. M. F. (Camden, N. J.).

With all my heart I bid you welcome and heartily hope to hear the tale of the redeemed steak. I am saying this to you by mail also to make sure of the story.

The salad dressing composition was bewitching.

Problems of Young House keepers

I saw in the Exchange a communication from "Mrs. M. E. W.," a "newly wed."

I have the greatest possible sympathy for these newly wed girls.

I remember that when I married I was most deplorably ignorant of all housewifely duties, and how many times I would read most studiously, and in the privacy of my own room, my fast friend, "the cook book," then give instructions in the most knowing manner to my cook.

That functionary was many years my senior, and she would have tyrannized over me unmercifully had she suspected the truth.

I say then to "Mrs. M. E. W.," you will succeed if you really wish to learn housewifery in all its branches, and you may soon delight your husband with many dainty dishes.

If she will take a hint or two from a sister craftswoman, may I advise her to get a mayonnaise mixer?

It is sold in all large department stores an dy house furnishing shops. It is a delight! Cheap and easily worked.

It saves a world of muscle ache and time. Also secure a good meat grinder, and if you are fond of nut cookery, get a nut-grinder as well.

Make this one rule the law of daily living and work—Do your full duty, but without unnecessary fatigue.

A good husband wants his wife to be his companion.

So don't degenerate into a tired cook.

If "Mrs. M. E. W." wishes to commune with me I will gladly send her some recipes, one for a fruit salad, one for deviled crabs.

DELAWARE (Wilmington, Del.).

Instead of letting "Mrs. M. E. W." monopolize your kindly offices, send the recipes to the, that the whole body domestic may get the benefit of them.

I would emphasize one clause in a letter that is admirable throughout.

To many a conscientious wife, mother and housekeeper it may be said sorrowfully, "These things you ought to have done and not to have left the other undone."

A man comes home at evening as a sea-battered vessel puts into port, for repair. He will enjoy the well-cooked meal that has a thought of his taste and refreshment in every detail.

But he would rather have one dish less if those remaining on the menu are enjoyed by his wife as well as himself.

The woman who roasts her brains and dries out her complexion over the range in making ready a dinner so elaborate that she is too tired when serving-time comes to put on a fresh gown, or to rearrange her hair, too "beaten out" to eat a mouthful, or to smile cheerfully into John's tired face, need not wonder if he should step around to the club, or "out to see a man," or to the nearest drug store for a cigar, later in the evening.

Village of Pontypool Has Somewhat of a Sensation

It is Feared That Young Lady's Death Was Caused by Black Diphtheria and an Outbreakofthe Disease is Apprehended.

The little village of Pontypool, which is located on the C.P.R., about eighteen miles west of Peterborough has a sensation. Perhaps in a larger place the matter would not have come much into prominence, but in a small village like Pontypool it has caused a great deal of talk.

A short time ago the daughter of one of the leading citizens of the village died after a somewhat extended illness. The doctor who had been attending her was unable to tell what she was suffering from, and a second doctor was called in just the day before she died, but he was also unable to make a definite pronouncement as to what ailed the girl.

It has since been reported that black diphtheria had been the cause of the young lady's death, and there are grave fears that there may be an outbreak of the disease in the village. The fact that the house of the girl's father was not quarantined during her illness, and that the people of the village went out and in to see her freely, has only served to increase the apprehension. The second doctor in the village is the medical health officer, but he was not called in.

The affair has caused a lot of talk in the village but it is earnestly hoped by everyone that the report that the deceased lady had black diphtheria is not true.

Members of Ladies' Literary Heard an Able Essay on "Duty"

Regular Meeting Last Night Was Unusually Enjoyable —Miss Mary Powers Read an Excellent Paper—Meritorious Musical Programme.

The reputation which the Ladies' Literary Society of St. Peter's T.A.S. has attained for presenting programmes of unusual interest, was ably sustained at its regular meeting in the Assembly Hall last evening, when a musical programme of rare merit, and an essay on "Duty," of a high degree of literary excellence, were presented to the large and enthusiastic audience present.

Miss Mary Powers was the essayist of the evening, and delighted the audience by her lucid exposition of the very interesting subject.

Miss Powers introduced the subject by a beautiful quotation from Wordsworth, wherein he addresses "Duty" as the offspring of the voice of God, beckoning to the spirit of self-sacrifice.

Duty was then very clearly defined by the essayist, as the obligation incumbent upon us in regard to God, to our neighbor and to ourselves; the discharge of which may be said to be the discharge of duty, and the accomplishment of which brings contentment to the yearning heart of man.

These obligations were shown to arise from many sources, namely, from the duties incumbent upon us by the natural law imprinted by the author of all good, upon the soul of every human being, by the Divine law, manifested in the old law by the patriarchs and prophets, and in the new law by Christ Himself, by the ecclesiastical law, or the law of the church, and by the law or obligation which we have to discharge towards the government of our country.

To exemplify the fact that "Duty" is seldom accomplished without some inconvenience, some self-conquest, some sacrifice more or less painful to human nature, and that success is achieved only by heroic efforts, imbued with a strong sense of duty, the writer gave many examples from early church history, of noble souls who never swerved from the path of duty, though their fidelity to it entailed the greatest sacrifice, even that of life itself. Never for a moment did they hesitate between compliance with the unjust requirements of unscrupulous tyrants, and the voice of conscience. The world honors such noble champions as these while God regards them with crowns immortal.

Striking examples of brave warriors, whose unswerving fidelity to their country's cause, rendered them famous throughout all ages, were also given. Among those mentioned was Lord Nelson, the hero of Trafalgar, who fearlessly exposed himself to death for his country's sake. Love of country in him, was invested with the sacred obligation of duty, and from the faithful discharge of this he never deviated for a moment throughout his eventful career. This was shown in his last naval battle, when he hoisted the oft quoted signal, "This day England expects every man to do his duty," and nothing more was needed.

Continuing, the writer referred in glowing terms to Daniel O'Connell, the friend and liberator of the Irish nation who, in the agitation for the restoration of his country's independence, evinced the highest moral courage in the discharge of what he correctly deemed duty.

In concluding, the writer emphasized the fact that our first and most important duty was that of homage to our Creator, as children of our Holy Mother the Church. In fulfilling our obligations towards God and our neighbor, we also include the performance of that which relates to self, thereby accomplishing the end of Eternal Wisdom. "Seek ye first the Kingdom of God and His Justice and all other things will be added unto you."

The musical part of the programme, which preceded the essay, was especially bright and attractive. To select the meritorious selections would be to name the whole programme, in the selection of which excellent judgment was shown.

The enthusiastic audience was most cordial in its reception of the talented performers, and they received merited and hearty encores.

The following was the musical programme, introduced by Miss K. McGrath, who occupied the chair for the evening:

Instrumental duett, Misses Fraser and Wilson.
Vocal solo, Miss Nellie Hallihan.
Recitation, Miss Kathleen O'Brien.
Instrumental duett, Misses Hurley and M. Cannon.
Recitation, Miss Bernadette Galvin.
The accompanists of the evening was Miss Lillian Fife.
The singing of the National Anthem brought the meeting to a close.

The next meeting of the Society will be held on Friday evening, Nov. 22nd, when a paper will be read by Miss Mahoney.

Happenings in Havelock

Station Staff to Hold "At Home" —Observance of Hallowe'en —A Good Sprinter

Havelock, Nov. 7.—A large number of the local hunters have left for northern regions with the necessary apparatus to bring home some of those fleet animals called deer. We will not make any rash promises as to what they will do, but wait until they have returned.

A shooting match was held in the park grounds on Thursday when several of Havelock's marksmen proved their skill by carrying off several prize fowl.

The C. P. R. station staff were the hosts at an "At Home," in the town hall, on Wednesday, Nov. 6th.

FOUND A MINE.

Since the revival of the mining industry in East Peterborough, several amateur miners in this vicinity have become interested. Most things have their laughable side, and so with this. A few local men formed a company to prospect in Methuen. A considerable amount of time and money was spent, but at last a very valuable iron property was found in that township. After several trips to Toronto, on business in connection with the mine, a claim was laid to the property, but alas! Someone else had got there before them as the claim had been staked out several years ago, and the miners found to their disappointment, that their valuable time and money had been expended to no use.

HALLOWE'EN PRANKS.

Movable property of all kinds, sizes and descriptions, consisting of fences, gates, buggies, waggons, sign boards, and other articles, in reach of the mischievous boys, did queer stunts on Hallowe'en night. The early hours of the night were spent by the youngsters with pea shooters and false faces, who made their round of the village, performing petty tricks.

Later on, the magic gang got in their work, and waggons, gates, sidewalks, and other articles changed their quarters.

The white-wash gang also got in their work, and when the merchants visited their store the next morning they found their windows gaily decorated and adorned with large quantities of whitewash and black oil. Sign boards were either carried away or blotted up, so as to make them unreadable. Sign boards, gates, or pieces of sidewalks, swung from flag poles in town, while many men visited their farms next morning, and found their horses, backing into the manger, or their waggon lying on its back, or minus a wheel or two, which later in the day, were found down some well, or on top of some building.

The sidewalks were also marked with signs and words, none too becoming. Whether this work shows rowdyism or licentiousness, we do not know, but you can judge for yourself, but always remember that "boys will be boys."

PROUD OF HIM.

Havelock is proud of Mr. Ernest Moss, who duplicating McBurney's work of last year, entered the Examiner road race on Thanksgiving, and made a very creditable showing, coming in third place, and making the ten miles from Lakefield to Peterborough in 57 minutes, two minutes less than the winner of last year's race, and three minutes less than what McBurney did last year.

Considering the training he has had, Moss did excellent work, and is likely to show up in some greater race in the near future. He ran in the five mile race in Havelock on July 1st, making the five miles in 28 minutes, and immediately afterwards entered the one mile race, and won it easily.

He is only a young fellow, and considering the showing he made in the Examiner race, the people of Havelock should be proud of him. If he took good training, it is an undisputed fact, that he would make some of the ten-mile sprinters look wise, for he is a strong runner and does not give up easily, for at Peterborough, he made his best time for the last two miles, and was flying along, after those ahead of him at a good rate, when he reached the tape.

FIGHT ENDS IN DEATH

Drunken Brawl Ends in Tragedy Near Hagersville.

Richard Battice, an Indian, Fatally Injured — His Wife and Stepson Said to Be Responsible—Alleged to Have Beaten Old Man Unmercifully—Victim Succumbed After Two Days.

Hagersville, Nov. 9.—Particulars of a tragedy, which occurred in Tuscarora, Six Nation Reserve, about three miles north of here, have just been received, and will, in all probability, result in the arrest of two parties on the serious charge of murder.

Richard Battice, an aged Indian, sold a load of hay in Hagersville on Saturday last, and upon returning home became involved in a quarrel with his wife and stepson, named Fred Scott, or Fred Taylor. They beat the old man unmercifully, breaking his arm and shoulder, blackening both eyes and fracturing the base of the skull, it is alleged.

Dr. Maw of Caledonia was called on Monday and dressed the injured man's wounds, but Battice's condition was so serious Thursday that Dr. Quance of Hagersville was called in consultation. Battice's death took place yesterday morning. The County Crown Attorney of Brant County has ordered a thorough investigation, and it is expected the arrest of the suspected parties will follow.

SEEKING TRIAL BEFORE JUDGE.

London "Conspirators" Make New Move—May Be Tried Next Week.

Toronto, Nov. 9.—Efforts of counsel to have the crown withdraw the conspiracy charges against John O'Gorman, George M. Reid, William J. Mulloy and Daniel Wylie, in connection with the 1905 London election bribery scandal, having failed, the four yesterday surrendered themselves to the sheriff, and at 2 o'clock in the afternoon appeared before Judge Winchester for trial.

There they withdrew their election for a jury trial, which was upon the list of cases to be tried by Justice MacMahon of London, who will preside at the Assizes, which open Nov. 18. They elected under the criminal code to be tried summarily by the judge.

To this J. Lynch-Staunton, K. C., of Hamilton, special crown prosecutor, objected, and the question of the jurisdiction of the judge was set for a week from Monday.

Why counsel for these defendants deemed it advisable to choose a judge as against a jury trial is causing considerable discussion.

E. F. B. Johnston, K. C., counsel for the accused, said that as Col. Denison had refused to try the cases when the men appeared before him this was the first opportunity the men had had to have summary trial, which must be had before Judge Winchester, he being the only judge with permanent criminal jurisdiction.

The decision to have the cases brought before Judge Winchester was reached Thursday night.

The bail bonds under which the men are bound to appear before the Assize judge still stand.

New National Park.

Ottawa, Nov. 9.—By an Order-in-Council, which appears in The Canada Gazette to-day, a new forest park, to be known as the Jasper Forest Park of Canada, is established.

It will comprise an area of about 33 miles by 52 in Northern Alberta, east of the British Columbia boundary, on the height of land between the tributaries of the Athabaska, McLeod, Pembina, North Saskatchewan and Brazeau Rivers. An area of 105 square miles is subtracted by Order-in-Council from the Yoho Park Reserve in British Columbia.

D. A. G. Glionna and J. F. M. Stewart of Toronto have been appointed commissioners to administrate oaths under the naturalization act.

Railway Strike Threatened.

Peoria, Ill., Nov. 9.—A poll of the firemen and engineers on the Missouri Pacific Railroad, who are members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, has begun on a proposal to strike. The controversy is over the right of the Firemen's Union to exercise jurisdiction over engineers who are members of the brotherhood.

A vote to strike will be followed by a general walkout on all the Gould lines, including the Missouri Pacific, Texas Pacific, International and Great Northern, Wabash, Wheeling & Lake Erie, Pittsburg Terminal and the Denver & Rio Grande.

Crushed Between Vestibules.

Brighton, Nov. 9.—Blake Freeman, a young man residing in this town, was badly injured at the Grand Trunk depot yesterday morning about three o'clock. It is supposed he had fode between the baggage and express cars on No. 5 from Trenton to Brighton. When the train stopped at Brighton he was caught between the two vestibules and badly crushed. The train had to be started in order to release him. He is still living, but very low.

Another Hunter Shot.

Minden, Nov. 9.—David Milligan of Millbrook accidentally shot himself at Otter Lake, near Minden, yesterday. He was one of a party of ten hunting at Otter Lake, and while untying his hound at the camp his rifle was accidentally discharged, the ball striking him between the eye and nose coming out at the top of the head, death resulting in a few minutes.

Empress of Ireland's Record.

London, Nov. 9.—The Empress of Ireland made the trip from Cape Race to Tory Island in 3 days, 22 hours, 15 minutes, the record for the Canadian service.

Indian Killed by Train.

St. John, N. B., Nov. 9.—An Indian named Thomas Larvey was run over by a special near here last evening and instantly killed.

The new Attorney-General of New Brunswick, the Hon. H. A. McKeown, was elected by acclamation to-day.

KAISERIN A HEROINE.

Sacrifices Private Feeling to Prevent British Visit Being a Fiasco.

Berlin, Nov. 9.—The Kaiserin was lauded as a heroine last night by those conversant with the present status of international politics. She showed that the Empress must place consideration for the welfare of her people above the love for kin and those dearest to her, for the whole city declares that the Kaiserin changed her decision not to go to England only for political reasons.

When it became apparent that her remaining at home on account of the illness of her niece might be construed, as has been done by several London papers, as an act of disrespect toward the British court, at the Foreign Office one could see dismay and disappointment on every face. When it was announced Wednesday that the Kaiser would be obliged to go to England alone and the Holland visit had been abandoned it was thought the visit to England would be a fiasco, as has been feared by pessimists. Powerful influences were therefore brought to bear on the Empress to reconsider her resolution. Great is the joy among the political leaders at the confirmation of the report that the Kaiserin will accompany her husband after all and help to encourage more friendly relations between the two nations.

Emperor Off For England.

Berlin, Nov. 9.—Emperor William and the Empress departed shortly before midnight for Flushing, where they will embark for England. The Emperor looked well and chatted cheerfully with Prince Von Buelow, the Imperial Chancellor, and Prince Oscar, his young son. The public is demonstrating enormous interest in this visit.

The railroad station was thronged with cheering crowds, among the people being several members of the Cabinet, prominent military officers and other officials.

WINNIPEG JUDGE'S WARNING.

Comments Strongly on Attempts to Tamper With Jurymen.

Winnipeg, Nov. 9.—The remarks of Judge Perdue, when court opened yesterday morning, forecasts this sensational situation. Before the commencement of business Judge Perdue gave a very solemn warning against any attempt to tamper with or influence members of the petit jury.

"I have a word or two to say to all members of the petit jury," said Judge Perdue solemnly. "Yesterday a witness in the witness-box admitted the writing of a letter to a friend, in which he requested friends to temper with the jury. That is practically what it came to, to see members of the jury and influence them. It has also been intimated to me that there is considerable activity in another case that may come at this Assizes. I want all members of the petit jury to report to me. You can report privately to me any influence made to tamper with you in regard to any case pending at the Assizes, and if you do I will see that steps are taken to deal with that person, no matter who it is, whether a lawyer or a layman. I would ask you particularly to report to me any attempt of that kind that has been made.

"This is a thing that cannot be tolerated. It is the worst kind of contempt of court interfering directly with justice."

THE "RIPPER" CONFESSED.

Berlin Mystery Cleared Up—Youth's Story Verified.

Berlin, Nov. 9.—The series of "Jack, the Ripper," crimes upon little girls has been cleared up through the confession of a printer's apprentice, Paul Winow, an epileptic, 22 years of age, who freely related how he had been taunted by his mother and sister with laziness, had gone out into the streets in a rage and stabbed four little girls one after the other. His confession has been verified by the police.

New Factory Inspectors.

Toronto, Nov. 9.—Four new factory inspectors whose appointment was announced by Premier Whitney yesterday afternoon were Robert Hungerford, Toronto; Henry Clark, London; Frederick Kelland, Hamilton, and Stephen J. Mallion, Stratford. They will receive a salary of $1,100 each. There are now ten factory inspectors for the province, two of these being women. Three of the men, to be selected, will be appointed as an examining board under the Stationary Engineers' Act.

Mr. Hungerford is an ex-president of the Toronto District Labor Council.

Sir James Hector Dead.

Wellington, N. Z., Nov. 7.—Sir James Hector, chancellor of the University of New Zealand, who was the geologist of the Palliser Boundary Marking Expedition to North America in 1857, is dead. He was born in 1834.

True Bill Against Detective.

Winnipeg, Nov. 7.—A true bill was brought in yesterday morning by the grand jury at the Assize Court against Detective George Smith, charged with manslaughter in the killing of Oscar Gans, Oct. 15.

Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada

Gravenhurst, Oct. 28th, 1907

W. H. HILL, Esq.,
Manager Central Ontario Sun Life of Canada
Peterborough, Ontario.

DEAR SIR,—

Your favor of the 24th inst. received enclosing statement of profits allotted to my policy 7001, in the "Sun Life" for the past five years.

Above policy is for $1,000 on the whole life five year distribution plan on which I paid an annual premium of $28.35, or $141.75 for the five year period.

I find the CASH PROFITS amount to $53.85, or about 40 per cent. of the total premiums paid during the five years. This is certainly a splendid showing and speaks volumes for the earning powers of the Sun Life Company's investments.

Thanking you and wishing your company continued success,

Yours truly,

BEHIND PRISON BARS

GLIMPSES OF LIFE IN THE PENITENTIARY AT KINGSTON.

Ex-Convict Gives Some Information as to Inner Workings of Grim Institution—What Notables Are at—Value of Money in Jail—Dark Cell as Punishment.— Condemns Food Supply.

There is a little world within the iron gates of Kingston Penitentiary of which the big world outside knows little or nothing.

Inside those walls live men who have a daily round of duties, who get up and work and eat and sleep as do their fellows in the sunlight outside. Inside there are markets, courts and an aristocracy, if the word of a retired convict can be believed. This man recently told something of the life within. He had served three years and two months of a five-year sentence. He told of those within who had been well known in the affairs of the world without before their incarceration.

Charles McGill, erstwhile general manager of the defunct Ontario Bank, has become a number in the two hundreds, with an index letter E. He is at work on the books in the accountant's office. He is not the general manager there, but he seems to know something of books. He takes his time hard and is very feeble. He hopes to get out, but does not seem to have much more than a hope. His daughter goes quite often to see him, and has interviews with him in the accountant's office. McGill is the only prisoner who has this privilege of private interviews.

Joseph Phillips, the maker and breaker of the York Loan, is getting fat. Not long ago a woman who was prominent at the trial, sent him $10 to get his teeth fixed. He is working as a bookkeeper in the tailor shop. He expects to get out in about a year.

H. E. St. George Banwell, who is serving five years for theft of $40,000 from the Crown Bank, is the most cheerful of the big ones. He was working on the books in the accountant's office up till a few months ago, when his health began to fail. He asked for an outside job. He was set to work in the quarry drilling stone. He's got thin, but he's healthy and fairly cheerful, except that he is disappointed that he's still in. He did not expect to serve more than 18 months, and he's been in more than that now.

The quarry gang has to unload the coal boats, and Banwell goes down to the bottom of a coal hooker heaving coal like a common laborer. But he's always got money and has an easy time compared to some.

"What good is money in that place?" he was asked. The "retired" convict smiled.

"Say, money's just as good there as anywhere, only maybe more so. If you've got money there or anywhere else you can make the game easier for yourself. You can get some of the velvet. McGill always has a supply of tobacco in his pocket. Neither Banwell nor Phillips smoke any."

"I have paid a dollar for a 10c. plug of tobacco, but usually it costs a quarter. If times are good you can get two for a quarter. Still, I have paid a quarter for a 1c. box of matches. I have also paid $1.50 for a 25c. flask of whisky."

"We have only traveling salesmen down there. The guards have a privilege in restraint of trade down there all right, and they work their monopoly to a finish."

"How do you get money in there?"

"Well, when a new one gets in he sort of knocks around in a helpless kind of way until he bumps up against some of the old heads. Then he finds out that you can get things through. Then he tells the old head that he wants to fly a kite—that is, get a letter out. You can get letters out and your friends can get letters back, only the postage is high. Ten cents is the rate on outgoing mail. Letters coming in always have money in them, and the guard gets a commission on that. Three dollars on every ten, and you have to trust the guard. The letter is sent to the guard with your letter inside. He takes out his percentage and hands you the letter and your share of your money. The discount is high, but you're glad to get the cash any way.

"We have a court down there every morning, too. The warden is the judge and deputy warden is the prosecutor. A guard says you were smoking or had tobacco on you or were talking in cells or had a newspaper. If you are caught smoking you may be sent to the dark cells for two days on bread and water or lose five days on the remiss of your sentence. That is, on the regular time allowed. The penalty for having tobacco or talking is about the same thing, but for having a newspaper you will most likely get five or ten days in the dark cell with 25 days' loss of remission."

"How is the food?"

"The food is bad. Especially in the summer, it is not fit to eat, but the fellow with money can get decent stuff. One time I got a pie that was left for Banwell. It was put in my cell by mistake. Some of the fellows get good food with their jobs. Tom Brown of Hamilton, who did a bank steal like Banwell's, and who is working in the kitchen, has a good thing. He can pick his meals. He has served two years of a seven-year sentence."

"How does the penitentiary compare with the Central Prison, or have you been there?"

"I was once, but that's years ago. Don't rake that up. But the Central is a playhouse compared to Kingston, even though you don't get the same remission. Kingston is a good place to keep out of."

Of the carpet company thieves and safe-blowers, he told that Robert Bennett, the leader, who got ten years, is at work in the steamfitting department. Hunter is in the blacksmith shop and Crosby is a stonecutter, while Patsy Lawlor, sent down from Belleville, but belonging to the same gang, is in the stone quarry.

ODD HAPPENINGS.

A flood at Two Harbors, Minn., carried a three story barn down the river with a cow on the first floor. The cow was found unhurt on the top floor.

A coachwhip snake thirteen feet long coiled itself twice around the body of J. A. Mordant of Marshall county, Ala., and proceeded to whip him to death. The man saved himself by using a small penknife.

A. J. Olson, a farmer in northern Wisconsin, fell asleep alongside the railroad track, and his face was cut by a freight train. The trainmen were astonished to find that the man had not been waked by the injury.

A flock of mallard ducks flew against the high tension electric wires near Vancouver, B. C., short circuiting the current, causing $2,000 damage to the power house, stopping street cars and putting out electric lights. A few dead ducks were found near the wires.

LONDON'S NEW LORD MAYOR.

Sir John Bell Elected With Quaint Old Ceremonial.

With quaint old ceremonial redolent of the centuries, the election of Sir John Bell as Lord Mayor of London took place at the Guildhall. At the close of the usual service at the church of St. Lawrence Jewry—which lord mayors-elect have attended on this occasion for 500 years past—Sir John submitted himself to the ordeal of election at the hustings. It is not so great an ordeal now, perhaps, as it was in the "good old days," but the liverymen of the city still insist upon their right to nominate the new lord mayor in this traditional fashion. Sir John Bell, on his return to the Guildhall after the service, took his place upon the hustings strewn with sweet herbs—a precaution adopted of old for the preservation of the health of the civic dignitaries—in the presence of the common people. The liverymen of the city companies assembled in proper order outside the Guildhall, and followed the mayoral procession into the building, there to make their choice of a chief magistrate. After the Common Crier had demanded "Silence" and the removal of all headgear, he uttered the solemn warning: "All ye that are not liverymen depart this hall on pain of imprisonment." Thereupon the lord mayor and aldermen who had passed the chair retired so that the liverymen might perform their duty without restraint. When the name of Sir John Charles Bell, alderman and haberdasher, was put to the assembly, a host of hands were raised, accompanied by cries of "All! All!" Various questions were put by a Mr. Newby, which created much laughter. The name of Alderman Truscott was selected as the second to be voted upon, and, votes being taken, Alderman Bell was declared duly elected for the ensuing year. Returning thanks for his election, Sir John Bell said he had been 25 years a member of the Common Council and 13 years an alderman, and he promised to justify his election by upholding the dignity of the office and the prestige of the city. On the motion of Sir Edward Clark, K. C., a vote of thanks was seconded to Sir William Treloar for his services during the year, and Sir William briefly replied. Prior to this ceremony Mr. Alderman Burnett and Mr. C. C. Wakefield were admitted to the office of sheriffs of the City of London for the ensuing year, and invested with the insignia of the office.

SIR JOHN BELL.

Sir John's Career.

The new lord mayor was knighted in Coronation year, during his term as sheriff. His civic career opened in 1882, when he was elected a member of the Common Council, and he became an alderman of the Coleman street ward in 1894. Sir John, who was born 63 years ago, was educated at Brompton Grammar School. He was articled to an accountant, but afterwards became connected with the Wenlock Brewery, of which he is now chairman and joint managing director. He holds high Masonic rank, and is on the Court of Haberdashers', Fanmakers', and Glovers' companies, besides being a member of the Innholders', Loriners' and the Spectacle Makers' companies. His town address is in Portland place and country seat at Stoke Poges.

Got Swell Tip.

As a rule, stewards and stewardesses on board ocean liners make a handsome sum out of tips received from first-class passengers. Millionaires, titled folk, and other "likely ones" are carefully noted and diligently cared for. Occasionally there are disappointments. A fashionable dame and her two daughters furnished one recently on board a well-known liner. The dame gave the stewardess a broad hint that great would be the reward of attention commensurate with her importance. The stewardess rose to the occasion so enthusiastically as to excite the envy of other passengers. At last came the critical day when money has to talk. The lady, before leaving her cabin, expressed to the stewardess her high appreciation of her efforts to please. The daughters, too, were delighted with her service, and then, as "mamma" turned to the gangway, there was slipped into the stewardess's palm a shining—threepenny piece!

Queen Victoria's Marked Poem.

Here is a funny story told of a happening at the English court during the reign of Queen Victoria. Sir Theodore Martin had been requested by Victoria to read aloud from "The Ring and the Book." Sir Theodore was courtier enough to make a cautious study beforehand of the poem, and he placed marginal notes as danger signals against passages of doubtful propriety.

The marked copy chanced to come into the hands of a rather thoughtless court lady. "I have so enjoyed this wonderful work," she said to a friend, "and it has been such an advantage to read it after the Queen, for she has placed marks against the most beautiful parts, and, oh, what exquisite taste the dear Queen has!" she added, pointing to the danger signals of Sir Theodore Martin.

RIVAL BASUTOS FIGHT

RIOT QUELLED BY TROOPS OF S. AFRICAN CONSTABULARY.

Police Made Three Bayonet Charges Before Combatants Could Be Separated — Squabble Over Pot of "Mealie Pap"—Besieged in a Compound — Many Natives Wounded Before Peace Was Restored.

The mail papers from the Transvaal contain graphic descriptions of the recent fighting at the Premier mine between two rival factions of Basutos, in which, as has already been reported, one man was killed and about 60 wounded. The riot was quelled by a small mobile troop of the South African Constabulary, which is now retained in Pretoria, the position of affairs at one time being so serious that the police had to make three bayonet charges in endeavoring to separate the combatants. It appears that for a considerable time the British Basutos, more commonly known as Free State Basutos, have been spoiling for a fight with the Transvaal Basutos, that is, the natives of Basuto extraction born in the Transvaal. The Free State Basutos have been for some time past numerically weaker than their Transvaal brethren. Lately they have flocked to the mine in increasing numbers, and the moment, they decided, was opportune to try conclusions with the opposition.

The fight was precipitated by two natives having a squabble in No. 1 compound over a pot of "mealie pap." A large number of natives who were watching the quarrel immediately took sides, and before long no fewer than 7,000 men were engaged in a battle-royal. Implements ranging from pot legs to bolts and other instruments were used, and the scene that ensued was one which had never been seen before in the history of the Premier Mine. A sensational incident of the day was the siege of about a hundred Transvaal Basutos by the enemy in one of the compounds. The Transvaal Basutos, on the other hand, had five of their opponents locked in a kitchen in another compound, the latter defending themselves to the best of their abilities with pick-handles and any other instruments they could lay their hands upon. The five unfortunate natives were eventually rescued by the police, who, in their efforts to save them had to make holes in the walls of the room and drive the opposing mob out at the point of the bayonet.

Matters eventually simmered down until night, when a fresh outbreak occurred. The mobile column immediately appeared on the scene again, and the Basutos were driven back at the point of the bayonet, no fewer than three charges being made to resist their efforts to get at their opponents, and both parties being successfully driven into their respective compounds. When the natives were turned out for duty the following morning preparations were at once begun for the renewal of hostilities. Again the police had to step in and use their bayonets, no fewer than 31 natives receiving bayonet wounds, none serious. The tact displayed by the constabulary under very trying circumstances is highly commended by the Transvaal press.

STORY OF SPECTRE HORSEMAN

Gruesome Tale of Rider Who Haunts Wycollar Hall.

Tradition says that once every year a spectre horseman visits Wycollar Hall, near Colne, England. He is attired in the costume of the early Stuart period, and the trappings of his horse are of a most uncouth description.

On the evening of his visit the weather is always wild and tempestuous. There is no moon to light the lonely roads, and the residents of the district do not venture out of their cottages. When the wind howls loudest the horseman can be heard dashing up the road at full speed, and after crossing the narrow bridge, he suddenly stops at the door of the Hall. The rider then dismounts and makes his way up the broad oaken stairs into one of the rooms of the house. Dreadful screams, as from a woman, are then heard, which soon subside into groans. The horseman then makes his appearance at the door, at once mounts his steed, and gallops off by the road he came.

His body can be seen through by those who may chance to be present; his horse appears to be wild with rage, and its nostrils stream with fire. The tradition is that one of the Cunliffes murdered his wife in that room, and that the spectre horseman is the ghost of the murderer, who is doomed to pay an annual visit to the home of his victim. She is said to have predicted the extinction of the family, which, according to the story, has been literally fulfilled.

Shaw Defends Polygamy.

The columns of The London Times have recently contained an animated correspondence on the subject of Kulin polygamy in India. The Brahmun practitioners of this social theory believe that a woman should not be deprived of the duty and privilege of motherhood for mere lack of a husband. Sir George Birdwood, a noted authority on Indian affairs, wrote to The Times that the result of the peculiar practices referred to was an improvement in the race, the selection of fathers being on the principle of the best breeding. This aroused a storm of protest against what was denominated a "revolting and abhorrent" idea. Thereupon George Bernard Shaw took up the cudgels in defence of the Brahman practice, pointing out its advantages from a social and physiological standpoint over the conventionalisms of English society. In explaining the Brahman view he said, "The Bengalis hold that it is a part of the general purpose of things that women should bear children and that childlessness is a misfortune and even a disgrace."

THE PURSER'S JOKE.

Why Religious Services Were Not Held on That Trip.

On most of the big ocean steamers a minister is usually found among the passengers, and invariably he is called upon on Sunday to conduct religious service in the main dining saloon. Occasionally the man of the cloth seeks the purser and asks if he may conduct a service on the Sabbath. A case of this sort happened recently on one of the Red D steamers on the run from New York to La Guayra. A young minister who three days before the steamer sailed had taken orders from a seminary, and a day later a wife asked the purser if he might conduct religious service on the following day, which was Sunday. The purser replied that the dining saloon was at his disposal and that the passengers would be informed. "At what hour shall the service begin?" asked the young minister. The purser rubbed his brow a moment and replied that he could begin at "nine bells." The minister and his bride appeared in the dining saloon at 9 o'clock in the morning and waited four hours for the congregation, which did not come. On the following day he listened again for "nine bells," but heard them not.

She Said the Wrong Thing.

"I shall never forget the breakfast I gave to a pretty girl when I first knew her," the short man began. "It would make your mouth water to hear what it was—grape fruit to begin with, the most delicate of breakfast food with cream, a choice broiled chicken—it was a late breakfast—the finest of fruit, coffee. I can't remember the things I ordered for her at that breakfast, and what do you think she said when she finished? She said: 'You needn't have gone to so much trouble. I don't care for anything but a couple of eggs for my breakfast and a piece of toast.'

"It was the wrong thing to say, I will admit," sighed his wife. "I was that girl, and I have been living ever since on a couple of eggs for my breakfast and a piece of toast."

WILSON BEAT TOM COLEY IN MATCHED RACE

Great Victory of Local Runner Over Irish Canadian Crack

Ernie Wilson, of the Peterborough Y.M.C.A. Harriers, worked at his regular place of employment at the J. C. Turnbull Co.'s store until 20 minutes to 5 o'clock Saturday evening, went to Toronto on the C.P.R. evening train which was 40 minutes late and did not arrive at Toronto till nearly eight o'clock, went direct to the armouries on arriving at Toronto, defeated Tom Coley, the crack distance man in five mile matched race, left Toronto on the 10 o'clock and was back in Peterborough at midnight.

As a result of this little expedition of the local runner and his trainer, "Dick" Baker, there is joy to-day in the camp of the Y.M.C.A. Harrier's and in Peterborough sporting circles generally. Wilson's great victory over the Irish-Canadian representative is the main topic in the athletic line and the gritty little runner and his capable trainer are being showered with congratulations.

The race took place at the Toronto armories and was one of the principal events in the Garrison games. Over 1,200 people were present when Coley and Wilson were sent away on their five mile jaunt about nine o'clock. The pace was fast and Wilson allowed the little Irish-Canadian to take the lead and followed at his heels until the last lap when he spurted and passed the Irish-Canadian. It was only a few feet of a lead, but the local man widened the gap and crossed the tape about seven feet to the good. The time was 27 mins. (10 seconds which is better than that made by Longboat at the indoor meet last spring.

Great credit is due Wilson and his trainer, Dick Baker, for what has been accomplished.

"Dick" Baker says it was one of the greatest finishes he has ever witnessed.

Peterboro' Boy Left His Home

Is Now at the Residence of James Chambers of Pontypool

A boy of nine years, who gave his name as Herbert Stickwinder, was found walking on the railroad track at Pontypool yesterday afternoon. Mr. Jas. Chambers first noticed him and thinking that he looked and hungry, brought him to his home, where he is at the present time. The lad said that that he had walked from Peterborough and was on his way to Toronto, where his father was employed as a cooper. He said that he had lived with his aunt in this city but refused to give her name. The boy was comfortably dressed in a black overcoat and wore a red toque. Mr. Chambers informed the Chief of Police and friends of the boy in this city may communicate with Mr. Chambers. The lad is being well cared for.

AN EXPLANATION

A great deal of local and sporting news, which should appear in this evening's Review, is unavoidably held over to-day owing to two operators of the type casting machines not being at work.

REPAIRS TO LOCK AT LAKEFIELD

One of the cribs in the lower gates at the Lakefield locks broke on Thursday night just after the steamer Stoney Lake had been locked through. Repairs were started immediately and these were completed yesterday morning. Nine boats, including scows, which had been delayed, were locked through. The services of a professional diver had to be secured before the gate could be properly re-adjusted.

It Was Not Case of Black Diphtheria

The report in Saturday's issue of the Review stating that there was black diphtheria in Pontypool is incorrect, so said a resident of that village to-day. The young lady who was said to have the disease was the late Miss Pollard, who passed away last week. Her death was due to blood poisoning caused by applying coal oil to her neck for a sore throat. It was also stated in the article that she had a public funeral. This was not the case as it was of a private nature. There are no cases of diphtheria in Pontypool at the present time.

Invitation Cards for At Homes, Receptions and Evening Parties, partly printed for 10c each. Envelopes to match 10c package. On sale at the Review Office.

Watch Contest is Called a Lottery

And Proprietor of "Crystal" and Newspapers are Summonsed to Court

The Peterborough Review Printing Company, and the Examiner Printing Company were this morning summoned to the police court on a charge of advertising "a watch contest," being held at the "Crystal." Mr. G. N. Gordon appeared for the defendants and did not elect. After hearing the evidence of Mr. R. M. Glover, of the Examiner, and Mr. F. H. Dobbin, of the Review, His Worship Magistrate Dumble committed them for trial, and they will appear before His Honor Judge Weller as soon as the date can be arranged.

There was also a charge against the manager of the "Crystal," Mr. W. Edwards, for conducting the contest, which, it is charged, was a lottery. After hearing the evidence of several witnesses, His Worship also committed him for trial.

FROM GIRLHOOD TO WOMANHOOD

Mothers Should Watch the Development of Their Daughters—Interesting Experiences of Misses Borman and Mills.

Every mother possesses information which is of vital interest to her young daughter.

Too often this is never imparted or is withheld until serious harm has resulted to the growing girl through her ignorance of nature's mysterious and wonderful laws and penalties.

Girls' over-sensitiveness and modesty often puzzle their mothers and baffle physicians, as they so often withhold their confidence from their mothers and conceal the symptoms which ought to be told to their physician at this critical period.

When a girl's thoughts become sluggish, with headache, dizziness or a disposition to sleep, pains in the back or lower limbs, eyes dim, desire for solitude; when she is a mystery to herself and friends, her mother should come to her aid, and remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will at this time prepare the system for the coming change, and start this trying period in a young girl's life without pain or irregularities.

Hundreds of letters from young girls and from mothers, expressing their gratitude for what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has accomplished for them, have been received by the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., at Lynn, Mass.

Miss Mills has written the two following letters to Mrs. Pinkham, which will be read with interest:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:— (First letter.)

"I am but fifteen years of age, am depressed, have dizzy spells, chills, headache and backache, and as I have heard that you can give helpful advice in my condition, I am writing you."—Myrtle Mills, Oquawka, Ill.

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:— (Second letter.)

"It is with the feeling of utmost gratitude that I write to you to tell you what your valuable medicine has done for me. When I wrote you in regard to my condition I had consulted several doctors, but they failed to understand my case and I did not receive any benefit from their treatment. I followed your advice, and took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and am now healthy and well, and all the distressing symptoms which I had at that time have disappeared."—Myrtle Mills, Oquawka, Ill.

Miss Matilda Borman writes Mrs. Pinkham as follows:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"Before taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound my periods were irregular and painful, and I always had such dreadful headaches.

"But since taking the Compound my headaches have entirely left me, my periods are regular and I am getting strong and well. I am telling all my girl friends what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me."—Matilda Borman, Farmington, Iowa.

If you know of any young girl who is sick and needs motherly advice, ask her to address Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., and tell her every detail of her symptoms, and to keep nothing back. She will receive advice absolutely free, from a source that has no rival in the experience of woman's ills, and it will, if followed, put her on the right road to a strong, healthy and happy womanhood.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound holds the record for the greatest number of cures of female ills of any medicine that the world has ever known. Why don't you try it?

Men Arrested Thought to be Members of the "Black Hand"

Police at the Soo Make Two Important Arrests.

Man Was Passing Forged Cheque—Writing Corresponds to Recent Blackmailing Letters—Had Grips Filled With Knives, Revolvers, Ammunition, and Dynamite—Made Damaging Admissions.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Nov. 11.—Saturday afternoon the Canadian Soo police made two arrests, considered by them to be the most important here in years.

The first man arrested was caught red-handed in the act of passing a forged check, and the other, when arrested, attempted to draw a revolver.

The importance of the arrests were realized when it was learned that the authorities are all but convinced that the men are none other than members of the Black Hand, who have been operating here two weeks.

Their inability to raise money in the manner they hoped compelled them to adopt other means, leading to their undoing. In the baggage taken with the men were found papers, railway guides and other evidence showing they had come to the Soo directly from Medicine Hat, from which place letters to the Soo were mailed.

The strongest evidence against the men, and which the police hope will connect them directly with the crime was the discovery of handwriting identical with that contained in the Black Hand letters.

The men are desperate characters. Grips containing revolvers and ammunition, knives, etc., were found. Revolvers were found on the men when arrested, and the first man attempted to use one.

The first arrest was made in the store of H. Megginson, where the man presented a check in favor of H. Chandler, and purporting to be signed by the paymaster of the Lake Superior Corporation. Megginson saw the check was a forgery, and the man was induced to remain in the store while Megginson went for change. Megginson got Chief of Police Downey and effected the arrest. The man attempted to draw a revolver, but was prevented. When taken to jail and searched, several saws were found sewed into the waistband of the trousers, and three other worthless checks were in his pocket.

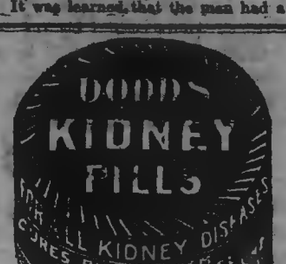
It was learned that the man had a companion, and the first prisoner, giving the name of H. Smith, said he could be found at the Queen's Hotel, where the baggage also was. The place was visited, and when the man came for the grips he was arrested. Saws and a revolver were found on him. He gave the name of Howard.

Papers found on the men showed they came from the Northwest, both having receipts for poll-tax paid in New Westminster. Two suit cases taken with the men were examined, and much interesting evidence discovered, leading to the belief that the men were the Black Hand artists wanted.

Yesterday the room at the hotel occupied by the men were searched, and a quantity of fuses, nitro-glycerine and other explosives were found, evidencing the fact that the men were either engaged on burglaries or intended to carry out threats against those receiving the Black Hand letters. Saturday afternoon the man Howard, before his arrest, tried to pass a number of bogus checks in the Michigan Soo.

Both appear to be Englishmen, and their appearance is not suggestive of criminals. Smith is about 24 years old, and Howard somewhat older. Saturday night Smith broke down in jail and made many damaging admissions, which the police decline to disclose. Howard is considered to be the more dangerous of the two. He claimed to have reached the Soo the day before the arrest from up the Algoma Central, where Smith says he worked for the Lake Superior Corporation on the railroad. Howard refuses to talk.

The police believe the men can be connected with a series of crimes committed between Toronto and the coast in the early part of the year. They deserve credit for the arrests, particularly as a provincial officer was here for a week and did not cooperate with the Soo force. He could learn nothing and returned to Toronto without a clue.



Railroad Strike in Cuba.

Havana, Nov. 11.—The railroad strike in Cuba will probably end today, Manager Orr of the United Railroad having presented a proposition which is likely to be accepted by the strikers.

The proposition grants a certain wage increase, but denies the payment of wages in American money, or an eight-hour day. Only a few of the alleged American strikebreakers, who arrived in the city from New York Oct. 7, remain here. The trains are running almost on the regular schedule.

Bubonic Plague Figures.

San Francisco, Nov. 11.—Bubonic plague totals to date are as follows: Verified cases 99, deaths 57, death rate 63.3 per cent., discharged as cured 23, remaining under care at the city and county hospitals 11, suspects under observation 39.

Keg of Beer Cost Life.

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 11.—Peter Gorenflo, driver of a brewery wagon, was shot through the body Saturday afternoon when he attempted to regain possession of a small keg of beer stolen from his wagon.

WINNIPEG MAN ARRESTED.

Police Secured $200,000 Counterfeit Money in His Room.

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 11.—What apparently is the boldest counterfeiting game ever attempted in the northwest was nipped in the bud when Secret Service Agent McManus walked into a room in the Union Block and arrested a man supposed to be Ernest R. Workman of Winnipeg, and secured $200,000 counterfeit money of Workman's own manufacture.

Until his arrest Workman had no suspicion that he was being watched or followed, though the secret service department has been on his trail daily and nightly for three weeks. He was said to be on the eve of his departure for Winnipeg, as he could pass bad money in Canada betted than in the States.

The stuff was in the shape of 1,000 gold certificates of $20 each.

E. R. Workman is a well-known young architect at Winnipeg. He was married about 18 months ago, and has a baby boy. His wife believes there must be some mistake. He is 26 and came from Hechston, near Kemptville, Ont., four years ago.

PRIZE FIGHTER SHOT.

W. Spracklin Accidentally Killed Whilst Shooting Ducks.

Windsor, Nov. 11.—Willie Spracklin, who had attained considerable local fame as a prize fighter, was accidentally shot Saturday afternoon while duck hunting, and died yesterday from his injuries.

Spracklin was in a skiff with a companion named Star Mason and had sighted a flocked of ducks near Fighting Island. Mason drew his gun to shoot and just as he pulled the trigger a wave caused the boat to lurch. The charge struck Spracklin in the head, one ear was blown off and the head was otherwise frightfully injured.

Mason's cries for assistance brought two other hunters, and they conveyed Spracklin to a hotel on the Canadian side, whence he was later removed to the Hotel Dieu Hospital. He lingered until 10 o'clock yesterday. Deceased was a son of Joseph Spracklin, and was trained by his father for his ring exploits. He fought a dozen battles or more without defeat. His success in the ring made him exceedingly popular in local and Detroit sporting circles.

QUIGLEY GETS SEVEN YEARS.

Tried to Murder St. Louis' Physician In Cold Blood.

Winnipeg, Nov. 11.—R. M. Quigley was sentenced to seven years with hard labor at the Assizes Saturday, for having attempted to murder Dr. Clyn Smith of St. Louis, Mo., who was traveling for pleasure and to recover his health.

Quigley struck up a friendship with the doctor, went about with him and finally enticed him for a drive on a lonely road at dark and deliberately attempted, as he admitted, to shoot with a view of maiming him. He sought to make the jury believe that he was so shocked by the conversation of the man upon whom he forced himself that, like a knight errant of old, he sought to take his life to protect the world of the young and innocent from his wiles.

GONE WITH BANK'S CASH.

Shortage of Oklahoma Institution Probably $50,000.

Lawton, Okla., Nov. 11.—D. R. Rankin, cashier of the Merchants and Planters' Bank, has disappeared, and it is said that there is a shortage in the bank of about $50,000. The bank has been taken in charge by the territorial bank examiner, E. H. Smoche. Many irregularities have been unearthed, it is alleged.

Among the assets of the bank is an unsecured note of Cashier Rankin for $8,100. J. Harry Lynch, a union labor worker, owes the institution $11,000 without security. The estimated liabilities of the institution are $112,950, with assets estimated at $56,619. Only $400 in cash was found by the bank examiner. T. H. Dun has been appointed receiver for the bank.

DYNAMITE EXPLODED.

Three Italians Injured Seriously at Port Arthur.

Port Arthur, Nov. 11.—While engaged in loading a hole for a blast in a sewer trench here Saturday afternoon three Italians were injured, one seriously, by a premature explosion of dynamite.

One man was over the hole at the time and he had a portion of his face blown off and an eye put out. He is not likely to live and two others were struck with flying rocks, and they were badly cut up.

Dreyfus Pensioned.

Paris, Nov. 11.—An announcement of the pensioning of Major Alfred Dreyfus was officially gazetted Saturday, as follows:

"Dreyfus, Alfred, chief of squadron (major), 20 years 10 months and 24 days' service; pension from Aug. 25, 1907, 3,350 francs ($470) a year."

Dreyfus having retired before completing two years service as major received only the pension of a captain.

Miners in Explosion.

Cobalt, Nov. 11.—While Alex. McKenzie and Simon Thurso were cutting a station at the 140-foot level in No. 5 shaft at the Foster mine their drill ran into a cut-off hole and an explosion followed. McKenzie lost an eye and it is feared Thurso will lose an arm.

Five Years Each For Two Men.

London, Nov. 11.—Five years in Kingston Penitentiary was the sentence meted out to William Bavin and Thomas Cameron by Judge Macbeth Saturday morning. The charge against the two young men was that of having perpetrated an unmentionable crime.

Floods in Italy.

Rome, Nov. 11.—Storms accompanied by torrential rains have again caused floods in several parts of Italy, and a number of vessels have been wrecked in the Mediterranean and Adriatic seas.

$100,000 LOSS BY FIRE

Five Storey Building Badly Gutted at Toronto.

In Centre of Wholesale Section—Firemen Had Hard Battle to Keep Flames From Spreading—Confined Outbreak to One Building—Several Occupants Who Suffer Heavily—Cause Is Unknown.

Toronto, Nov. 11.—Fire, which gutted the three upper floors of a five-storey building at 76 Bay street, on Saturday night caused a loss estimated at about $100,000. For three hours, until 10.30, the firemen worked hard before they got the flames well under control, and it was not until 2 o'clock yesterday morning that their work was finished.

The building was of solid brick, five-storeys and basement, erected since the ever memorable "big fire" of 1904.

The firms involved are: Anderson & Macbeth, hats, $45,000; Phillips & Wrinch, fancy goods and notions, $20,000; Edwin Fisher, manufacturers' agent, $6,000; John Fisher, Son & Co., woolens, $9,000; J. Howard Stowe, manufacturers' agent, $8,000. Damage to building owned by Joseph estate, leased by Anderson & Macbeth, $10,000. Alcock, Laight & Westwood, $5,000. Loss is nearly all covered by insurance.

The fire was discovered by Night Watchman Wm. Johnson, who said the fire was burning fiercely in the second floor, occupied by Phillips & Wrinch. Anderson & Macbeth, who lease the building, occupied the basement and first floor, the rear part of the third floor and the top flat; the front section being used by Edwin J. Fisher, manufacturers' agent, while the fourth floor was tenanted by John Fisher, Son & Co., woolens, and J. Howard Stowe, manufacturers' agent.

He rang in an alarm from box 415 on Wellington street, between Bay and York at 7.38. A general alarm was sent in at 7.59.

The Bay and Lombard street divisions of the department were assisted in reaching the fire, having been called on a still alarm to the J. D. King building on Wellington street, west of York street, where a sprinkler system had been accidentally flushed, as it had the previous Saturday. They had gone down Bay street, past the Anderson building, on their way, and there was then no sign of fire. While they were still trying to stop the sprinklers their attention was attracted by the reflection of the other blaze, and they went for it without waiting to pick up the hose that had been laid out in the King building.

The fire had evidently been going for some time, for soon after it was discovered there came a noise as of an explosion. This is attributed to the ignition of the smoke which filled the building and which would cause the fire to spread quickly through the building.

The flames followed the stairway up and the central portion of the third, fourth and fifth floors and the roof were burned away, leaving the ends intact.

Six streams were got to work in front, while entry was made with a seventh to the second floor, where the fire had started. Fighting here, the men were close against the blaze and in grave danger from the weakening floors. Soon after eight o'clock there, above the second, crashed through, falling within a few feet of the firemen in a tangled mass of flaming wreckage. The men, who were of the Queen street section, stuck to the work and held this pile, while those outside poured in tons of water.

The men, especially in the rear, were in great danger from falling walls. Had either the front or rear walls given way, as threatened, some of the men must have been killed.

By 11 p. m. the danger was over, and the outlying sections were being sent home. There were six truck companies and twelve hose companies in service during the night.

Cause of the fire is unknown.

Hotel Stable Burned.

Guelph, Nov. 11.—Fire destroyed the barns of the Imperial Hotel here Saturday afternoon. Three horses were suffocated.

Village Escaped Destruction.

Ottawa, Nov. 11.—A big fire is raging at Casselman. The Ottawa fire department was last night asked to send an engine, coal and some hose, but considered it unwise to send them out of the city. Telephone communication is cut off with the village, which is in Russell County.

Later.—The Casselman fire is under control. A store was gutted and two hotels caught, but the efforts of villagers were successful in checking what looked like being a wipeout of the village by flames.

TRUST OFFICIALS ARRESTED.

Charged With Accepting Deposits Knowing Bank Was Insolvent.

Portland, Ore., Nov. 11.—J. Thorburn Ross, president; George H. Hill, vice-president, and T. T. Berkhardt, treasurer of the Title Guarantee & Trust Co., which went into the hands of a receiver last Wednesday, were arrested Saturday, and a warrant is out for John B. Aitchison, secretary of the defunct institution. Aitchison is now in New York City.

Those defendants who have been arrested were released yesterday afternoon on furnishing $3,500 bail each.

The charge against them is accepting deposits while knowing the bank was insolvent. Under the laws of Oregon, this is a felony punishable by a maximum fine of $1,000 or imprisonment in the penitentiary for two years, or by fine and imprisonment.

Lord Kilmaine Ends His Life.

Paris, Nov. 11.—Lord Francis William Browne Kilmaine, representative peer for Ireland since 1900, who had been suffering from neurasthenia, threw himself out of a window of his apartments in the Avenue d'Iena on Saturday night, and was instantly killed. He was born in 1843.

It was testified in the case against Frank Law that no treasury stock had been sold to develop the Highland Mary mine.

HELD FOR SAFE BLOWING.

Man Is Recognized as Wanted For Attempted Murder.

Montreal, Nov. 11.—"Bill" Dease, who was arrested here two weeks ago in connection with the safe-blowing in the office of the Montreal Fruit Auction Co., will have to face a still more serious charge.

Should he be acquitted of the safe-blowing he will have to go to L'Assomption to answer to a charge of attempted murder laid against him by Chief Normandin of that town. Chief Normandin surprised a gang of burglars robbing the postoffice at L'Assomption two years ago, and when attempting to make an arrest was shot at by two of them.

When Dease was arrested here in connection with the safe-blowing job his picture was sent to every town in the province, where burglaries had been committed during the past few years.

Chief Normandin came to Montreal Saturday and went down to the jail to have a look at Dease. The moment he saw Dease he identified him, although Dease was standing in line with six other men at present awaiting trial.

The case for safe-blowing is stronger against 'Ed" Moore than Dease, because the former had a peculiar coin in his possession when arrested exactly similar to one that was in the safe when it was blown.

EDITOR WROTE HOT STUFF.

Arrested on Libel Charges and Must Face Civil Action.

Montreal, Nov. 11.—On account of an article, "The Nefarious Man," which appeared in La Gazette del Canada, Mr. Antonio Cordasco, labor agent, Saturday had Signor Angelo Maria Buccino-Salviata, editor of the paper, arrested for libel, and in addition has instituted against him in the Superior Court suit for $1,000.

The article complained of tells of a Mr. Thom-Gaultiere going to Cordasco's place of business to collect rent.

The labor agent is alleged to have threatened with a revolver, causing Gaultiere to run into the street and summon the police.

The report continues, that the police "acted well" and scolded Cordasco, and ends up with, "And till when will he abuse the patience of the people—to the pillory."

Mr. Cordasco claims there is no truth in the report of La Gazette del Canada.

When arraigned Signor Buccino-Salviata pleaded not guilty, and was remanded until Wednesday for enquete.

TRAINMEN ON TRIAL.

To Face Judge at Brampton Assizes For Caledon Wreck.

Brampton, Nov. 11.—The Peel fall Assizes open here to-day, with Justice Magee presiding. The trial of Conductor Grimes and Engineer Hodge, charged with responsibility for the wreck of the C. P. R. train at the horseshoe, Caledon Township, during the Toronto exhibition, will be heard. There will be upwards of 60 witnesses called. The crown prosecutor is Mr. Blackstock. T. C. Robinette will act for the defence.

Another case of more than ordinary interest is an action brought by John Henry, a Chinguacousy farmer, claiming $30,000 damages from Joseph Nottorsill for the alienation of his wife's affections.

There are also a number of minor cases, making the docket the heaviest known here for some years.

NUNZIO NASI GAINS GROUND.

Indicates That Disorder in Department Was Cause of Trouble.

Rome, Nov. 11.—The trial before the Senate of Nunzio Nasi, ex-Minister of Public Instruction, on the charge of defrauding the State Treasury, was continued Saturday. Nothing new was brought out.

Several witnesses seemed to have forgotten depositions previously made, evidently fearing the revenge of Nasi or his friends in the event of either his condemnation or acquittal.

Signor Nasi undoubtedly is gaining ground in his attempt to demonstrate that the accusations were due, not to his peculations or falsifications, but partly to the disorder in the Ministry of Public Instruction and partly to the necessity on his part to provide expenses not comprised in appropriations voted by Parliament.

POWERS AGAIN ON TRIAL.

Considerable New Testimony Is Expected by the Defence.

Lexington, Ky., Nov. 11.—For the fourth time Caleb Powers will be put on trial at Georgetown, Scott County, Ky., Monday, for alleged complicity in the assassination of Senator William Goebel, Democratic aspirant for the governorship of Kentucky in 1900.

Considerable new testimony is expected to be brought out at the coming trial.

Powers denies he will ask a continuance of his case until Governor-Elect Wilson can take his seat.

Judge J. S. Morris will preside, having been appointed special judge by Governor Beckham.

Bellboy Goes to Central.

St. Thomas, Nov. 11.—At the police court Saturday morning Harold Legassicke, the Grand Central bellboy who in October, 1906, disappeared with $40 with which he was sent out to get change, was sentenced to six months in Central Prison. A letter was read from Rev. Mr. Wallace of Toronto, formerly pastor of Centre street Baptist church, asking for leniency.

Italian Minister Dying.

Rome, Nov. 11.—Emanuel Cianturio, the Italian Minister of Public Works, is dying from cancer, and has been sent the benediction of Pope Pius. Deputy Bertolini has been appointed Minister of Public Works in succession to Signor Cianturio.

Barnardo Boy Disappears.

St. Thomas, Nov. 11.—William H. Doughty, a young Englishman who has resided for 18 months at Fingal, is missing. He is a Barnardo boy, 17 years old and deaf.

John Davis, postmaster at Alton, died from injuries received recently in a railway accident.

PUBLICITY PAYS

Many a business man has been surprised to find that his biggest advertising bills were the easiest ones to pay.

This is always true, assuming that they are contracted in buying advertising space in the best newspaper medium in his field. It would, of course, never be true if poor judgment were used in the planning and executing of the advertising campaign.

In the cases of prosperous merchants it always happens that big results follow big advertising expenditures. But we do not so often see the small stores and shops crowded. Too many of them are content to get the 'overflow" patronage, the "happened-in" people, the people who go to "the nearest place."

Any "little store" whose advertising expenditures, for newspaper space are doubled this year, will find its sales and profits correspondingly increased. Even a small increase of expenditure, in the right direction, for publicity, will bring a notable quickening of store activity, store profits.

Effective, adequate advertising not only pays for itself—it pays for increased equipment and all that goes with a bigger store and growing store needs.

PEN POINTS

Don't delay joining the Canadian Club.

Peterborough can produce three excellent things—champion football players, long distance runners and long distance walkers.

The wheat crop may have shown a shortage this year, but we venture to say there will be no shortage in the crop of aldermanic candidates.

CATARRH CANNOT BE CURED with LOCAL APPLICATIONS, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Cure is not a quack medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing Catarrh. Send for testimonials free.

Fine Raspberries in November

Mr. J. Hanbidge, of Otonabee, Has Some Productive Bushes

A rather remarkable thing to see this season of the year is ripe, red raspberries. Mr. J. Hanbidge, who lives five miles out in Otonabee, called at the Review today and stated that all fall the raspberry bushes on his farm were in blossoms and the luscious fruit had formed and had grown to quite a size. However, before they were ready for picking the frost came and killed them. This is rather extraordinary for this time of year, and Mr. Hanbidge states that he never seen the like before.

King's Birthday Celebration In London—Premier Campbell-Bannerman Sums Up Results at Hague Conference—Britain Worked Hard In Cause of Arbitration — Criticizes Government of Congo State.

London, Nov. 11.—The celebration of the 66th anniversary of King Edward VII.'s birthday was brought to a fitting close at the inaugural banquet of the new Lord Mayor of London, Sir John C. Bell, at Guildhall, Saturday night. For the first time since the brief regime of Lord Rosebery, in the early 90's, the former Liberal Prime Minister occupied the post of honor. The Premier, Sir H. Campbell-Bannerman, who last year was unable to attend the lord mayor's banquet owing to the death of his wife, was in his place and delivered the principal speech of the evening in reply to the toast of His Majesty's Ministers.

Departing from the usual rule, the Premier referred in his opening remarks to domestic affairs, and especially congratulating David Lloyd-George, President of the Board of Trade, on the settlement of the dispute between the railways and their employes. Touching on foreign affairs, Sir Henry said that the results obtained at the recent Hague Peace Conference had not come up to his most sanguine hopes, but that he was glad he had been over-sanguine in his expectation, for he had spoken for a nation which had no aggressive designs upon its neighbors and desired only to live in peace and amity towards all.

The Hague Conference, declared the Premier, was a plant of slow growth, but one in which he had great confidence, and he believed the day would come when there would be a cessation in the mad race for armaments which now was the scourge of our common civilization. In a review of the work accomplished by the conference, Sir Henry said that it had by no means been insignificant.

The British delegates had done all that they could to advance the question of arbitration. If they had attempted to force the issue, he declared, the result would have been negative or even worse—friction. An international prize court would be a notable step in advance, he said, and it might be necessary for the leading maritime powers to come to an agreement for the establishment of such a court, and the adoption of rules therefor. Great Britain had also left matters in shape for future amicable discussion of the abolition of contraband and the restriction of floating mines.

The Colonial Conference, the Anglo-Russian treaty and the steps taken to prevent the plague and sedition in India having been disposed of, Sir Henry took up the Congo question. As great as the contrast is between the hopes of the English people when the Congo was established, and the conditions existing there at the present time, he felt that he must speak with the greatest reserve, because the Belgian Parliament will shortly be asked on what terms it will take over the independent Free State of the Congo. Great Britain would not interfere in the negotiations, he declared but the Government was deeply impressed with the responsibility that it, in common with others, felt that the Government of the Congo should be put on a footing with the colonies administered by other nations, and in accordance with the treaties under which the Congo came into existence.

Sir John A. Fisher, senior Naval Lord of the Admiralty, in replying to recent attacks upon the navy, pointed out that in the recent North Sea manoeuvres there were gathered 26 of the finest battleships in the world and 26 cruisers, many of which were superior to any foreign battleship, and even this great fleet represented only a fraction of Great Britain's naval power. Besides, he said, the gunnery and general efficiency of the English fleet surpassed all records and was a matter of wonder and admiration. "The object of the Admiralty," said Sir John, "has been one of instant readiness, and we have got it. Don't be disturbed by the bogie of invasion. One might as well talk of embarking St. Paul's Cathedral on a penny steamer as embarking 100,000 German soldiers to invade England."

In conclusion Sir John declares that the fleet in the number of fighting ships and in general capacity was never so satisfactory as at the present time.

Congratulations For King.

New York, Nov. 11.—The banquet of the British Schools and Universities Club in honor of the 66th anniversary of the birth of King Edward VII. was held at Delmonico's Saturday night. About 100 guests were present.

Dr. Walter Lambert, president of the club, sent a message of congratulation to King Edward in behalf of the club, to which the following reply was received:

"The King thanks the British Schools and Universities Club of New York for their good wishes on the occasion of his birthday.

(Signed) Knollys."

Owe More Than a Million.

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 11.—Investigations of the affairs of J. E. Brady, president of the Merchants Refrigerating Co., shows, it was said Saturday night, that Brady & Co. owe more than $1,000,000. Banks in the east and in small Missouri and Kansas towns are the creditors.

Customs Receipts For Quebec.

Quebec, Nov. 11.—The provincial custom receipts for the first four months of 1907 surpass by $248,571 the receipts for the corresponding period of last year. The largest increase in revenue is in the department of woods and forest and in industrial and commercial taxes.

Honey Candy.

A honey candy is made by dissolving one pint of white sugar in enough water to keep it from burning. To this add four tablespoonfuls of honey. Boil until it is brittle, drop into cold water, then cool and pull.

Imposed Fine and Was Fined.

Victoria, Nov. 11.—A case full of interest to labor unions and militiamen was concluded here by the imposition of a fine of $25 by Police Magistrate Jay of this city on the secretary of the local union of musicians for interfering with Regimental Bandmaster Rumsby in the discharge of his duties. The union fined Mr. Rumsby $10 for employing two men at a band concert who were behind in their dues as union musicians, and Col. Hall immediately instituted a prosecution with the above result.

Boat Capsized; Four Drown.

Cotean Landing, Nov. 11.—Four men were drowned Saturday afternoon through the capsizing of a boat, near Cotean Landing, and a fifth had a narrow escape.

One of the victims is Mr. J. Valois, a highly respected Government official, and the other three are residents of Melocheville.

The bodies have not, yet been recovered.

Hon. Adam Beck's Adventure.

London, Nov. 11.—Hon. Adam Beck met with a slight accident while following the hounds at the weekly run of the London Hunt.

While being carried at a gallop through a strip of woods the hon. gentleman's face came in contact with the lower branches of a tree, and some painful abraisons were made.

Steamer Norwalk Released.

Welland, Nov. 11.—The steamer Norwalk, under seizure here for a collision in the St. Lawrence, was released last evening and passed up.

OBITUARY

MRS. WM. A. ARCHER.

The death occurred on Tuesday last of Mrs. Wm. A. Archer, at the residence of her father, Mr. Wm. Latchford, in Emily township. The deceased had been ailing for a long time with a lingering disease. She was 28 years of age and was born in Emily. Not quite two years ago she was married to her now sorrowing husband. She was a very estimable lady and was highly esteemed by all who knew her. She was a member of the Presbyterian church, and until taken ill took an active interest in church work.

Besides her husband an infant son is left to mourn her loss; also her parents, five brothers and one sister. The brothers are William, of South Africa; Herbert and Sidney, of Emily, and George and Preston, at home.

The sister is Miss Mary, of Emily.

The funeral took place on Friday last to the Omemee cemetery, and was very largely attended.

The Lockmaster Had Close Call

Mr. J. H. McWilliams of Lakefield Fell Distance of Twenty Feet

Lockmaster J. H. McWilliams, of Lakefield, had an experience on Friday night which he will not soon forget.

A break occurred on Thursday night to one of the gates and it was thought that it had been repaired. Mr. McWilliams was engaged in turning the crank controlling the flow of water when another break occurred. The handle of the crank suddenly flew around and striking the lock-master knocked him into the water below. He fell a distance of about 20 feet and in his descent just missed a scow. He was injured about the eye, but was promptly rescued from his perilous position.

A strange coincidence is that just a year ago the same night and at about the same hour, Charles Fuller, the veteran lockmaster at Burleigh Falls, met death by falling into the lock, after locking Mr. T. Nicholls-host through.

"I THANK YOU" NOW HEARD TOO SELDOM

There is Not Enough Thankfulness in the World, Says Rev. W. B. Heeney at St. John's

The special services in connection with the re-dedication of St. John's church were continued yesterday, large congregations being present at the different services. The preacher both morning and evening was Rev. W. B. Heeny, M.A., of Barrie, who delivered two inspiring and eloquent sermons. In the evening his discourse was of a thanksgiving nature, his text being the 14th verse of the 139th Psalm: "I will give praise to God, for I am fearfully and wonderfully made." At the present day, Mr. Heeney said it was a regrettable fact that men and women, boys and girls, were seldom heard express thanks to God and man for the benefits they received from both. The words, "I thank you," were far too rare. The great tendency of the present time, the speaker said, was to get more, more money, comforts, more pleasures. There was a mad race for these things, a race that was bringing many down to ruin. The greed for more money drove the clerk to deceive his employer, appropriate the funds of others entrusted to his care, and as a result brought himself to disgrace and to the prison. This grasping and greed for more was one of the great evils of the times.

Referring to his txt, Mr. Heeney said that man should be thankful and praise God, for, as the Psalmist said, he was fearfully and wonderfully made. Man was great in his mentality, in his intellectual faculties, not in his physical strength. While it was desirable that man should have this latter quality it was not to be gloried in. It was for his great mental powers which enabled him to do great things that praise should be given to God.

Towards the close of his sermon the reverend gentleman dealt with the importance of character building. Wealth, pleasure, comfort were nought without character. The day would come when each one of us would have t oleave this world, and the only thing we could take with us to meet the great Master on the other side was our character. Gold and silver, fame and greatness would have to be left behind.

In closing the speaker made a strong appeal for a greater spirit of thankfulness to God, for the blessings enjoyed in this beautiful world.

The music was of a fitting nature for the occasion. A verse of the National Anthem was sung after the sermon.

An adjournment of the Toronto conduct inquiry was made to give the city and railway companies an opportunity to confer together.

Branch of W. C. T. U. Has Been Organized in Peterborough

Officers Elected and Other Arrangements Made at Largely Attended Meeting at Conservatory of Music Hall Yesterday—Forceful Address Given by President of Ontario W. C. T. U.—Mayor McWilliams Presided.

Much enthusiasm and great interest was displayed yesterday by a large number of ladies of the city who attended the gospel temperance meeting held in the Conservatory of Music hall. The spacious auditorium was well filled and the Peterborough branch of the Women's Christian temperance union, which was organized at the close of the meeting, starts out with the brightest prospects for a successful campaign against the sale of intoxicating drink. The principal speaker of the afternoon was Mrs. McKee, of Barrie, President of W.C.T.U. in Ontario. Her address was a very impressive one.

His Worship Mayor McWilliams occupied the chair in his usual able manner. After a short song service, led by Rev. J. G. Potter, the Mayor opened the meeting with a few brief remarks. He felt it was his duty in view of the present position the held to be at this gathering. It also was a great pleasure to him to be present. He referred to the stimulus it was to be a temperate man. The total abstainer had many advantages over the drinker, of alcoholic beverages. Many firms, he said, do not wanh to employ drinking men and the best athletes are abstainers from intoxicants.

A portion of Scripture was read by Rev. H. M. Manning and prayer was offered by Rev. J. R. Webb. Master Harold Hatcher then sang very effectively a temperance solo and Miss O. Reesor's splendid voice was heard to excellent advantage in "The Ninety and Nine."

Mrs. Chrysler, who has charge of the juvenile department of the W.C.T.U. work, gave a short address in which she referred to the great good that was being done in rescuing the young boys from the evil of cigarette smoking and bringing them up to be temperance men.

Mrs. McKee, of Barrie, was the next speaker. Being president of the W.C.T.U. in Ontario and having recently returned from the annual convention of the society, she gave a very interesting talk on the work done in the past by this grand organization and pointed out the still greater duties yet to be performed.

In this flourinishing and progressive city of Peterborough, with its hospitals, Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A. and other institutions that open their doors to the young men and women, the speaker remarked that it was a great drawback that there was no W.C.T.U. Here was a great field for work and the speaker was pleased to know that a branch was about to be formed. Continuing she said that there was a great responsibility on the Christian men in this work. If they would realize that there were 5000 men going down to their graves every year in Canada from drink and if they would rise and say this shall not be, what a great thing it would be for our country. There is in the neighborhood of $15,000,000 expended every year by the Dominion Government in carrying on the liquor traffic and only an income of $8,000,000 is realized from it. This liquor evil that causes so much unhappiness, and that is ruining the young men of to-day must be boldly fought, continued the speaker. The stumbling block must be removed, the magnitude of the evil must be diminished, and with this end in view the assistance of every Christian woman is asked.

While the Ontario Government has made it, that there must be three-fifthes of the vote before prohibition is passed, yet there is another plan by which the temperance workers can succeed. Local option carried in one hundred municipalities last year and eighty-nine others will vote on it in the coming municipal elections. In the towns where it exists, there is peace and happiness, and merchants state that trade has increased to a large extent and law and order prevails.

The speaker referred to several temptations that have been the making of many drunkards. Serving pudding with brandy sauce and eating brandy candies was the starting point of the downfall of many young men and women. Do not put such temptations in the way of the weak, urged the speaker.

In these days of so much society and frivolity, the women forget themselves and it was hard to interest them in this work, but if they would realize what great good they could do and how far their influence went, there would be less drinking and carousing.

In the course of a few weeks a deputation would wait upon the Dominion Government to have the sale of cigarettes prohibited. Mrs. McKee referred to the evil of the cigarette. 313,000,000 were sold in this country last year, and it is appalling the number of small boys that are seen smoking on our streets. Fifty per cent. of the young men who desired to enlist for South Africa were refused because they were cigarette fiends and is it not time something was done?

Continuing Mrs. McKee dealt with the different departments of work in the W.C.T.U. There were 28 in all.

In all places where a boy or young man's welfare is endangered the society endeavored to reach them. In the lumber camps, in the instruction camps for soldiers, on the railroad, in hospitals, gaols and the poor cottages, is to be found the active work of the W.C.T.U.

In concluding the speaker read the pledge each member takes on joining and a large number of ladies signed it.

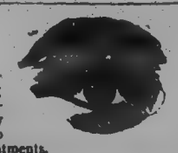
Dr. Browett's Dates at Peterboro'



His Successful Visit. For the past few weeks Dr. Browett, optical specialist, has been teaching opticians at Midland. A large number of persons have taken the opportunity of Dr. Browett's visit to that thriving Georgian Bay port to have their eyes examined for glasses, and thus save themselves the expense of a trip to the larger cities. While there people from Penetanguishene and other adjoining towns have visited him and several very difficult cases have been helped. Dr. Browett will before visiting his next teaching appointment, spend Tues. to Sat., 12th to 16th at his home office at our store and conduct examinations for those for whom we are making appointments.

New Secretary Arrives in City

Mr. Wright the New Secretary, Welcomed by Y.M.C.A. Members

Mr. Horace C. Wright, late of Gowanstown, Md., the new secretary of the Y.M.C.A., arrived in the city on Saturday evening at 7.30 o'clock after spending a few days at his home in Aylmer, Ontario. He was met at the C.P.R. station by several members of the association and escorted to the building where a large number had gathered to greet him. He was given a cordial reception.

Mr. Wright was also present at the men's meeting yesterday afternoon at which the Rev. Dr. Langfeldt gave a stirring address. Mr. R. E. Harding, president of the Association, introduced the new secretary and referred to the work of the Y.M.C.A. and call to young men.

Mr. Wright has a pleasing appearance and manner and no doubt will prove a successor to the late secretary, Mr. Williamson.

Mr. Wright assumes his new duties as secretary of the Peterborough Y.M.C.A. to-day. He will address the men's meeting on Sunday next.

SANG NATIONAL ANTHEM

The National Anthem was sung yesterday in St. Luke's, morning and evening, in commemoration of the King's birthday anniversary.

FOR THE KIDNEYS AND BLADDER

Mix This at Home if You Have Kidney or Bladder Trouble or Rheumatism

Recent hospital reports show that the dread disease, rheumatism, is steadily increasing throughout the country. All known means of relief are being suggested to save the great amount of suffering this winter, especially among those who are not in a position to pack up and visit the noted health resorts to be treated. Recent tests prove rheumatism not exactly a disease in itself, but a severe symptom of kidney trouble, a condition caused by clogged up pores of the eliminative tissues in the kidneys, which fail to filter the poisonous waste matter and uric acid from the blood, permitting these substances to remain in the veins and decompose, usually settling about the joints and muscles, causing the intense pain, swelling and stiffness of rheumatism.

There are numerous remedies known which many persons believe will relieve this suffering—salicilate of soda, colchicum, potash, etc—but these drugs are terribly hard on the stomach, often ruining this most important organ, and they fail as often as they relieve.

A well-known specialist, who has probably treated more cases of rheumatism than anyone else, and who is also the most successful, gives the following simple treatment, which is harmless and inexpensive, and so simple that anybody can mix it at home.

The ingredients are: Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Go to any good prescription pharmacy and get these three vegtable ingredients and mix them by shaking in a bottle, taking as a dose a teaspoonful after each meal and again at bedtime.

There is nothing better in the world for backache, kidney and bladder trouble, too. Such symptoms as frequent and painful urination, soreness, weakness, general and nervous debility are caused by certain acids and poisonous waste matter, decayed tissue, etc., in the blood, which the kidneys will clear and purify after a few doses of this prescription.

The Great Work of David Hartley

Publishers of "Painter and Decorator" Congratulate Him

Mr. David Hartley has received the following letter of congratulation from the Jas. Acton Manufacturing Co. of Toronto:

Dear Sir,—Though a little late perhaps yet we wish to congratulate you on your recent wonderful walking feat, which was little short of marvellous. Your staying powers are certainly great. As you are a painter, we are sure the members of the craft throughout the Dominion would be delighted to see your picture and if you would kindly forward a photograph of yourself, we shall be pleased to have a half tone made for insertion in our journal—The Canadian Painter and Decorator. If you have no photo on hand you might go to the gallery and have one taken, charging same to our account. We should like to receive the photo in the course of a few days.

Thanking you in anticipation,

Yours respectively,

DOES IT PAY TO ADVERTISE?

Does advertising in the Review pay? The following should be sufficient proof of its effectiveness as an advertising medium.

Mr. George Thomas, proprietor of the Dominion Cafe, inserted a want ad in the columns of this paper for a boy to work in his kitchen and two hours after the paper had come off the press a young lad had applied for and secured the position.

This is but one of many cases of a similar character. What quicker results could any advertiser hope for or even ask for?

THE TREE DOCTOR.

His Method of Treating a Trunk That is Decaying.

When a tree doctor treats a decayed tree he begins by cutting an aperture in the tree large enough to allow him to get at the inside and remove all the decayed wood. This is essential to the success of the operation. When this work has been done the cavity is ready to be filled. The composition used in case of large fillings contains five parts of sand to one part of portland cement, except for the outer part, where these ingredients are used half and half, this outer coating being several inches thick. To hold the cement in place while it is hardening a stout tin or zinc is employed, this being secured to the trunk of limb in a way to preserve the natural shape. The tin is put on in strips, being fastened with round steel nails having a broad head and a small shank. The strips are wide enough to lap over upon the sound wood, and the nails are placed from half an inch to an inch apart, acording to the strain imposed.

The first strip of tin is put on at the lower part of the aperture and the cement put in until it reaches nearly to the top of the tin. Then a second strip is put on, lapping over the other two or three inches, and the two nailed together. Then more cement is used, and so on until the cavity is filled, the last strip of tin being bent down while the final application of cement is being puddled into place and the cavity entirely filled, and then it is straightened up and nailed in place. In case of extra large cavities large sheets of tin or sheet iron are nailed on the outside to prevent the tin from bulging out until the cement has hardened, when they can be removed. The smaller the cavity the larger are the strips of tin employed, as the strain is proportionately less. In twenty-four hours' time the cement will have hardened completely, and the tin may all be removed.

This remedy is applied successfully to fruit trees as well as shade trees.

CAPT. BERNIER RETURNS.

Flag Proudly Waves Over Far Northern Islands.

The Department of Marine received word recently that Capt. Bernier, on the steamer Arctic, had passed Father Point on the way to Montreal, after a cruise of over a year in Arctic waters. Capt. Bernier on reaching Ottawa will report to the Minister of Marine the details of his long trip in the north. All his crew are reported well, and only one death occurred during the whole voyage, Frederick Berkinhauser, an oiler, who died from natural causes.

The Arctic sailed from Quebec on July 6, 1906, in command of Capt. Bernier, whose life's ambition it has been to discover the north pole. Although the Arctic's cruise was not undertaken with that object, reports received from the commander last year indicated that she had done some notable Arctic navigation. According to those reports, the Arctic in the summer of 1906 proceeded up Baffin's Bay as far north as Smith's Sound, then turned south, and, passing westward through Lancaster Sound, Barrow Strait and Melville Sound, touched Bank's Land and wintered in Lancaster Sound. This would mean that the expedition had all but made the "northwest passage." During the summer of 1907 the Arctic has been cruising among the northern islands and coasts, planting the British flag at several headlands to prove the sovereignty of the Dominion over those frozen regions.

Branded Sockless Freshies.

At the recent opening Queen's science freshmen were handled by the sophomores in a way amusing to student spectators.

The sophs trapped the freshmen, caught them, and tied them in a row against the wall in the old gymnasium.

Then each freshman was branded on the forehead with a cross in indelible ink.

Further indignity was put upon the unlucky freshies by the sophs taking off the boots and socks of the former, and throwing them in a pile in front of the arts building.

Barefooted, and in full view of hundreds of other amused students, the poor freshies hunted about for an hour before the boots and socks got back to their owners.

Signs of a Hard Winter.

When the steamer Cassiar arrived recently she brought down from the north a number of Toba Inlet Indians, who are distinguished above all other Indians for their wisdom in weather lore. One of the red men, in conversation with another passenger, said the Indians up coast expected a very severe winter, and had already begun to make preparations to secure themselves against cold. Forest animals, particularly the common wolf, they say, are growing longer hair than usual. This fact may reasonably enough be construed as pointing to a severe winter, but in the estimation of the Indians the testimony of wild animals is as nothing compared with the signs and warnings vouchsafed by moon.—Vancouver World.

Electric Lights.

If your dwelling is electrically lighted, never place wood, clothes or other inflammable material against the wires, meters or switches. Never use an electric wire as a clothesline, and see to it that your dwelling is kept free from rats, as these pests often gnaw the insulation from the wires.

The Smallest Watch.

What is said to be the smallest watch in the world is in the possession of a London jeweler. It once belonged to the late Marquis of Anglesey, whose taste in ornaments was extravagant and bizarre. The size of the gold case of this lilliputian watch is just that of the smallest English coin—a silver threepence. The minute hand is an eighth of an inch long.

The president of the Chicago Board of Education says football is the most brutal game that ever was invented.

BEER BUILDS BODIES

PURITY

Ontario beers are pure, above all else—far more pure than most of the milk sold in cities, because made under conditions of absolute hygiene.

FOOD-VALUE

Boiled potatoes contain not nearly the nutriment that is in pure beer; milk will not feed most folks so well, nor digest so thoroughly.

LAZY stomachs mean poor digestions—they don't work hard enough to extract the good of one's food.

Beer* is a food-drink that makes the stomach do its work better, because it increases the flow of the digestive juices and gives the stomach muscles more strength to do their work.

Beer* is better for run-down people than medicine; and for thin-blooded people nothing else will enrich the blood so surely and quickly.

Ask your own doctor if you hadn't better drink beer with your meals.

*BEER is a term which covers lager, ale, porter, and stout; and, in the practise of Ontario brewers, implies beverages made under most hygienic conditions, from Ontario barley (the best in the world) malt, hops, and pure water.

AMUSEMENTS

SHADOW BEHIND THE THRONE.

The stirring melodrama, "The Shadow Behind the Throne," was presented to a fair sized house at the Grand on Saturday night. This production appeared here last year. It deals with exciting events at the time of the Boxer uprising in China, and the threatened attacks upon the American legation at Pekin. There are many incidents in which Old Glory is waved. The offering is calculated to arouse the patriotism of the Yankees, and appeals to American honor, virtue and womanhood were applauded liberally here. The story is full of several impossible situations, but all are full of interest. The play takes its name from the mandarin, who is the shadow behind the throne in the household of the viceroy of China. The mandarin, who in the end turns out to be an Englishman, entered the viceroy's service because the latter robbed him of the woman he loved, and made her his paramour. He patiently waits years for revenge on the viceroy, and, after the latter had by threats of a horrible death and the base treachery and cowardice of an attache of the American legation, made the daughter of the American ambassador a prisoner in his household, and subjected her to shameless insults, effects the escape of her and her imprisoned lover, unmasks himself and destroys the viceroy by means of dynamite explosion. He does this after proclaiming that the hour of revenge had come.

Walking Contest Next Saturday

Hartley and Reynolds Will Meet at Toronto—Arrangements Completed

David Hartley and Jimmy Reynolds meet next Saturday in a twelve hour walking contest at Toronto. The sporting editor of the Mail & Empire is making all arrangements for the event which has aroused great interests in athletic circles. Hartley received a telegram from the Mail and Empire on Saturday stating that Reynolds had accepted the conditions of the contest and that the arrangements were being concluded. Fifty per cent. of the receipts will go to the contestants to be divided as the two may agree, Hartley is in favor of fiving the swinner 70 per cent. and the loser 30 per cent.

The match will likely take place in the armories at Toronto and should attract a monster crowd. The walkers will likel ystart about ten o'clock in the morning, and finish at ten at night in order that a large number of spectators may be on hand for athe finish of one of the most unique contests in years.

Hartley is in good shape and intends beating the Port Hope man to show that there was nothing wrong with his recent record of 24 hours 6 minutes for 132 miles. He will have some light training this week, and says he never felt better for a walking contest. He had a light workout at Nicholls Oval on Saturday afternoon and went a mile in remarkably fast time.

The local man will be heavily backed by Peterborough money, if it can be got up.

Guessed 1653

Just One Short

Talk about close guessing, but the guess of Mr. John Williams concerning the number of beans in the jar at "The Crystal," has them all guessing as to how he guessed it. There were 1,654 beans in the jar, and Mr. McWilliams in the competition for a gold watch guessed that the number was 1,653. As a result he has a beautiful and valuable gold watch, of Waltham movement, with a hunting case, handsomely chased on front and back.

Both Calls Were Sustained by Presbytery of Peterborough

Rev. J. A. Stirling Will be Inducted Pastor of Havelock Church on November 22 and Rev Robert Pogue, of Philadelpha, as Pastor of St. Paul's on December 5th

At a pro re nata meeting of the Presbytery of Peterborough, held in St. Paul's church this morning the call extended by Havelock to Rev. J. A. G. Stirling, of Peterborough, and by St. Paul's church, Peterborough to Rev. Robert Pogue, of Bethany church, Philadelphia, were presented and sustained.

Mr. Stirling will be inducted as pastor at Havelock in Friday, Nov. 22nd, Mr. Pogue on Friday, December 5th.

Rev. G. A. MacLennan, interim moderator, and Mr. James Thompson, of Havelock, presented a largely signed call from that church in favor of Rev. Mr. Stirling. The call was sustained by Presbytery and the stipend fixed at $800 a year with a manse and two weeks holidays.

The induction will take place at two o'clock in the afternoon, Rev. G. A. MacLennan, of Norwood, will preside, Rev. P. W. Currie, of Warsaw, will preach the sermon, Rev. H. U. Keith, of Knox church, Peterborough, will deliver the charge to the pastor, and Rev. D. A. Thompson, of Hastings, the charge to the people.

ST. PAUL'S CALL.

The call from St. Paul's church to Rev. Robert Pogue was largely signed, Commissioner Sheriff Hall and D. H. Moore spoke strongly in support of it. Mr. J. C. Shaw also spoke and paid a warm, well deserved tribute to Rev. Dr. Talling and the excellent work done by him as acting pastor during the past few months. The call, which was sustained, will be forwarded to the Presbytery of Philadelphia, which meets on Wednesday next. If it is sustained by that body, as fully anticipated, Mr. Pogue will be inducted as pastor of St. Paul's church on Friday, December 5th, at 7.30 o'clock in the evening.

Rev. Dr. Marsh, of Springville, interim moderator, will preside. Rev. D. A. Thompson, of Hastings, will preach the sermon. Rev. W. Johnston, of Millbrook, will deliver the charge to the minister and Rev. Dr. Talling to the people.

Mr. Pogue's stipend was fixed at $2,500 a year and 4 months holidays.

At this morning's session Rev. W. Johnston, of Millbrook, presided in the absence of the moderator, Rev. Peter Duncan, of Colborne. Rev. D. A. Thompson, the clerk, and many other representatives of Presbytery were present.

Mistaken for Deer, Local Man Fired on by Hunter

William Cones, Who Resides at 239 Hunter Street, Shot in the Side—Brought to City and is Now in St. Joseph's Hospital.

The first accident that has occurred in the county of Peterborough during the deer hunting season of 1907, happened on Saturday afternoon in the vicinity of Deer Bay, when Mr. Wm. Cones of this city, was shot in the side and narrowly escaped being fatally injured. The unfortunate man with several others had left their camp for a hunt, a number going in one direction and the remainder taking another route.

Mr. Roy Cones, a cousin of the injured man, hearing the twigs on the ground cracking thought it was a deer, and running in the direction from which the noise came, and having caught a glimpse of what he thought was the coveted prize fired. The screams of his cousin soon told him of his mistake. Rushing to his cousin's assistance, he found his side bleeding profusely. He was at once conveyed to the camp where his wound was temporarily attended to. The injured man was brought to the city to-day and taken to St. Joseph's hospital where his injuries were attended to by Dr. McNulty. It will be some time before he will be able to get around as he is seriously hurt.

A number of the party brought Mr. Cones to the city.

Fine Display of Chrysanthemums

On Saturday many people admired the beautiful showing of chrysanthemums in Jordan Bros.' window, George street, in which were shown several varieties of chrysanthemums in five of the standard colors.

Peterborough are O.R.F.U. Champions

Defeated Westmounts on Saturday by Score of 25 to 4

On Saturday Peterborough defeated Westmounts at Riverside park by a score of 25-4, winning the championship of the O.R.F.U. Owing to a breakdown in the mechanical department of the Review it is impossible to publish an account of the match. An improper appreciation of the importance of the game was shown by the public, only about 500 people being in attendance.

The teams:

Peterborough (25)—Mulhern, back; Colledge, Crough, Quinlan, halves; Lundy, quarter,; Clarke, Deannard, O'Brien, scrimmage; Hurtubise, capt., Dickson, Dillon, Fitzgerald, Crowley, O'Connor, wings.

Westmount (4)—Cornell, back; Rose, Wills, Pennell, halves; Baillie, Capt., quarter; Sevens, McLeod, Brown, scrimmage; Atkinson, Snowden, O'Loughlin, Steedman, Duckett, Drennan, wings.

Referee—Phil McKenzie; Umpire, J. B. Hay; Timers, McDonough and Autberland.

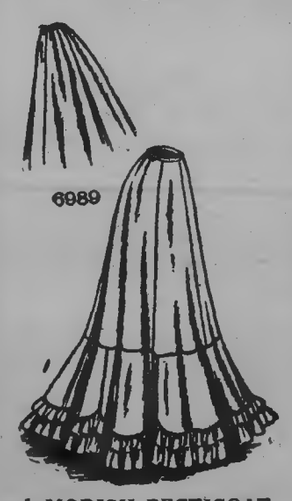
A TUCKED SHIRTWAIST IN SILK

The tucked shirtwaist is so much in vogue this season that many charming designs have been produced. One of the newest is here shown, and although its modelling is simple, it lacks nothing of style and piquancy. The perfect fit of the prettily shaped yoke is a noticeable feature, while the groups of tucks in the front, ending at the bust line, dispose gracefully of the fullness. The tucks in the back, extending from neck to waistline, produce an effect of slenderness which the woman of full figure will appreciate. The sleeves may be made in full or shorter length, as desired. In the present instance embroidery was used for trimming, but any preferred garniture may be used. The waist would make up prettily in any soft silk or wool material, or in a lingerie fabric, if this is preferred. For the medium size 2¾ yards, 27 inch material, are required.

6995—6 sizes, 32 to 42 inches bust measure.

The price of this pattern is 10c.

Leave your order and 10c, at THE REVIEW OFFICE, and pattern will be sent vou bv mail.



A MODISH PETTICOAT

The modern petticoat is a much more elaborate affair than that of other days, and is often made of richer materials than the gown which covers it. The model here shown is suitable for development in silk or mercerized cotton, a good quality of taffeta being suggested as the most practical, stylish and durable. The petticoat is a five gored one, the decoration consisting of a sectional flounce edged with a ruffle, and below this a dust ruffle. The pattern is a most desirable one for the home sewer, combining all of the best features of the new style models. To develop it in the medium size requires 10 1/4 yards of 27 inch material.

6989—7 sizes, 20 to 32 inches waist measure.

The price of this pattern is 10c.

Leave your order and 10c. at THE REVIEW OFFICE, and pattern will be sent you by mail.

Woodmen Hold Open Meeting

Important Speakers Were Present and Interesting Programme Given

A largely attended open meeting of the Woodmen of the World, Sherwood Forest Camp 50, was held in the Sons of England Hall last night with Mr. T. E. Bradburn, M.P.P., in the chair.

Very important and interesting addresses were made by Messrs. C. C. Hodgins, of Lucan, Ont., head organizer of the Order for Canada, D. Cinnamon, Lindsay, head adviser, and R. Copeland, Millbrook, head organizer for Eastern Ontario. A good musical programme was also rendered and refreshments were served at the conclusion of the meeting by the lady members of the Order.

Mr. Bradburn made the opening address expressing his pleasure at being present and commenting on the healthy condition of the Peterborough branch of the Order. He then introduced Mr. Hodgins, who spoke on the general prosperity of the Woodmen of the World, of the society's splendid financial standing and its increase in membership.

Mr. Cinnamon, the next speaker, told in an interesting manner of the advantage offerred to those who were members of the Order.

Mr. Copeland told of the progress being effected in the work of organization in Eastern Ontario.

THE PROGRAMME.

Mrs. Evans rendered a piano solo that was well received. A quartette, consisting of Misses Edwards and Flowers, and Messrs. Grimshaw and McCabe, were heard to advantage in a pleasing selection and had to respond to an encore. Mr. Featherstone's rendition of "The Runaway Musketeer," was much enjoyed, and for a recall number he sang "The Blow that killed poor father." Mr. Pratt gave a bass solo in fine voice and was warmly applauded, responding with another effective number.

Several interesting selections were given on a phonograph supplied by Mr. A. Heath.

PASSEPARTOUT PICTURES AND MOUNTING BOARD

The fad for passepartout pictures is again growing very general. Many who have used this means of decorating their rooms, find there is no other way of treating pictures, that is so economical and satisfactory. The Review has a new line of passepartout in all shades, mounting papers and pictures in the popular staple tints. Call and see them and fix up a few pictures for your friends for Xmas. Nothing is more acceptable than a pretty picture.

BE BRIGHT—WELL—STRONG
BUILD UP WITH FERROZONE

Ferrozone Adds Vigor and Strength to the System, Purifies and Enriches the Blood, Vitalizes the Nerves and Assures Permanent Good Health.

Let your fight for health begin now, before you feel any warning of physical collapse.

Your whole system needs a thorough cleansing. Likewise, the blood should be purified, made rich and nutritious.

The one cure for that tired, drooping feeling is Ferrozone, the acknowledged king of all tonic medicines.

To restore your appetite you need Ferrozone, certainly you do.

You need it to restore your nerves and to enrich your depleted blood.

The strongest reason why you need Ferrozone is because it will build up your run-down system and make you well.

It's because we know Ferrozone is absolutely certain to cure that we urge everyone in poor health to use it. If depressed, tired, nervous, sleepless, Ferrozone will make you cheery, bright and happy, because it will make you well.

FERROZONE
A Good Appetizer.

MR. AUBREY E. TEMPLEMAN, of Mechias, writes: "I have found the greatest satisfaction in using Ferrozone, and consider it is the best tonic made. I was all run down a few months ago, and in a very miserable state of health. I took a few boxes of Ferrozone, and was surprised at the result. Ferrozone drove away that dull, heavy feeling, and put my system in splendid order. I am never nervous or sleepless, and have a hearty appetite. This is all due to Ferrozone, which I recommend in the strongest way possible."

FERROZONE
Gives Real Vigor.

MRS. NORMAN MAGADAM, of Bridgeport, writes: "I am in good health to-day as the result of Ferrozone. Before using Ferrozone I was tired and miserable, lacked energy and ambition. But Ferrozone altered all that. It has built up my system, and given me more real vigor than I ever had before. Ferrozone is a good tonic."

Ferrozone Makes the Weak Strong—the Sick Well

Ferrozone is sold only in 50c boxes, containing 50 Ferrozone Tablets. Six boxes for $2.50. At all dealers or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., and Kingston, Ont.

Emperor of Germany the Guest of England's King

Kaiser William Meets King Edward at Windsor Castle.

British Fog Compelled Royal Visitors to Go Slowly—Reached Portsmouth Harbor With Difficulty — German Monarch Greeted With Salvos of Artillery by Channel Squadron—Received Cordial Welcome.

Portsmouth, Eng., Nov. 12.—The German Imperial party reached Windsor at five o'clock and were warmly greeted by King Edward and Queen Alexandra. The two monarchs and their wives cordially embraced and then went to Windsor Castle.

The visitors had left the fog behind them, and as they entered the ancient town the weather was bright and everything tended to extend a joyful greeting to the travelers. The railroad station was profusely decorated and the half-mile route to the castle was bright with bunting of many colors, while above the castle entrance flew an immense German Imperial flag.

The whole town turned out in honor of the occasion and gave Their German Majesties a hearty reception. The procession from the station to the castle was headed by a detachment of the Household Cavalry, after which came a carriage containing Emperor William, King Edward, the Prince of Wales and the Duke of Connaught. In the second carriage were the Empress, Queen Alexandra, the Princess of Wales and Princess Victoria. The suites followed in other carriages and another detachment of Household Cavalry brought up the rear.

The route to the castle was lined by troops.

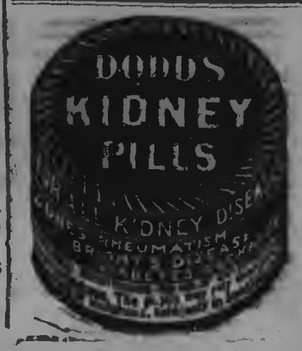
Saluted the Emperor.

Portsmouth, Nov. 12.—The British Channel fleet, under the command of Admiral Lord Charles Beresford, and numbering nearly 50 warships, dressed from stem to stern, saluted the German Emperor as the Hohenzollern passed up the narrow waters of Spithead and the land batteries joined in the welcome as the yacht entered the harbor.

Owing to the delay caused by the fog, the hour of the arrival of the Hohenzollern at the jetty was miscalculated, the announcement being made that she would not get there until 2.45 p. m., but she steamed into the harbor an hour earlier than expected with the result that all the officials and guards of honor, who had been patiently waiting for the Hohenzollern's arrival throughout the morning had gone to lunch when she finally appeared through the fog.

The Emperor apparently enjoyed the surprise he had sprung on the British officials and the consequent scramble to get back to the jetty in time to take part in the welcome of the Imperial visitors.

After inspecting the guards of honor the German Emperor and Empress and their suites, accompanied by the Prince of Wales and his suite, left Portsmouth by train for Windsor at 2.30 p. m. amidst the fire of a royal salute from the assembled warships and the garrison batteries.



Counterfeiter Was Farm Hand.

Kemptville, Ont., Nov. 12.—E. R. Workman, arrested at St. Paul, Minn., on a charge of counterfeiting, is about 30 years of age, and was born at Beckston, seven miles from here. He spent the first 25 years of his life on his father's farm.

He developed a talent for drawing, and as a boy was ambitious to become an architect. Four years ago he went to Winnipeg, entering an architect's office.

Shot Patrolman.

Detroit, Nov. 12.—Patrolman Geo. H. Wilson was shot in the head and fatally hurt at 1.15 yesterday morning while attempting to take one of a party of four men to the patrol-box at Beaubien and Champlain streets.

Who the four men may be and for what the arrest was made are unknown.

Sutherland Will Stick.

Windsor, Nov. 12.—"So there is talk of my resigning and getting out of the game, is there?" said R. F. Sutherland, Speaker of the House of Commons, yesterday morning. "Well, you just say for me that I am not going to resign, and that if the party wants me to run again I will certainly do it."

Farmer Paralyzed.

Alvinston, Nov. 12.—James Madale, while working on the farm of Thomas McKeown, Euphemia, was assisting on loading cornstalks, being on top of a high load, when he slipped, alighting on his back and injuring his spine. He is completely paralyzed.

Revenue of Dominion.

Ottawa, Nov. 12.—The revenue of the Dominion for October was nearly eight millions and a quarter; for the seven months ending Oct. 31, it was fifty-eight and a quarter millions. Of this forty-five and a half millions came by taxation, either customs or excise; the remainder came through the postoffice, the Government railways and miscellaneous means by which the Government receives money.

Aeroplane Flew Back.

Paris, Nov. 12.—Henry Farman yesterday afternoon successfully accomplished the feat of flying a kilometre with his aeroplane, and returning to the point of departure. The machine was under perfect control and displayed marvelous equilibrium, making the turn on an even keel.

G. N. W. Strike Off.

Winnipeg, Nov. 12.—The strike of operators formerly employed by the Great North Western Telegraph Co. here has formally been declared off.

LIQUOR DETECTIVES BUSY.

Owen Sound Citizens and Hotel Proprietors Rounded Up.

Owen Sound, Nov. 12.—Owen Sound is in the midst of a liquor sensation in which hotelkeepers, bar lessees and prominent citizens are indiscriminately mixed. The case comes off in the Police Court this morning. Government Detectives Holland and Heyworth visited the town and the result follows. Against the Paterson House, three complaints; against the Duncan House, three complaints; against T. C. Hatton, druggist, one complaint; against Mrs. Ryan, a suburban hotel, one complaint, and one complaint each against the Pacific Hotel, Central Hotel, Conely House, City Hotel, Coulson House and the Albion.

The honor prize goes to the Royal Hotel, of which Joshua Warnlow is proprietor. He alone will not appear compulsorily in the Police Court today. Fraternal interest may cause him to peep in, however.

Complaints have been laid also against a number of more or less prominent citizens who are charged with purchasing liquor in unlicensed premises. Well-known merchants have got their blue papers. A leading Conservative lawyer is also included. Several of the complaints have been made against proprietors who have been previously convicted. There is no option of a fine for a second offence and somebody may have to go to jail.

Born After Mother's Death.

Webster, Mass., Nov. 12.—An operation performed on Mrs. Adam Masaik 10 minutes after she was dead brought into existence a healthy baby boy, who, the physician, Dr. J. O. Demeroux, predicts, will live.

The child is in all respects normal. The fact that he is alive is regarded by the physician as remarkable. Mrs. Massik, who was 30 years of age, and whose husband is a mill employe, was ill three days with congestion of the lungs. She died at nine o'clock. Dr. Demeroux said yesterday: "In the last twenty years I have seen three other cases like this, but the children, while alive at birth, never lived more than ten minutes afterward. This child gives excellent promise of living."

New Insurance Act.

Ottawa, Nov. 12.—A new insurance act, based on the recommendations of the Royal Insurance Commission, will be introduced by Hon. W. S. Fielding, Minister of Finance, at the approaching session of Parliament.

The probabilities are that the bill drafted by the commission will be introduced by the Minister and referred to a special committee for consideration and amendment.

Capelli Goes to Kingston.

Toronto, Nov. 12.—Francesco Capelli, the Italian murderer from Parry Sound, who finally escaped the gallows by commutation of his sentence to life imprisonment, was lodged in the cells at the Court street station last night while on his way to Kingston Penitentiary in charge of Deputy Sheriff J. Armstrong, and a constable. The little man wore a sunny smile.

Four More Chinamen Caught.

Brockville, Nov. 12.—There seems to be a regular wholesale attempt being made to smuggle Chinamen from Brockville and this vicinity into the United States. Last Thursday morning six were caught by United States officers shortly after making a landing west of Ogdensburg and four more were caught in the same spot before daylight yesterday morning.

SLOW DEATH HIS DOOM

No Escape For Imprisoned Pennsylvania Miner.

Caught by Accident In Blind Shaft of Mine—May Be Year Before Spot Can Be Reached—Hopelessly Imprisoned In Death Chamber—Another Man Narrowly Escaped the Same Fate.

Mahony City, Pa., Nov. 12.—Alive and unhurt, but in darkness that will never be lifted, Michael McCabe, a miner, is awaiting certain death by starvation, 800 feet below the surface of the earth in the Draper colliery, near here.

While McCabe was at work Sunday he fired a blast that blew away one of the mine pillars. He fled in the wrong direction and got into a blind shaft. A fellow workman managed to get out of that wing of the colliery before the roof caved in.

The mine breach extends to the surface, where it yawns 60 feet wide, right in front of McCabe's home, where his wife and six children vainly hope for his rescue.

Mine officials say it may be a year before it will be possible to reach the place where the man is shut up.

WAS IT A LOTTERY?

Peterboro' Publishers Committed For Trial For Inserting Coupon Ads.

Peterboro, Nov. 12.—Police Magistrate Dumble yesterday committed the publishers of The Daily Review and Examiner for trial for publishing an advertisement of the Crystal Theatre relative to the disposal of certain gold watches by coupons.

The charge was laid by Chief of Police Roszel. The proprietor of the theatre was also committed for trial. It was contended that the watch contest was a lottery.

The newspaper proprietors swore that they knew nothing of the details of the plan and had accepted the advertisements in the ordinary course of business. All the defendants were allowed out on their own recognizance until the trial.

PREMIER BOND STAYED AWAY.

Declined to Attend Governor's Dinner on King's Birthday.

St. John's, Nfld., Nov. 12.—Premier Bond was absent from the governor's King's birthday levee and dinner, leaving the city by the morning train for his country seat. The governor at the dinner eulogized the former Premier, Sir William Whiteway, the president of the council. Sir Edward Shea, and the leader of the opposition, Capt. Charles Dawe. The latter was absent through severe illness. He also emphasized the loyalty of the Newfoundland fishermen.

Bond's absence is regarded as discourteous to the King's representative.

PEANUTS DROVE HIM INSANE.

Fremont Man Died of Exhaustion—He Believed Scientists.

Fremont, Neb., Nov. 12.—Because scientists have reported that peanuts contained all the elements necessary to sustain life, Archie Venuto, a Fremont man, attempted to live by eating nothing but peanuts, with the result that he died of exhaustion yesterday after a week's goober diet. At the end of four days, Venuto became insane and was placed in a hospital. He had absolutely refused to eat anything but peanuts thereafter and drink nothing but water.

Londesboro Station Burned.

Clinton, Nov. 12.—Early yesterday morning the G. T. R. depot and freight shed at Londesboro, seven miles from this place, was totally destroyed by fire. The agent, Percy Carlisle, acted as cashier for Messrs. Steep, Cantelon and Elliott, three apple buyers, and these men will lose heavily as the money vouchers and receipts were all destroyed. Mr. Steep lost about one carload of apples, and Elliott will lose two or more, which were stored in the freight shed.

The cause of the fire is unknown.

Mother Died From Emotion.

Iquaique, Chili, Nov. 12.—Two lives were lost in the fire that visited this port Sunday and destroyed a large section of the poorer residential quarter. They were two little girls, and when the bodies were discovered by the distracted mother the unfortunate woman expired from the stress of her emotions.

A total of 3,000 people are homeless as a result of the conflagration. They are being cared for by the authorities and the charitably-inclined citizens.

Bavarian Sold.

Quebec, Nov. 12.—The Allan liner Bavarian which went on Wye Rocks two years ago, has at last been sold for scrap. The purchaser is a New Yorker, Rosoff, who is said to have paid $65,000 for the vessel, including furniture and all.

Divorced In Edinburgh.

London, Nov. 12.—(C. A. P.)—Major Hume Fergusson, late of the Scottish Rifles, in Nova Scotia, from 1902 to 1904, has been divorced by his wife in Edinburgh.

Six Years For Theft.

Chatham, Nov. 12.—Edward Clay of Dresden, aged 18, was sentenced yesterday morning to six years in Kingston Penitentiary for stealing a coat and sweater.

Snow In Two States.

South Bend, Ind., Nov. 12.—The first snowstorm of the winter overspread Northern Indiana and Southern Michigan yesterday.

SEVEN VESSELS WERE LOST.

Heavy Death Toll of Fishing Banks Last Season.

Halifax, Nov. 12.—The average catch of St. Pierre fishing vessels for the season, which averaged 1,780 quintals for each of the 71 schooners, shows a marked increase over previous year and has restored business activity in that section of the French colony. Out of the vessels sailing out of St. Pierre, seven of them were lost, in which 123 souls were victims, the majority of whom left large families.

Largest ship owners, and, therefore, the takers of largest catch, were Morne Francaise Co., who had twenty vessels, whose total catch amounted to 30,963 quintals. Five of their vessels were lost with all on board.

The Madeline, with 20 men, was never heard of since leaving the French colony on her first trip.

The total catch of the French fleet is 120,000 quintals of fish, worth nearly $800,000.

WOMAN WORE MAN'S CLOTHING.

For Sixty Years She Worked at Masculine Employment.

Trinidad, Colo., Nov. 12.—Miss Catherine Vosbaugh, who for nearly 60 years passed as a man, died at a hospital yesterday.

Miss Vosbaugh was born in France 83 years ago. When a young woman she found it difficult to make her way on account of her sex. Adopting men's clothes she obtained employment as a bookkeeper in Joplin, Mo. This position she held for nine years, and then accepted a position in a St. Joseph, Mo., bank.

While in St. Joseph she married a woman with whom she lived for 30 years, as "Charles" Vosbaugh. The two women as man and wife came to Trinidad two years ago. After the death of the "wife," Miss Vosbaugh worked in various capacities until she became so feeble that last year she was taken to a hospital. It was then that her sex was discovered.

Brampton Rioters Fined.

Brampton, Nov. 12.—Judgment was delivered yesterday morning in the cases brought by the C. P. R. against McBride, McCallum, Revelly and Austin.

John McBride and Neil McCallum, as having started the disturbance in the C. P. R. station at Brampton some days ago, were each fined $10 and costs.

William and Wesley McCallum, sons of the above-named Neil McCallum, were each fined $1 and costs.

William Revelly was fined $1 and costs.

The charge against Austin was dismissed.

Saw Burning Vessel.

Thessalon, Nov. 12.—Word has been received here that on Thursday night late a steamer was seen burning some miles west of Blind River. It seems to have been first reported by John Dyke, who lives near the month of the Mississauga River. Word has since reached here that it was also seen by several people at Blind River. The steamer Midland was due here the same night, and grave fears were entertained that the Midland had met disaster, but happily the Midland has turned up all right. The impression is now that the burned vessel was a barge.

Church People Shocked.

Ottawa, Nov. 12.—The Presbyterian and Methodist Ministerial Associations of the city yesterday placed themselves on record as disapproving the methods employed at the Streets and Paris bazaar last week.

The element of gambling prevailed strongly. Over $12,000 was netted by the bazaar for the proposed tuberculosis hospital.

New Bishopric Created.

Rome, Nov. 12.—The congregation of the propaganda has decided to raise the vicariate apostolic of Saskatchewan, a district of the Northwest provinces of Canada, to a bishopric, and change its name to Prince Alberta. Monsignor Albert Pascal will be appointed bishop of the new diocese.

Wireless Telephone Coming Along.

Berlin, Nov. 12.—A German company is now telephoning wirelessly from Nauen to various places in Germany, 50 to 60 miles distant. One of the managers of the company said yesterday that conversations had been conducted with extreme clearness and precision.

Chealey Carried Bylaw.

Chealey, Nov. 12.—The ratepayers yesterday voted $36,000 to be expended on a system of waterworks.

Don ve Reported Inducement.

Paris, Nov. 12.—Madame Anna Gould yesterday authorized the Associated Press to deny the reports that she is engaged to be married to Prince Helie de Sagan, or to anybody else.

Life Sentence For Murder.

Buffalo, Nov. 12.—Harley Stuhlmiller pleaded guilty to murder in the second degree and was sentenced to imprisonment for life.

Tenders for Snow Plowing To be Called for at Once

Board of Works Dealt With the Matter at a Meeting Yesterday—Contracts to be Let for Six Divisions

Tenders for the snow plowing of the city streets are to be called for at once. This was decided on at a meeting of the Board of Works yesterday afternoon, when there were present Ald. Duncan, chairman; Ald. Johnston, Wilson, Morgan and Bradburn, and City Engineer Hay.

Contracts will be let for six divisions, exclusive of the Central district, where the removal of the snow is done by the fire hall employees. Last year the clearing of the sidewalks cost the city $907.50, and this year it will likely be more. The city at the present time has five iron scrapers that are used for this work, and a number of wooden ones, but the latter are not very satisfactory. City Engineer Hay states that here should be ten or twelve iron scrapers, or two for each contractor.

Several other matters were also disposed of at the meeting.

After some discussion on the street cleaning matter, Ald. Johnston moved, seconded by Ald. Wilson, that the city engineer be instructed to advertise for tenders for snow plowing for the same districts and on the same terms as last year.—Carried.

Mr. Bushnell, who resides at 436 Charlotte street, wrote the Board asking for an approach to his premises. The engineer was asked to report on the matter.

Mr. T. G. Gillespie sent in a request for a temporary approach to the lot at corner of Park and Chamberlain streets, where the old Park street Baptist church is now located. On motion, the request was granted and the City Engineer was instructed to do the necessary work.

Ald. Johnston moved, seconded by Ald. Wilson, that the sidewalk asked for on the west side of Dickson street be built.—Carried.

The request for sewers on Dickson and Hunter streets was laid over until a later meeting in order that the advice of the city solicitor might be obtained on these matters.

CELEBRATION AT HALL'S BRIDGE

L.O.L. No. 419 Observed Anniversary of Gunpowder Plot

The anniversary of the Gunpowder Plot was duly observed by the Wesley L.O.L., No. 419, at Hall's Bridge, Friday night in the Orange Hall, which was tastefully decorated for the occasion. Worshipful Master Stephen Harrison took the chair. The Northey family sang the "Maple Leaf," followed by an address by the County Master, Bro. Armstrong, of Peterborough, on the history leading up to the event. The closing address was given by Rev Mr. Brace, of Peterborough, outlining the plan of campaign pursued by Rome, and her ambition for political supremacy. The duty of the hour was pressed upon the Orange Brotherhood to be faithful to their principles and to their God. The thanks of the meeting were tendered to the visiting brethren.

Cold Storage for Peterborough

A cold storage company will likely be formed in Peterborough and in case it is an abattoir and cold storage plant will be built probably just outside the southern boundary of the city.

The gentlemen who have the scheme in hand are Messrs. Geo. Bennett, Lockport, N.Y., Jas. Roth, F. Stabler, H. C. Stabler, and W. A. Stabler, the latter four all of this city.

OBITUARY

MR. P. SHERIDAN.

At the residence of his son-in-law, Mr. John Lynch, 54 Chamberlain street, Mr. Patrick Sheridan passed away on Sunday morning. He came to Peterborough only a few weeks ago to reside. He was suffering from a cold, which developed into bronchitis. Mr. Sheridan was 70 years of age and was born in County Tyrone, Ireland. He came to Canada about twenty-four years ago and for twenty-one years had resided in Havelock. He married Ellen Hughes 38 years ago, and is survived by a family of three sons and two daughters. They are James, Bernard and Joseph, and Mrs. John Lynch, Peterborough, and Mrs. Edward Murphy, of Bannockburn, Ont. The deceased was a Liberal in politics.

Young People Held Meeting

Address on "India" by Mrs. H. J. Keith at Knox Church Last Evening

A very interesting Young People's meting was held last evening at Knox church. A large number were in attendance, and the choir was occupied by Miss Menzies. An address on "India," which was greatly enjoyed, was given by Mrs. H. J. Keith, who spent several years in that country. In addition to the address a vocal duet was given by Misses Patton and Barclay and a number of short missionary readings were also given.

CALLS IT GROSS FRAUD.

Justice Riddell is Severe on Oil Syndicate—Barefaced Swindle.

Toronto, Nov. 12.—The Divisional Court has decided in favor of the plaintiffs in the appeal of the defendants from the judgment of Judge Teetzel in the case of the Alexandra Oil & Development Co., Limited, Thomas J. Drain and Edward J. Butler, against John W. Cook and Henry J. Boerth, over certain oil leases in Essex County.

In giving judgment, Mr. Justice Riddell declares that the action arose out of a "barefaced swindle perpetrated by the defendants Cook and Boerth," who reside in Marmora Township, North Hastings.

"Their victims," says the judge, "were a number of persons in Ontario, among them several barristers—who seem to be the most credulous and 'easy' of men, in matters relating to their own pecuniary interest; however suspicious and exacting they may be in matters affecting their clients."

According to the facts, Cook became the owner of certain oil leases.

"He associated with himself Boerth, who is said to have a glib tongue," says the judge, "and the two laid siege to a number of friends of Cook's."

A syndicate was formed, the "friends" paying $1,000 each to take over the leases. The judge declares that the defendants were guilty of fraud in the sale.

"The friends were dazzled by the glowing prospects held before their eyes," the judge goes on. "They were defrauded and cheated by the defendants."

He refers to Cook as the "tort bearer." The wrong, says the judge, was in inducing the company to buy a property for $20,000 which really cost much less.

The court upholds the trial judge, contending that the defendants were promoters, and therefore liable to account.

B. C. DIVORCES DON'T COUNT.

Judge's Decision May Affect Marriage Relations of Hundreds.

Vancouver, Nov. 12.—If a decision given yesterday by Judge Clement in the British Columbia Supreme Court is upheld by the Court of Appeal, all divorces given in British Columbia during the last 36 years will be declared illegal. The case was that of Henry Watt and his wife, who were married in Bellingham fifteen years ago. They have large property interests there and in Vancouver.

The judge himself questioned the divorce laws in operation here, which are the same as those which existed on the statute books of the old crown colonies of British Columbia before Confederation.

The court decided this law went out of business in 1871. Technically this nullifies the divorces of hundreds of people, and of other hundreds of marriages, and will naturally effect large property interests. With the possibility of faulty legislation the Provincial Government yesterday assumed all the costs of both sides in the case of Watt v. Watt. In the event of the decision of yesterday being upheld, legislation, likely both Federal and Provincial, will be passed to declare legal the divorces and marriages and try to establish fully all the present family fixtures.

LONDON ELECTION TRIAL.

Judge Winchester Will Hear Conspiracy Case Next Monday.

Toronto, Nov. 12.—Judge Winchester will, on Monday next, try Reid, O'Gorman, Wiley and Mulloy on the London election conspiracy charges.

This was arranged yesterday when accused and their counsel appeared before his honor. G. Lynch-Staunton, K. C., crown counsel, said it was not desired to limit the rights of defendants as to the manner of trial, but opposed any delay.

The indictment against Ed. Sifton has been dropped, as he is to be a crown witness.

Sixty Thousand Dollar Theft.

New York, Nov. 12.—Five additional arrests in connection with the robbery of furs, silks and laces, valued at $60,000, from the Adams' Express Co., were made yesterday. Three of the prisoners, Max Mark-Chowitsky, Henry Goldman and Harry Goodman, all of this city, are charged with receiving the stolen property, while Samuel Kessler and Harry Machowitz, also of New York, are accused of placing labels on the express packages.

Burglars Blew Open Safe.

Montreal, Nov. 12.—Shortly after one o'clock Sunday morning burglars blew open the safe of the Canadian Bronze Powder Works at Valleyfield and got away with between $200 and $250. A number of costly patterns, stored in the vault against fire, were destroyed by the explosion.

TRAGEDY AT VANCOUVER.

Rejected Lover Attempts to Kill His Sweetheart, Then Suicides.

Vancouver, B. C., Nov. 12.—"Are you going to marry me?" was the question that preceded the tragedy here Sunday night, which resulted in the self-murder of Sam Tota, an American, aged 25, while Lottie Dodds, aged 22, the girl he loved, lies at death's door in the hospital.

Tota was a cigar-store assistant, carrying on his occupation between this city and Vancouver. He arrived Sunday, and, armed with a revolver and razor, lay in wait for Miss Dodds, as she was going to church from St. Joseph's Hospital, where she was employed as a nurse. As she passed he sprang from his hiding place and confronted her with the fatal question. She attempted to hurry past, when he fired two shots. These proving ineffective, he pulled out the razor and commenced slashing the girl. Her screams brought assistance, when Tota turned the razor on himself and inflicted injuries, from which he died at once.

The girl was carried to the hospital, where it was found that only the fur around her throat had saved her from instant death, such was the maniacal fury of her aggressor. She now lies in the hospital in a precarious condition.

The attentions of the dead man were directed towards the girl for over two years. When here he lodged in the house where she lived.

Toronto Junction Live Stock.

TORONTO JUNCTION, Nov. 11.—Receipts of live stock at the Union Stock Yards were 57 carloads, composed of 1145 cattle, 596 sheep and 13 calves.

Exporters.

Exporters were slow of sale, drovers refusing in some instances to accept offers of the dealers, choosing rather to ship themselves to the English markets. Prices ranged 6t from $4.35 to $4.75, with a trifle more for one load. Export bulls sold at $3 to $3.75.

Butchers.

Few real good butchers' cattle were offered, the choicest on the market, and only two or three at that, sold at $4.60 to $4.80; best loads sold at $4.20 to $4.50; medium butchers', $3.50 to $4; common, $2.50 to $3.25; canners, $1 to $2; cows, $2.50 to $3.50 per cwt.

Veal Calves.

Prices ranged at from $3 to $6 per cwt.

Sheep and Lambs.

Export ewes sold at $4.15 per cwt.; culls at $2.75; lambs at $5 per cwt.

Hogs.

Prices are down. H. P. Kennedy quoted selects $5.75, fed and watered, and $5.50, f.o.b., cars, at country points.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, Nov. 11.—(Special.)—At the Montreal Stock Yards' West End Market the receipts of live stock for the week ending Nov. 9 were 4083 cattle, 3020 sheep and lambs, 3358 hogs and 408 calves. The offerings for local consumption this morning were 1250 cattle, 900 sheep and lambs, 800 hogs and 200 calves. A firmer feeling prevailed in the market for cattle, owing to the fact that supplies were 350 head smaller than a week ago, but, as there was little demand from outside sources to-day, they were ample to fill all requirements and prices show no change. The weather conditions were anything but favorable; but, notwithstanding this fact, the attendance of local buyers was fairly large, and the demand was good, consequently an active trade was done and a good clearance of all the stocks was made. Cable advices from Liverpool on Saturday reported trade slow but firmer at unchanged prices. Choice cattle here continue to be scarce, and were quoted at 4¾c, while sales of good stock were made freely at 4¼c to 4½c; fair at 3½c to 4c; common at 2½c to 3c, and inferior at 1¼c to 2c per lb. There was no further change in the market for sheep this week, prices being steady, owing to smaller offerings and a continued demand for export account, and sales were made at 4¼c per lb. The demand for butchers' stock was somewhat limited, and trade in this line was quiet, at 3½c to 3¾c, while culls are still slow of sale at 3c per lb. A better feeling prevailed in the market for lambs on account of decreased receipts and an improved demand for local consumption; in consequence a fairly active trade was done at 5¾c to 6c per lb. The demand for calves continues good, and sales of choice stock were made at $12 to $15; good at $8 to $10; fair at $5 to $7, and common at $3 to $4 each. Altho receipts of hogs have fallen off considerably during the past week, and the offerings this morning were small, yet the feeling in the market was weaker, and prices since this day week have scored another decline of 25c per 100 lbs., which has, no doubt, been due to the weaker foreign advices on Canadian bacon and the fact that prices were reduced 2s to 4s per cwt. during the past week. The demand for hogs here was fair, and sales of selected lots were made at $6 to $6.15 per 100 lbs., weighed off cars.

New York Live Stock.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—Beeves—Receipts, 3807; steers slow and 10c to 20c lower; bulls firm to 25c higher; thin cows 10c to 20c higher; medium unchanged; fat cows about steady; steers, $3.40 to $6.30; oxen, $5; bulls, $2.75 to $4; cows, $1.20 to $4.

Calves—Receipts, 1264; veals steady and choice stock firm; western and grassers slow and unchanged; veals, $5 to $9.50; tops, $9.75; culls, $4 to $4.50; grassers, $3 to $3.25; westerns, $4.50 to 35; yearlings, $2 to $2.75.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 14,359; sheep steady; lambs firm to 15c higher; some sales possibly 25c higher; sheep, $2.50 to $5.50; culls, $2 to $3; lambs, $4.12½ to $7.40; one car, $7.50; culls, $4.50 to $5; Canada lambs, $7.40.

Hogs—Receipts, 18,312; market a trifle firmer at $5.40 to $5.75; few outside buyers, $6.

CHILDREN HAD MUMPS

Every mother knows how fretful the little ones are when they develop Mumps, and the many nights rest she is called upon to sacrifice. Mrs. S. A. Hammond, of Mimico, says: "My three children have had the Mumps, and I used Zam-Buk for all of them with excellent results. Zam-Buk did my children a world of good, and I will always keep it handy as a household remedy. I would recommend it to all mothers, and think that no home should be without it."

BLOOD POISON AVERTED!
A punctured wound, properly treated, will heal quickly if Zam-Buk is applied according to directions, but if carelessly treated may result in death through blood poisoning.
Mrs. Hammond (the mother of the children cured of Mumps) was wise in applying Zam-Buk when she trod on a rusty nail. She says: "I trod on a rusty nail, which caused a very painful sore. Two applications of Zam-Buk ended the pain and removed the inflammation." No wonder she decided to do what thousands are doing, viz.: "Keep Zam-Buk handy as the household remedy."

DARK STREET TO BE LIGHTED

Incandescent Lights to be Placed on James St., East City

A few matters of importance were disposed of at a meeting of the Fire, Water and Light Committee yesterday afternoon. Requests for lights on James street and at the corner of Stewart and Brock streets were granted and several other matters discussed. Those present were Ald. Johnston, chairman; Ald. Morgan, Bradburn, McIntyre, Duncan, and Mayor McWilliams.

A request was received from Mrs. R. S. Davidson asking that a light be placed on James street, East City, as that thoroughfare was very dark, and dangerous in places, as the sidewalk was raised nearly two feet above the ground at spots.

Ald. Morgan came out strong in favor of the request being granted, and some discussion followed.

On motion of Ald. Morgan and Ald. Duncan it was decided to place two incandescent lights on James street, and three, if the third one is found necessary by the chairman of the committee.

Ald. Bradburn and Ald. Duncan moved that an incandescent light be placed at the corner of Stewart and Brock streets.—Carried.

Adjournment then took place.

An adjournment of the Toronto viaduct inquiry was made to give the city and railway companies an opportunity to confer together.

DID YOU SEE THE DOG JUMP?

Joe Has More Nerve Than the Ordinary Barker

A novel feature of quite a thrilling character is being put on every night at 7.30 o'clock during the visit of H. Wilmot Young and company to this city. "Joe," a trick diving dog, taking a leap from the top of a ladder fifty feet high into a tank below. This "dumb" act is performed on King street, between George and Water and just south of the opera house. Last night many people were on hand to see the circus canine execute his reckless stunt.

Revival Services at Mark St. Church

The revival services commenced last evening at Mark street Methodist church, promise to be very successful, judging from the large number present. A short song service opened the meeting and then Rev. C. H. Coon gave a strong address on "The Christ we need." It was a very forceful discourse and no doubt productive of much good. To-night Rev. E. A. Pearson will preach. The meetings throughout the week will commence at eight o'clock, preceded by a fifteen minute song service.

Child Terribly Scalded In Pail of Boiling Water

Three Year Old Smith Township Child Painfully Burned.

Daughter of Wellington Boyce Fell in Pail That Was Sitting on F loor.

As a result of falling into a pail of boiling water, the three year old daughter of Mr. Wellington A. Boyce, 10th Line of Smith, is in a very serious condition, although her recovery is now expected. The child was terribly scalded and has suffered intense pain. A member of the household had left a pail of hot water sitting on the floor, and the little tot came along and sat down in the pail. She was terribly burned and suffered great agony. She was taken at once to Lakefield, where her injuries were dressed by Drs. Baker and Brown. The little one is now doing as well as can be expected and her recovery is expected, although it will be a long time before she is all right again.

The flesh peeled off the parts of her body that came in contact with the water, causing the child excruciating pain.

Burleigh Falls' Power is Offered to City at Low Rate

Central Ontario Power Company Anxious to Assist Peterborough to Secure New Industries—Some Information on the Matter.

The owners of the power rights at Burleigh Falls, the Central Ontario Power Company, of which Mr. J. A. Culverwell is managing director, have recently made an offer to the municipal committee of Peterborough and the representative of certain large financial interests who has worked hard for development of Peterborough, to supply 1000 horse power at a much slower rate than the factories in the city are being supplied at the present time. In doing so they hope to assist in directing new industries to Peterborough and thus making it worth while to develop the splendid power at the Falls. The rate at which the power has been offered is so low that there is no reason why a large number of new industrial concerns should not be attracted to this city, by the low rate at which they can secure power. Mr. Culverwell hopes that the offer of the Central Ontario Power Company will be of material assistance to the city in its efforts to secure a large industry for which negotiations that she has awaited a long time are now in progress. He in connection with the development of Burleigh Falls and in the meantime has done a lot of paid advertising to boom Peterborough, owing to the fact that there were a half dozen partially developed water powers in the vicinity of the city where sufficient power was generated to supply the present industries in operation here. The Burleigh Falls people have been unable to get a guarantee of sufficient revenue to warrant them to proceed with development. The time has come, however, when Peterborough looks to Burleigh Falls for its power and new industries locating here must be supplied from that source. New industries mean the development of Burleigh Falls and the placing at the disposal of the city a large amount of power.

Over 5,500 horse power can be developed at Burleigh Falls, which gives an idea of the value of this water power.

Healey Falls power, which is controlled by the Northumberland-Durham Power Company, of which Mr. Culverwell is managing director, will soon be supplied the lake front towns and many municipalities in East Peterborough as requested by eighteen councils in that district. These places are dependent on the Healey Falls power for their future growth and are right behind the company that control it.

The leading business men in the district are interested in the matter and the work of development is now going on.

Over a Foot of Snow Fell on Saturday Last

In the North Country—Mr. Wm. Moffat Returns From the Haunts of the Hunter

Over a foot of snow fell in the back country of Peterborough county on Saturday last, and now there is splendid sleighing and it looks like as if winter has set in to last.

Mr. Wm. Moffatt returned to the city last night after spending a few days back in the wilds, and when he left there the beautiful white flakes were falling fast. He states that there are several local sportsmen hunting back in the wilds of Cavendish and Anstruther townships and all are apparently having great luck. There seems to be deer in abundance this season and the hunters are capturing the antlered monarchs of the forest in large numbers.

The hunting season closes on Friday next when it is expected the hunters will all have their share of deer.

HORSES ARE VERY CHEAP

Mr. J. Duncan, the local horse buyer, when asked this morning if there was any improvement in the condition of the horse market, said it was in the worst condition it has been for 25 years, and stated he has a number of horses up at Burns & Sheppard's repository, Toronto, that he cannot dispose of, except at lower prices than he paid for them. He also has to pay a board bill of 75 cents per day for each horse, and as they have been there for some time, he is considerably out of pocket as a result.

SIR THOMAS LIPTON
Everybody knows Sir Thos Lipton, but everybody does not know Sir Thos. Lipton's famous Teas, Coffees, Jams, Jellies and Pickles. A free demonstration, which will be held every day this week at E. F. Mason Co's Main Store, 429 George Street, will give you a chance to overcome that lack of knowledge. Everybody and their friends welcome.

Dr. Browett's Dates at Peterboro'

His Successful Visit. For the past few weeks Dr. Browett, optical specialist, has been teaching opticians at Midland. A large number of persons have taken the opportunity of Dr. Browett's visit to that thriving Georgian Bay port to have their eyes examined for glasses, and thus save themselves the expense of a trip to the larger cities. While there people from Penetanguishene and other adjoining towns have visited him and several very difficult cases have been helped. Dr. Browett will before visiting his next teaching appointment, spend Tues. to Sat., 12th to 16th at his home office at our store and conduct examinations for those for whom we are making appointments.

Astronomical Meeting To-night

Everybody Invited to Gathering in Y.M.C.A. Hall This Evening

The Peterborough Branch of the Royal Astronomical Society meets this evening in the Y.M.C.A. hall at eight p.m. for the first of a series of class study. Dr. Marsh will conduct the class and promises to give every possible assistance to the students thereafter in individual study.

The executive of the society who have undertaken at considerable personal expense to provide a "lantern" and a "planetarium" for this inaugural meeting, wishes it understood that there is no admission fee and that the public is invited.

As only the first principles of astronomy, the first steps in the science, will be considered, the meeting is distinctly for beginners. Even though you do not intend to continue the study come and learn a few simple facts, is the invitation extended to all.

Some people consider astronomy a study too abstruse for them and possibly savoring of dry, uninteresting facts, unnecessary for the ordinary man. Unfortunately very little attention is paid to this branch of science until the college course, and the general public is therefore not impressed with its great value.

Thus it is found that men of much intelligence and a large fund of general knowledge, know but little of even the elementary facts in astronomy—facts on which our very existance depends, and the means of our sustenance in the rotation of crops, etc. This should not be. An excellent opportunity is given in Peterborough at present to secure these facts by attending the meetings of the Royal Astronomical Society. They are free and you are very welcome.

PARK STREET YOUNG PEOPLE

Interesting Programme at Last Nights Meeting

The "Greed for gold" was the attractive subject dealt with last night by Miss Mabel Gillespie, in an able paper at the Park street B.Y.P.U. A most profitable meeting was held. Rev. A. H. Brace and a number of others taking part. Mr. James Trennum sang a solo in good form. The chair was ably filled by Mr. Chas. Barrie. Next Monday an open session will be held and a social evening spent. A capable ladies' committee have the refreshments in hand and the gentlemen will sure be out. A programme of interest is being prepared (Principal Dunlop of the King Edward school, will give an address.

ANOTHER UNION VENTURE

Organized Compositors Considering an Old Age Pension Scheme.

Along the line of meritorious conceptions and achievements of the International Typographical Union none occupies a higher plane than the proposition to pension superannuated members of the craft, which was adopted by the recent convention of the union, and submitted for membership vote. Almshouses, infirmaries and kindred institutions may be filled with humanity whose circumstances during life, either through prodigality or misfortune, have prevented the saving of pennies for the proverbial "rainy day," but the International Typographical Union will have none of these, for in addition to its Union Printers' Home at Colorado Springs it is seriously considering the possibilities of an international pension scheme that will enable it to place in independent circumstances those of its membership who have run life's race race with no financial advantage to themselves, and who are, for family or other reasons, unable to take advantage of the adequate provisions of its haven of rest.

Local typographical unions of the larger size have grappled with the pension proposition with more or less success, but the International Typographical Union, giving the matter consideration and standing insures a widespread international character to movement that can have no other effect than the dovetailing and cementing of that fraternal spirit that springs spontaneously from heart to heart among printers, and which has had feasible demonstration of utility in the Colorado Springs retreat—"its bounty unpurchasable, its charity without price."

The International Typographical Union never does anything by halves. An organization of 50,000 members, scattered throughout the United Sates and Canada, that can begin with a working capital of $10,000, and intelligently and successfully build and conduct an institution representing every penny's worth of $500,000, can be relied upon to originate and inaugurate a plan for pensioning its aged and infirm membership that will be worthy of emulation for organizations of like character.

Many cities have pension funds in operation for the benefit of policemen, firemen, school teachers and other public servants; the United States government annually expends millions of dollars in pensions to its aged and disabled warriors. An occasional business house has been noted, that, after a service of long duration, retires preferred employees on a yearly allowance, but the practical working out of a scheme for pensioning in a substantial manner, the decrepit membership of a voluntary organization, composed of a mixture of nationalities, politics and creeds, is necessarily an untried experiment. The International Typographical Union can it is believed, be safely relied upon to solve the question in a comprehensive and practical manner.

THE DAYLIGHT STORE

"He's a Clean Cut Looking Fellow"

This remark is often made concerning the young man wearing one of our Handsome Suits.

The young man of to-day demands the very newest fashion—the very latest innovations. No shabby coats, no narrow lapels, no bag-hanging garments for him this season. We select certain lines of Suits from tailoring houses that are specialists in Young Men's Clothes, whose styles are patterned after what one sees on the college campus—dashingly daring, but not too extreme.

Suits at $12.00, $15.00, $18.00

OUR OVERCOATS too are extremely stylish and yet moderately priced. Don't fail to see what we can do for you. We have many new customers daily. Why? Because we have the best goods at the price.

WAS TAKEN TO THE HOSPITAL

Wm. Cones, Accidently Shot at Jack's Lake, in City for Medical Treatment

Mr. William Cones who was shot through the hip while walking in the woods near Jack's Lake on Sunday last at one o'clock, was brought to the city yesterday from Lakefield, where his injuries had been looked after by Dr. Brown and taken to the residence of his sister, Mrs. Harry Thompson, 239 Hunter street. He was taken to St. Joseph's hospital about two o'clock yesterday afternoon and is progressing favorably.

It appears that while Mr. Cones walking through the woods at the time of the accident his cousin, Mr. Roy Cones, both of whom are employed in the shanties, under foreman Jas. Watson, heard him moving through the bushes and mistaking him for a deer discharged his rifle, aiming in the direction of the bush where the sound was coming from with the results as mentioned above. Mr. Cones was attended by Mr. Arthur Dugan, another member of the camp, during the time he left the camp until he arrived in Peterborough.

Miss Marshall Wins the Watch

Owing to the fact that the Review was inadvertently misinformed concerning the person that made the closest guess to the number of beans contained in the jar that had been at "The Crystal," during the recent watch competition, it was stated that Mr. John Williams won the watch. The number of beans in the jar was 1,638, and Miss Olive Marshall made the closest guess, 1,640, and thus won the watch. She is requested to call at "The Crystal" and get the watch.

The annual meeting of the City League will be held tonight at the Y.M.C.A. at 8 o'clock. Great interest is being shown in the league this season, and it is expected that the meeting will be largely attended by those interested. President F. A. Clarke will occupy the chair.

The Strathconas Elected Officers

Held Annual Meeting at the Y.M.C.A. Last Night

The Strathconas held their annual meeting last night at the Y.M.C.A. and elected officers for the coming season. The meeting was a largely attended one and much enthusiasm was shown by those present. Considerable routine business was transacted, and a general discussion as to the prospects of the club for the coming season was held. The following officers were elected:—

Hon. President—Mr. Jas. Kendry, ex-M.P.

President—C. G. Graham.

Vice-President—R. M. Glover.

Secretary—Fred Craig.

Treasurer—W. Regan.

Manager—W. J. Metheral.

Executive Committee—Chas. N. Barber, Len Dobson and A. Wilson.

The team has been fortunate enough to secure the services of Mr. Dick Baker a strainer.

Manager Metheral and Secretary Craig were appointed delegates to attend the annual meeting of the City League at the Y.M.C.A. tonight.

LOST IN DENSE SWAMP, LOCAL MAN HAD AWFUL EXPERIENCE

ANDREW HALL'S PREDICAMENT

East City Man Has Received Bad Injuries

Twig Penetrated Eye as He Wandered Through the Woods

Was Hunting in Burleigh Township When He Lost His Way and Became Exhausted

After having chased through the woods in Burleigh township for several hours, in pursuit of the fleet footed deer, a local huntsman with no reward for his efforts than the sport of running the coveted prize, tired and hungry, found himself in the midst of a swamp in a dense forest on Tuesday last. It was late in the evening, quite dark and beginning to rain. There was no one for some miles around. The tired sportsman was at a loss to know which direction to take to reach his camp. To add to his discomfort, he was the victim of a serious accident. While passing a tree, a tamarac twig dropped penetrating the left eye, causing him great pain. Thus situated in a desolate swamp, dazed and fatigued, he gave up all hope of returning and made up his mind to spend the night where darkness had overtaken him.

Such was the thrilling experience of Mr. Andrew Hall who resides on Mark street, east city. Mr. Hall, unaccompanied, left on Tuesday last for the home of Mr. Joe Gillespie, in Burleigh township, where he was to spend a fortnight hunting. Arriving at his destination in time for dinner, and having partaken of the noon day meal, he at once set out to try his luck in bringing to earth a deer. He wandered far off from the house and so taken up with the sport was he that time sped quickly, and darkness soon over took him.

When forced by the pangs of hunger to turn back he found to his dismay that he did not know the way and half blinded by the injury to his eye, he was compelled to remain in the woods.

His friends at the farmhouse became alarmed at his not returning to supper and when twelve o'clock came and no signs of him, it was feared something had happened. A search was instituted and Mr. Gillespie and a man by the name of Miller were soon scouring the forest for Mr. Hall.

Several shots were fired by Mr. Gillespie, thinking in this way that Mr. Hall would hear them and respond. The answer came and the searchers directed their footsteps to where the noise came from, and at two o'clock next morning Mr. Hall was located, lying in an almost unconscious condition, three and a half miles from the house.

He was taken back by his friends, and every care and attention given him. After having recovered somewhat from his unpleasant experience, he was brought to his home on Friday.

Drs. Halliday and T. P. McCullough were called and upon an examination a twig about an inch in length was removed from his left eye. It is thought that it will be impossible to save the sight of it. Mr. Hall is confined to his bed and is in a very weak condition.

Notes From Local Y. M. C. A.

The Business and Professional Men's gymnasium class at the Y.M.C.A. will reorganize this (Thursday) at 5 p.m. It is expected this will be a very popular class this winter, as it is something the business man of today feel the need of and enjoy.

The Social Committee are called to meet tomorrow night at 7 p.m. to arrange for some of the social features of the season.. The committee are planning for extensive work. The following are the committee;—Charles Coleman, D. Campbell, A. E. Walker, R. Perry, H. L. Brace, A. McCarroll, and Rev. Canon Dvvidson.

The Boys' Committee will also meet on Wednesda ynight at 7 p.m. to plan for the junior work this year. The committee are George A. Mamlin, G. L. Gailey, E. E. Lord, E. Mann, Jas. Anderson, Dr. Middleton, W. Eastwood, Rev. E. A. Pearson and Rev. Mr. Coon.

The Board of Directors will meet on Thursday night at 8 p.m.

A new set of books are being opened, and it is requested that each member bring his card and present it to the secretary, so that a perfectly accurate account of the membership at the present time may be secured.

GIRL'S GUILD HOLD RECEPTION

Pleasing Function at St. John's Schoolhouse Last Night

At St. John's school house last night the members of St. John's Girl's Guild held a highly successful reception to the members of the congregation. Mr. D. Hughes-Charles was in the chair.

The room was very appropriately decorated for the occasion with beautiful hangings, kindly loaned for the occasion by Mr. Might, of the J. C. Turnbull Co.

During the evening refreshments were served and the programme was contributed to by Misses Sesson, English, Lancaster, Dawson, Fraser and Mrs. Seward and Messrs. F. D. Kerr and C. Coleman. Rev. Dr. Langfeldt also gave an address.

BASKETBALL

A meeting of the senior gym boys will be held at the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium this evening to form a basketball team. A full attendance is requested.

ATHLETICS

All the Toronto papers have great praise for Ernie Wilson, the local runner, who defeated Tom Coley in Toronto the other night. It was about the biggest athletic surprise of the season. With the championship rugby team, Simpson, the crack Indian runner, a man that beat Tom Coley, Dave Hartley, the pedestrian, who was the gossip of Ontario at the time of his wonderful walk, to say nothing of the lift look, Peterborough is certainly getting a wide notoriety.

LADIES MISSION CIRCLE TO-NIGHT

The annual meeting of the Ladies' Mission Circle of Park street Baptist church will be held tonight, with thank offering for Home and Foreign Missions. A good programme has been prepared and refreshments will be served. This is an open meeting, and gentlemen will accompany their wives, and all are invited.

WEDDING BELLS

McKINLEY—SHERRIFF

At the George street church at nine o'clock last evening, the marriage took place of Miss Julia Maude Sheriff, of this city, to Mr. Robert Wilbert McKinley, son of Mr. Wm. McKinley, also of Peterborough. The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. A. Pearson. The happy young couple will reside in this city.

The Christmas sailings via the Allan Line, Dominion Line and the famous Empresses of the C.P.R. Atlantic S.S. Line promises to be very heavy this year, especially in the third class. PRIZES WERE PRESENTED

Interesting Programme at Meeting of Philomathean Society

The feature of the first meeting of the Philomathean Society of the Collegiate Institute held at the Y.M.C.A. yesterday afternoon was the presentation of their prizes to the winners in the field day of sports held early in the fall. This was not the only thing, however, as there was an excellent musical and literary programme that was greatly enjoyed. Officers of the society and the students in general deserve credit for the complete arrangements made. The president of the society, Mr. Michael O'Brien, was in the chair, and presided with acceptance.

The presentation of prizes was made by Principal Bessenden, who made a few appropriate remarks. The list of winners is as follows:—

Senior Champion.—A. Bravender, also winner in 1906. Holder of Staff Challenge Cup, and entitled to a medal promised by A. Gibson, but inasmuch as he won a medal last year he chose a pair of cuff links.

Jr. Champion.—F. Wilson, holder of H. S. MacDonald cup and winner of a medal presented by A. Gibson.

Sr. Cross-Country Winner.—J. O'Brien, winner of medal presented by T. F. Bradburn, M.P.P.

Jr. Cross-Country.—Garnet Tovey, winner of a silver medal.

Other winners of prizes were as follows:—

SENIORS.

A. McGaristy.
H. Hall.
F. Conroy.
J. Dixon.
C. Elcombe.
M. Turner.
J. Brightman.

JUNIORS.

Other winners of juniors prizes were:—
W. Perks.
S. Sheehy.
V. Hayes.
O. Bartlett.
F. Feeney.
H. Giroux.
H. Wallace.
R. Laing.

Each winner was presented with a blue badge with an account of the events in which he was successful.

Besides the cups and medals the other successful contestants were each presented with either a brick pin or pair of cuff links.

The musical and literary program was as follows:

Piano solo.—Miss Katherine Burnett.

Essay in "Jerry Cruncher," Miss Katie Leary.

Reading from "Tales of Two Cities," C. Thornton.

Vocal solo.—Miss L. Hallihan.

Debate.—"Resolved, that Asiatics should not be permitted to enter Canada." Affirmative was taken by A. Rosebero and Miss F. Connor, and the negative by F. Austin and Miss F. Coughlin. The judges, Misses Agnes Holland and L. Bushnell and Colin Lees gave their decision in favor of the negative.

Piano solo.—Harold Brown.

After a short criticism of the meeting by Mr. Hodgson, adjournment took place.

AMUSEMENTS

A BROKEN HEART.

H. Wilmot Young and Margie Adams Young, assisted by a good cast, among whom was Harry Lindley, the veteran stock actor, presented to a very large and well pleased house at the Grand last night, "A Broken Heart," in the initial performance of a season of four nights in this city. Margie Adams Young in the dual role of Queen Montrose and Mlle. Rena and H. Wilmot Young, as Walter Lawrence, and afterwards Lord Huntington, appeared in the leading female and male roles respectively, and were accorded the generous applause of the audience. Most of the comedy was acceptably supplied by Harry Lindley, as John Henry Wilkins. Baby Marguerite, as Edie, the cute little juvenile member of the company, proved a very sweet and winsome little miss. Marie Purcell gave an intelligent portrayal of the roles assigned her, and Frederick E. Bigelow gave a pleasing interpretation of the part of Clarence St. Clair.

Monsieur and Madame De Matoes in their handcuff act, puzzled the audience by the quick and clever way they extricated themselves from the locked bracelets, and, after considerable twisting and wriggling, Prof. De Matoes freed himself from the tenacious embrace of a straight jacket that was so securely strapped on him that it seemed utterly impossible that he could rid himself of it. He claims that he can take off any pair of handcuffs placed on him, and requests police officials or anybody else, for that matter, to put him to the test.

Verono did a clever and bewildering dance, aided by dazzling light effects, and Vera Secord was well received in her singing and dancing specialty. K. Chas. Morse sang the illustrated songs, "Good-Bye, My Old Old Kentucky," and Harry Von Tilzer's pretty sentimental ballad, "When the Flowers Bloom in the Springtime, Mollie, Dear." The moving pictures were of a humorous and entertaining character.

Tonight the attraction will be "The Danites," an absorbing drama of the West.

FOR SNAP SHOTS

Why not put all those snap shots you took this summer into a little book and use it as a Christmas gift for those of your friends who will be interested. We have a fine stock of mounting papers in brown, grey and white, that are the proper ones to use. The cover can be made of leather to match, or of a pretty embossed card. Hunter Gets Two Deer in One Day's Hunt

Mr. W. A. McIlmoyle, Local Market Clerk Had Great Luck —Hunted Near Buckhorn

Two fine deer in one day is not such bad luck for a hunter, and Mr. W. A. McIlmoyle, the city market clerk, succeeding in downing two dandies yesterday while hunting in the back country in the vicinity of Buckhorn. He left the city Saturday and started out early yesterday morning for the chase. His day spent in the woods was certainly well rewarded, and Mr. McIlmoyle is no doubt much elated over his great success.

DEATH FOLLOWS FIGHT

St. Catharines Man Dead After Street Fracas.

Four Men Participated In Brawl on Sept. 21.—Dead Man's Skull Was Fractured by Stone—Two Men Fined For Disorderly Conduct But Victim's Injuries Only Revealed by Death.

St. Catharines, Nov. 12.—A street fight which occurred in the vicinity of the Imperial Hotel, Queenston street, on Saturday night, Sept. 21, resulted fatally yesterday, and while James Archibald Pattison lies dead at his home, George Vance occupies a cell at police headquarters, awaiting the verdict of the coroner's jury, which will determine the cause of Pattison's death to-day.

There is a mystery surrounding the affair. Nothing followed the fight for almost two weeks, when Vance and Longley pleaded guilty and were fined for fighting on the street. That was the last heard of the affair until Sunday, when Dr. Mulock was summoned to attend Pattison. It is understood that death resulted from concussion of the brain, but Dr. Mulock, yesterday afternoon refused to give out any particulars. He said that a post-mortem would be held, and that, in view of the fact that an inquest had been ordered, would say nothing for publication.

Upon information received High Constable R. E. Boyle and Sergt. McCarthy visited the home of Mrs. Hare on the Thorold road at noon and arrested Vance. No charge has been laid against him as yet. It is said Pattison and an Indian also took part in the fight and that the former was hit on the head by a stone thrown by Vance, and that death resulted from the effects of the injury. When the facts were reported to Coroner Merritt he gave orders for an inquest to be held this morning.

For robbing the North Sydney post Office, J. S. McDonald has been sentenced to four years in the penitentiary.

Scaffold Gave Way and Painter Fell Twenty Feet

Mr. Thos. Munro, of Toronto Hurt To-day While Decorating St. Paul's Church

As a result of falling twenty feet from a scaffold while engaged in the work of decorating the walls of St. Paul's Presbyterian church, Mr. tThos. Munro, of Toronto, received some bad injuries today shortly before 12 o'clock. Mr. Munro thought the scaffold was secure, and when moving from one end of it to the other, the plank gave way and he fell to the floor. He was unable to get up, but with the assistance of his fellow workmen, was taken to Dr. Carmichael's residence, where his injuries were attended to. It was found that he had sprained his ankle, and also received a bad cut in his nose. He was afterwards removed to the Crown hotel, where he is stopping during his stay in Peterborough. It is expected that he will be around again in a few days, as his injuries are not of a serious nature.

The P. C. Brown Co., church decorators, of Toronto, have the contract for the redecorating of St. Paul's, and Mr. Munro is superintending the work.

Mission Circle's Thank Offering

Enjoyable and Profitable Time Spent at Park St. Church Last Night

A choice programme, an appreciative audience and liberal gifts were the features of last night's annual thank offering of the Park street Ladies' Mission Circle. The president, Miss M. Mann, was in the chair. The report was read by the secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Jas. Johnston. A paper on thanksgiving was read by Miss Edith Gillespie and a paper on gratitude by Miss Browett, of the Murray street church. The choir rendered several selections and a duet was given by Miss Hill and Mr. Jas. Tranter. Rev. A. H. Brace followed with an address "On modern missions." Dainty refreshments were served and a happy social time was spent.

Buildings in Toronto Must Stop at 200 Feet Attitude

Toronto, Nov. 12.—Toronto is to have no building higher than the Traders Bank, if City Architect McCallum does not change his mind.

"I don't think we should have any buildings higher than 200 feet," said he.

The Traders Bank is 198 feet high. "I heartily approve of the new regulation in New York against the erection of buildings higher than 20 storeys, or 250 feet. In Toronto our by-law does not allow any building to be reared higher than 100 feet, except spires, towers, or domes, without the approval of the City Architect and the City Council. This city is therefore protected, for I would not approve any building higher than 200 feet."

Cleveland puts on a limit of 200 feet, and Buffalo makes it four times the width of the building.

Brandon to Have Mail Delivery Soon

Brandon, Man., Nov. 11.—Brandon is to have a street mail delivery at once. It is stated to-day that within two or three weeks the system will be in operation. The mail carriers, of whom there are to be six, have been appointed, and the only delay now is in awaiting the approval of the postmaster-general's department. The general equipment and all that is required for the service is here and after the official appointment of the carriers is received from Ottawa it will require only about ten days to get the service in operation.

There was a large number of applications for the positions of mail carriers. No particulars as to who the successful applicants are could be learned, but it is understood six first class men have been secured for the positions. It is expected that the street delivery will be inaugurated about November 25.

CRISIS OF GIRLHOOD

A TIME OF PAIN AND PERIL

Miss Emma Cole Says that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has Saved Her Life and Made Her Well.

How many lives of beautiful young girls have been sacrificed just as they were ripening into womanhood! How many irregularities or displacements have been developed at this important period, resulting in years of suffering!

A mother should come to her child's aid at his critical time and remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will prepare the system for the coming change and start this trying period in a young girl's life without pain or irregularities.

Miss Emma Cole of Tullahoma, Tenn., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:

"I want to tell you that I am enjoying better health than I have for years, and I owe it all to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"When fourteen years of age I suffered almost constant pain, and for two or three years, I had soreness and pain in my side, headaches and was dizzy and nervous, and doctors all failed to help me.

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended, and after taking it my health began to improve rapidly, and I think it saved my life. I sincerely hope my experience will be a help to other girls who are passing from girlhood to womanhood, for I know your Compound will do as much for them."

If you know of any young girl who is sick and needs motherly advice ask her to write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., and she will receive free advice which will put her on the right road to a strong, healthy and happy womanhood. Mrs. Pinkham is daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham and for twenty-five years has been advising sick women free of charge.

MADE PURE SILVER MONEY.

Counterfeiter Was Getting Good Profit When Police Stepped In.

New York, Nov. 13.—The arraignment of Herman Hense before United States Commissioner Shields yesterday by United States secret service officers, on the charge of counterfeiting, brought to light what they regard as one of the most important finds in the counterfeiting business in recent years. Hense was held for the Federal grand jury.

According to statements made to the commissioner, Hense has been producing half dollars of practically pure silver, so skilfully made that only experts could detect them. The plant where the coins were produced was said to be in a secluded spot in the Ramapo Mountains, in Rockland County. The present price of silver, it was said, enabled him to purchase bar silver, or old silver for remelting, and turn out coins of standard weight and fineness at a profit of 50 per cent. About 200 of the coins had been circulated in New York before the officers secured the clue which led to Hense's arrest.

Trial of Railway Men.

Brampton, Nov. 13.—The trial of Engineer Hodges and Conductor Grimes, accused of negligence, which caused the wreck of the exhibition special at Caledon curve on Sept. 3, did not go before Justice Magee at the Assizes here yesterday, as a civil suit which commenced yesterday was not concluded in time. The first witness in this important trial will be called after lunch to-day.

The line of defence will be that the ill-fated train was not running at excessive speed, and that the engine, of which Hodges was in charge, was a "roller," and had been taken off another division as unfit for that roadbed.

In all, about 40 witnesses will be examined at the trial, which will probably conclude Thursday night.

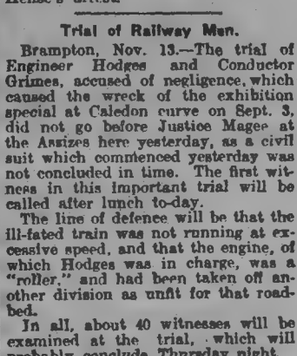
W. N. Davidson of Toronto is prosecuting attorney and T. C. Robinette appears for the defence.

Killed at the Soo.

Sault Ste. Marie, Nov. 13.—Offie Thompson, a Scotchman, 30 years of age, who was visiting his aunt, Mrs. Grey, Railroad avenue, Michigan Soo, was instantly killed on this side at noon yesterday. He was waiting at the corner of Queen and Elgin streets for a car, and fell under the rear wheels as it slowed down. The body was taken to Simpson's morgue. It will be shipped to Toronto, where Thompson has a widowed mother and two sisters.

A Board of Conciliation.

Ottawa, Nov. 13.—The Labor Department has received an application from the employes of the Strathcona Coal Co. of Alberta for a board of conciliation and investigation in connection with the miners' demands for an eight-hour day and changes in wages schedule, etc. Some forty men are affected.



SLEUTH QUOTES BIBLE

Related Scripture Stories to Man Charged With Murder.

How Detective Got Confession From Steve Adams—Told Also of Jerry the Bum — Orchard's Accomplice on Trial For Killing Fred Tyler, a Claim Jumper — Pinkerton Man's Evidence.

Rathdrum, Idaho, Nov. 13.—At the second trial of Steve Adams for the murder of Fred Tyler, a claim jumper, Attorney Darrow, of the defence, following out the scheme used at the first trial, called James McParland, of the Pinkerton agency, for cross-examination. McParland said he got Adams to acknowledge his part in the murder of former Governor Frank Steunenberg.

"I told Adams," he said, "that he would better make a clean breast of the whole affair, as he would feel much better, and it was a debt that he owed to the state and to the law and order; that he was a tool, and he admitted it. I used the Bible stories of David and Paul as illustration of what it benefited a man when he repented of a crime and that he might be redeemed."

"By whom," asked Mr. Darrow.

"By God, of course," said McParland.

"You did not tell him that you would forgive him and that you would save his soul?" asked the lawyer.

"I have not the power of absolution," replied McParland.

"Did you make Adams any promises?"

"I told him I believed that the state would be fair; I told him of Jerry, the Bum of the Mollie Maguires, who was not prosecuted when he turned states evidence, after having had a hand in the killing of Daniel W. Ray."

S. C. Thiel said that Adams confessed to the Tyler murder to him three weeks after he had confessed to McParland his part in the Steunenberg murder. Thiel told of joining the Western Federation of Miners at Butte in 1904, when he was working there for the Pinkertons.

ENGLAND AND GERMANY.

Kaiser's Secretary Says No Political Questions Will Be Discussed.

Windsor, Eng., Nov. 13.—"There is no intention of discussing at Windsor any concrete political questions," said Herr Von Schoen, secretary of the German Foreign Office, who is accompanying Emperor William on His Majesty's visit to England.

"Germany and England are in the happy position of having no actual political questions outstanding, but we hope and believe that the Emperor's visit will bring about a renewal of the old-time affectionate relations between the two countries. Their relations have always been correct, but this is not enough. There is an increasing desire that they become something more. Germany does not look for any specially defined political agreement or understanding that might give rise to apprehension in the case of any other power. My hope simply is that the relations between the two Governments may become more closely assimilated to the not only correct but affectionate relations existing between the reigning houses."

Hotelkeeper Arrested.

St. Catharines, Nov. 13.—Stuart Nelson, proprietor of the Union Hotel, Merritton, is in custody on a serious charge.

A quantity of lumber has been missed from the new station being built by the Niagara, St. Catharines and Toronto Co. and no trace of the missing goods could be found. Chief Moffatt, Merritton, accompanied by Provincial Officer Kelley, Niagara Falls, traced the goods to a barn in the rear of the hotel, but Nelson, although he denied the theft, refused to give the name of the guilty party and the company had the warrant issued for his arrest on the charge of receiving stolen articles.

Big Steamer Wrecked.

Vancouver, Nov. 13.—Because her master was in a hurry to reach Vancouver and did not stop at Victoria to pick up a pilot, the big steamship Indroville, formerly on the Portland Oriental route, lies a wreck at the end of Henry Island, in the centre of the Gulf of Georgia.

The crew got safely ashore, although the forward part of the big vessel was full of water. Whether the wreck occurred in Canada or the United States is a question that agents in Vancouver are trying to settle. It is believed the steamer has been wrecked directly on the international boundary line.

Thomas Burns Released.

Ottawa, Nov. 13.—At the inquest yesterday at Osgoode, upon the death of Martha Burns, wife of Thomas Burns, who died and was buried in quick order and whose husband left the village.

A verdict of not guilty was returned. Analysis Ellis of Toronto, wired that he could not swear to strychnine in the stomach.

Neighbors in the village had spread stories of the man illusing his deceased wife, but no definite evidence could be gathered at the inquest.

Damages at Vancouver.

Ottawa, Nov. 13.—A report from W. L. Mackenzie King to the Secretary of States says that final adjustment has been made of all the damage claims of the Japanese in Vancouver in connection with the riots of last September. Mr. King has awarded damages totaling $10,775 on 56 claims presented. The total amount asked for was $13,500.

Forty Seriously Injured.

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 13.—Forty men, women, and children were injured, twenty-six seriously, in a street car accident Monday, when two speeding cars crashed into each other in a dense fog.

Frederick Bennett, aged 38, of 123 Spadina avenue, Toronto, was arrested yesterday on a charge of theft.

Beer* Is No Mere Stimulant

Beer is not the choice of the drunkard, because it cannot stimulate enough—not enough alcohol in malt beverages to class them as intoxicants. But there is just enough alcohol in beer (less than in sweet cider) to induce the digestive system to do its work more thoroughly and quicker. Most grown people — and women especially—find good beer good to drink with meals, because it not only has much food-value in itself, but renders all other foods easier to digest.

Your own doctor will probably tell you beer is good for you with your dinner and at bedtime.

*BEER is a term which covers lager, ales, porter, and stout; and, in the practice of Ontario brewers, implies beverages made under most hygienic conditions, from Ontario barley (the best in the world) malt, hops, and pure water. 202

LOCK GATES CARRIED AWAY.

Disaster In Lachine Canal—Several Vessels Damaged.

Montreal, Nov. 13.—Through some misunderstanding between the officers and engineer of the steamer Neepawa, that boat caused $50,000 damage to the shipping in Montreal harbor last night. She was entering lock No. 1 and the captain gave orders to reverse as she neared the lock. This was misunderstood, and the boat went full steam ahead and carried away the lock gates. There was a drop of 12 feet, and the boat was swept down this into the river, but escaped serious damage. Three barges above her in the locks were not so fortunate. These three, the Hurona, the Regina and the Bella, belonging to the Montreal Transportation Co., were swept down into the river, and collided with the wharf and other boats.

The Regina was caught in the huge wave and swept into the river and sunk near the Cornican of the Allan line. The Regina was loaded with 25,000 bushels of wheat, and had on board Capt. Malette, his wife and four children, but they managed to escape as the boat sank under them. She is in 40 feet of water, and is damaged to the extent of $5,000, in addition to the value of the wheat.

The Hurona was caught against the lock and damaged to a considerable extent. She was loaded with 28,000 bushels of wheat and flax, and has three feet of water in her hold. Her damage will be to the extent of $5,000. The Bella was tied to the wharf, and escaped injury, not being carried away by the rush of water.

There is $5,000 damage done to the wharves and locks as well as the delay and inconvenience to navigation. Officials state that the damaged locks will be fixed up inside of 24 hours, and in the meantime the old locks can be used by boats which do not draw more than 14 feet. The whole affair will be investigated by Commander Spain.

EMPEROR DINED AT WINDSOR.

Referred to Happy Childhood Days In Historic Castle.

Windsor, Nov. 13.—In the historic hall of St. George yesterday Emperor William and the Empress were dined.

The speeches made by King Edward and Emperor William were formal in tone. They consisted in reciprocal expressions of the pleasure the visit afforded, and of a mutual desire for the maintenance of peace and friendship between the two nations.

Emperor William alluded gracefully to his happy childhood under the roof and within the walls of grand old Windsor Castle, and he expressed the earnest wish that the close relationship existing between the two royal families should be reflected in the relations of the two countries, and thus confirm the peace of the world, which, he said, was the constant endeavor of King Edward and himself.

At the conclusion of the state visit at Windsor Castle, Nov. 18, Emperor William will spend a fortnight at High Cliffe Castle at Christchurch, near Bournemouth, a beautiful sequestered spot of historic associations. King Edward, the King of Spain and other royal personages have often stayed at High Cliffe Castle.

FIENDISH MURDER.

Little Child Treated In Manner Too Horrible to Describe.

Vancouver, B. C., Nov. 13.—Clementine Nahu, seven-year-old daughter of Capt. Nahu, was murdered at North Vancouver on Saturday. The crime is one of the most horrible that ever occurred in British Columbia.

The little girl had been ill-treated by a fiend whose actions were too fearful to describe. The body of the child was found amongst the bushes in Londsdale gardens yesterday afternoon. She had been killed by cuts with two razors which lay on the ground alongside her remains. Her body was cut to pieces. A bottle of gin was picked up nearby.

The child lived with her parents at Moodyville, and on Saturday she was sent to North Vancouver with orders on the store. The orders were not filled and the child was at once searched for. Provincial police and the whole town searched all Saturday, Sunday, Monday and yesterday. Police have gone to North Vancouver from this city, but so far no arrests have been made.

Blind Pigs Raided.

Cobalt, Nov. 13.—Jack Maki, a foreigner, was fined $50 and costs or three months in jail for pointing a revolver at a policeman who attempted to separate him and another Finn in a fight.

Alexander Blondin and James Wakefield were fined $100 and costs, and $50 and costs, respectively, by Magistrate Browne for keeping "blind pigs."

Small fines were also imposed on three others for disorderly conduct. The fines yesterday totalled $225. Three more cases for the illegal selling of liquor will be heard to-day.

PROSECUTION FAILED.

Liquor Detectives Fail to Make Good at Owen Sound.

Owen Sound, Nov. 13.—The Government liquor detectives arrived from Grangeville yesterday afternoon at 1.05, accompanied by License Inspector M. Beckett.

The police joined in the bodyguard on the arrival of the train, and though the star witnesses were occasionally hooted by the "anti-ops" they sustained no physical abuse.

The court room was crowded to the doors, and Magistrate Creasor never had such a house. The "standing room only" sign would have been good at any hour of the proceedings.

James Henderson, lessee of the Central Hotel bar, like all the other fifteen defendants, fought his case. Evidence was taken, but was not conclusive, and Henderson was acquitted.

The fact that the defendants will contest the complaints, which will be proceeded with to-day, makes it look serious for the "prominent citizens" who may, in consequence, have to be called by the prosecution to give evidence. Then their wives will know why they got in with the latch key on Thanksgiving night and hung their overcoats on the gasoliers.

Mrs. Ryan, who is alleged to have fought back the increasing thirst of the natives around Rockford, and on occasions afforded moisture for the whistles of the neighborhood cattle buyers, was up before John Rutherford, J. P., last night. The case was adjourned until to-night.

At the hour this despatch was filed the liquor detectives were still safe, but anxious, and feeling like a visiting lacrosse team on its way to the outgoing steamer.

PATROLMAN WILSON SHOT.

Was Making Arrest In Detroit Tenderloin District.

St. Thomas, Nov. 13.—Mr. Edward Pye of Yarmouth, formerly M. C. R. engineer of this city, received word Monday that his son-in-law, Geo. H. Wilson of Detroit was dying as the result of a murderous attack early Monday morning.

Mr. Wilson is a patrolman on the Detroit police force and was fulfilling his duties in the tenderloin district, attempting to quell a disturbance when the tragedy occurred. He was shot three times through the head by one of about a dozen men who demanded that he release one of their number whom he had arrested for disorderly conduct.

The shooting took place about 1.15 o'clock Monday morning, in the heart of the tenderloin district in Champlain street. The arrest was made in front of No. 66, while on the way to the signal alarm box at Beaublien street and Champlain with his prisoner. A great blotch of blood in the snow on the sidewalk Monday morning told the story of the temporary mastery of the assassins over the law.

As soon as the alarm reached police headquarters a cordon of police and detectives was thrown about the scene of the shooting. An immense crowd of the disreputables of the district, inmates of the resorts and callers, gathered about the scene. The crowd gave the assassin and his outlaw mob a good chance to escape.

MUST PAY OR GO TO JAIL.

American Citizens Were Liable to British Income Tax.

New York, Nov. 13.—According to a London despatch, the American members of the company playing "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" discovered Monday night that the British Government does not permit Americans to take money out of the country without paying an income tax. All the members of the company received a notice from the tax-collector, that they were liable for their income tax for the six months they have been playing in London.

United States Consul-General Wynne told them they would have to pay or go to jail.

Hamilton Street Car Smash.

Hamilton, Nov. 13.—There was a bad smash between a street car and a Grand Trunk freight train at the corner of King street and Ferguson avenue about 3.30 yesterday afternoon. The street car was going east, and as it approached the crossing Motorman McIlwraith found that he was unable to stop it. He jumped, and the car crashed into the freight train, which dragged it some distance. There were a number of passengers in the car, and they were badly shaken up. Walter Howell, druggist, King and Emerald streets, sustained a broken leg, and W. W. Hesson of 82 Sovereign street, Toronto, was hurt about the back and arms. Several others were badly shaken up. Conductor Ryerse also had one leg injured. The vestibule of the car was completely wrecked, and one of the freight cars was also badly damaged.

Stole Men's Wages.

Trinidad, Colo., Nov. 13.—The sum of $20,000 belonging to the American Smelting & Refining Co., which was to be used to pay employes, was stolen near Trinidad Monday night. The money was taken from a buggy which was being driven by the paymaster and another man. No arrests have been made, but two men are under suspicion.

Fatal Fire at New Haven.

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 13.—Flames sweeping through the servants' rooms in the fifth floor of the Hotel Garde, in Meadow street, early yesterday, burned to death four employes, while a fifth man, Isaac Levine, fell to his death while using the rope of the fire escape.

Four other employes were slightly injured.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Cables Unchanged—American Markets Show More Steadiness.

LONDON, Nov. 12.—London cables are firmer at 10c to 12¼c per lb., dressed weight; refrigerator beef is quoted at 10c per pound.

Toronto Live Stock.

TORONTO, Nov. 12.—Not being able to get the returns from the G. T. R., we cannot give the correct numbers of stock on the market. The deliveries were large for Tuesday—over 100 carloads. The C. P. R. alone had 56 carloads, composed of 672 cattle, 586 hogs, 1474 sheep and 51 calves.

Exporters.

With the exception of a few bulls, there were no exporters on sale. Export bulls are not in good demand, and are selling at low prices—$3 to $3.75 per cwt.

Butchers.

George Rowntree, who bought 10 carloads for the Harris Abattoir Company, reported the following prices: Mr. Rowntree stated that there were a very few cattle sold at $4.50, but he did not get them. His were: Medium to fair steers and heifers, 900 to 1150 lbs., at $3.60 to $3.75; good cows, $3 to $3.75; common cows, $2 to $2.65; canners and bulls, 75c to $1.75 per cwt.

Feeders and Stockers.

Several loads of feeders and stockers were sold at unchanged quotations, as follows:

H. & W. Murby report the following prices: Best feeders, 1000 to 1100 lbs., at $3.25 to $3.60; best stockers, 600 to 800 lbs., at $2.25 to $2.60; medium stockers, 600 to 800 lbs., at $2 to $2.25; common stockers, 500 to 700 lbs., at $1.50 to $1.75.

Milkers and Springers.

Trade in first-class milkers and springers has seldom been as good as it is just now, and never better. Good to choice cows sold all the way from $40 to $65 each, the bulk of the good selling at and around $50 each.

Veal Calves.

Trade in veal calves is not quite as brisk as it was before lambs came down in price. Prices ranged at from $2 to $6 per cwt. Good to choice veals find a ready market at any time.

Sheep and Lambs.

There was a fairly good market, altho prices were not much changed. Export ewes sold at $3.75 to $4.25; lambs at $4 to $5.40 per cwt.; picked ewes and wether lambs sold at $5.40 to $5.60 per cwt.

Hogs.

Mr. Harris quoted selects at $5.80; unfinished hogs, $5 per cwt.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

EAST BUFFALO, Nov. 12.—Cattle—Receipts, 250 head; steady; prices unchanged.

Veals—Receipts, 75 head; active and steady.

Hogs—Receipts, 2600 head; active and 20c to 30c higher; heavy and mixed, $5.40 to $5.85; yorkers, $5.80 to $5.90; pigs, $5.25 to $5.50; roughs, $4.75 to $5.25; stags, $4 to $4.50; dairies, $5 to $5.50.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 1400 head; active and steady; unchanged.

New York Live Stock.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—Beeves—Receipts, 1294; no sales reported; feeling steady. Shipments to-morrow, 615 cattle and 5850 quarters of beef.

Calves—Receipts, 243; veals nominally steady; grassers and western calves dull and unchanged; a fair carload of westerns sold at $4.25 per 100 lbs.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 6555. Sheep of good quality were wanted and 25c higher; others steady. Lambs active, and, quality considered, 10c to 15c higher. Common to choice sheep sold at $2.90 to $4 per 100 lbs.; culls at $3; fair to good lambs at $7 to $7.50; culls at $4 to $5.50.

Hogs—Receipts, 3421; none on sale; feeling nominally firm.

Chicago Live Stock.

CHICAGO, Nov. 12.—Cattle — Receipts, estimated about 11,000; market dull and slow; steers, $4.40 to $8.70; cows, $2.65 to $4.60; heifers, $3.00 to $5; bulls, $2.50 to $5; calves, $3 to $7.50.

Scandal in the French Navy Causes Sensation

Treason is Followed by Recall of German Naval Attache.

Foreign Spies Are Active — Causes Sensation In Paris — French Ensign Offers to Sell Important Secrets — Betrays Defences of His Country — Extensive Traffic Unearthed by the Authorities.

Paris, Nov. 13.—A special despatch from Wilhelmshaven, Prussia, announcing a report that Rear Admiral Sogel, the German Naval Attache here, has been recalled, is printed here as an item of sensational news, presumably in connection with a recent discovery of treason in the French navy and espionage on the part of agents of a foreign power.

Ensign Charles B. Ullmo, of the French navy, was arrested at Toulon, Oct. 25 on the charge of being a spy. An examination of his effects showed him to have been in possession of many valuable documents, and he afterwards confessed to having abstracted a secret signal book and a naval cipher. An army reserve officer named Burton, was afterwards arrested at Vendome on similar charges.

At Toulon, Nov. 10, five ringleaders of what would appear to be a most important association of international spies, which apparently have been carrying on an extensive traffic in military and naval secrets, were arrested, and it was understood that warrants had been issued for the apprehension of more suspects.

The authorities of Toulon Monday searched the local postoffice, and among other things found a telegram, apparently sent by Ensign Ullmo to a German agent, offering to sell information concerning the defences of France.

Gin House Exploded.

Pine Bluff, Ark., Nov. 13.—A boiler in the gin house of the Trulock plantation, near here, exploded yesterday, killing the owner, J. B. B. Trulock and five negroes, and demolishing the gin house.

CHARGED WITH MANSLAUGHTER

George Vance Arrested on Finding of Coroner's Jury.

St. Catharines, Nov. 13.—Coroner Merritt yesterday opened an inquest into the death of James Archibald Pattison.

Dr. M. J. Mulock and Dr. S. H. McCoy, who had attended deceased on Sunday, and who made a postmortem examination, both swore positively that death resulted from septic meningitis, caused by a blow from a stone. Both tables of the skull had been fractured an inch deep for a length of an inch and a half, and the inner fragment had been broken loose and and adhered to brain and that evidence was distinct that the injury had been caused at the time of the street fight.

John Butler saw Vance go out on the road and pick up a stone, run to the corner, where he overtook Pattison, and threw the stone, hitting him on the head.

The jury took a little over half an hour to return the following verdict: "That said James Pattison came to his death from a stone thrown by one George L. Vance on the evening of Sept. 21, A. D. 1907, striking deceased on the head and fracturing the skull, and from the evidence given we are convinced that the said blow was the cause of his death on the eleventh day of November inst."

Upon the finding R. E. Boyle, high constable, swore out a warrant charging Vance with manslaughter, and the charge was laid before Police Magistrate Comfort, who, after reading the information to Vance, remanded him till Monday next for preliminary hearing.

Exempt Timber Wastes.

Saginaw, Mich., Nov. 13.—Addressing the interstate forestry conference here yesterday, Dr. B. E. Fernow of the University of Toronto held that the state should encourage private ownership of timber wastes. Their exemption from taxation for a term of years, together with the ultimate taxation of the timber harvest on its value, would promote private replanting, he declared.

Goes to Saskatchewan.

London, Nov. 13.—(C. A. P.)—G. H. Lakeman, late member of the London County Council, is going to Saskatchewan to take charge of the Church of St. James.

Dr. Sheard in an address before an audience of teachers at the Guild Hall yesterday in Toronto, spoke of the necessity of treating children with care and gentleness as a sudden shock was likely to bring on St. Vitus dance.

How They Get Booze up North

Let's Turn Round is the Expression Used in Owen Sound

Local option is having a strong time of it in Owen Sound, says the Toronto Star.

The Toronto Detective Agencies men employed as detectives by the temperance interests, were on their way to Owen Sound this morning to give evidence at the trial this afternoon. Their train was met at Orangeville by a gang of fifty men and it was some time before order was restored.

The chief license inspector at Owen Sound went to Orangeville, and it was owing to his efforts that the two detectives got through to the local option district.

Last Friday a number of men opposed to local option cornered one of the detectives in a down town hotel in Toronto, and actually endeavored to get him to tell what he would say at the trial. The man was forced to telephone his office for reinforcements before he managed to make his escape.

They have an original way of asking a man to have drink in Owen Sound. Instead of "Let's have something," it is 'Let's turn around.' When they reach the place where liquor is for sale, they say to the waiter, "Can we turn around?" The waiter turns around to his hip pocket, which does duty for the wine cellar and everybody "turns round."

Walking Record Was Cut Down

Mr. A. B. Fee Walked From Keene to Hastings in 2 hrs. and 28 Minutes

Keene, Nov. 12.—A shredded wheat banquet will be held in the town hall on December 10th, under the auspices of the Methodist church.

Mr. A. B. Fee walked to Hastings in two hours and thirty-one minutes Monday afternoon, lowering his previous record by twenty-eight minutes.

The Methodist Sunday school intend holding a concert on December 23rd.

The duck shooting is still very good, and some good bags are reported. Three gentlemen from Toronto left Oak lodge after two days shooting last week, with seventy-seven ducks.

Miss White spent Sunday in Westwood.

Messrs. Alexander Keitle and Jas. Henderson left Friday to hunt deer in Burleigh.

Mr. H. Baker, Kingston, was in the village last week, repairing the organs in the Presbyterian and Methodist churches.

C.P.R. FIREMAN KILLED

Rear-End Collision at St. Clet Near Smith's Falls.

Two Others Also Hurt—Engine and Fourteen Cars Smashed Up—Freight Crashed Into Second Train While Taking In Water—Mooney Caught In Wreckage and Killed Instantly—Leaves Family.

Smith's Falls, Nov. 13.—A rear-end collision which occurred on the C.P.R. at St. Clet, about one o'clock yesterday morning, caused the death of Fireman Daniel Mooney of this place, and the destruction of an engine and fourteen cars.

A freight was taking water at St. Clet when another one eastbound dashed into it.

Arthur Rennick, engineer of the moving freight, saw the other standing on the track just ahead of him, but could not stop his train. He jumped and escaped. Mooney got caught in the wreck and was instantly killed.

Brakemen S. A. Mayhew and P. Collins escaped with slight injuries. All the men belonged to Smith's Falls.

No one was injured on the standing freight. Passenger trains are being sent by way of Ottawa. Mr. Mooney leaves a wife and three small children.

DAUGHTERS GAVE EVIDENCE.

Sensational Suit of James Henry For Alienation of Affection.

Brampton, Nov. 13.—Minnie Henry, daughter of John Henry, who is suing William Mothersill for $20,000 for alienation of his wife's affections, was a pathetic figure on the witness stand when telling of what she had seen in the house. She declared she and the girls hid behind the piano in the front room and witnessed a meeting between Mothersill and Mrs. Henry.

The witness broke down repeatedly while telling her story to Hartley Dewart, K. C., counsel for the plaintiff.

She and her sisters ordered Mothersill off the farm on one occasion, and at another time on their return from a drive to Georgetown they found their father crying on the steps.

At present the mother lives in the north wing of the house alone. "I think she is broken-hearted," said the girl. "What is your attitude?" "We love her, she is our mother," said the witness brokenly. Mothersill sat in the court, ruddy-faced and heavy.

The witness swore that in 1902 Mothersill threatened to kill her because she would not leave him and her mother alone.

TWO LIVES IN BALANCE.

Points of Law Raised to Save Men From the Gallows.

Toronto, Nov. 13.—J. G. Farmer of Hamilton, as counsel for Jake Sunfield, under sentence of death for murder, yesterday applied to the Court of Appeal for leave to appeal from the decision of Chief Justice Falconbridge refusing a stated case. Owing to the absence of the chief justice, no decision was given.

The defence contended that Radzyk's statement to a witness, "Jake shoot; no doctor, me die," was not a dying declaration, as there was nothing to show he was in a hopeless state. Radzyk's reply had been made in a voice just above a whisper, so that the prisoner could not hear it, and he had no opportunity of denying it.

A similar motion was made on behalf of William Paul of Kenora, Ont., who killed Kenrick Shilling of Pinewood.

Scalded by Hot Water.

London, Nov. 13.—Alice Curnoe, the little three-year-old daughter of Mr. John Curnoe of Wellington street, was probably fatally injured Monday night shortly after six o'clock by falling into a pail of boiling water. The little tot was playing about the kitchen and backed into the water, which had been placed there but a moment before. She was taken out at once and Dr. John D. Wilson summoned. He found that her back had been frightfully scalded, and fears that she may not recover.

Check Workers Wanted.

Toronto, Nov. 13.—R. L. Oliver and Harry H. Groots, arrested in Bridgeburg, Ont., are wanted for working worthless checks here. It is for this that they are under arrest.

While here Groots was at the King Edward Hotel and Oliver at the Queen's. It is alleged that Oliver attempted to pass a check drawn against the account of the Acme Tool Co. of Oshkosh, N. Y., for $100. The police now hold the check and say that no such firm as described exists.

Burglar Binds Woman.

Windsor, Nov. 13.—Mrs. Steers, 60 years of age, staggered from her home on Caron avenue Monday evening with blood oozing from her mouth and told her neighbors that a strange man had entered her house while she was alone and, with a revolver held to her head, compelled her to stand while he bound her arms with strips of clothing. He then struck her a heavy blow on the mouth, knocking her down and ransacked the house. Finding no money he decamped.

Jail Breaker Arrested.

Belleville, Nov. 13.—In July last Michael Ryan and Albert McKeown escaped from Whitby jail, where they were serving a sentence for burglary in Oshawa. Monday night Ryan was arrested here on a charge of stealing a coat, and confessed that he was one of the Whitby jail-breakers.

Cave-In Buries Gang.

Woodstock, Nov. 13.—A cave-in of an embankment on the St. Mary's & Goderich Railway, now under construction, partly buried several of a gang of navvies, but all escaped without injury.

Miss Louise Saunders, daughter of Bernard Saunders, Toronto, formerly an alderman, has been appointed matron of the Girls' Home.

A Lost Secret.

In the time of Louis XV. of France a chemist named Depre gave an exhibition on a canal at Versailles of a kind of fire so rapid and devouring that it could not be quenched, water only giving it fresh activity. Louis forbade that the invention should be made public, and the inventor died soon after, carrying the secret with him to the grave.

Your favor of the 24th inst. received enclosing statement of profits allotted to my policy 7001, in the "Sun Life" for the past five years.

Above policy is for $1,000 on the whole life five year distribution plan on which I paid an annual premium of $38.35, or $141.75 for the five year period.

I find the CASH PROFITS amount to $53.85, or about 40 per cent. of the total premiums paid during the five years. This is certainly a splendid showing and speaks volumes for the earning powers of the Sun Life Company's investments.

Thanking you and wishing your company continued success,

Yours truly,

OBITUARY

MRS. J. HUGHES.

The death occurred at her late residence in Toronto last evening at five o'clock, of a former Peterborough citizen in the person of Mrs. J. Hughes, after a lengthy illness. The deceased was born in Dummer and was 42 years of age. Her maiden name was Mary Small. She was married twice, but both husbands predeceased her. Her first husband was the late Brown Welsh, of this city.

Four children and three sisters and one brother are left to mourn her loss.

The children are Mrs. Cole, Miss Fennie Welsh, Mr. Gordon Welsh and Mr. Walter Hughes, of Toronto. The sisters are Mrs. W. R. McCracken, of Toronto, Mrs. John Martin, of this city, and the brother is Rev. T. J. Small, of Battle Creek, Sask.

The funeral arrangements have not yet been completed, but interment will take place here.

River Boats are Still Running

The steamer Rainbow went down the river on Monday afternoon after being several days at Lakefield, with lumber, tan bark and railway ties for Hastings. The Monarch came up on Monday evening with a cargo of potatoes, wheat peas and barley from Harwood. She returned last night to Harwood with shorts, bran, flour, etc.

HUNT CLUB IS RETURNING

Three driving outfits from Lee & McCollum's livery barns, will bring back to the city today, the members of the Gold Lake Hunt Club, with their camping and hunting equipment. The party is expected to arrive in the city at about six or seven o'clock this evening.

BUSINESS MAN BLACKS BOOTS

Unusual Scene in a Local Barber Shop

With his coat off and bending to his task like a professional, a prominent young business man, attracted a lot of attention in a local barber shop last evening by blacking the boots of a Peterborough newspaper man. The regular "shiner" was not in when the scribe called at the shop for a shine, so the business man came forward with an offer to shine the muddy boots for a ten cent fee. The offer was accepted and the business man did not back down. He jerked off his coat, and got down to his job like a veteran. The shine given was a very creditable one, and the ten cents was well earned.

Telescope for Use of Members Of the Astronomical Society

President Makes Announcement at Meeting Last Night —Local Branch of Society Has an Interesting Gathering.

The meeting of the Astronomical Society last evening proved to be one of the most interesting in the history of the society. A good attendance, coupled with a most instructive address by Dr. Marsh, marked the meeting as one to be remembered with pleasure.

Several new members were proposed during the course of the evening, showing that the society is growing rapidly.

The president announced among other matters of interest, that he had received from the Meteorlogical Department, a 3 inch telescope for the use of the Peterborough section of the Royal Society. As soon as possible it will be put in proper shape and loaned to individual members. It is a remarkably fine instrument and will undoubtedly give much pleasure.

One of the members related some interesting features of a recent visit to the New York museum of Natural History, where he saw among many others the three meteorities secured in the Artic by Commander Peary. Meteorities weighed 30 1-2 tons, 10 tons and 6 tons respectively. Their analysis showed them to be 91 per cent. iron.

A number of the recent astronomical events were related by Dr. Marsh and lucidly explained by him. Among these were, Daniel's comet, which is increasing very rapidly in size and in a few weeks time will be distinctly visible to the naked eye, appearing in the eastern sky about midnight.

A large sun spot disturbance was seen Tuesday, and when measured proved to have diameters of 78,000 and 68,000 miles. Some astronomers endeavor to connect magnetic and other earthly disturbances with these spots, and in this point to the fact that the great landslide in India on Oct. 21st occurred on the date of the largest sun disturbance of the year.

The lange knobs on the rings of Saturn are confirmed by the latest bulletins sent the secretary of the society by Harvard observatory. These were explained by Dr. Marsh.

The talk of the evening covered the many minor features of astronomy, defining the various branches of the study, and then explaining the more common terms used and illustrating by the marvellous mechanism of the "Planetarium," the application thereof. With the aid of the "Lantern" and revolving slides a very clear idea of the planetary system about us was given. The talk was intended for beginners and the speaker succeeded in conveying a very comprehensive idea to the uninitiated.

In order that the members and their friends may have a better opportunity for interchange of ideas and for questions, the next meeting of the society will be held at the home of Mr. Herbert Collier, Weller street.

New Train to be Added on C. P. R. Toronto-Ottawa Route

Toronto-Montreal Service to Remain as at Present But New Train Will Run Through Peterborough.

With the object of improving their Toronto-Ottawa and Toronto -Montreal train service, the Canadian Pacific will make a radical change in their time table, commencing on the 25th of this month. A new train is to be put on the Toronto-Ottawa route which practically means that there is to be a separation in the Ottawa and Montreal traffic.

The Toronto-Montreal service is to remain as it is at present, but a new train is to be added to run direct from Ottawa to Toronto and vice versa. After November 25th, the night train will leave Ottawa at 10.45 and will arrive at Toronto at 7 in the morning, passing through Peterborough shortly before five o'clock. A new night train will leave Toronto at 10.45, reaching Ottawa at 7 in the morning. This train will pass through Peterborough shortly before one o'clock a.m. or about 45 minutes later than the train now called the "midnight," which of course, will be continued as usual.

It is understood that the change is being made in view of the heavy increase in passenger traffic during the past few months, and to handle the Christmas holiday traffic which promises to be unusually heavy.

Secret Service Men Expose Gigantic Lottery Scheme

Special to the Review.

Chicago, Nov. 13.—A morning paper to-day says that the biggest lottery in operation in United States, which has been running for more than 20 years, with headquarters in Chicago, under the name of the "Old Reliable Guarantee Loan & Trust Co." was exposed last night by arrests in this and other cities. The United States secret service men assert that the promoters of the scheme have made millions of dollars and that there are big men behind it who will be reached through the prosecution of the men now under arrest.

An Indian Walker Thinks He Can Break Some Records

And Would Like to Meet Dave Hartley

Bill "Knockdown" of Hiawatha in City To-day and Talks Some.

Has another star arisen to shine in the firmament of great walkers?

Perhaps so, at least that's what many members of the Indian village at Hiawatha believe. The new candidate for pedestrian honors is a member of the Mississaugua tribe, at Hiawatha, and he is known commonly as Bill Knockdown. He has another name that means something great in the Indian tongue, but it sounds somewhat like "knockdown," and he is known better as Bill Knockdown than by his Indian cognomen.

Bill was in the city today, and stated that he would like to get on a match with David Hartley. He walked in from Hiawatha this morning, and covered the distance in the remarkably good time of two hours and thirteen minutes. The distance is twelve miles.

Bill is sometime scalled the "Indian Tramp," being the only red man around these parts with a tendency to tramp the country. He thinks he could cut down Reynolds' and Hartley's records, as he is reputed to have all kinds of endurance. The Indian will likely set out to make a record for himself one of these days. He is about forty years of age.

Another Concert Likely to be Held

By Men's Association of All Saint's Church

The Men's Association of All Saint's Church, is considering the advisability of holding another concert in the near future. The matter was discussed at the regular meeting last night, when a large number were present.

The president, Mr. Graham, was in the chair, and seven new members joined. Considerable business was transacted, and plans for the season were discussed at some length.

The last concert was so successful that it is likely that another one will be held in the near future.

Will Diminish Their Investments

Owing to Restrictive Laws British Companies Withdraw Capital

London, Oct. 26. — The London Morning Standard says: "The projected measure affecting life insurance companies, will probably still further diminish British Companies' investments in the Dominion. Its visions are more inquisitoral than we are accustomed to in Great Britain."

DESTROYED A CULVERT

Charge Laid Against Samuel Killen Ennismore Township.

On Friday, Nov. 15th, morning at 11 o'clock, in the Court House, Cornelius O'Connor appears before County Magistrate Edmison, charged with destroying a culvert on concession 10, Ennismore, between lots 7 and 8. The information was laid by Mr. Samuel Killen, reeve of the township, and the papers, consisting of a summons and eleven subpoenas, were served yesterday by County Constable Cochrane.

PROMINENT CONTRACTORS

The Messrs. O'Leary of Ottawa are in City To-day on Business.

Ex-Ald Michael O'Leary and his Nephew, Mr. P. J. OLeary, of Ottawa, are in the city today. They are well-known contractors, and have carried out some big jobs in the past few years, both for the city of Ottawa and the Government. The Messrs. O'Leary were in Fenelon Falls yesterday. They are figuring on a tender for the construction of the Rosedale section of the Trent canal, the time for receiving bids closing in a few days.

James Urquhart, of 360 Sumach street, Toronto, fell off the roof of the gas works at the foot of Booth avenue, falling 25 feet, yesterday, but was not badly injured.

Dr. Browett's Dates at Peterboro'

His Successful Visit. For the past few weeks Dr. Browett, optical specialist, has been teaching opticians at Midland. A large number of persons have taken the opportunity of Dr. Browett's visit to that thriving Georgian Bay port to have their eyes examined for glasses, and thus save themselves the expense of a trip to the larger cities. While there people from Penetanguishene and other adjoining towns have visited him and several very difficult cases have been helped. Dr. Browett will before visiting his next teaching appointment, spend Tues. to Sat., 14th to 16th at his home office at our store and conduct examinations for those for whom we are making appointments.

McDERMID & JURY, Druggists, Peterboro.

RUGBY CLUB AT THEATRE

Will be in the Boxes for the Performance To-night

Messrs. J. J. Turner and Sons, the management of the Grand, are certainly showing their appreciation of good sport. For the "Mayor of Laughland," they gave thirty-two passes to the local athletes competing in Thanksgiving Day events and tonight the rugby club will be their guests for the production of "East Lynne" by the H. Wilmot Young Company occupying box seats.

SNOW AND ICE IN THE NORTH

Heavy Frosts in the Upper Part of the County

There is considerable snow in the northern part of the county. The frosts at night are very severe, and quite a sheet of ice freezes over the bays and inlets after sunset. The sun on the day following thaws the ice, however, although in the morning, it is difficult padding and rowing through the thin ice.

Mission Band Met Last Night

St. Andrew's Mission Band held a very interesting meeting last evening when splendid missionary addresses were given. Miss Dolly Langford, president was in the chair and opened the proceedings. A paper on "Mission Work among the Chinese in Canada," was read by Miss Edmison and also one on "Work among Indians in Canada," was given by Miss Mowat. Both proved very profitable and instructive. Miss N. Tully gave a vocal solo in excellent style, and Miss Ethel Tully gave a splendidly executed piano selection.

CHEMONG LAKE FROZEN OVER

Early Monday morning last, Chemong Lake was frozen over, with a thin sheet of ice for the first time this season.

Those who arose early enough, noticed the lake completely covered. The ice was all gone again about ten o'clock. However, it is an evidence of how cold it is these nights, when a large body of water like Chemong Lake freezes.

AMUSEMENTS

UNCLE TOM'S CABIN

Next Saturday, Nov. 16, afternoon and night. The survival of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," at the dawn of the 20th century is something to marvel over, but it is an assured fact. The elaborate renovation of the old play by Manager McPhee, of the Downie Company, in a new pictorial dress with up-to-date methods plentifully displayed throughout its half a dozen acts, judging from the box office receipts wherever the company plays, furnishes ample proof that "Uncle Tom's Cabin" is still potent. Special scenery for every scene depicted, enlarged choruses of genuine negroes from the cotton belt modern, up-to-date specialties, two male and female quartettes, a band of Alabama picaninnies, a gorgeous cakewalk in a pretty setting, entitled "The Place of Silver Mat," improved light effects and mechanical illusions, will be seen in the Downie production of this famous play. The presenting company in some instances, is a double one and contains the names of numerous footlight favorites. The street parade is said to be the longest, richest and best ever given by a theatrical company. Be sure and see it at noon.

Stock Market Is Inclined to be Heavy

Special to the Review.

New York, Nov. 13.—The stock market was narrow and dull to-day with an inclination towards heaviness. Opening prices were fractionally lower all around with some pressure on the copper and smelting stocks. After the first hour the selling stopped and while shorts covered the market improved a point or so, Reading and Union Pacific again showing the best tone.

In the afternoon a rumor went round that the secretary of the treasury will shortly call for 10 per cent. of the U.S. Government deposits in the national banks, or approximately $22,700 000. It in to be noted that the amount of gold engaged, but yet to arrive from Europe, corresponds very closely with the total of the impending call. The proportion of the call from the New York city banks would be $7,309,220. The market sagged off again on the above rumor and then relapsed into dullness again.

London hardened, influenced by better advice from the Continent. Under the influence of higher Liverpool cables and a disposition on the part of foreigners to buy all the wheat in sight here for export. The grain markets were strong and higher with wheat up nearly 3 cents. Cotton was fractionally higher also.

REYNOLDS WILL HAVE BACKERS

Many Port Hopers and Others Will Support the Walking Barber

It was announced today that Jimmie Reynolds, the Port Hope barber, and David Hartley, Peterborough's famous walker, had been matched in a 72-hour contest, to take place at the Mutual street rink on Saturday, Nov. 23.

Reynolds and Hartley have both established themselves as long-distance walkers of exceptional ability, and there is the keenest rivalry between them as to which is the better man.

The walkers will share the gate receipts, 60 per cent. to the winner, and 40 to the loser. The race will likely start at 10.30 a.m. and continue until 10.30 p.m. It will be a great test of endurance and the walking champions will have the opportunity of settling the many disputes that have arisen over their previous exploits.

All Peterborough will back Hartley to win, while Jimmie Reynolds has thousands of admirers, not only in Port Hope, but in other places as well who will give him their support.—Toronto Star.

Three Basketball Teams Organize

Challenge Received From Toronto Central Y.M.C.A.

Three basketball teams were organized at the Y.M.C.A. last night, and quite a lot of enthusiasm displayed. The captains will be elected Friday night. A challenge has been received from Toronto Central Y.M.C.A. regarding a game, but no date has been fixed as yet for a match.

WINTER MEET

With the approach of cold weather, the thoughts of the horsemen naturally turn to the time when the bell of the ice starter will tinkle for the horses coming up the stretch, as Frank Smith, the writer of pithy intelligence for the "Horse World," would say. The Peterborough Turf Club will probably hold a meet this winter and if local racing enthusiasts and owners are already discussing the prospects for a successful season.

Among the numerous horsemen, who will probably come here in case the meet is held, the most widely known is the world famous jockey Nat Ray, with whom numerous Peterborough people are acquainted. He is one of the most versatile horsemen in the business and during the past season has achieved considerable distinction as a waggon artist, as well as a rider.

He has purchased a string of runners and trotters of his own, which he will campaign next season.

THEIR RETIREMENT REGRETTED

At last night's meeting of the City Hockey League, a motion was recorded to the effect that the league greatly regretted the retirement of Vice President Joe. Maher, and Secretary Ira D. Moore. Owing to reasons that prevent them doing so, neither of the above gentlemen were in a position to again accept the offices they had occupied so satisfactorily, and it was with much reluctance that their withdrawals were accepted.

Messrs. Maher and Moore have proved highly capable and non-partisan officials and their discontinuation of active participation in City League matters will be regretted by all concerned.

THE RING

Tommy Burns, of Preston, Ont., the champion of all Americas arrived in London on Wednesday, for the purpose of meeting Gunner Moir of London, for the world's heavyweight championship. Burns stands 5 ft. 7 in. and weighs 175 lbs., rather a small man for a heavyweight.

He is accompanied by his manager, Mr. Billy Neal, a well known sporting man of Oakland, Cal. While journeying across the States on his way to England, Burns was slightly injured in a railway accident. His right arm, which he brings a good deal into play, is bruised, but the Canadian expects to be sound by the time the fight is due.

An interview took place at the National Sporting Club, at which it was arranged among the chief parties interested in the event, that the fight should be postponed until Dec. 2.

HOCKEY

POOR PROSPECTS.

The hockey organization meeting called for last Saturday evening, did not materialize owing to the small attendance. This has been the case on several occasions, so probably Port Hope does not want a hockey team. The enthusiasts will be content to sit about all winter and hear of the victories in other towns. A last effort to organize will be made on Friday evening, and if you would like to see a fickle sport this winter, attend the meeting in the Y.M.C.A. parlors.—Port Hope Guide.

Will Walk at the Mutual St. Rink

Arrangements Complete for Reynolds-Hartley Contest on November 23rd

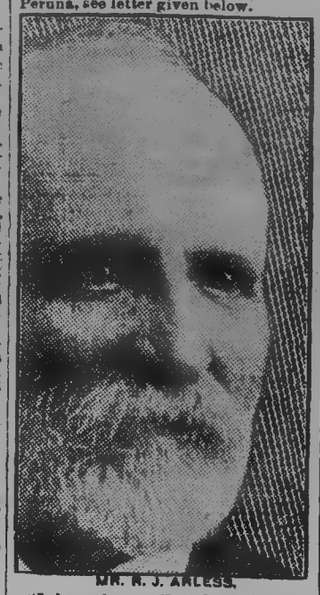
All arrangements have been made for the big walk on Nov. 23rd. Between Reynolds of Port Hope and Hartley of Peterborough. The walk will be for twelve hours, commencing at 11 o'clock Saturday morning, and finishing at 11 the same evening.

As no events are allowed to take place in the Armouries except under the auspices of the Garrison Athletic Club, the match will be pulled off in the Mutual Street Rink on a sawdust track. The rink is altogether too small for an event of this kind and 12 hours' continuous walking on such a small course will be very difficult.

There will be 22 laps to a mile. However, it is as fair for one as the other, and Reynolds is willing, to take the chance. The 60 per cent. of the gross receipts which go to the contestants will be divided 60 per cent. to the winner, and 40 to the loser.

NASAL CATARRH PRODUCES DEAFNESS RELIEF IN PE-RU-NA.

Mr. R. J. Arless, 401 City Hall Ave., Montreal, Quebec, is an old gentleman of wide acquaintance, having served thirty-eight years in the General Postoffice of Montreal, a record which speaks for itself. Concerning his use of Peruna, see letter given below.



MR. R. J. ARLESS.

"I have been afflicted with nasal catarrh to such a degree that it affected my hearing.

"This was contracted some twenty years ago by being exposed to draughts and sudden changes of temperature.

"I have been under the treatment of specialists and have used many drugs recommended as specifics for catarrh in the head and throat—all to no purpose.

"About three years ago I was induced by a confrere in office to try Peruna.

"After some hesitation, as I had doubts as to results after so many failures, I gave Peruna a trial, and am happy to state that after using eight or ten bottles of Peruna I am much improved in hearing, and in breathing through the nostrils."

THE RACE AT BOSTON

Boston, Nov. 12.—Ten of the teams in the six days' bicycle races, which started at the Park Square rink yesterday, had made 312 miles flat at 7 o'clock to-night, and the eleventh Mahan and Bizarri, had made 311 miles and 9 laps.

During the afternoon there were several sprints by Wiley and Anderson and Keegan and Mitten, who made desperate attempts to get a lap on the big leaders, realizing that on even terms at the end they will have little chance to jump ahead. Once they got away for half a lap, and again for nearly two-thirds of a lap, but each time the field was after them and closed up the gap.

There were several falls, due to punctures, and it was thought that someone was throwing tacks on the track to make the race more interesting to the spectators.

SENIORS VS. THE JUNIORS

At Riverside Park on Saturday—Meet at Mac's at 8 O'clock

The rugby team held a practice at Riverside Park last night and are taking advantage of every opportunity to be in good shape for the championship game with the Intercollegiate winners. On Saturday at 2.30, the seniors will play a picked team from the Kamons and Crescents and other junior players.

The members of the Rugby Club are requested to be at Mac's cigar store tonight at eight o'clock to attend the performance at the Grand tonight, as the guests of the management. Mr. Ernie Wilson has also been honored with an invitation and will accompany the members of the club.

Will be in Flourishing Condition This Season

Brilliant Prospects for the City League—Annual Meeting Held at Y. M. C. A. Last Night—Many Teams Will Play in League—Mr. Fred A. Clarke Re-elected President.

The City League gives bright promise of producing hockey of better quality next winter than it ever has done since its organization. The entrance of Norwood and possibly Keene in addition to the Suburbs of Lakefield, T. A. S., High Life's, Strathcona, and probably Charlotte Street shows that there will be a large representation of teams in this league.

The annual meeting held last night in the Y.M.C.A. was very successful and all present seemed to be of the opinion that the coming season would be a particularly good one. And their hopes do not seem to be without foundation for good solid reasons. In the first place the number of teams that will play in the league gives proof that there will be something doing all the time and the fact that there will be no O. H. A. teams in Peterborough should materially increase the gate receipts. Although the material at the disposal of the majority of the teams is said to be first-class, the respective clubs are keeping dark those players from whom they will be able to pick their sevens.

President Fred A. Clarke was in the chair last night, and was unanimously elected to fill the highest in the club again this season. Although sometime ago, it was his intention to retire from the presidency, he re-considered the matter and after much persuasion on the part of those interested, finally consented to again take the office.

In the retirement of Vice-President Maher and Secretary Moore, who withdrew from their respective offices, much against the wishes of all who attended the meeting, the league loses two of its most enthusiastic and capable officers. Mr. Maher said much as he regretted, it, it was impossible for him to accept the vice-presidency this season, owing to the pressing nature of his business interests. He said this league would have his hearty support, however, and he would attend the games and render any unofficial assistance he possibly could. Mr. Moore said that it would be utterly impossible for him to act as secretary treasurer next winter, as he was going to be out of the city.

President Clarke didn't make any chairman's address, and called upon Secretary-Treasurer Moore to read his annual report. The report was as follows,—

SECRETARY'S REPORT.

The season of 1906-07 was the third year for this league, in Peterborough, and was in some ways more successful than the previous year. There were six clubs in the league, namely, Strathcona, Charlotte Street, Lakefield, Auburns, High Life's and Orphans.

After playing through a single schedule, three extra games had to be played, the Strathcona Hockey Club winning the cup from Charlotte Street, last season's champions by a margin of one goal. The games were all interesting, but as a rule, were not patronized as liberally as they deserved. This league during the past season, accomplished its aim in developing players for higher circles, sending two players to the Peterborough team, and it will be the aim of the league to do further development work. Financially the league did very well considering the fact that we had an extra team in the league, necessitating extra games, as well as games to decide the championship.

Total receipts of monies received in trust for the teams amounted to $366.75 against which we had expenditures of $211.75, the balance being divided equally among the six teams.

In the league monies we had a balance from last year of $2.50 which together with receipts amounted to $19.50. Our expenditure against this amounted to $15.80, leaving a balance to our credit for this year of $3.70.

With the hearty co-operation of At the conclusion of the report he gave the statement of the finances for last season, and also read the minutes of the last meeting. The two reports and the minutes as read were adopted.

It was decided to take $10 from the trust fund of each club to be devoted towards the expenses in connection with the banquet at the end of the season. It was moved and seconded that Norwood be admitted to the league, and Messrs. Pearce and Doherty, who represented the hockey club from that town were given to understand that their entry would be a most welcome one. A modification of the clause of the constitution, stating that only ten certificates would be issued to each club was made, and the above restriction now only applies to teams in this city.

Mr. Pearce, on behalf of Norwood, explained that it would probably greatly inconvenience the team he represented, if ten certificates were all that could be obtained by them, and thought it advisable to grant the Norwood Club more, as they should require to draw from their reserved strength if any of the regular players found it impossible to come to the city to take part in the league games.

Much discussion was indulged in as to the probable arrangements that could be made with the rink company for the use of the ice this winter, and a committee, consisting of the officers of the club was finally appointed to look after the matter.

THE OFFICERS.

The election of officers resulted as follows,—

Patrons and Patronesses. — Mr. and Mrs. John Finlay, Norwood; Mr. and Mrs. Nugent, Mr. and Mrs. T. B. McGrath, Mr. and Mrs. (Dr.) Wightman, Mr. and Mrs. R. F. McWilliams.

Hon.-Pres.—Hon. J. R. Stratton.

Hon. Vice-Pres.—Geo. N. Graham.

President.—F. A. Clarke.

1st Vice-President.—C. G. Graham.

2nd Vice-President.—Harry Morgan.

Secretary-Treasurer. — Bert T. Huston.

LESS RHEUMATISM HERE

How to Prepare Simple Mixture to Overcome Dread Disease.

To relieve the worst forms of Rheumatism, take a teaspoonful of following mixture after each meal and at bedtime;

Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces.

These harmless ingredients can be obtained from any good pharmacy and are easily mixed at home by shaking well in a bottle.

This prescription states a well-known authority, forces the clogged-up, inactive kidneys to filter and strain from the blood, the poisonous waste matter and uric acid, which causes Rheumatism. Relief is generally felt from the first few doses.

As Rheumatism is not only the most painful and torturous disease, but dangerous to life, this simple recipe will no doubt be greatly valued by many sufferers here, who should at once prepare the mixture to get this relief.

It is said that a person who would take this prescription regularly, a dose or two daily, or even a few times a week, would never have serious Kidney or Urinary disorders or Rheumatism.

Cut this out and preserve it. Good Rheumatism prescriptions which really relieve are scarce indeed, and when you need it you want it badly.

Some Changes in the Schools

Principal Davidson of Norwood Resigns—Mr. Frappy Engaged for Public School

Norwood, Nov. 12.—The Board of Education met on Nov. 12. Present, Messrs. Squire, Waters, Brackenridge, Campbell, Stevenson, Cuffe, Harrison, Robertson, Doherty, Drain, Elliott and Webster.

The minutes of the last regular meeting were read and adopted.

A communication from Mr. J. Frappy was read, accepting the position of Public School Principal at a salary of $800, from January 1st, 1908. A communication was read from Mr. J. Davidson, tendering his resignation, to take effect at end of the present term.

Moved by Messrs. Robertson and Campbell, that the communication from Mr. Frappy be placed on file, and that the secretary be instructed to have the usual agreement signed. —Carried.

It was moved and seconded by Messrs. Elliott and Harrison, that Messrs. Doherty, Harrison, Cuffe, Brackenridge and Squire be a committee to wait on Mr. Davidson to see if there is any means by which his services can be retained, and to express the appreciation of this Board for his services in the past; and if there is no ground on which they think they can meet, that they advertise for a principal to fill the vacancy at once.—Carried unanimously.

The chairman reported that the Government grant to the Model School of $150 had been received and deposited.

Moved by Messrs. Drain and Doherty, that the salary of the High School Principal be placed at $1,000. The matter was left with Messrs. Squire and Robertson to advertise.

Account, K. G. Thompson, supplies, High School, $9.91.

Moved by Mr. Brackenridge, seconded by Mr. Harrison, that the account be referred to the Supply Committee, and, if found correct, to pay it.—Carried.

The chairman requested the secretary to write the Government at Ottawa, asking for a copy of the book treating on the wild flowers, one copy to each school.

The Board then adjourned.

PASSED AWAY.

There occurred in Norwood on Monday last the death of Miss Adella Richardson. Deceased had been ailing for some time. She was a sister of Messrs. W. Richardson, of this place, and A. Richardson, of Tilsonburg. The deceased was well known and respected by many friends in the vicinity. She was a member of the Methodist League. The funeral took place on Wednesday and proceeded to the Norwood cemetery.

Parlor Car is Well Patronized

But it Should be Left at Rear of Train all the Way

The parlor car, which is attached to the local C. P. R. express, leaving here every morning at eight o'clock for Toronto, is largely patronized by Peterborough people. The service is good, but some local travellers, think that the passenger coach which is taken on at Burketon should not be attached at the rear of the parlor car. It should be placed in front of the parlor car, the latter being left at the rear of the train, so that the brakeman and certain passengers would not be continually passing through the parlor coach all the time. This they feel is very annoying and as a parlor car is supposed to be private there should not be so many interruptions, and constant travelling through the aisle.

It is understood that Mr. C. B. Foster of Toronto, district passenger agent will be petitioned to have the parlor car, left at the extreme rear of the train, all the way to Toronto and return.

Selling Cattle at Bargain Prices

Kingston, Nov. 13. — A panic has struck the farmers in the east of Addington over the probable shortage of fodder, and there was a wholesale slaughter of stock, meat and hides being sold at most ridiculously low prices. A farmer says more loss to stock has occurred unnecessarily than will take the next five years to redeem. Fodder is fairly plentiful and pasturage has been unusually good all fall, but high prices tempt the farmer to part with his fodder and sell his stock. Beaver hay sells at $15 a ton and cows from $5 to $8 each. Who ever heard of this like before!

Bruce Ridpath Appears Before The Royal Family of Germany

Lakefield Boy in His Canoeing Feats Takes Berlin by Storm—News From the Village on the Lake.

Special to the Review.

Lakefield, Nov. 13. — The Grove School was very much in evidence at the football match between Westmount and Peterborough, and did its duty nobly in rooting for its county team. The boys' enjoyment of the match did not end in Peterborough, however. On the home journey the leather lungs of the youngsters did not grow stiff from lack of exercise. The Grove Squawkettle, composed of Messrs. Glass, Bradshaw, Clarke and "Tick" Smith, provided delicious music, their rendering of the time-honored melody, "Twenty-seven bottles hanging on the shelf," being simply awe-inspiring in the weird effects produced by the happy blending of the falsettos and flats.

Mrs. Rigby, who had been spending a few days on a visit to friends in the village, left for Port Hope on Saturday last.

The young men of Lakefield will give their annual "at home and dance" in the town hall on Friday next, Nov. 14. The officials for the occasion are Messrs. C. L. Bickell, J. Kidd, R Kidd and S Garbutt.

Mr. Chas. Stirling, of Sudbury, is in the village visiting friends.

There is some talk of a Literary Society in connection with the Methodist church. Mr. Fred Brown has the matter in hand.

Mr. Bruce Ridpath, who is now in Germany, engaged at a high salary, to appear in his canoeing specialties at the Berlin Hippodrome, had the honor recently of appearing before the royal family. It will now be in order for the Examiner to claim him as an "old Peterborough boy." Bruce seems to have taken the German capital by storm, as he has been re-engaged for two weeks longer at an increased salary. The Germans tried at first to play a slim trick on him by getting some of their other artists to endeavor to emulate his feats. After they had met with several mishaps and upsets they gave the thing up in disgust.

Mrs. Chas. Tanner will hold her first reception since her marriage on Thursday, Nov. 20.

Rev. W. J. Creighton spent a few days last week visiting friends in Toronto and Lambton Mills. Mr. Mackenzie took duty at St. John's church in his absence.

RAINBOW ON ROCKS

The "Rainbow," of Peterborough, stuck on the rocks in the river just before the first lock, on Monday last, and after three hours' delay was hauled off by the "Bob Hall."

The Misses Blomfield left Lakefield early this week for Toronto, en route for their new home in British Columbia. Mr. Blomfield will follow in a few days. The family will be greatly missed by many relatives and old friends in the village and vicinity.

Messrs. R. Carter and H Young came into Lakefield from Peterborough, for a short visit on Sunday last.

Mr. A. S. Butchart left on Monday last for a few days' shooting at Burleigh.

Messrs. E. A. Kilbourn and George Baptie departed on Monday last for Turtle Lake for a few days' hunting with the Baledon—Baptie party.

Mr. Everett came in from Drummondville on Sunday last to spend the day with his family.

On Thursday of this week, Mr Arthur Marshall, who has been a resident of Lakefield off and on, for two years past, leaves for his old home in England. He will be missed greatly by the many friends he has made in the village.

Miss G. Tate, who has been visiting friends in London, Ont., returned home on Thursday next.

Messrs Bert Kidd and Percy Spence returned from their chase after the wily deer on Monday last.

Miss Clara Davis and Miss Paul were in Peterborough on Sunday last visiting friends.

Mr. W. Hurl was in Peterborough on business on Monday last.

Mrs. Sage, who met with such a serious accident a few days ago, is now progressing well toward recovery.

Inner Swinging Doors for the Opera House

Lettered Panels to Replace Fire Exit Lights—Many Improvements

There's nothing improves like improvements. The same spirit that prompted Manager Turner to beautifully decorate the foyer of the Grand Opera House, transforming it from a bare place of entrance to one of artistic elegance, has caused him to have new swinging doors constructed inside the one leading to the auditorium of the theatre. These doors will replace the curtains that have been hung inside the entrance door and will serve the dual purpose of blocking the draught from the outside and saving the audience being annoyed by the noise made by the people walking on the steps leading to the balcony.

Another step Mr. Turner will probably carry into effect in a short time is the arrangement of the boxes so that those occupying them will be more private and secluded to a greater extent from the view of the rest of the audience. The red lights on the fire exits will be replaced by glass panels, on each of which will be painted in conspicuous letters, "Fire Exit." The management are of the opinion that in case of a fire, prominently lettered panels would be more noticeable than the lights, hence the modifications.

The improvements that have been made to the Grand since it has exchanged hands are many, and executed in good taste, making this popular house one of the most attractive of any in the smaller, and in many instances, larger cities in the Dominion.

More Hotels are Needed in Lindsay

The Post Comments Interestingly on the Situation

The Lindsay Post says:

Peterborough's big hotel scheme is taking shape. The National Hotel has been acquired by the North American Investment Co. of Toronto. The building—already one of the largest devoted to hotel purposes in that city—is to be doubled in size, and at the same time will be made modern in every respect.

There's room in Lindsay for a first class hotel, properly furnished and conducted. The constantly growing trade and the cutting down of the number of hotel licenses from 13 a few years ago, when the population was about 6,000, to eight at the present time, when the population is about 7,500, has led to a state of congestion. Travellers have to double up, sleep on cots, dormitory style, and submit to other unwelcome expedients. There is no better opening in Canada for an up-to-date hotel man, who will make the comfort of guests his first consideration, than exists in Lindsay at the present time if we may believe the stories told by travellers.

How the Wires Will be Put Through Pipes

Machine Telephone Tells How the Trick Will be Turned

Large numbers of citizens have been lying awake nights pondering on how the telephone company is going to get its wires through the pipes after they are already buried. Some queer solutions of the puzzle were offered.

One man stoutly maintained that they would take a mouse with a string tied to its tail to one manhole, and at the other would place a bit of cheese. The mouse, smelling the cheese, would get after it and so take the thread through the pipe, when a cable would be pulled through and then the wires. Another opinion was that a man with a strong breath would blow the wires through. Still another, that one of our crack shots would put a bullet through with a wire tied to it. Magnets to draw the wire through, water to float a tethered cork through, animals chasing each other through, and even a whiskey barrel at one end and a dry man at the other were among the ways proposed to overcome the difficulty.

To settle the many disputes a Lindsay Post reporter took it upon himself to gain some information from the head man, Mr. W. H. Clytle.

"Oh," he said, "that's simple enough. Why, you know, we have lengths of steel rod which fit together with a ball and socket joint, and we shove one after another in at one manhole till the chain is complete to the next. A steel cable is then fastened to the last rod, and a man at the other end commences to pull in the rods and disconnect them one by one, till the cable is in his hand. He then draws away till the wires, which are hitched to the end of the cable, come to the manhole at which he is. The operation is repeated from manhole to manhole throughout the town, till the whole service is laid. Simple, isn't it?"

A Problem in Mathematics

A Proposition for Bright Minds to Work on

Here's a problem for the man or woman who likes to juggle with figures:—

"If I engage two clerks on Jan. 1," said a merchant, "at $500 a year each, with the understanding that one is to get a raise of $100 every year and the other a raise of $25 every half year, which will draw the bigger salary?"

The proposition is an interesting one to work on and contains some surprises. The correct answer to the merchant's query will appear in the Review in the near future and in the meantime local mathematicians might give it a whirl. Answers sent to the Review will be published.

The City Council of Toronto yesterday asked the county judge to investigate the charges against the Parks Department.

Says Mr. Burnham's Views Are Worth Serious Consideration

Toronto Sunday World's Editorial Comment on Recent Address of Peterborough Man Before the Canadian Club of Perth.

The Toronto Sunday World has the following editorial comment on the address recently delivered by Mr. J. H. Burnham, before the Canadian Club of Perth,—

Canadian Clubs seem to be accomplishing steadily the purpose for which they were formed—extending and strengthening national fellowship. From modest beginnings these organizations have increased in number and in membership, until now nearly every city in Canada, and many small towns have their clubs where the younger element of the Dominion meet and hear discussed by capable speakers, the most outstanding topics, affecting Canadian and imperial life.

Though the last loud echoes of the riots at Vancouver have died away there still lingers in many parts of the country a feeling that the problem of Asiatic immigration is not dead. People are beginning to look at the situation with a wide view. The question has broadened out and it is now whether or not the citizen population of the Dominion, practically all white, must gradually retreat before the aggressive hordes of yellow men. It is perhaps one of the best topics for thought and study, which have come before the young men of this land. It is they who in future years will be confronted by a similar situation, perhaps, as that which now faces the Dominion Government.

When Rudyard Kipling spoke before the clubs of Toronto and Ottawa, he expressed views on the oriental immigrant, which have not met with unanimous approval.

A few nights ago, J. H. Burnham, now of this city, and an able student of state affairs, spoke before the Canadian Club of Perth, upon "The Immigration Problem." His address was a rapid-fire attack on the folly of opening wide the nation's door to all, who flocking to Canada by reason of governmental stupidity in subsidizing companies for bringing them, would like the Gauls of Ancient Rome, or the Chinese in Modern Africa, tend to reduce Canadian life to their own level. Mr. Burnham's ideas are worthy of serious consideration. At the outset he said that there was a demand for labor, but that was no reason why we should darken the face of our land with Hindoos, Chinese, Syrians, or other branches of the great alien Shemitic race. We are an Aryon people and those of our race, who went east to India in the days of long ago, have long since lost their identity. We are, he maintained, face to face with the most insidious form of the yellow peril. It is better that the G.T.P. should wait until we catch up to it than that we should hand over the priceless west to a hostile and dangerous people. In any other form, such an action would be termed madness, but in the name of supply and demand, it is held as a Heaven-sent remedy, a find of gold or a sure cure, for, indeed, the very evils which it would create. Kipling seemed to forget the ever-present thorn in the flesh of the Canadian people when he counselled Canadians in his address at Ottawa, to welcome warmly their friends the Orientals. At Toronto he was more cautious, but in Ottawa, he seemed, to have been thinking so imperially that he forgot to think individually, said Mr. Burnham. This is a serious mistake, for if Imperialism means the submergence of individual nations of the empire, such as Australia and Canada, in one discolored mass, it will not last long enough to be given a fair trial. Each nation must be allowed freedom of choice in all things directly affecting itself, at least, and if to please the others any one part of the empire, is to be subjected to a deluge of Asiatics, alien in race, and hating the white man as only the yellow one can, then it were better, that we should continue, as at present, loyal to the Crown and also to ourselves. The alarm of the west was brought home to Ottawa, he said, when the offer was made to forward the next batch to the capital city. The tour of the Doukhobors, was a pilgrimage of fanatics, said the speaker, who, encouraged to come to Canada, have ungraciously renounced it in order to seek the southern west, of the United States. Perhaps their resolve to go without clothes may have unfitted them for zero weather, but the black eye they have given us by their protest against our winters will not wear off in many a long day. The original plan of admitting victims of loathsome diseases without restriction, fortunately stopped before we succeeded in committing national suicide, but the secret importation of the yellow man has suddenly taken its place. Trade, even prosperity, at such a price, would be bought with the ruin and downfall of this free white and progressive country, Mr. Burnham claimed.

Some Observations on Three Churches and Three Schools

The Extension of George and Aylmer Streets—The New Park in the South End—Reflections of a Sunday Afternoon Ramble—A Few Hints for Board of Education.

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—I suppose it is no more harm to take a walk on a quiet Sunday afternoon than it is on any other day. I took a sort of David Hartley walk last Sabbath — so far as length is concerned—and in the course of an hour and a half's pedestrianism, I saw several things, came to certain conclusions and am going to let you know about them, providing you will afford me space in your valuable medium.

I started at the corner of George and McDonnel streets and, looking over the Central Park, the facade of the new Collegiate Institute is most pleasing. The building is architecturally well proportioned and beautiful, and there is no denying that the contractors, Messrs. Langford & Sheehy deserve a word of praise for the expeditious manner in which they have carried out the work on this $6,500 structure. But, Mr. Editor, I am afraid the attractiveness of the building is somewhat detracted from by the roof, which is altogether too flat. There is not enough pitch to it. The sense of angular proportion is some way all out of kilter. I do not like to judge unfinished work but take a look at that roof yourself and I think you will agree with me. Walking by the building on the McDonnel street side, the Collegiate is really a much larger structure than appears from the front. But that flat roof. I cannot get over it, and if I once got on it, I would not be a bit afraid of slipping off.

Now, as to the new armoury, operations there are hidden by the old drill shed, which was erected in 1867—just forty years ago. The armory will be an immense edifice, and the brick work is laid up to a height of four or five feet. Considering the vast amount of labor in connection with the foundation, good progress has been made. I walked on along McDonnel street until I came to Reid and there passed the works of the William Hamilton Co—an industry started in 1847 but, after 60 years in constant operation, is now closing down, the machinery and general equipment being offered for sale. Oh what changes time does bring. Think of the men that have gone in and out of those shops for years and years, who will no longer earn their daily bread there. Many a time has served his apprenticeship there, become a first-class journeyman, and later a foreman in one of the departments—but then change is the law of life.

I passed on and gazed with interest on the new St. Peter's school and its well kept grounds. This edifice is certainly a credit to our Roman Catholic friends. The building is neat, artistic and inviting in appearance, and at the top is a lecture room capable of seating 600 or 700 pupils.

Where is there another educational institution in the city that can boast of such a commodious assembly hall as this. The builders exercised wisdom of a far-seeing nature, both in the site selected and the conveniences provided in this building.

Mr. Editor, I am mentioning the favorable as well as the unfavorable. The erection of the new Collegiate Institute, the armory, St. Peter's school etc., all evidence Peterborough's progress. The closing of the William Hamilton Works is unfavorable, and here is another evidence. I looked over the yard of St. Peter's school and on Downie street I noticed a large vacant dwelling with a "to let" sign on it. What is it? Why, it is the former college of music, conducted for years by Mrs. W. J. Morrow, until recently Peterborough's piano virtuoso, but now residing in New York. Thus the city will miss one centre of musical culture and refinement. But I must continue my peregrinations.

At the corner of Reid and Charlotte streets is located the Charlotte street Methodist church. That congregation, I believe, intends to erect a $30,000 structure, one capable of seating 1,000 people, giving double the accommodation of the present edifice. It is said that the building will be put on the present property. Where are they going to get ground? They will certainly have to build out over the street or away up in the air. The move for new churches in ward one is contagious. Next I sauntered to All Saints' and there some excavation work has been done by the Anglicans on Rubidge street preparatory to erecting a new house of worship, the people having outgrown the present one. I walked several blocks further south and looked around for Park street church. At first I could spy neither the old or the new one, but the building idea has struck the Baptists too, and the old frame sanctuary has been moved across the road and the former location left vacant for the new place of worship.

No actual building operations have as yet been commenced, but as the building scheme is well under way success is bound to come. They say that Charlotte street Methodists are Manning their enterprise with sufficient force to see it carried through to a successful completion next year; All Saints' people desire a Major structure and will get it, and the Park-st. Baptists always am-Brace every opportunity to augment their building fund. Still some people affirm that there is nothing in a name.

Down to Romaine street I went and walked smartly until I arrived at the corner of Aylmer, which thoroughfare is being extended by the city through to Romaine. A couple of brick houses are now being removed to make the way clear. Here another new church is under construction. The excavation is completed and the concrete foundation is well under way. It is the new Roman Catholic edifice and it will be a handsome structure. The location is in every way eligible, and the building will, when finished, be nearly as large as St. Peter's Cathedral. Messrs. Langford and Sheehy have the contract and are losing no time on the job.

I "pedestrinated" down past the new King Edward school. This is a plain, but substantial building with ample grounds around and although opened less than two months ago is already well attended. The members of the school property committee should at once get busy on three things. Green blinds adorn the windows on the first and second floors, but why should there not be blinds or curtains on the third floor windows, even if the rooms on this flat are at present unused. The exterior appearance of the building demands that they be put up at once so as to present uniformity at least. The building is approached by nicely laid out concrete walks, but huge mounds of sands have been left around. Why have not the grounds been levelled? Another thing, a little one perhaps, but small items count much in the aggregate—a large glass in the door on the north side has been broken and the opening boarded up. Why was not a new light put in? Just think of no blinds on part of the building and a door boarded up! Yet our children are supposed to be neat and careful, while the Board of Education sets them a very bad example. There are two stones over the main entrance. On the higher one the year of the erection of the school has been carved, but on the lower stone no chiselling has yet been done. Why has the name "King Edward School" not been carved there? Trustees attend to this! There is no palliation for delay.

The land just east of the school, lying between Aylmer and George streets, and owned by the Board of Education—about three acres in extent—will make an excellent park for the south enders when it is graded and trees planted. I hope that the City Council will be successful in their negotiations with the Board of Education for its purchase and, if the latter are short of money, they can divert some of the cash received from the sale of the property to purchasing a few more blinds and a pane of glass for the King Edward school.

And last, but not least, George-st. has been opened up from Wescott-st. where it formerly terminated, through to Romaine street—one block. No sidewalk has as yet been laid, but a person may drive or walk through.

Here's hoping Mr. Editor, that by this time next year, should I walk around the south ward, that George and Aylmer streets may be extended through to the exhibition grounds, and that the new park may afford a welcome resting spot for

A TIRED TRAVELLER.

NOVEL BANQUET DREW GROWDS

Excellent Menu Provided by the Shredded Wheat Company

Nearly 500 People at Banquet and Concert at Charlotte Street Church

The Canadian Shredded Wheat Company's complimentary banquet and concert held at Charlotte street church, last night, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society and choir, was one of the most novel and successful events of its kind ever held in the city. The menu was provided entirely by the Shredded Wheat Co., of Niagara Falls, Ont., and that the different "dishes" prepared from the Company's products, were relished, goes without saying.

The event was held in the Sunday school hall, and the number in attendance was a surprise to the most sanguine. The handsomely decorated tables seated about 125 persons, and they were filled three times before all the people had banqueted. Nearly 500 were served during the evening, and the waitresses had one of the busiest times in their lives. The service was excellent, however, and the ladies in charge deserve great credit for the complete arrangements made. The menu was as follows:—

Creamed Chicken in Shredded Wheat Biscuits.
Pickles.
Cold Ham.
Triscuit and Butter.
Jellied Fruit Sandwich with Whipped Cream.
(Pure Gold Jelly)
Triscuit and McLaren's Cheese.
Shredded Wheat Ice Cream.
Huyler's Chocolate Triscuit.
Fruit.
Pure Gold Coffee Salada Tea

THE PROGRAMME.

After the banquet was over, an excellent programme was given, Rev. Mr. Manning acting as chairman. Vocal solos were rendered by Mr. D. Campbell and Mr. H. Morphet, both of whom had to respond to encores. Several recitations by Greta LeBar fairly brought down the house. The little tot is remarkably clever and possesses great ability for one so young. Mr. Charles Barber sang "Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep," in good voice, and a reading by Miss L. Thomas was encored. A duet by Mr. and Mrs. Greenslade was among the best numbers on the programme and was received with enthusiasm. During an intermission in the programme a vote of thanks to the Canadian Shredded Wheat Company was moved by Mr. Kidd and seconded by Mr. H. P. Kennedy, and carried with applause. The representative of the company, Mr. F. Hewitt, made a suitable reply, giving a brief account of the way Shredded Wheat products are manufactured, and told something about their value as products. The banquet, he said, went to show that Shredded Wheat could be prepared into many delicious dishes, and was something more than a breakfast food.

The Ladies' Aid Society and the choir will realize a handsome sum as a result of the banquet and concert, while the Shredded Wheat Company have had a splendid advertisement for their products.

Court Stanley Hold an "At Home"

Commemorating the 18th Anniversary of the Society—An Interesting Programme

The 18th anniversary of Court Stanley, Ancient Order of Foresters, was marked by a most successful "At Home" held in the society's lodge rooms, Hunter street, last evening. The event was attended by a large number of members and their wives and lady friends. The first part of the evening was spent in pleasant intercourse, afterwards Bro. T. Hendry called the gathering to order and an interesting programme was rendered.

In his opening remarks the chairman referred to the reason why the "At Home was being held. It was in commemoration of the organization of Court Stanley in Peterborough, 18 years ago. The local branch started out with a membership of fifteen, and now it has 166 and the prospects are bright for many more new ones.

The programme was as follows:

Quartette.—Misses Evans and Flowers, and Messrs. Scrimshaw, and McCabe.

Song.—Mr. Chambers.

Banjo Selection.—Messrs. Ellis and Reed.

Comic Song.—Mr. Featherstone.

Cornet Solo.—Mr. Simmons.

Duet.—Misses Kennedy.

Song.—Mr. T. Crowe

Vocal Solo.—Miss O. Howell.

Banjo Selection.—Mr. Frank Clarke.

Vocal Solo.—Miss Anna Kennedy.

Vocal Solo.—Mr. Pratt.

Particular mention must be made of the excellent rendition of Scotch songs by the Misses Kennedy. Miss Anna Kennedy sang "Robin Adair" in a faultless manner and was forced to respond to an encore.

The presence of Mr. H. C. Wilson, High Court Treasurer of Toronto, added much to the interest of the gathering. In a brief address he made a few congratulatory remarks to those present on the success of their anniversary "at home." He was pleased that the local order had prospered during the past eighteen years and hoped they would continue to do so. The Society had rapidly grown all over Canada. The large number ladies present also showed that the Companion Lady Foresters were also progressing.

The Ancient Order of Foresters is world wide. Wherever the British flag flies there is a branch of the Society. "Every man should protect himself and those dependent upon him," said the speaker. To any young man not already identified with any fraternal organization he urged them to join the Ancient Foresters. The Court Treasurer concluded by wishing the local branch continued prosperity.

Refreshments were then served and a very pleasant time was brought to a close by the singing of the National anthem.

The following committee are to be congratulated on the excellent manner in which the arrangements for such an enjoyable evening were carried out:—Messrs. T. Hendry, H. Hanwell, Jas. McDonald, S. Adlam, R. J. McWilliams, H. Anderson and J. Detcher. The committee desire to thank all those who took part.

Thank Offering of Fraser Band

Interesting Missionary Meeting Held in St. Paul's Church

The annual thank offering meeting of the Fraser Mission Band of St. Paul's church was held last evening. The members of the W.F.M.S. were invited, and there was a good attendance. Miss Drummond, the president, presided and gave a short opening address. There was responsive reading, and Miss Lillian Moore sang, "Hold Thou My Hand," in good voice. Rev. Dr. Talling gave a most interesting address on thanksgiving. He spoke of how we should be thankful that we were born in a Christian country and contrasted our happy condition, with that of Japan, Russia, China, and other countries. The thank offering amounted to about $35.

AMUSEMENTS

THE DANITES

H Wilmot Young and Co., drew another large house last night, when they presented "The Danites," a stirring western drama. The plot of the piece is intricately woven, and left room for plenty of action, the opportunity being taken full advantage of by the company. Many of the scenes were of a striking and picturesque character.

H Wilmot Young and Marjie Adame Young essayed the principal roles in a thoroughly satisfactory manner and were given able assistance by the supporting cast. Harry Lindley was again seen in a part congenial to his happy vein of comedy, and was a favorite with the audience.

A change of specialties was put on and the different vaudeville numbers were very warmly received.

Owing to the popular demand for the piece, "East Lynne" will be the production tonight.

Costs More to Talk Across the Border

Long Distance Phone Rates to American Cities Increased

Bell telephone subscribers desiring long distance connections between Peterborough and United States points, will now have to pay the same rates on both day and night messages. Formerly the night rate was about half that of the day rate, and in view of the considerable amount of long distance 'phoning between this city and Chicago, and other United States points, the change will have an important meaning.

The alteration in the rates is due not to any action of the Bell Telephone Company, for their rates remain the same, but to the recent announcement of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, which controls the United States end of the Bell lines.

Mr. F. W. Doan, local manager of the Bell Company, explained to the Review today that the special night rate to American cities had been abandoned and was now the same as day rates. The Bell Company of Canada has not advanced the figure, but the American connecting companies have. The American company collects all the revenue the moment the messages reach their lines, and the Canadian company will not share at all in the increase of rates, but it would be necessary for the local company to charge the rate on all American messages as established by the new order of the American Telephone Company.

YEAR'S WORK IS NEARLY OVER

Board of Works Gangs are About Finished for the Season

In a few days the Board of Works will have completed the bulk of its work for the season at least as far as outside operations are concerned. The crossing gang has finished for the season and has been laid off. One of the sidewalk gangs is finishing up some sewer work and the regular sewer gang is about through with the sewer on Cedar street. A number of men are employed on the extension of George street, but this work will be finished in a few days.

The city engineer will have a statement in a few days, of all the work done during the season, which has been an exceedingly busy one.

The chairman of the Board, Ald. Duncan, deserves great credit for what has been accomplished. He has been active in rendering good service to the city, and the amount of work put through by the Board of Works, is an evidence of his good management.

SLIGHTLY ASTRAY

The Toronto Star says:—"Work on the new Normal Schools at Hamilton, Stratford, Peterborough and North Bay will soon be started. Places which were passed over declare that they never saw such an abnormal distribution of normal schools."

If the Star had said that the new Normal Schools in the foregoing cities were nearly completed, it would have been much nearer the mark.

Fewer Failures in Canada Than for Several Years Past

Toronto, Nov. 12.—Bradstreets of Saturday last speaks in a decidedly optimistic tone of commercial prospects in Canada, and the opinions of those who would have us believe that trade is likely to be quiet in the country for some time are not in any way substantiated by reports from wholesalers or retailers whose business comes from all parts of the country. In fact, the very opposite is the case. Tight money may naturally be producing some effect upon manufacturing, but the growth in Canada's population and the general expansion and development in all directions—while possibly, and wisely, held in check by a disposition not to rush into expenditures not absolutely necessary at present—cannot be permanently influenced. The critical fourth of November has been passed with fewer failures than for some years.

Nearing End Of the List

Court of Revision is Making Good Progress With Appeals

All Protests Will Have Been Heard To-morrow Night—Last Night's List

Appellants with surnames commencing with R. and S. held the boards at the meeting of the Court of Revision last night. The claims of about 25 appellants were heard and judgment was reserved in all but one case. The Court will meet again tonight at 7 o'clock, and the letters to be taken up are from T. to Z. inclusive. This will bring the court to the end of the list and then judgment will be given in the different cases.

The following were the appeals heard last night:

The Largest Consignment in Seven Years

Local Liquor Firm Receive Large Supply of Imported Liquors

One of the largest consignments of imported liquors ever received in Peterborough, was billed through the local Customs House today. There were over 200 cases of various kinds of imported liquors, and the consignee was the well known firm of Alex. Elliott & Co.

One of the Customs House officials stated today that it was one of the largest consignments of liquor that had ever been billed through the local port of entry and easily the largest within the past seven years. The duty on the liquor is $2.40 per case, so that the Customs House receipts were increased by over $500 as a result of the receipt of the shipment.

Deer Was Shot in Alnwick Township

Mr. Ezra Houghtailing did not need to go to the unexplored wilds to get his venison for this season.

Mr. John Lamey had noticed a deer on his farm and on informing Mr. Houghtailing, that gentleman procured a license and at once went after his game, which he found feeding on a field of fall wheat on Mr. Lamey's farm and bagged it at once. There is also supposed to be another deer in that locality. The deer must have swam across the lake or river to get to the place where it was seen, as it is not at all likely that it came up from the south. There will likely be some tall hunting up that way until the season closes.—Hastings Star.

Meeting of the Club to Organize Will be Held To-morrow Night

The Karnot Athletic Club will meet tomorrow night at eight o'clock at the Y.M.C.A. for the purpose of organizing a hockey team for the coming season. All the members and others who are interested, are urgently requested to be present, as matters of importance will be discussed. There are several good hockey players among the Karnots and an excellent team can be got together.

SOCIAL SIDE OF Y.M.C.A. WORK

Social Committee Discusses Plans for the Winter

The Social committee of the Y.M.C.A. met last night and discussed plans to enlarge and improve the social work of the association.

It was decided to largely increase the numbers on the committee and form a sub-committee to be called a reception committee. This committee will be responsible for two members to be on hand each evening to receive new members and encourage a social spirit among the members. Plans were spoken of for a large reception to be held on New Year's day and big preparations will be made for an enjoyable occasion on that date.

A series of entertainments, to be known as the Start Course, are contemplated for the early part of the year. Fine talent will be secured and the price made very reasonable for the course.

THE TONIC OF HEALTH
Must be more than a stimulant—must be a food as well.
The "Best" Tonic is FERROZONE, which is both a food and a tonic; it aids digestion, promotes assimilation and converts food into blood, muscle, bone and nerves. No wonder it builds up the weak, makes them strong and vigorous!

FERROZONE
THE GREAT FOOD TONIC
FERROZONE contains exactly what your run-down system lacks. It supplies oxygen to purify the blood, phosphorus to develop the brain, iron to harden the muscles.

London Extends Hearty Welcome to the Kaiser

Emperor William the Centre of a Gorgeous Display.

His Majesty Says Peace Has Been His Sole Aim—Recalls Reception at Guild Hall in 1891—Promises to Strengthen Good Feeling Between England and Germany—Looks Ill and Haggard.

London, Nov. 14.—Emperor William of Germany, the guest of King Edward, made a speech yesterday at the Guild Hall, where he was entertained by the City of London. He urged the strengthening of the Anglo-German relations and emphasized his unalterable desire to foster the peace of the world. The day passed off without the expected Socialist demonstration, much less any disorder or rioting.

The reception given Emperor William by the people of London has been respectful, but compared with that given some other royal visitors of recent years, it was in no sense enthusiastic. The atmosphere, which has prevailed during his appearance in public, has been tinged with decided coolness, and there is no doubt that the English officials are relieved that the passages of the German Emperor through the streets of this city took place yesterday without any disagreeable incidents.

The anti-German feeling among a large section of the English people, which just at present is particularly strong, derived fresh impetus from the antagonism which cropped out between the two nations on various lines during the recent Peace Conference at The Hague.

Emperor William evidently intends that his visit shall inspire better feelings, but the results of it remain to be seen. However cordial relations between the ruling houses of Great Britain and Germany may be, the British public does not share these sentiments. A large section, if not a majority of the English people, persists in believing Germany to be Great Britain's one enemy among the nations, and this enmity has been fanned recently by continuous warnings from some of the leading newspapers and relatives, as well as from military experts, that Germany's chief naval and military activity is directed toward schemes for the invasion of England—that Germany plans to surprise England some day when she is fully prepared to strike suddenly, just as Japan surprised Russia. "The German invasion" is becoming a hobby of the anti-Germans and a subject of ridicule for the pro-Germans; the idea has, however, unquestionably affected the mind of the public and it is tended to surround with suspicion Emperor William's professions of his desire for peace.

At Guild Hall an address of welcome was presented to the Emperor in a magnificent gold casket. In reply, His Majesty recalled his previous reception at the Guild Hall in 1891, and emphasized his unalterable desire to foster the peace of the world. His Majesty, during his remarks, said:

"I said then, on this spot, that my aim is above all the maintenance of peace. History, I venture to hope, will do me justice in that I have pursued this aim unswervingly ever since. The main prop and base for the peace of the world is the maintenance of the good relations between our two countries, and I will further strengthen them so far as lies in my power. The German nation's wishes coincide with mine. The future will then show a bright prospect, and commerce may develop among the nations who have learned to trust one another."

The Emperor and Empress after lunch returned to Paddington station on their way back to Windsor, by different route, and everywhere were greeted in the heartiest manner by the large crowds of people assembled.

Emperor William appeared to be in splendid spirits throughout. He laughed and joked with his immediate neighbors, but he looked haggard. His face was pale, thin and drawn.

Novel Suit Against C. P. R.

Ottawa, Nov. 14.—Edwin Mostyn has filed a writ against the C. P. R., claiming $2,000 damages for injuries sustained in an expected collision which failed to occur.

While on the way to Kingston recently with the body of his wife, a conductor rushed into the car and told the passengers to jump for their lives as a collision was at hand. A wild scramble ensued, wherein Mostyn says he was trampled first in the car and afterwards when outside.

Cobalt Stabbing Case.

North Bay, Nov. 14.—At the general session before Judge Leask, now in progress, J. H. Campbell, committed for trial from Cobalt, charged with stabbing Mary Crawford, was discharged, the jury finding no bill. Campbell and his wife kept a house of ill-fame.

Rex v. McGuire verdict not guilty. McGuire was accused of assaulting a constable in Haileybury at a roadhouse.

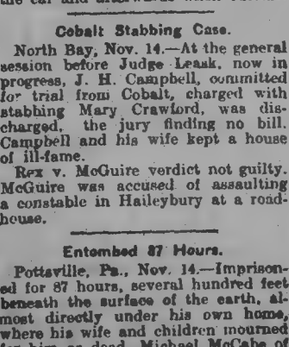
Entombed 87 Hours.

Pottsville, Pa., Nov. 14.—Imprisoned for 87 hours, several hundred feet beneath the surface of the earth, almost directly under his own home, where his wife and children mourned for him as dead, Michael McCabe of Gilberton was yesterday taken from his tomb in the Draper mine, barely alive.

Relays of workmen toiled unceasingly to reach him.

Dublin Jewels Restored?

London, Nov. 14.—A despatch from Dublin Tuesday night says: A rumor is in circulation here of a very sensational character concerning the disappearance of the Dublin Castle jewels. It is said that they have been restored and are at present in safekeeping at the Birmingham Tower, where they reposed before they were taken away.



EXPLOSION FELT 60 MILES.

One Man Blown to Bits and Second Cremated.

Columbus, Ohio, Nov. 13.—Two men were killed and three or four other persons injured yesterday in an explosion in the Hercules nitro-glycerine factory at Bradner. The factory was demolished and a number of houses shattered in the town.

W. Cisco was blown to pieces, not even a shred of his body being found. John Washburn died a horrible death, lying screaming on the ground among the debris and burning to death.

The explosion was felt generally within 60 miles of Bradner.

Cheap Light For St. Kitt's.

St. Catharines, Nov. 14.—From present indications St. Catharines will obtain street lighting for the next five years at a price below $39.50 per night. That was the price of the Stark agreement, but since the failure of that company to fulfill its contract. The Lincoln, a subsidiary of the Cataract Power Co., has been supplying light for $72.50.

Now the Falls Power Co., a subsidiary of the Ontario Power Co., is dickering with the fire and light committee, and is said to be willing to pay the Stark Co.'s debt and fulfill the contract at a better price to the city than $39.50.

2,000 Miners Idle.

Vancouver, B. C., Nov. 14.—Tuesday the Granby and Snowshoe mines at Phoenix, employing 500 men, closed down tight, said to due to the low price of copper.

The Mother Lode mine is reported to be doing likewise, and the three smelters of the district will be blown out and idle probably by to-day, making 2,000 men out of work.

I. C. R. Death Toll.

Bathurst, N. B., Nov. 14.—An unknown man, well dressed, about 20 years of age, was killed by an I. C. R. train yesterday morning. The body was terribly mangled.

Five persons have been killed by I. C. R. trains since Saturday last. Most of the victims were intoxicated.

Caledonia Station Destroyed.

Hamilton, Nov. 14.—There was a costly fire at Caledonia this morning when the G. T. R. station, a mammoth grain elevator, many thousand feet of lumber and a coal pile were consumed. The damage has been placed at $15,000, with insurance $5,000.

Manitoba farmers suffer severe losses from hail, and the four insurance companies doing business will have to pay $329,369.

RADCLIFFE IS NERVOUS.

Hangman Does Not Relish Approaching Execution of Collins.

Moncton, N. B., Nov. 14.—Thomas Radcliffe of Toronto, professional hangman, passed through Moncton yesterday morning en route to Hopewell Cape to superintendent the preparations for the execution of Thomas Collins and to conduct the last act in the Albert County tragedy to-morrow morning. Radcliffe arrived on the maritime express and appeared to be in a nervous state. His hands trembled as he talked and he said he had never felt so badly about any previous execution as this one, since the evidence was so largely of a circumstantial nature and so strong a fight had been put up to save Collins from the gallows.

Speaking of the execution, Radcliffe said he did not approve of using the same gallows as was employed at Dorchester in the last execution there and said he thought a new one would be built. The professional hangman was the object of a great deal of interest here. As soon as his identity was learned scores of people crowded around the car in which he was seated.

LEMIEUX IN JAPAN.

Arrives at Yokohama and Will Be Received by the Emperor.

Tokio, Nov. 14.—Lemieux, Postmaster-General and Minister of Labor of Canada, arrived on the steamer Empress of China last evening. He was received at Yokohama by Count Toramima, representing the Japanese Department of Foreign Affairs.

A program for the entertainment of Minister Lemieux will not be arranged until his wishes in the matter are known. He will be received in audience by the Emperor on the latter's return from the army manoeuvres.

The Japanese Government understands that Minister Lemieux comes as a representative of the Canadian Government for the purpose of discussing and investigating immigration matters, and that he brings an indefinite plan for their settlement.

The Japanese Government considered that its present plans now in progress, looking toward the control of emigration, would be satisfactory to Canada, and it is not likely that the visit of the Minister will result in any material change.

RELEASE $1,000,000 RESERVE.

Will Probably Be Used to Relieve Demands of Grain Trade.

Ottawa, Nov. 14.—Enquiry goes to show that the present gold reserve held by the Dominion Government in security for the bank note circulation, and totaling between forty-eight and fifty million dollars, is about one million dollars more than is actually required.

No doubt this will be set free so as to relieve the demands of the grain trade at the present juncture, but even this amount may not afford more than a temporary relief, as the elevator companies rely upon the banks for practically all that is required, not only to purchase the grain from the farmers, but to margin it until it has been actually sold and delivered abroad.

The banks chiefly interested in the grain business are said to be the Imperial, the Bank of Commerce, the Dominion, the Bank of Hamilton, and, to a lesser extent, the Union Bank.

A Dominion Department.

London, Nov. 14.—(C. A. P.)—Lord Elgin issues copies of a despatch sent to the Premiers of the self-governing colonies respecting the reorganization of the Colonial Office. It enlarges the scheme Elgin outlined in the House of Lords, dividing the office into three departments, one the Dominion's department, crown colonies department and the general department. The secretariat of the Imperial Commerce linked the Dominion's Department, without being entirely merged therein.

Lord Elgin says the reorganization is made in a strong desire to promote the interests of all parts of the Empire and produce efficient, sympathetic treatment on the manifold questions which arise. He asks for cordial co-operation.

Predicts Hot U. S. Campaign.

Des Moines, Ia., Nov. 14.—Congressman J. A. F. Hall, chairman of the house committee on military affairs, said yesterday, after returning from Washington, where he saw the President:

"Roosevelt will be forced to accept the nomination and be elected President for four years more. Bryan will be the nominee of the Democrats and the country will see the hottest campaign in history."

Collision on Soo Branch.

North Bay, Nov. 14.—A head-on collision between two freight trains on the Soo branch of the C. P. R. near Blind River Tuesday afternoon caused considerable damage to rolling stock and delayed traffic many hours, the Soo express, eastbound, reaching North Bay 18 hours behind time.

Brakeman Pendergast of Webbwood had both legs broken in the wreck.

Killed In Collision.

Montreal, Nov. 14.—As the result of a collision between two ballast trains on the G. T. R. at St. Polycarpe, Fireman A. E. Hope sustained such serious injuries that he died early yesterday morning.

One of the trains was standing at the station when the other crashed into it, damaging the engine and three cars.

Quebec Bridge Enquiry.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 14.—The local investigation of the Quebec Bridge disaster will be completed this week. For three weeks they have been inspecting the plant of the Phoenix Iron & Bridge Co. and examining the plans, correspondence and officers and engineers.

MOTHERSILL WON CASE

Suit at Brampton For Alienation of Wife's Affections.

Sensational Evidence For the Defence—Man In White Mask Took Defendant's Clothing—Counsel Calls It a Put Up Job—Daughters Testify Against Their Mother—Jury Only Out Twenty Minutes.

Brampton, Ont., Nov. 14.—A case which created a great deal of attention in Peel and Halton Counties, was completed yesterday afternoon at the Peel fall Assizes. John Henry, a farmer of Chimquancansy Township, brought action against Joseph Mothersill, a neighbor farmer, claiming unstated damages for the alienation of his wife's affections.

The plaintiff charged that an unlawful intimacy existed between the two for some years, which ended in June last, when Henry, returning home unexpectedly discovered Mothersill in company with his wife. He at once attacked and abused him, forcing him to return home in the middle of the day minus his trousers. The plaintiff was subjected to a severe cross-examination by Mr. Robinette, but stuck to his storey.

The two daughters of the plaintiff, attractive, educated young women, with tears in their eyes and plainly manifesting the painfulness of the position in which they were placed, corroborated their father's story, while at the same time showing no malice against their mother. Mothersill testified in his own behalf, and denied everything. He said he was at Henry's house to see the plaintiff on business, that he was pounced upon by Henry and another man, who was masked, abused, stripped of his clothing, and sent out, the object being blackmail. That he had told his wife on the Monday following.

Mrs. Mothersill, their two sons, and a long list of witnesses were called to show that Mothersill was a good husband and citizen, and that the surrounding circumstances were against Henry's story. Mrs. McConnell, a sister of Mrs. Henry, swore that her sister had told her that it was all a put-up job. T. C. Robinette acted for the defendant, and H. Dewart for the plaintiff. The addresses of counsel and the charge of the judge occupied nearly the whole day.

The judge's charge was a most comprehensive review of every detail of the evidence and required nearly three hours in delivery.

During a very nice reference to his wife and daughters, by the judge, Henry cried till the tears ran down his cheeks. The jury did not regard the case as so difficult to decide, for after 20 minutes' deliberation they brought in a verdict for the defendant, Mothersill.

GETS THE LIMIT.

Alex. Watson to Serve Two Years For Embezzlement.

Toronto, Nov. 14.—Alex. Watson, who, as local manager of the Canadian Oliver Typewriter Co., defaulted with $200, as well as eloping with his secretary, was yesterday sentenced by Judge Winchester to two years in the Central. He had served a term of six months for embezzlement in England.

"But that was four years ago," Watson pleaded, "and I have been in Canada only one year."

"You don't waste much time following in your old footsteps," remarked his honor.

Watson admitted that he had been married before in England. But from this alliance, he said, he had been freed by a divorce from the high court.

Thieves Rounded Up.

Hamilton, Nov. 14.—The police last night rounded up a gang of four young men whom they suspect of having had a hand in some of the many house robberies that have been reported during the last few weeks. The men are: Walter Hildreth, better known as "Soldier" Doyle; H. Campbell, a brother of Campbell, and George Young. The men had a large quantity of goods on them when arrested, and the police think this will be identified as property that has been stolen from various houses.

Child Accidentally Shot.

Picton, Ont., Nov. 14.—A sad accident occurred at Point Traverse, this county, yesterday. The two children of a Mr. Farrington, Viola, aged 16; and her younger brother, were alone in their home. Viola was in one room and her brother in another.

The brother states he heard a rifle shot and upon going into the room where his sister was found her dead with a rifle lying beside her.

She had, it is supposed, been playing with the gun which was loaded, and accidentally discharged it, killing herself instantly.

Owen Sound Liquor Cases.

Owen Sound, Nov. 14.—The liquor cases occupied the Police Court all day and if all the charges are treated in detail it will take the balance of the week to finish.

The charges against Henderson and Fogarty were dismissed, as was also one of the charges against the Patterson House.

Stork Visits Queen Helena.

Rome, Nov. 14.—Queen Helena yesterday morning gave birth to a daughter.

King Victor Emmanuel and Queen Helena, who were married in October, 1896, now have four children.

King Victor Emmanuel has decided to call his new-born daughter Giovanna.

Two Stewards Arrested.

Montreal, Nov. 14.—A steward and an under-steward of the Empress of Britain, named Carph and Davis, were arrested yesterday morning on a charge of smuggling passengers over on board the ship. They will be tried at Liverpool.

Abraham Summers is under arrest at London, charged with setting fire to a straw stack. He is thought to be insane.

"Unfair and Arbitrary" Says Mr. Justice Anglin

Judge Roasts Magistrate and Frees the Prisoner.

Justice Anglin Quashes Conviction of Streetsville Man—Severely Criticizes "Justice" as Dispensed by Brampton Bench—Trial Was Unduly Hurried — Accused Had No Chance to Defend Himself.

Toronto, Nov. 14.—"I have rarely heard of magisterial authority being more unfairly and arbitrarily exercised than it appears to have been by the police magistrate in this case. His course was entirely contrary to the spirit which happily pervades the administration of justice in this country," says Justice Anglin yesterday in quashing the conviction by Magistrate Robert Crawford of Brampton of James Farrell of Streetsville, who had been charged with selling liquor without a license. Farrell had been sentenced to four months in jail.

Defendant alleged that no evidence had been submitted at the trial that his had been a second offence; and that the liquor sold was "local option" beer.

"But," says the judge, "perhaps the most serious complaint of the defendant, is that he was not allowed fair or reasonable opportunity to make his defence. The offer made by the magistrate to grant an adjournment on the payment of $10, even if not withdrawn, as the accused swears it was, scarcely requires consideration. He was refused even an adjournment of a few hours and was compelled to proceed with his trial without witnesses, without opportunity to present a defence, apparently substantial and bona fide, and defended by a counsel chosen not by himself but by the magistrate who tried him."

SUMMARY INJUSTICE.

Five Men Shot by Order of President In Hayti.

New York, Nov. 14.—Private advices from responsible foreign sources in Hayti give details of the execution of five political prisoners recently reported in a despatch from Minister Furniss to the State Department.

According to these advices some few weeks ago several men were arrested and condemned to death on the charge of conspiracy against the Government. One of the men was condemned because he had made a military coat for another man, and another was condemned because he lived in a house between two others, and in each of the two a rifle had been found.

On Oct. 30 someone put a rifle cartridge on the train lines, and the first passing engine exploded it. The President at once had five of the condemned men taken to the burial ground and shot. The names of the five men were Helvetius Traversier, Alexander Delaunay Moise, Nestor Dumay, Edouardne Edouard and Eximе Jean.

It's winter like today mon.

THE SHORTEST SOLDIER.

How a Young Kansan Under the Required Height Got into the Army.

Charles L. Dagan of Keats, Kan., a young army recruit who enlisted in Kansas City and left with a squad of recruits for Jefferson Barracks, near St. Louis, is probably the shortest soldier in the United States army. His height is five feet two inches. He was accepted only on the recommendation of President Roosevelt, to whom he wrote explaining the situation after he had been rejected on account of his height at the auxiliary recruiting station at Topeka early in April.

Dagan had entertained the hope of becoming a soldier for a number of years. He is now twenty-two, and, having no one dependent upon him, he went to the recruiting station to enter the service. He passed a rigid examination save for his height, but the news that for this reason he could not become a soldier did not deter him. He had decided to become one and promptly wrote to President Roosevelt explaining the situation. He made an earnest appeal to the chief executive, and the frank, earnest manner in which he couched his plea seemed to strike the president as that of a man who would make a good soldier.

This is probably the first instance of an acceptance of an application for enlistment in the army when a discrepancy of two inches in the required height existed. The minimum height as stipulated by the war department is five feet four inches.

Dagan is of almost perfect build, weighs 130 pounds and has a five inch chest expansion. He expressed a desire to enlist in the cavalry and be sent to the Philippines. At Jefferson Barracks he will be assigned to a regiment of cavalry under orders or preparing for orders for Philippine service.

Petrie Committed For Trial.

Ingersoll, Nov. 14.—Harry Petrie, charged with having committed a serious offence on Eliza Darrow, an aged woman, was yesterday afternoon committed for trial by Magistrate Morrison.

B. C. Legislature Called.

Victoria, B. C., Nov. 14.—The Legislature has been called to meet Jan. 16.

Dr. Sheard in an address before an audience of teachers at the Guild Hall yesterday in Toronto, spoke of the necessity of treating children with care and gentleness as a sudden shock was likely to bring on St. Vitus dance.

A GIGANTIC BABY.

Centralia, Ill.—Mrs. Joe Robinson gave birth to a child weighing nineteen and a half pounds. Two years ago, she bore a baby which tipped the beam at eighteen pounds.

It is easy to see that Mrs. Robinson enjoys perfect health. Many women will envy her, because they go through life, wretched and dispirited on account of ill-health. Mrs. Mary Shoreham, of Toronto, suffered for years with diseased ovaries, constant pain in the back, headaches, indigestion and sallow, yellow skin. "Seven months ago a lady friend recommended Fruit-a-tives," writes Mrs. Shoreham, "and I decided to try this medicine, though I had little faith in it, because the doctors said an operation was necessary. After I had taken four boxes of Fruit-a-tives I was free of all pain, and was well again."

"Fruit-a-tives" are made of fruit juices and tonics and are the best medicine in the world for women. 50c.

SLEEP AND DEATH.

Neither Pain Nor Consciousness at the Instant of Either.

The phenomenon called sleep may be summed up in the following propositions, says a writer in the Cosmopolitan:

First—Sleep is temporary death of the functions of the sensitive system, due to exhaustion by fatigue.

Secondly—This death is temporary because the vital system continues to perform its functions during sleep and restores the sensitive organs to their normal condition.

For our purpose death may be considered under the three heads—natural death, sudden death and death from disease. Natural death is death from old age. It differs from natural sleep only in degree.

The gradual loss of sensibility by the sensitive organs which precedes sleep now takes place in the vital system, and all the organs pass into permanent sleep together. There can be no pain preceding or at the moment of such a death, any more than there is pain preceding or at the moment of passing into temporary sleep.

Sudden death may be defined as death due to a sudden injury from without or within the body sufficient to destroy at once all irritability of both the sensitive and vital systems. It requires no argument to prove that a person who is suddenly stricken dead can suffer no pain. The element of time must be present in order to suffer physical pain, and in the sudden death of a person the element of time is absent.

We come now to consider the third and by far the most frequent form of death—namely, death from disease.

As soon as disease is established dying begins, which is but a more rapid than natural ceasing of all sensibilities, accompanied with more or less suffering, according to the cause which produces it. This dying and suffering, called disease, must terminate either in so called death, which is insensibility to it, or in recovery, which is removal of the cause of it. But in any event the suffering has been endured, no matter whether the final termination is death or recovery.

No one is conscious of or can recall the moment he passes from waking into natural or temporary sleep. Nor shall we, by a "supreme agony" or in any other way, be conscious of passing into permanent sleep.

Being born and dying are the two most important physiological events in the life history of our bodies, and we shall know no more about the latter event at the time it occurs than we did about the former.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

Few men have courage enough to be timid and admit it.

You can't correct a mistake by telling how hard you tried.

Opportunity rarely comes to the man who spends all his time waiting for it.

Nearly every one imagines he is getting more than his share of hard knocks.

Content is like your eyes, nose or any other feature—to have it you must be born with it.

Until they come most any man will tell you how he would get the upper hand of burglars.

After a woman succeeds in getting her husband afraid of her she never can hope to get him in love with her.

A man may think he knows more than a doctor, but he is apt to listen when a lawyer tells him he needs a change of climate.

Most Prized Austrian Decoration.

The most prized decoration in Austria corresponds to the British Victoria cross, and its value arises from the rigorous conditions for obtaining it and the fidelity with which they have been observed. It is known as the Maria Theresa cross. "It shall be an inviolable rule," says the foundation statute, "that no person, whoever he may be, shall be admitted to the order for any other consideration than long service or wounds received before the enemy and not for any reasons of birth, favor or influence." "We ourselves join hands on this subject," adds the empress founder. The recipients of the cross are ennobled ipso facto.

PASSEPARTOUT PICTURES AND MOUNTING BOARD

The fad for passepartout pictures is again growing very general. Many who have used this means of decorating their rooms, find there is no other way of treating pictures, that is so economical and satisfactory. The Review has a new line of passepartout in all shades, mounting papers and pictures in the popular sepia tints. Call and see them and fix up a few pictures for your friends for Xmas. Nothing is more acceptable than a pretty picture.

FRUIT GROWERS IN SESSION.

Many New Varieties of Apples Are Being Tried.

Toronto, Nov. 14—The Ontario Fruit Growers' Association opened their forty-eighth annual convention in Victoria Hall yesterday.

President Harold Jones of Maitland commented upon the satisfactory growth of fruit growers' associations during the past year and, in presenting the report on new fruits, Prof. Macoun of Ottawa held that the most successful apples were originated in the country. Over $1,000 had been wasted in Eastern Ontario in the endeavor to grow American and European varieties.

"The market is opening quickly in England," said Chief McNeil of the Dominion Department of Agriculture, at the afternoon meeting, "and we can grow apples here that can compete successfully with British growers." Especially down on the Lake Erie district would, the speaker recommended, the planting of fall apples and leave the winter varieties to more northern parts of Ontario.

J. A. Ruddick gave some interesting things about the old country markets for our apples. Tasmania was sending many apples to the English market, which were well received. "You ought to pay more attention to the dealers there," said the commissioner, "for the dealer will not handle the goods on which he can not readily make money."

Hon. Nelson Monteith occupied the chair.

RAIDING BIG LOTTERY.

First of Series of Arrests Have Been Made In Chicago.

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 14.—A morning paper yesterday says:

"The biggest lottery in operation in the United States, which has been running for more than twenty years with headquarters in Chicago, is claimed to have been exposed Tuesday night by arrests in this and other cities. The United States secret service men assert that the promoters of the scheme have made millions of dollars, and that there are big men behind it who will yet be reached.

Under the name of the Old Reliable Guarantee Loan & Trust Co., it is alleged the lottery maintained three luxuriously furnished offices and a large printing establishment here.

The secret service men from the records that they have obtained expect to make more than 200 arrests.

An attempt will also be made to involve express companies as agents or accomplices under the Federal act.

BULLET PIERCED ABDOMEN.

Another Fatal Gun Accident While Duck Shooting.

Niagara Falls, Nov. 14.—Roswell Aughney was shot by a rifle in his own hands Tuesday. Aughney is 17 years old. He went down into the gorge with a 22-calibre rifle to shoot ducks. He killed a duck but could not reach it, and waited for it to drift ashore. When it came near, he took the rifle by the muzzle and reached out with the butt to draw the duck in. Just then the rifle discharged and the bullet pierced Aughney's abdomen. The young man did not realize the seriousness of the wound, and walked up a long hill before he collapsed. At the Memorial Hospital the surgeons hold out very little hope for his recovery.

Hearst Charged With Libel.

New York, Nov. 14.—Yesterday Judge Wyatt, in the Court of General Sessions, refused the motion to dismiss the complaint against William R. Hearst, who is charged by William Astor Chandler with criminal libel. The charges against Mr. Hearst grew out of the mention of Mr. Chandler's name in The Evening Journal relative to charges of misconduct with young girls against Raymond Hitchcock, the actor.

Two of Mr. Hitchcock's former servants were examined yesterday. Both testified that one evening two young girls went to Mr. Hitchcock's house at Great Neck, and Mr. Chandler came to the house and spent the evening with them and with Mr. Hitchcock. One of the servants, when asked to pick out Mr. Chandler in the audience, stopped in front of him, but would not say positively that he was the man she saw in the house, although she thought he was. The other woman, when asked to pick out Mr. Chandler, pointed confidently at Mr. Hearst, much to the amusement of lawyers and spectators.

Vautelet Has Large Bill.

Montreal, Nov. 14.—H. E. Vautelet has an action against the Dominion Government for $49,343, for plans prepared for a permanent wharf shed here. Hon. J. I. Tarte swore he had given the order, and the plans had been prepared by the Department of Public Works, of which Mr. Tarte was then head. The Cabinet, he says, discussed the matter. Defence, it is said, will be that the Government had never authorized the plans.

Arrested Customs Clerk.

Montreal, Nov. 14.—Arsenault, the customs clerk arrested Tuesday, is held on a serious charge. A search of his house disclosed $5,000 worth of goods taken from the customs warehouse since the fire. It seems he has been working at the burned building and took a parcel home every night.

Buy Land From Grey Nuns.

Montreal, Nov. 14.—The Government have purchased from the Grey Nuns in this city property to the value of $400,000, on which to erect a new customs house and examining warehouse.

Two Years For Stabbing.

Brantford, Ont., Nov. 14.—Padgoring, a foreigner, who stabbed another foreigner named Debroski some six weeks ago, was Tuesday sentenced to two years in Kingston Penitentiary.

Elevator Falls.

Canton, O., Nov. 14.—The passenger elevator in the McKinley Hotel dropped four storeys Tuesday night and three persons received probably fatal injuries.

Havelock Sherwood, of Avondale, N. B., confessed to improper relations with a 13-year-old immigrant girl and was committed for trial.

A Giant Spoon.

It is said that the largest spoon in daily use is the wooden soup stirrer at Rilo monastery. The old spoon at Rilo is famous. It has been used for more than twenty years and has had predecessors of its own kind for centuries. It has stirred soup for thousands of refugees who have sought safety in the monastery from the persecution of the Turk. The monastery was built in mediaeval times. It has a curious kitchen. It is a room twenty feet square, but nearly one hundred feet high. Its rock walls gradually slope together as they rise, forming a dome with a hole about a foot in diameter at the top. A depression in the earth floor holds the fire, made of pine logs. Over the fire is hung a great iron caldron, which holds more than twenty gallons of soup. The cook climbs up on a big square stone and stirs the soup with the great spoon. The smoke from the pine rises with the steam of the soup to the dome and out through the opening.—Boston Transcript.

Manager Central Ontario Sun Life of Canada

Peterborough, Ontario.

DEAR SIR,—

Your favor of the 24th inst. received enclosing statement of profits allotted to my policy 7001, in the "Sun Life" for the past five years.

Above policy is for $1,000 on the whole life five year distribution plan on which I paid an annual premium of $28.35, or $141.75 for the five year period.

I find the CASH PROFITS amount to $53.85, or about 40 per cent. of the total premiums paid during the five years. This is certainly a splendid showing and speaks volumes for the earning powers of the Sun Life Company's investments.

Thanking you and wishing your company continued success,

Yours truly,

Very Valuable Deposits of Graphite

Peterborough Men Have Secured an Option on a Large Tract of Land and Are Now Prospecting

Mr. M. Carton, East City, Tells About the Recent Discoveries

Property Will Soon Become Very Valuable

The discovery of graphite, a valuable mineral, in Haliburton county, about a year ago, has aroused a great deal of interest and three local gentlemen have recently taken an option on a piece of land seven miles from Goodorham, on which it is said graphite is present in large quantities.

Mr. M Carton, east city, is one of those interested in the enterprise and returned home Tuesday night after spending several days in the back country examining the land on which they have taken an option.

"Judging from the appearance of the surface of a large tract of ground, graphite is to be found in large quantities back there," remarked Mr. Carton to a Review representative last night. "Whether or not it is imbedded in the rock to any extent cannot be ascertained until a shaft is sunk. The local prospectors who are interested, have not decided upon anything definite as yet, but will know in a short while what course they intend to pursue."

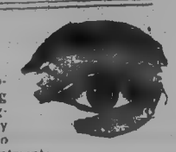
Graphite is used in the manufacture of several things and Mr. Carton stated that there was no other place in the Dominion where it has been located. Stove polish and pencils are made from this mineral and at the present time manufacturers of these in Canada have to import it from England. Mr. Carton has been in communication with an English company who turn graphite into a refined state and they have offered to buy from the local men, the graphite just as it comes from the mines if they decide to operate. But if the mineral in its refined state has to be imported here, it would be much cheaper to have it go through the process of refinement in this country.

In case the mines should be operated, transportation would be very convenient as they are situated just one mile and a half from the railroad that runs to Gooderham. The decision of the local prospectors to operate these mines will be awaited with interest by a large number of people.

In speaking of the hunting in Haliburton county Mr. Carton stated that the deer were apparently plentiful this season. From early morn until evening the woods resound with the din of the dogs and the noise of the rifle shot. Several parties are hunting in Haliburton county and all are meeting with great success. A Lindsay party had procured five fine bucks, and one of the gentleman in company with Mr. Carton, returned to the city with three splendid deer.

Mr. Carton presented the newspaper with a fine specimen of graphite.

Dr. Browett's Dates at Peterboro'



His Successful Visit. For the past few weeks Dr. Browett, optical specialist, has been teaching opticians at Midland. A large number of persons have taken the opportunity of Dr. Browett's visit to that thriving Georgian Bay port to have their eyes examined for glasses, and thus save themselves the expense of a trip to the larger cities. While there people from Penetanguishene and other adjoining towns have visited him and several very difficult cases have been helped. Dr. Browett will before visiting his next teaching appointment, spend Tues. to Sat., 12th to 16th at his home office at our store and conduct examinations for those for whom we are making appointments.

Arrangements Completed for The Banquet

Hon. J. D. Rolland Will Speak—Other Prominent Men Invited

All arrangements have been made for the banquet to be held at the Oriental Hotel on November 20th, under the auspices of the Board of Trade. One hundred tickets are being issued for the affair, which promises to be a most auspicious one.

Hon. J. D. Rolland, president of the Canadian Manufacturers Association will be the guest of the evening, and will deliver an address. What his topic will be or along what particular lines he will speak, has not been announced.

Hon. Senator Cox, Messrs. Frederic Nicholls, Toronto, Robt. Stuart, Chicago, and Mayor McWilliams have also been invited to attend.

Hon. Mr. Rolland will arrive in Peterborough on Wednesday morning and will spend most of the day in looking over the plants of local manufacturing concerns. He will also visit other points of interest in the city. A committee from the Board of Trade has been appointed to look after the reception of the guest.

J. S. McDonald was sentenced to four years in the Dorchester Penitentiary for robbing North Sydney post office.

The banquet will of course be held in the evening and no doubt will prove a great success.

SCRIBE GOT SODA WATER

A local newspaper man was "soaked" today, not at the police court or in a hotel bar,—but with soda water. People along George street, this morning, were surprised to see him rushing out of a confectionery store, with soda water running out of his hair and from his clothes. Enquiries revealed the information that someone had turned a siphon of soda on him, and soaked him good and plenty.

Collegiate Cadet Corps to Be Inspected Next Week

Some of the Officers of the Collegiate Institute Cadet Corps.

The annual inspection of the Collegiate Institute Cadet Corps will take place on Tuesday of next week. The inspecting officer will likely be Col. Young of Kingston. In past years the inspection has taken place in June, but this year, for various reasons it was not advisable to have it at the usual time. The corps is in good condition and should appear to good advantage when on parade before the inspecting officer.

Unknown Man Caught Lady by Arm as She Walked on Street

And the Woman Severely Rebuffed Him for His Insolence.

'TWAS A MISTAKE

He Thought it Was His Mother Who Was Out Visiting

Having an unknown young man come up beside her and grasp her by the arm was the unpleasant and somewhat startling experience of a well known Peterborough lady on Monday night of this week. It appears that it was all a mistake, but the lady didn't wait to find that out and no doubt has been regaling her friends with stories of the attempted "hold-up."

The lady was walking south along George street, a short distance north of Dublin street, when a young man walked up behind her and took hold of her arm. She looked around and, not knowing the person by her side and resenting his attentions, shook him off with vigor and proceeded rapidly on her way.

It is learned that the young man who accosted the lady, belongs to a most respectable family, had gone out to meet his mother, who was visiting as a neighbor's. The lady he accosted on the street was about the same height as his mother and was wearing a coat similar to the one worn by the visiting matter. In stepping up and catching the lady by the arm, he thought he would give his mother a little surprise, but made a mistake for once. He was greatly embarrassed when he discovered that it was a case of mistaken identity and does not care to discuss the incident in public.

It is hard to say which one of the pair was the most scared, the lady when the young man caught her or the young man when he discovered his mistake. Each seemed anxious to get away from the other's company as quickly as possible. The biggest joke of it all is that the young man and his supposed victim are very close neighbors, but apparently do not know each other.

A citizen has stated to the Review that he believes that many of the "hold ups" that have recently occurred are the results of mistaken identity.

Sudden Death of a Former Local Woman in Toronto

Mrs. Tilly Clark-Rundle Passed Away Suddenly While Attending an "At Home" at Annesley Hall.

A Toronto despatch says:—Whilst attending an "At Home" at Annesley Hall Mrs. Tilly Clark-Rundle, aged forty, fell down in what her friends believed to be a faint, but which Dr. Temple, who arrived not ten minutes later, declared to be a fatal seizure. Mrs. Rundle came to Toronto about ten years ago from Peterborough, and has since then been living with her intimate friend, Mrs. G. A. Galloway, at 165 Park road. She had often complained of acute dyspepsia, but had not shown signs of any illness that would give her friends any serious uneasiness. She went to the "at home" at Annesley Hall alone. While there she made no complaints of illness, and appeared perfectly well. She was talking to friends at about half-past 5, when she suddenly collapsed and died before medical assistance could be obtained. Mrs. Tilly Clark-Rundle was the widow of the late Mr. Arthur L. Rundle, of Peterborough. The funeral service will be held on Friday night at 8 o'clock, at 165 Park road, and afterwards the remains will be conveyed to Peterborough for burial there.

The late Mrs. Rundle was well known in this city, having lived here for several years, residing on Weller street. The remains will be brought here for interment, but arrangements for the funeral have not yet been made.

This Farmer Was Too Obliging

Lent Horse and Rig to a Stranger Who Disappeared

Wm. Scott, a farmer just outside of Newtonville, is minus a horse and buggy because he was accommodating to a stranger. On Sunday Mr. Scott was at the Temperance hotel in Newtonville and a stranger happened along. He soon joined in the conversation which was going on and told the hotel people that he was engaged taking pictures for a firm in the Old Country. His baggage would arrive in Newtonville the next day, and he was desirous of renting a horse and rig to bring the trunks to the village. Mr. Scott very kindly consented to let him have his outfit, and the following day at noon the stranger visited Mr. Scott's residence while everything was in readiness. He promised to return at once, but since then nothing has been heard of him, and Mr. Scott is minus a fine horse and a McLaughlin carriage. The police have the matter in hand and will use every effort to locate the thief.

The Peterborough Light and Power Company wishes to remind its customers that Friday, November 15th, is the last day discount will be allowed on October accounts. The office will be open during the evenings of the 14th and 15th, from 8 p.m. until 11 p.m.

AMUSEMENTS

"EAST LYNNE"

Although it has been seen here several times "East Lynne" attracted a big house to the Grand last night, when it was most acceptably presented by H. Wilmot Young & Company. Marjie Adams Young appeared as Lady Isabel, and was seen to good advantage in this emotional role. As Archibald Carlyle, H. Wilmot Young was natural and effective. Frederick A. Bigelow as Sir Francis Levison, K. Charles Morse, Harry Lindley and Miss Marie Pursell also acted their respective parts in a pleasing manner. Baby Marguerite was cute and attractive in the child role of Little Willie.

The moving pictures, illustrated songs and specialties, provided good entertainment between the acts and were well received by the audience.

The rugby club were guests of the management at the performance and occupied box seats.

Tonight "Monte Cristo" will hold the boards and in this play Mr. Young will be seen in a part particularly adapted to his abilities as an actor.

THE VETERAN HARRY.

The Belleville Ontario says:—Harry Lindley, name of archaic melody, with his talented daughter, has joined the H. Wilmot Young Comedy Company, and put his age back to thirty, whose nimble period he can proudly adorn. When Harry got off the boat at Brockville the baggageman notified him that there was 25 cents extra on his trunks. "Well, go back and pick it off," exclaimed the generous comedian. The custom official profusely greeted Harry as an old friend, "How are you, Harry?" he burst forth as he offered his hand. "In dout, as usual," leaped laconically from Harry's lips.

OLD FAVORITES HERE NEXT WEEK

Those who had the pleasure of witnessing "The Wages of Sin," at the Grand Opera House last evening, are undivided in the expression that Ernie Marks has the usual run of repertoire companies beaten a thousand ways. The company is strong throughout. It doesn't run to particular stars with invisible satellites. It is well balanced and its repertoire of plays is well selected and not of the days of Adam. The specialty artists which appear each night are well worth the price of admission alone. Bedard & Bedard are of the headline order and are especially good—but so are Lyons & Lyons, Ernie Marks and Kittie Marks, and little Rose Machan. The illustrated songs and moving pictures are of an excellent order.—Kingston Whig.

This company opens a four night's engagement at the Grand Opera House, commencing Monday, Nov. 18th.

On Monday night two ladies or one lady and one gent will be admitted for 30 cents.

Pleaded Guilty to Stealing Ride

Two Young Men Will Spend Thirty Days in Gaol

Shabbily dressed and blackened with the smoke and soot from a C.P.R. engine, two young Englishmen, Peter Leonard and Jas. Thompson appeared in police court this morning charged with entering a government sealed car on the C.P.R. and stealing a ride. They each pleaded guilty and were fined fifty dollars to be paid forthwith, or thirty days in gaol. They were penniless so they will sojourn at Castle Nesbitt for the next month.

It appears that the fellows had been working during the past summer on steamers, one having been employed as deck hand on the "Kingston" while the other occupied a similar position on the "Toronto." Since the lake boats have gone into dry dock for the winter, they have been in Montreal, but were unable to secure work there. They then decided to come to Toronto and having no funds, rode the "blind baggage" as far as Smith Falls. Here they entered the Government box car, which contained whiskey and came as far as this city, where they were discovered by the brakeman. "You will go to gaol for this" said the brakeman when he saw them.

They endeavored to get away, but before they got far the brakeman and a police officer had taken them into custody.

"Where are your last summer's wages?" asked His Worship.

"We sent the money home to Liverpool," they each replied.

"Well, this practice cannot go unpunished. There are always people getting badly hurt in an attempt to steal their way on the railroad," said the Magistrate. The court then gave the offenders each 30 days in gaol.

The Junior Auxiliary of All Saints' Church will hold a New England Supper and Concert to-morrow evening, Nov. 15th. Supper will be served after the programme which will begin at 8 o'clock. Tickets 20c.

OBITUARY

MRS. J. B. WELCH.

The death occurred at Toronto on Tuesday afternoon at five o'clock, of Mrs. J. B. Welch, a former resident of Peterborough. Deceased was 42 years of age and her maiden name was Mary Small, being a daughter of the late Wm. Small, of Dummer. She resided in Peterborough until about years ago and had many friends here. She is survived by two sons, Gordon Brownlee and Walter Hughes, and two daughters, Mrs. Cole and Miss Fennie Welch, all of Toronto; also three sisters, Mrs. W. R. McCracken, of Dummer, Mrs. (Capt.) John Martin, of Peterborough and Mrs. Edward Welch, of Toronto, and one brother, Rev. T. J. Small, of Swift Current, Sask. Two half brothers, Mr. John Hughes, of Ashburnham, Mr. Henry Hughes, of North Battleford, and two half sisters, Mrs. Jas. Little, of Dummer, and Mrs. Jas. Boyd, of North Monaghan, also survive her.

The remains will arrive on the local C.P.R. train from Toronto tonight and the funeral will take place at 2 o'clock to-morrow from the residence of her sister, Mrs. (Capt.) Martin, 601 Rubidge street, to Little Lake cemetery.

Contractor Nott Here on Business

Man, Who Will Do Work on Section of Canal, in City

Mr. Louis P. Nott of Montreal, who has been awarded the contract for section one of this Trent Canal, from Trent Bridge to one mile above Glen Miller bridge—a distance of about four and a half miles—is in the city today. Mr. Nott is a native of Bristol, England, and is an old friend of Mr. Harry Dunsford, of this city.

It is understood that Mr. Nott's contract price is $870,000 and the work has to be completed by March 1909.

A CLEVER VIOLINIST

Speaking of the L.O.L. concert and supper, the Hastings Star says;

Miss Choate's violin selections were something new for a Hastings audience, and it is to be hoped more of the same order of music comes our way, for all were captivated by her playing from her first number to the end.

IN THE SWEET BY AND BYE.

The Car Ferry is still lying in Toronto and the date of its arrival in Cobourg has been indefinitely postponed.

TO KEEP AWAY THE COLD.

Inner doors are being constructed on the rear double doors at the fire hall. It is necessary for the firemen to make provisions for fighting the cold as well as the heat.

DID NOT ARRIVE.

Owing to the bad condition of the roads the Gold Lake Hunt Club did not arrive in the city last night as expected. They will be here this evening however. It is reported that the party, the president of which is Mr. Wm. Snowden, has had good luck.

SUPERANNUATED.

Mr. Robert Roddick, for many years caretaker of the Gull Lighthouse, has been superannuated by the Dominion Government and will receive superannuation fund of $400 per year. Mr. James Roddick, a brother of the former keeper, has received the appointment at $500 a year.—Port Hope Guide.

BREAK IT'S NECK.

A contemporary publishes twice, in the same issue, a recipe for taking a tight cork out of a bottle without a corkscrew. It saddens one, somehow, to see the evident importance attached to such matters in certain quarters.

HIGH PRICES.

Talk about high prices! A letter from a former Peterboronian, now in Toronto, states that in their family they are now paying 45 cents a dozen for eggs, 12 cents a quart for milk, 40 cents a pound for butter and 8 cents for 20 ounces of bread. No wonder Dr. Beattie Nesbitt pitched up an alleged $9,000 a year job. Possibly he wanted more!

WON'T REFER CAR QUESTION

At the Brantford City Council Ald. Lyle moved that the question of operating Sunday cars in Brantford, as a local system be referred to the people for a vote. The following voted to refer the issue to the people; Aldermen Lyle, Draper, Rastell, Leggett, Wood and Blakney—6. Against—Mayor Bowlby, Aldermen Suddaby, Pitcher, Hawley, Stewart, Hartmen, and Leitch.—7. Ald. Turnbull as an official of the Grand Valley Company, did not vote. Ald. Andrews, who was in the chair in committee of the whole, did not vote, but stated afterwards that he favored submitting the issue to the people.

NO DISCOUNT AFTER TO-MORROW

Taxes Are Coming in Rapidly at the Collector's Office

Money is pouring into the office of the city tax collector at a lively rate. Ratepayers are taking advantage of the five per cent. discount by paying their taxes before to-morrow night. To-morrow is the last day to take advantage of the discount. The tax collector's office will be open until five o'clock.

A CANAL COMMISSION

Deputy-minister's Suggestion Likely to be Carried Out.

Ottawa, Nov. 13.—It is generally regarded in political circles that Mr. Butler's suggestion for the appointment of a commission to investigate the Georgian Bay canal project, before the Government commits itself to the enterprise, is a forerunner of what the ministry will do in this direction. The name of Mr. Emmerson is mentioned as chairman of the proposed commission.

WEDDING BELLS

TINNEY—LONG

A very pretty wedding took place last night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Oliver, Westcott street, the contracting parties being Mr. Charles Tinney, of Haliburton, and Miss Isabella Long, of Saskatchewan. Rev. A. H. Brace, of Park street Baptist church performed the ceremony. Mrs. Jas. Tinney assisted the bride and Mr. Tinney, brother of the groom was groomsman. The bridal party entered the drawing room to the strains of the wedding march, played by Miss Mabel Oliver. The bride was charmingly gowned in a cream cashmere, with silk yoke, silk over lace, and carried a bouquet of chrysanthemums—pink and white. Her attendant wore a blue cashmere, with yoke of silk all-over lace and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. The groom's present to the bride was a gold watch and chain and to the bridesmaid a gold maple leaf brooch, and to his attendant a gold scarf pin. The happy party sat down to a sumptuous wedding feast. Mr. and Mrs. Tinney will make their home at Cardiff, Haliburton, Ont.

The table was centred by a cut glass bowl of lovely yellow chrysanthemums, with softly shaded candles at either end, and broad bands of pale green satin ribbon. The guests were; Mr. and Mrs. MacGachen, Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Galt, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Smith, Rev. Mr. Heathcote and Dr. MacDonell.—Winnipeg Free Press.

Hastings Star; Miss Julia Choate, of the Conservatory of Music, Peterborough, was the guest of Mrs Plant last Monday....Mrs. Houdre, of Peterborough, has been visiting Miss Lily Collins for the past two weeks...Dr. Halliday, of Peterborough, was in town on Monday...It will be learned with much regret that Mr. J. Davidson is severing his connection with the Norwood High School at Christmas. Mr. Davidson has filled his position there admirably for twenty-five years.

Not Willing to Give Them a Trial

De Mateo, the handcuff king, who is with the H Wilmot Young Stock Co., is creating quite an impression with his clever tricks in this city. Chief Rossel invites him to come to the police station, where he may put on several kinds of handcuffs. He was in the station last night, but did not care to do the tricks with any kind of bracelets they had. The police officers would like very much to see him take off anything they put on.

Was Charged With Theft of Clothes and Sum of Money

Young Lady Appears in Police Court on a Serious Offence

A young lady appeared before the magistrate in police court this morning charged with the theft of a blue serge coat and vest and a cash box containing over forty dollars, the property of Charles V. Jones. The defendant pleaded not guilty, but did not elect how she would be tried. She offered an explanation of how the articles came in her possession, but His Worship advised her not to say anything, but to consult a legal adviser. The case was enlarged until Friday. In the meantime the young lady was quite willing that her house be searched.

The Peterborough Light and Power Company wishes to remind its customers that Friday, November 15th, is the last day discount will be allowed on October accounts. The office will be open during the evenings of the 14th and 15th, from 8 p.m. until 11 p.m.

LOW RECORDS AGAIN MARK CERTAIN STOCKS

Special to J. R. Heintz & Co.

New York, Nov. 14. — Liquidation broke out afresh in the stock market today, carrying St. Paul and Erie to new low records for the year, and causing the general list to decline several points. The market was not at all active, but a steady dibble of long stocks, and no buying power at all gave it a very weak tone and discouraged those who had been hoping for better things. There seemed to be inside selling of St. Paul, taking place continually, and New York Central was offered down without any resistance.

There was not much news market-wise and nothing at all developed which could be given as a reason for the selling. Steel preferred, which has held up like a rock wilted down today, the gilt edged support, which had been given this issue seeming to have been removed entirely. The common was also thrown on the market in thousand share lots.

The regular dividends were declared on Union and Southern Pacific and steadied things for half an hour, but did not last. At the London settlement it developed that a large brokerage house was seriously embarrassed and the London market closed very weak with St. Paul off 5 1-2 points.

Wheat was strong, at a cent advance, due to higher Liverpool cables and small local receipts which are again less than the clearances.

Which is your Physique Type?

"We need fewer things and want them better. All your belongings should mean something to you." So William Morris said.

Modesty and moderation in fabrics is made distinctive and elegant by a charming individuality of design or expression. It is subtle, suggestive and quiet.

You can feel and know that you are well-dressed when your correct physique type in a suit is finished to your exact measure. The "finishing" of a Semi-ready Suit seldom takes more than two hours—mostly less. From $18 to $30 for genuine "Semi-ready" quality.

License Fees for 1907-8 Are All Paid Over Already

Splendid Work of License Inspector Stewart—City Receives Cheque for $2,608.20

The heart of City Treasurer Adams was made glad yesterday by the receipt from License Inspector Stewart of a cheque for $2608.20, which is the city's share of the license fees for the last six months of the license year of 1907-08. The receipt of the cheque was a big surprise to the city officials, as in past years, the second instalment of the license fees was not received until March or April of the next year. About two months ago, Mr. Stewart handed the treasurer a cheque for $2,594.25, the corporation's share of the fees for the first six months of the license year. The city receives one half of the license fees for the year, the other half, along with all monies received from transfers and fines, going to the Ontario Government. The total amount paid by the hotelmen and liquor dealers of Peterborough in license fees for the year, 1907-08 is $10,404.90. This is exclusive of revenue received from transfers and fines. The fees for the last six months are slightly larger than for the first, owing to an additional license having been granted.

The license year does not end until the first of May, 1908, and the fact that all the license fees have already been paid reflects great credit upon License Inspector Stewart, the license administration of the Whitney Government, and the hotelmen and liquor dealers of the city.

Will Inaugurate Labor Campaign

Branch of Canadian Labor Party May be Started

All the Different Trades in the City Will be Organized This Winter

The Peterborough Trades & Labor Council held its regular meeting last evening in the Labor Hall, with President Alexander in the chair, and with a good attendance of delegates.

SECRETARY'S REPORT

The meeting resolved itself into an open one in order to receive the secretary's report of the proceedings of the recent session of the Dominion Trades & Labor Congress held in Winnipeg. The report was a lengthy resume of the work of the convention and the secretary was tendered the thanks of the meeting at the close of the report.

NEW DELEGATES

Bros. Robertson, Driscoll and Moss were welcomed as delegates from the recently organized Journeymen Stone Cutters' Union, as was also Bro. Chas. Westbrook, of the Pattern Makers' League.

CANADIAN LABOR PARTY.

The question of the organization of a branch of the Canadian Labor Party was considered during the evening. The matter was discussed at considerable length and it was decided to more thoroughly organize the labor forces in the city first, before instituting a branch of the new party.

REVIVAL IN LABOR.

The question of the thorough organization of the different trades in the city was also considered, and it was decided to inaugurate an aggressive labor campaign in the city this winter. The question of inviting Mr. James Simpson, of Toronto, a brilliant labor union exponent to address a mass meeting in the city, was favorably considered, and a committee was drafted to visit the different unions in the city and get their co-operation in the matter.

NON-UNION BARBERS

During the evening the delegates were instructed to urge upon the members of their respective unions to patronize the union barbers of the city, as complaints had been made of carelessness in this matter.

MISCELLANEOUS

Owing to the lateness of the hour, several matters of local importance were not considered, such as the city assessment question, the non-enforcement of the Factories' Act in Peterborough and other questions of considerable import. These, together with other live questions, will be considered at the December meeting.

OBITUARY

JAMES ALFRED RIDER.

The death occurred this morning of James Alfred, the two months' old son of Mr. and Mrs. James Thos. Rider, 25 Chambers street. The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon at two o'clock to St. Peter's cemetery. The parents will have the sympathy of many friends in their bereavement.

REV. M. W. MACLEAN.

A telegram received here last evening, says the Belleville Intelligencer, conveyed the intelligence that the Rev. M. W. Maclean, M.A., a former pastor of St. Andrew's church, had died at Arlington Beach, Saskatchewan. Deceased was born in Glasgow on June 11th, 1842. He graduated from Glasgow University and Queen's College, Kingston, receiving the degree of M.A. in 1872. In the year 1873 he came as pastor of St. Andrew's church, and occupied that position until March, 1903, when he resigned, and shortly after left the city for the west. Rev. Mr. Maclean had been in delicate health for some time. For years the Rev. gentleman was chaplain of the Fifteenth Regiment, and was also for some time a member of the Board of Education. The surviving members of the family are Malcolm and John, of Arlington Beach, and Mrs. Robert Bakner, of South America. The demise of the reverend gentleman will be regretted by all classes of citizens in Belleville.

Revival Services at Mark St. Church

Are Very Successful—Much Good Being Done

Owing to the disagreeable weather last night, the attendance at the revival services at Mark street church was not as large as it might have been.

Rev. C. H. Coon again presided, basing his remarks on the incident relating to the conversation between Christ and Zaccheus. He brought forth many timely lessons and his address was a forceful and impressive one.

Tonight Rev. H. M. Manning, of Charlotte street church will speak and the usual song service will precede the meeting.

MARRIED

TINNEY—LONG.—At the home of David Oliver, Westcott street, Peterborough, Nov. 13, 1907, by the Rev. A. H. Brace, Mr. Charles Tinney to Miss Isabella Long, of Saskatchewan.

In an address at St. John, Lieut.-Governor Tweedie urged a complete survey of the Crown Lands of New Brunswick, but said re-forestration was not needed yet.

Was Delivered After 25 Years

Letter Lay in Toronto Post Office for That Length of Time

Ottawa, Nov. 13.—Mr. R. L. Borden during one of his campaign speeches in the west, in criticizing the mail service given in some parts of the new Provinces, instanced one case where a letter had been delayed eight days in travelling two miles.

Dr. Coulter, Deputy-Postmaster-General, could have given him a far more interesting case in point. Two years ago a letter sent to an address in the city of Toronto, was delivered twenty-five years after it had been mailed. The facts of the case tell a strange and pathetic story.

Away back in 1880 a citizen of Toronto, who had been absent in Europe for some months, on arriving in New York, wrote to his wife in Toronto that he would be home again in two days' time. The letter expressed in affectionate language, the delight with which he looked forward to the home-coming, after long separation from the family circle. By some mischance this letter fell into a crevice behind a large letter rack at the Toronto General Post-office. About two years ago, during some alterations in the post office, the letter was found and forwarded to headquarters at Ottawa. Dr. Coulter read the letter and instituted inquiries with a view to having it redirected and delivered. In Toronto it was learned that the family had removed some years ago to Barrie. An inquiry addressed to Barrie elicited the information that the daughter of the gender was living at Port Hope. The letter was accordingly forwarded to her there. A few days later Dr Coulter received a letter from her telling him that her father had been killed in a railway wreck in New York State the day after he wrote the letter. Her mother had since died, and the letter now received after twenty-five years, would be kept as a priceless treasure, containing, as it did, the last message of affection from her father.

GIRLS' GUILD IS ORGANIZED

New Society at George Street Starts With Encouraging Prospects

There was a large attendance despite the stormy weather at the meeting of the young ladies of George street church, which was held last evening. It was decided to organize a Girls' Guild to help in the work of the church and much enthusiasm was displayed when the plans of the society were discussed.

The pastor, Rev. E. A. Pearson, was in the chair and Miss Dobbin acted as secretary pro tem. The following officers were elected:

Pres., Mrs. James Kendry.
1st Vice Pres., Mrs. Pearson.
2nd Vice Pres., Mrs. Shortly.
Sec. Treas., Miss Evelyn Marrow.
Convenor Practical Work Committee.—Miss Jean Eyres.
Convenor Literary Committee.—Miss Winnifred Dobbin.
Convenor Social Committee.—Miss Laura Bellegheam.

It was decided that the work of the Guild be divided into three departments; Social, Literary and Practical or Charitable Work.

The Guild will meet on the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month, and at each meeting the members will sew and some literary work will be taken up. The first course of study will be the best known hymns of the church and will be followed later by other courses.

A meeting will be held on Monday night at the parsonage, when final arrangements will be made for the Guild.

More Contracts Are Awarded

Heating, Ventilating and Electric Wiring of Normal Schools

The Government has awarded to Purdy, Mansell & Company, of Toronto, the contracts for the heating, plumbing and ventilating of the new normal schools at Hamilton, Stratford, Peterborough and North Bay. The contracts for the electric wiring in the same buildings go to Fred Armstrong & Co., Toronto. The aggregate amount of all the contracts is in the neighborhood of $42,000.

THE "BOB HALL" AT LINDSAY

Putting the Canal in Shape for Winter

The Government tug "Bob Hall" came to town last night, and stayed till this morning. She is engaged in leaving everything ship-shape for the winter on this section of the Trent Canal. The lamps were taken from the lighthouses and certain ones towed to sheltered spots, to be moored till next spring. The "Bob Hall" left this morning for Fenelon Falls, where she has some more work to do. The regular crew were on board.—Lindsay Post.

Seson of "Ajax" is About Over

Navigation Difficult as a Result of Ice.

J. E. A. Fitzgerald & Co.'s "Ajax" is down from the lakes with a scow of wood, likely the last trip of the season. The crew state that the lakes and bays, principally the latter, are frozen over, and navigation is difficult as a result.

LIFE IN OLD LONDON.

Well-Dressed Women Go Into Selling Matches On Streets.

The London Daily News has the following article, which rather surprises readers in Canada, but it shows what conditions prevail in the congested districts of the British metropolis.

There are signs of a marked revival in the profession of street match-selling, it states. Experienced professors of the art are grumbling because they are now faced with a class of competition that it is difficult to meet. Most Londoners have become familiar with the ultra-respectable-looking young man in frock coat and blue eyeglasses, who was not long in learning the times of the day and night when mute appeals were likely to be most fruitful; but interested people received a shock recently when a well-dressed lady, in the person of Mrs. Baker, entered the humble profession quietly in the west end.

The regular vendors yesterday had another sharp twinge of surprise. Not only was Mrs. Baker still smilingly awaiting the patronage of the nobility and others near the living statuary picture outside the London Pavilion, but almost exactly opposite, against the Criterion Restaurant, was a younger lady engaged in a similar attempt to accumulate coppers.

Mrs. Baker, over the way, chatted with the animation of an old hand as customer after customer came up; but the shy lady outside the Criterion seemed to shrink from the public eye when asked why she was match selling. Pleasant looking and clad attractively in neat black, with a fluffy grey boa, flowing white ribbons, and a picture hat, the tray of matchboxes slung from her shoulders made her a striking picture.

She was "doing it," she declared, because she had nothing else to do. She was a typist, and her parents, who knew nothing of her desperate enterprise, lived at Horsham.

"I have been in London," she said, "for three years, but six weeks ago I lost my situation as a typist because my employers found somebody else who was ready to take less money. I have tried very hard indeed to get another situation, but I have failed, and one of my girl friends suggested I should do this.

"I haven't got used to being stared at yet, and I am afraid I shall never make a fortune."

At the same time, she was determined not to give in on account of the stage fright.

DEIFIED ENGLISHMEN.

British Officers Enshrined as Japanese Gods.

In the great national shrine of Yasukuni, in Tokio, the annual ceremony of formally worshipping the spirit guardians of the Japanese empire has just taken place.

There are enshrined in this national pantheon the spirits of all who have rendered notable services to their country, the latest additions being of those who laid down their lives in the late war with Russia.

Among these future gods of the Japanese race are to be found the names of three Englishmen, the commander and two officers of the ill-fated transport ship Hitachi Maru, which, with more than 1,100 soldiers, was sunk in the Japan Sea by a Russian cruiser during the early part of the war. The official tablets deifying the spirits of these three Englishmen have now been formally set up among the illustrious names on the roll of fame.

The Mikado, the Crown Prince, and all the greatest personages of the country were present, and it was curious to see his Imperial Majesty in an attitude of worship before an invisible array of divinities, including the spirits of an alien race.

It is satisfactory and significant that the first race to be so honored should be our own, and the distinction should strengthen the bonds between us and our Far Eastern allies.

Even the Japanese themselves appeared to realize that the event stood for a new inter-racial feeling. "That a Japanese should die for his country," says one of the leading editors of the native press, "is in the nature of things, but that foreigners should have sacrificed themselves for Japan's sake is deserving of the profoundest recognition."

Between the Boards.

So keen has woman's competition with man become that she has actually taken to walking the streets between sandwich boards.

Miss Sheila Lascelles is the daring lady who has thus created another precedent for her sex, and her first essay was made on Monday, when she startled pedestrians in the West-end by appearing with the regulation bill boards.

Asked what induced her to take up her unusual task, Miss Lascelles said, "Nowadays one must be original, and one day as I passed a weary line of men carrying boards I suddenly thought, 'there has never been a lady sandwichman before.' Result, here I am."

Miss Lascelles has been a great traveler, and has also had considerable experience on the stage.

"I have played leading parts in London and all the big centres of Great Britain, as well as in Ireland, my native country," she says. "My experience, however, only includes drama, pantomime, and musical comedy. My desire is to get on the halls."

Watching Plants Grow.

Procure a little collomia seed. Take one of the seeds and with a razor cut off a very tiny slice, place it on a slide, cover with a glass and place under the microscope. The instrument must be in a vertical position. When it is well focused and lighted, moisten it with a drop of water. The seed will absorb the moisture and throw out a very large number of spiral fibers, giving the appearance of veritable germination. Beginners will find it easier if one applies the moisture while the other looks through the instrument.

St. Thomas Trades and Labor Council passed a resolution in favor of putting political candidates in the field.

CUPID'S COURT.

An Adverse Decision, an Appeal and an Oral Argument.

The judge's daughter was perturbed.

"Papa," she said, knitting her pretty brow, "I am in doubt as to whether I have kept to the proper form of procedure. In law one can err in so many little technicalities that I am ever fearful. Now, last evening George"—

The judge looked at her so sharply over his glasses that she involuntarily paused.

"I thought you had sent him about his business," he said.

"I did hand down an adverse decision," she answered, "and he declared that he would appeal. However, I convinced him that I was the court of last resort in a case like that and that no appeal would lie from my decision."

"Possibly the court was assuming a little more power than rightfully belongs to it," said the judge thoughtfully, "but let that pass. What did he do then?"

"He filed a petition for a rehearing."

"The usual course," said the judge, "but it is usually nothing but a mere formality."

"So I thought," returned the girl, "and I was prepared to deny it without argument, but the facts set forth in his petition were sufficient to make me hesitate and wonder whether his case had really been properly presented at the first trial."

"Upon what grounds did he make the application?" asked the judge, scowling.

"Well," she replied, blushing a little, "you see, he proposed by letter, and his contention was that the case was of that peculiar character that cannot be properly presented by briefs, but demands oral arguments. The fact that the latter had been omitted, he held, should be held an error, and the point was such a novel one that I consented to let him argue it. Then his argument was so forceful that I granted his petition and consented to hear the whole case again. Do you think"—

"I think," said the judge, "that the court favors the plaintiff."

MONEY SYSTEMS.

The World's Coinage Muddle and the Range of Units of Value.

Twenty-six different monetary units are used by the forty-eight principal countries of the world. Thus Great Britain uses the sovereign or pound sterling, France and six other countries of Europe use a unit equal to the franc, and Canada and the United States use the dollar.

In value these different units range from 4.4 to 494.33 cents of money of the United States. They are represented in their turn by coins the values of which are either multiples or fractional parts of the value of their own chief units, and there are no doubt at least 200 such sufficient coins not one of which seems to have a value equal to that of any commonly known unit of weight, as the gram, for example, or the ounce of gold, although forty-three of these forty-eight countries have accepted gold as their standard measure of values.

This lack of logical relation of coins to any widely used unit of weight of the precious metals may be due to the fact that money systems seem to have grown up haphazard, under diverse conditions of life, in different parts of the world.

Such diversity in moneys may have been of little moment when millions of people spent their lives knowing nothing of the existence of other millions and there was little traffic. But these differences in monetary units are of importance now that international commerce includes millions of tons of products of the toil of all lands and billions of dollars each year to settle its bills, for such differences put upon trade a wholly unnecessary tax. No account is made here of the burden laid on domestic trade by like variation in the value of such units at home, as of the tael of China, which has sixteen different values within that empire.

"Old Hundred" Scares Birds.

It is a strange but well authenticated fact that the wild creatures of the woods dislike the sound of that solemn hymn "Old Hundred." Muir, the naturalist, proved the truth of this by singing it in the woods of the Sierras to the birds and squirrels, which were very tame from never having been frightened by the report of a gun or other alarming sound. They would come and sit near him upon the branches of trees and listen to any lively tune he might sing, blinking their bright eyes as though they liked it, but at the first sound of "Old Hundred" they would beat a quick retreat to their holes or nests and never appear again until he changed the tune. This experiment was made in different places on various occasions with exactly the same result.

When It Rains In India.

While Jupiter Pluvius reigns in India nothing can be done out of doors. The rain at times is simply a white liquid sheet dropping straight down from the heavens, so that no very great stretch of imagination is required to convince one that a deluge is not an impossible event.—Wide World Magazine.

In Prospect.

"Have you lived here all your life, friend?"

"Not yit, but ef I don't git money enough to move I reckon I'll have to!"

It is not reasonings that are wanted now, for there are books stuffed full of stoical reasonings.—Epictetus.

The Oldest Text Book.

Within the last few years a revolution has been accomplished at Oxford which ought really to affect the mind of the nation more than the difference between Lord Curzon and Lord Rosebery. A text book has been discarded which was already venerable for its antiquity at the beginning of the Christian era. Needless to say, we are referring to Euclid's "Elements," for what other text book ever had such a run as that? It has been accepted ever since its publication, which was in the reign of the first Ptolemy (B. C. 323-85). No writer has ever become so identified with a science as Euclid with geometry. The nearest approaches are to be found in the relation of Aristotle to logic and of Adam Smith to political economy.—London Spectator.

A Stairway of Concrete.

One of the most novel, useful and pleasing uses to which cement has been put in interior construction is the hanging concrete stairway. In its construction no structural iron whatever is used, only small channel bars one-quarter inch by three-quarter inch spaced about four inches and covered with expanded metal lathing. The false work can be removed in two weeks. The stairway supports not only its own weight, but, in addition, 7,500 pounds of marble, and a load of 2,000 pounds has been carried up the stairs without injury or deflection. Only the best quality cement should be used in interior work.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Sables.

Sables are becoming very rare, and on account of the great demand for them have risen considerably in price during the last few years. A coat that two years ago would have cost $20,000 would now be worth at least $30,000.

THE LATEST DEAN PATTERNS

A PRETTY FROCK FOR COOL WEATHER

The novel feature of this little dress is the pretty blouse, the fulness of which is arranged in wide tucks and box-pleats, which are secured in front under an applied yoke of jaunty shepherd, and at the back in the collar and belt. Two box-pleats also ornament the front of the straight skirt, which is attached to the blouse under the gracefully shaped belt. The waist is made high in the neck and the sleeves are of full length, thus rendering the frock particularly acceptable for wearing in cool weather. Navy-blue serge of fine quality is the material employed for making, turkey-red being used for the pipings. Any serviceable woolen goods, however, is suitable for developing by this mode, or, for wearing in a mild climate, linen might be used, 4¼ yards 27 inches wide being required for the medium size.

4248—8 sizes, 5 to 12 years.

The price of this pattern is 10c.

THE CHEESE MARKET

The Peterborough Cheese Board is one of the most progressively managed and ably conducted boards in the province. The past season has been one of the most successful in its history. The average price paid for cheese per pound has been 12 cents, the same as last year.

Owing to the late, cold backward spring and the shortage of pasture, the flow of milk has not been quite so generous as last year. The total number of boxes boarded at the 12 meetings was 41,118 as compared with 45,389 last year. The estimated value of the cheese sold was $400,000, which is about $46,000 less than during the season of 1906. All things considered the showing is a good one and, considering the many drawbacks due to cold weather and lack of rain, both sellers and buyers have reason to congratulate themselves. The foregoing figures serve to show in concrete form the extent and importance of the cheese industry. It means that $400,000 has gone into the pockets of the farmers of the Peterborough district. These figures convey some idea of the magnitude of the dairying interest. The Peterborough Cheese Board is one of our solid, substantial organizations. Every effort is being made to raise the dairying industry to an even higher standard than that already attained, and strictly modern methods are being adopted. Not only are there the latest cool curing rooms, but cow testing associations have been formed and the unprofitable milkers in each herd are being fed and slaughtered for beef.

Another possibility which may result in large returns is the experiment now being conducted of making butter from whey. The experiment so far has proved successful and it is believed that further trials will not only prove encouraging but remunerative in every way.

THE ART OF READING

This is a reading age. The fact is evidenced by the wide and constantly growing circulation of the daily newspapers, the magazines, the trade periodicals and the books turned out month by month by the large publishing houses. Some people read a great deal each day, and then are neither well informed nor conversant with recent events. Others devote only a few minutes out of each day to a perusal of what is going on about them, and yet they keep abreast of the times and are familiar with the things that are making history, not only in this country, but others. What causes the difference? It is not the quantity of matter read that tells, but the quality. It is what the average man assimilates. Pages may be considered and not one important, helpful fact or idea remembered. This is a serious error, a most reprehensible habit, and one we are too inclined to contract. A good rule for the average, industrious man is to make his reading tell. Grasp a few salient points and facts and remember them. Peruse whatever you undertake thoughtfully and earnestly. Concentrate your mind on what you have in hand. Probably the world would be as well off today if three-quarters of what is printed never appeared. As long as that strongly implanted desire in human nature to "write, write, write" exists, of the making of books, newspapers and periodicals, there will be no end. Recognizing, then, that the prevailing order of things is not likely to be changed, how can the average hardworking individual make the best of the situation?

In the first place, when picking up a daily paper, if you have only a few minutes at your disposal each day, read the solid, substantial portions and eliminate the chaff. A newspaper naturally has to cater to all classes, but do not imagine you have to go through every item in it to obtain your money's worth. Scan that in which you are most interested, that will help you keep in touch with the business in which you are engaged, and the welfare of the community in which you dwell; that which will enlarge your vision, afford you a firmer grasp in the interests you are called upon to serve, and assist you in being an active, progressive and exemplary citizen.

So much for the daily paper, but what about general reading? A man should keep in touch and be keenly alive to the business or calling in which he is engaged. He can obtain the best results and most valuable suggestions from trade or technical journals, the contents of which he should carefully study and assimilate. He can never keep pace with the procession unless he does this, and certainly can never hope to be a leader.

And as to still more general reading it is difficult to guide the ordinary man. He should be thankful, therefore, that others endeavor to make the way easy; that out of the scores and scores of readable publications, bright, discriminating minds are at work selecting and garnering that which places before him the greatest amount of instruction and profit in the handiest form and most attractive manner.

It is pleasing to record that Canada can boast of such a publication, whereby the man, who can devote only a short time to reading each day, may become thoroughly conversant with all that the brightest minds are producing, and what the world's leaders of thought and research are doing, discovering or planning.

Such a publication is the Busy Man's Magazine, which comes to hand this month replete with the latest contribution of the world's centres in political and commercial affairs, science and invention, labor, business, industry, art, etc. Besides reproducing all that is best and up-to-date from the other periodicals, the Busy Man's Magazine furnishes a complete index to everything that appears on any subject of importance, giving a classified list of the contents of other magazines, subjects discussed, the authors, etc. This is a most commendable feature and saves the business man much time, labor and expense. The Busy Man's Magazine is a Canadian publication, and each succeeding issue appears to be more edifying, carefully prepared, and ably supervised than its predecessor. The clientele to which it appeals should certainly prize it as a production in every way creditable to Canadian enterprise and genius, it indeed fills a long felt want.

WHO IS TO BLAME?

It is bad enough for parents to allow their boys to run about the streets at nights; for parents to permit their young daughters this liberty is far worse. The number of young girls in short skirts that are seen parading the streets of Hamilton at night, says the Herald, is so great as to be positively alarming, and the police authorities have at last resolved to take action and make a few examples.

Not all of these young street promenaders are victims. Most of them, probably, are only careless and foolish, or, more's the pity, are not blessed with pleasant homes and are glad to escape from them. But they soon grow bold and pert, then brazen, then reckless, and finally vicious—victims themselves, and on the lookout for victims. The downward path is so easy for these girls to take, and it is to be feared that many of them take it.

It seems almost incredible that virtuous mothers of average sense and experience can complacently permit their young daughters to wander at will about the city until late at night. If such permission is given the mother is far more to blame than the daughter, and it is almost reasonable to suspect that in such a case the mother is not unwilling to have the girl embark upon a career of vice. If mothers wish to avoid such a terrible suspicion, they should be careful to guard their girls from the taint that comes from nocturnal street walking. In such cases thoughtlessness and good natured compliance are short of criminal.

PEN POINTS

Get down your old, tried and true friend—the snow shovel.

The Court of Revision is like the Court of Appeal in one respect—reserving judgments.

This is the season of addresses and presentations. Be prepared to be "taken completely by surprise."

Dr. Beattie Nesbitt is a hero in one respect. He has thrown up a $9000 a year government job and does not even refer to it as a "sacrifice."

A contemporary says that bogus quarters are being circulated. A few counterfeit aldermanic candidates will also be making their appearance soon. Watch out for them.

The C.P.R. will put on a new fast train to run direct from Toronto to Ottawa without change. Just watch the number of deputations to the capital this session grow.

The critical fourth of November has been passed in Canada with fewer failures than for some years past. This speaks well for the sound, safe policy which business men are pursuing and is an encouraging sign.

Spiritual revivals have begun in some of the churches. Now if some one would only start a trade revival very few business men would serious-object.

In Owen Sound when a man desires a drink he says "can we turn around." No wonder a fellow gets dizzy up in that local option town. Turning around so often, you know.

"Uncle Tom's Cabin" will be at the Grand opera house on Saturday night. Dwellings are not as scarce in Peterborough as they were two years ago, or some house hunters would be after Uncle Tom to lease his premises.

Irrespective of political leanings Sir Charles Tupper's friends in all parts of Canada will cordially congratulate him on being created a Privy Councillor. The signal honor bestowed on Canada's ex-premier is a well deserved one.

The sad, sad spectacle of the Rugby boys witnessing that pathetic, tearful drama "East Lynne." It was, indeed, more affecting than the struggle with Westmount on Saturday last for O. R. F. U. championship honors.

It is said that no building higher than the Traders' Bank will be allowed in Toronto. What about the Yonge street bridge? Agitation for that exalted structure has been "raised" so often that no one wants to see any more "stories" added.

New York has passed a building regulation to the effect that no more structures can be erected over 250 feet high. Now Toronto's city architect comes along and says that no buildings beyond that height will be allowed. How like New York Toronto is growing. Really it is astonishing.

If it is true as reported in a London, England, morning journal, owing to the severe projected measure affecting life assurance companies that the investments of these companies in Canada, would be curtailed, it is indeed, unfortunate. Just now Canada requires all the British capital possible to relieve the monetary stringency.

In the Federal estimates last spring nearly $4,000 was appropriated for a new wharf at Lakefield. There is no point along the inland waters, where a proper, well constructed dock is more urgently needed. Wharves have been built this year at the street railway terminus, Wallace's Point, Smithson's Landing and other places. Why has not the one at Lakefield been proceeded with? Supt. J. H. McClellan should get a move on. The appropriation was made nearly a year ago and nothing in the way of actual work has been done. The residents of the lakeside village are not in a very amiable frame of mind over the apparently inexcusable delay.

Five Italians Leave for Home

Will Remain There for Winter Returning in Spring

Five Italians, Grovanni Destefano, Guiseppe Amorona, Nicolo Destefano, Antonio Strippi, and Pasquall Giammarino left the city to-day en route for their homes in Italy. They will sail for Boston on the White Star Liner "Canopic." It is the intention of all of them after spending the winter in the land of azure skies and sunny slopes to return to Canada in the spring to "make de mon."

CAR FERRY "ONTARIO" ON HER MAIDEN TRIP

Toronto, Nov. 12.—Yesterday Capt. F D Forrest, brought his new charge, the car ferry, Ontario No. 1, into the Yonge street wharf, where today it is coaling. Tomorrow the Ontario will make its first trip between Charlotte and Cobourg.

The new ferry will carry twenty-eight cars and 250 passengers. It is equipped with eight life boats, and six life rafts, and is propelled by twin screw engines, with a 3,000 horse power. The big boat will carry coal going north, and iron ore and lumber going south. It is the intention of the company to run the year around.

NOT SEEN YET.

It was rumored about town this morning that the car ferry passed down at four o'clock, but upon enquiry at Cobourg, we learn that the much looked for boat had not arrived, and they were unable to receive any information from Toronto.

REPORTS OF THE S. S. CONVENTION

Held at Brampton, Were Read at Charlotte St. Church Last Evening

A report of the Provincial Sunday School convention, held at Brampton from October 20th to 24th was read at a meeting of the Sunday School teachers at Charlotte Street Methodist Church last night. Mrs. H. P. Kennedy and Mrs. S. Carver were the delegates who represented Charlotte Street Church. They gave lucid reports on what took place pointing out many improvements in conducting a Sunday School. The reports were very interesting and proved profitable and instructive.

HANDS TERRIBLY CRACKED

ZAM-BUK HEALED THEM

Over and over again the value of Zam-Buk for chapped and cracked places has been demonstrated. Mrs. Yellen, of Portland adds her testimony, and says: "My hands were so sore and cracked that I could not put them near water. When I tried to do so they would smart and burn as if I had scalded them. I seemed quite unable to get relief from anything I put on them until I tried Zam-Buk, and the balm succeeded when all else had failed. It closed the big cracks, gave me ease, soothed the inflammation, and in a very short time, healed my hands completely."

Hands that are chapped may be restored to the smoothness of health by judicious application of Zam-Buk.

The value of Zam-Buk, either as a protective or a corrective, cannot be overestimated. A box should be on every dressing table.

Zam-Buk heals sores, cures eczema, skin eruptions, ulcers, ringworm, itch, barber's rash, blood poison, bad leg, salt rheum, abrasions, abscesses, cuts, burns, scalds, and all skin injuries and diseases. Of all stores and druggists at 50 cents, or from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. 3 boxes for $1.25.

Have Returned From the Chase

Two Port Hope Men Had Good Time in Thos. Eastwood's Camp

Dr. R. F. Forrest and H. C. Brundrett returned yesterday yesterday afternoon from their hunting expedition at the Eastwood camp, where they were given a royal welcome by Mr. Thomas Eastwood. This was the Doctor's first experience at deer hunting, and although the drive from Peterborough to the camp would try the patience of any man the Doctor thoroughly enjoyed the outing. He was successful in shooting a large buck, which ties the scale at two hundred pounds, and deer hunting will be an annual occurrence hereafter with the Doctor. Mr. Brundrett was equally successful.—Port Hope Guide.

Mr. Williamson Occupied Pulpit

Late Secretary of Peterboro' Y. M.C.A. Gave Stirring Address at Fort William

The Fort William Times-Journal, of Nov. 1st, says:—In the absence of Rev. Mr. Rowand, who has gone to attend the meeting of the Synod in Winnipeg, Mr. Petrie conducted the services at St. Andrew's in the morning, and Mr. Williamson, the Y.M.C.A. secretary, in the evening.

In the evening Mr. Williamson expressed the pleasure he felt in having an opportunity of speaking to the congregation, and spoke very briefly on the work of the Y.M.C.A. This being the first day of the week of prayer for young men men which is observed the world over. The Y.M.C.A. is an auxiliary of the church, and is therefore worthy of the sympathy and the prayers of the church.

The text was found in Gen. v. 24, "And Enoch walked with God, and he was not, for God took him." The study of biography was very interesting and very helpful. This biography is very short, but it speaks volumes. He fulfilled the purpose God had in him. He glorified God before men, enjoyed unbroken communion with Him in this world and departed to be with Him in glory to enjoy Him forever.

A life is a success only in as far as the will of God is fulfilled in it. A man may attain to the highest and best physical stature, may climb the steps of worldly ambition, possess great riches, and yet be an utter failure as an immortal soul. We do not read of Enoch as of other men of his time, that he lived and died, but that "he walked with God," and that "God took him." He believed in God, served Him only and there was a natural trust between the two. May we not get acquainted with God and walk with Him that we, too, may enjoy unbroken communion with Him in this world and glorify and enjoy Him in the world to come.

Ministers Boomed Ottawa Bazaar

And Now They are Sorry That They Did so

Ottawa, Nov. 13.—The ministers of the city are sharply criticizing the methods adopted for raising funds by the society of ladies and others in charge of the "Streets of Paris" bazaar, which closed in the drill hall on Saturday night, the proceeds of which go to the tuberculosis hospital fund. The particular complaint is against the wheels of fortune and other devices of chance which the clergymen claim were much too prevalent. The matter was discussed yesterday by both the Ministerial Association and the Methodist Ministerial Association and the Ottawa Presbyterian Ministerial Association. The Methodist clergy decided to have the matter brought up at a meeting of the Ottawa Ministerial Association, which includes all denominations. At a meeting of the Ottawa Presbyterian Ministerial Association, the following resolution was passed, "Since our co-operation as ministers was requested by the management of the 'Streets of Paris' bazaar, and since some of our Ministers, because of their interests in a worthy cause gave announcements of the matter to their congregations, we feel it necessary to put ourselves on record as disapproving of the gambling element introduced into some of the methods of raising funds."

In the discussion there were some strong statements made. The Tombola drawings and raffles at various booths were condemned. Some of the ministers said that they had heard there was a roulette wheel in operation, that cigarettes were on sale, and that even liquor could be bought in the drill hall during the bazaar. The gross proceeds of the bazaar were about $17,000, or $12,000 net.

A HUNGRY GHOST.

Story of a Recent Premature Burial in China.

This is the tale of a ghost that eats, and it has thrown the towns of the Siangfu district of China into a commotion. The facts are related in the North China Herald. On March 27 the thirty-year-old son of Tsi Lung, a schoolteacher, was thought to have died of typhus fever. His family being very poor, the body was placed in a frail wood coffin and buried only a few inches under the soil outside the western gate of the town of Siangyang. On April 6 a man put his horse to graze on the spot. The beast found good grass near the grave and brought its foot down upon the soil above the coffin, the lid of which was broken. In a little while the owner of the horse saw a gaunt white arm thrust up through the hole made by the horse's hoof.

Thinking the dead man's ghost was about to rise to avenge the insult offered in the breaking of the coffin, the watcher hurried up and began shoveling earth into the hole to keep the ghost down. A muffled voice expostulated and begged to be freed, claiming to be the living son of Tsi Lung. The watcher fled in terror to the town, where he told every one he met of what had happened. The ghost's father urged that the ghost should be let alone and not further disturbed.

A large crowd, however, went out of the city to view the wonder. The ghost kept begging most piteously to be let out. One man had courage enough to unearth the cover of the coffin completely and open it, allowing the "resurrected" man to sit up. Rice soup and wine were brought and ravenously devoured by the ghost, still sitting upright in his coffin imbedded in the earth.

Finally the unhappy spirit was released and confined in a temple until he could prove himself to be a living man.—Chicago News.

Seward's Prophecy Realized.

When, shortly before his death in 1872, William H. Seward was asked what he believed to be the greatest achievement of his public career, he answered, "The annexation of Alaska." He added, however, "But the American people will not grasp the value of that acquisition for a third of a century yet." This shows that Seward, the empire builder, was also a prophet. Seward has been dead for thirty-five years, and it is only in recent times that his countrymen have appreciated the importance of Alaska as a possession. Strong opposition was offered in the house of representatives in 1867 to making the appropriation of $7,200,000, the price which Seward paid to Russia for the province. Said one of annexation's opponents in that chamber, "All that Alaska will ever be able to produce are polar bears and icebergs." For several years a nickname for the region was "Seward's Folly." But time has fully vindicated Seward.—Leslie's Weekly.

Fort William Hopeful of Securing the Car Works

Is Hotfoot After Industry That Peterborough Wanted

VOTE TAKEN IN JANUARY

Newspaper Says That Preliminary Papers Have Been Signed

Fort William is hot foot after the big car works, the promoters of which have been negotiating with the city council of Peterborough, with a view to locating their plant here. The city on the lakes is hopeful of securing the industry, as the following from the Fort William Times-Journal shows:

While it is never well to indulge in speculations as to what may be expected to happen in view of other things that are also expected to happen, a little of this sort of thing might be indulged in now because there are certain expectations that look very much like certainties. The city council has taken up the question of a mammoth car works for Fort William and a preliminary agreement has been reached. The papers have been signed and the contract which the company will enter into with the city depends on the vote of the people in January. It may also depend on other conditions that might arise between that time and this, but the city has its interests well enough guarded and the company has shown that they mean business because they have put up a very substantial cash deposit, which in the event of them not coming to time, would be forfeited.

"A car works for Fort William will make this place grow so fast in the next two years, and make it so well known over this continent that there will be nothing left of doubt in the minds of what pessimists still exist concerning Fort William's future.

"This plant will be the largest plant of its kind on the American continent, which means in the world. This is what the company at the back of the enterprise claim for it. They have guaranteed a plant to employ 800 men at the outset and to increase the number up to 5,000 men in the course of five years. It will be known as the Fort William Car Company. One hundred and twenty-five acres of land will be required for their works."

Many People Who Daily Invite Visit of Deadly Pneumonia

Women With Ornamental Fur Flung Around Shoulders and Chests Unprotected Except With Flimsy

With the coming of the keen winds and cold weather a word to unwise girls—or perhaps one had better say unwise mothers—may serve to save many an illness or perhaps a death. Every day on the street you meet young girls who have a bit of ornamental fur flung around their shoulders and their chest and neck exposed by only an open lace covering. It may look effective and pretty but it is a persistent invitation to pneumonia and serious lung troubles. All winter long at afternoon teas you see the same; women and girls go from a crowded heated room to the cold, dressing air outside, with a bit of embroidered chiffon or dotted net over their throats. Then we wonder why so many have colds through the winter. In a fashionable quarter of the city last year there were twenty-five families laid up at one time all with colds of more or less seriousness which kept them indoors for weeks. They could not account for it, but their physicians could. Exposed throats and chests were the cause and will always be so till they are protected.

"In the days of old fashioned clouds" said a lady on Saturday, "a cold or lung trouble was almost unknown, for people kept their mouths covered in cold weather, but just look at that." We did look and on the seat opposite in the street car sat a pretty young girl, a bit of white fur coquettishly flung over her shoulders, and an open lace yoke exposing her pink flesh to view; every man on the car also looked and doubtless admired the August-like bodice. But covered flesh in autumn and winter, putting aside the graver question of protecting the girls' health and even lives, would be in better taste.

Horse Took Fright at Engine; Lively Mishap on Concession St.

Young Man and Two Young Ladies Thrown From Top Buggy and Badly Shaken Up—Vehicle Was Upset in the Ditch—One of the Occupants Removed to Hospital.

As Mr. George Crowe of Warsaw, accompanied by Miss Margaret Middleton and Miss Laura Webster of this same place were driving along Concession street, near Nicholls Oval in east city yesterday afternoon, their horse took fright at an approaching traction engine and all the occupants were thrown out. The engine was letting off steam and this caused the horse—a four year old colt—to jump suddenly into the ditch. The top buggy was overturned and smashed. All the occupants were badly shaken up and Miss Webster had her knee injured. She was taken to the residence of Mr. William Maxwell, and a physician was summoned, who ordered her removal to Nicholls hospital. She was able to leave for home this afternoon. Miss Middleton escaped with a shaking up but Mr. Crowe had his eye hurt, as well as his right ear and right hip slightly injured.

What Could Poor Little Doggie Do?

P. C. Newhall's Clever Work in Locating an Aristocratic Pomeranian Sky Terrier

After biting and snapping at P.C. Newhall in an endeavor to get away, a little Pomeranian skye terrier finally gave in and consented to arrest this morning. Since information had been received a few days ago from Toronto, the police have been on the lookout for the canine. It appears that about three weeks ago an English lady, Mrs. N. Fowlds who resides at Kew Beach, Toronto, was passing through Peterborough on the early morning train en route from England. She had her much prized terrier with her, and in some way the dog left the train at the local depot and was not missed until after the train had pulled out. The canine was valued at forty dollars and the owner did not care to lose it.

From a description furnished him, P. C. Newhall came across the dog on George street this morning and brought it to the police station. It was sent back to its owner on the 4.48 C.P.R. train. Mrs. Fowlds will, no doubt, be greatly pleased to have her pet again.

Provincial Health Officer Strongly Favors Isolation Hospital

Dr. C. A. Hodgetts, of Toronto, secretary of the provincial board of health was in the city yesterday and had a conference on general health matters with Mr. Wm. Eynes, chairman of the local board, and City Clerk Armstrong, secretary. The doctor spoke strongly in favor of the erection of a suitable isolation hospital in a city the size and importance of Peterborough.

Honored by the Eko Camp Boys

Mr. L. McCaughey Presented With Handsome Gold Locket and Fob

Mr. Lorne McCaughey, who has been a popular resident of the city for some time, and a member of the office staff of the C. G. E. leaves on Friday for Berlin, Ont., to become city ticket agent for the C. P. R. at that place. Last night Mr. McCaughey was honored by Eko Camp of which he has been a member, being presented with a gold locket and watch fob. The pleasant little affair took place at the club rooms and nearly all the members of the club were present. The following address was read by Mr. Jack Gemmell and Mr. R. M. Glover, made the presentation.—

THE ADDRESS.

Dear Friend,—This, the eve of your departure from Peterborough, and of your retirement from the relations with the Eko Club which you have so creditably sustained, is greatly regretted by us, your companions, who have learned to respect your associations while you have been a member of our Club. We esteem it a privilege, therefore, to bear testimony to the great interest you have always taken in the welfare of the club, with a view towards the enjoyment of its members, and we deeply regret your departure.

Your relations with our club have always been zealous and energetic to promote its best interests and we feel that in your separation from Peterborough, and in the severing of your connections with the Eko Club we are losing a valuable member and citizen.

In your personal relations and in your activities towards things in general, you have proved yourself a public-spirited citizen, as well as a loyal member of the Eko Club.

We, your associates, therefore, greatly regret your departure from our club, and as a token of our sentiments we ask you to accept this locket as a souvenir of your relations with us, and we trust that in spirit, if not in body, we may always have your presence with us at our meetings.

Signed on behalf of the club,
J. COMSTOCK, President,
T. H. GLOVER, Secretary.

Mr. McCaughey made a suitable reply, expressing his hearty thanks and his regret at having to break his pleasant associations with the boys of Eko Camp.

Afterwards, refreshments were served and a jolly social time spent.

Basketball League for Two Provinces

Peterborough Y. M. C. A. Team Included in List Proposed

Fourteen Club Organization Will be Brought Into Existence Soon

The long-talked of Inter-Provincial Basketball League appears to be in sight at last. After the big race at Montreal on Saturday a meeting to discuss the basketball situation was held at the Windsor Hotel, those present being J. E. Merritt of Montreal Y.M.C.A.; Percy Lee, Ottawa Y. M.C.A.; C. H. Ashley, West End Y.M.C.A., Toronto; Freddie Smith, Central Y.M.C.A., Toronto; N. H. Crow and J. G. Merrick of the C. A. A. U.

After a thorough discussion of the scheme it was decided to proceed with the organization of a league, and Secretary Crow, of the C. A. A. U., was instructed to draft the necessary plans and complete all arrangements.

TWO SECTIONS.

The league will be divded into two strong sections, East and West, the winners of each to meet in the finals for the Canadian championship.

As far as those present could figure it out, the sections will likely consist of the following teams:

East.

Montreal Y.M.C.A.
Montreal Railroad Y.M.C.A.
Westmount A. C.
St. Anne's A. C.
Ottawa Y.M.C.A.
Ottawa A. C.
Edinboro A. C. of Ottawa.

Western.

Toronto Central.
West End Y.M.C.A.
Hamilton Y.M.C.A.
Peterborough Y.M.C.A.
Brantford Y.M.C.A.
London Y.M.C.A.
Stratford Y.M.C.A.

This would make a fourteen club league, and one of the strongest and most compact in existence. It is understood that the new league will be run directly by the C.A.A.U.

The officers elected for the season were as follows:—

Patrons—Col. Sam Hughes, J. D. Flavelle, R. J. McLaughlin, S. J. Fox.

Hon. President—John Carew, Dr. White.

1st Vice-Pres.—Jos. B. Parkin.

2nd Vice-Pres.—Walter Reesor.

Sec.-Treas.—L. R. Knight.

Manager—"Dick" Butler.

Bard—H. Abercrombie.

As for choice of players, the management is certainly well fixed. There are in town at present quite a number of really first class men, and we certainly ought to have an all-star team. Among the names proposed are:—

Newton, Stoddard, Sullivan, Sylvester, Taylor, Randall, Cole, Lane, Ryan, Ryley, Killen, Duffus, Cotton, Conway, Seymour, Koyle, Burgess and Beateau.

Koyle and Stoddard are both spoken of as probable captains, but this will not be decided for some time yet. The team has already been entered in the intermediate O.H.A., and arrangements have already been completed with Mr. S. J. Sheridan for the use of the rink for practice three nights a week.

CANADIAN LEAGUE HAS FOUR CLUBS

Berlin, Nov. 12.—The Canadian Hockey League, comprised of four professional hockey clubs, was organized here today, at a meeting attended by Alex. Miln, Toronto; N. E. Irving, Guelph; A. B. Burnley, Brantford, and A. A. Eby Berlin. Each of these towns will put a strong pro. seven on the ice.

A set of rules will be drawn up at another meeting in Guelph.

Provision will be made whereby clubs shall not outbid each other.

A double schedule will be drawn up. The officers of the League are; Hon. Pres., J. P. Downey, Guelph. Pres., A. Miln, Toronto. Vice Pres., A. B. Burnley, Brantford. Sec., N. E. Irving, Guelph. Treas., H. O. Vogelsang, Berlin. Executive, J. C. Palmer, Toronto; J. A. Fitzgerald, Guelph; Roy Brown, Brantford; Geo. Boehmer, Berlin.

Lindsay Hockey Club Organized for the Season

Jack Seymour Mentioned as Candidate for Place on Lineup

Lindsay has elected officers of their hockey club and expect to have a good seven in the intermediate O.H.A. series. "Jack" Seymour, formerly of this city, is mentioned as one of the likely candidates for a place on the team. He is a fast and aggressive man and should have no difficulty in making good.

Following is from the Post:—

At a hockey meeting held last evening the prospects of a hockey team for the coming winter were thoroughly discussed. It never looked brighter for a first-class, sure to win team.

HOCKEY

WILSON AT EDMONTON

Edmonton, Nov. 13.—Dick Wilson, the Kingston hockey player, arrived to-day from Houghton. He will play on the Edmonton professional team, under Fred Whitcroft, the former Peterborough player.

WALKING

The Toronto Star last evening contained an excellent cut of David Hartley, accompanied by the following note:—

The Peterborough long-distance walker, who will compete against Jimmy Reynolds, the Port Hope walking barber, in a twelve-hour contest, to be held at the Mutual street rink on Saturday, November 23 from 11 a.m. to 11 p.m. Hartley made a record recently from Oshawa to Toronto to Peterborough.

ONE POINT WHERE HUBBY HAS THE SAY

Has Right to Direct Denomination of School Which Children Shall Attend

London, Nov. 14.—That the husband shall direct the school—public of separate—to which a child should go is the decision of Chief Justice Mulock, given yesterday afternoon in the assize court in the remarkable case of Trudell vs. Trudell.

Trudells, man and wife, although litigants in several courts to decide this question as above, have never allowed their difference of opinion to influence their home friendship and relations. It has altogether been a friendly suit. It is said that Mrs. Trudell, who is a Roman Catholic, would have consented to the children going to public schools had not the matter been taken up by the church.

The question as to which church the children shall attend is not treated in Justice Mulock's decision. The judge declares that the father should have the custody, also the direction of the children, and cites as a precedent, Justice Anglin's decision in a former London case, when John F. Ball, a local lawyer, took out an injunction restraining his deceased's wife's mother from sending his children to public schools.

The "Sailor Boy" brand of canned goods are the best that are put up. They never fail to please. Try a few cans.

Because her master was in a hurry to reach Vancouver and did not stop at Victoria to pick up a pilot, the big steamship Indrovilla, formerly on the Portland Oriental route, lies a wreck at the end of Henry Island, in the centre of the Gulf of Georgia.

HINDOO PROVERBS.

Happiness consists in the absence of anxiety.

Truth, contentment, patience and mercy belong to great minds.

Little things should not be despised. Many straws united will bind an elephant.

It can never be safe to unite with an enemy. Water, though heated, will soon extinguish fire.

He who removes another from danger and he who removes terror from the mind are the greatest of friends.

Courage is tried in war, integrity in the payment of debt and interest, the faithfulness of a wife in poverty and friendship in distress.

Every one looking downward becomes impressed with the idea of his own greatness, but looking upward feels his own littleness.

He who in your presence speaks kindly, but in your absence seeks to injure, must be rejected like a bowl of poison covered with milk.

Obedience of Orders.

A naval commander in the reign of Queen Anne was ordered to cruise with a squadron within certain limits on the coast of Spain. Having received information that a Spanish fleet was in Vigo, beyond his limits, he resolved to risk his personal responsibility for the good of his country. He accordingly attacked and defeated the Spanish fleet with uncommon gallantry. When he joined the admiral under whom he served, he was ordered under arrest and was asked if he did not know that by the articles of war he was liable to be shot for disobedience of orders.

He replied with great composure that he was very sensible that he was, but added, "The man who is afraid to risk his life in any way when the good of his country requires it is unworthy of a command in her majesty's service."

A Champagne City.

Epernay, in France, is a vast subterranean city, the streets for miles being hewn out of solid chalk, flanked with piles of champagne of all blends and qualities. The largest champagne manufacturers in Epernay possess underground cellars which cover no fewer than forty-five acres and contain 5,000,000 bottles of wine.

Wooden Spoons.

A wooden spoon should be dipped in boiling water immediately before using. This will prevent discoloration and absorbing of flavors.

A Lost Secret.

In the time of Louis XV. of France a chemist named Depre gave an exhibition on a canal at Versailles of a kind of fire so rapid and devouring that it could not be quenched, water only giving it fresh activity. Louis forbade that the invention should be made public, and the inventor died soon after, carrying the secret with him to the grave.

Social Tragedy

Women Who Brave Death for Social Honors.

In the midst of one of the most brilliant social functions of the season, a noted society woman started suddenly from her chair with a scream of agony and fell insensible to the floor.

A few hours later the distinguished physician told her anxious husband that she was suffering from an acute case of nervous prostration brought on by female trouble, and hinted at an operation. Fortunately a friend advised her to try

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

The result was that she escaped the surgeon's knife and to-day is a well woman.

The derangement of the delicate female organism sets every nerve in the body quivering with pain. Headaches, backaches, torturing bearing down pains and dragging sensations make women nervous and hysterical.

Mrs. T. E. Gillis, of Windsor, N. S., writes:

DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—When I commenced to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was suffering with weakness and female trouble, headaches, backaches, and that worn-out, tired feeling. I have only taken the Vegetable Compound a few short weeks, and it has made me well, strong and robust. I believe that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is without equal for female troubles.

Mrs. Laura Emmons, President Loyal Home Workers, Walkerville, Ont., writes:

DEAR MRS. PINKHAM,—I am enjoying such good health that I feel it a duty to write and thank you for what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I suffered for more than five years with functional troubles, causing an unpleasant discharge and weakness which no amount of medicine, diet or exercise seemed to correct. Your Vegetable Compound, however, reached the root of my trouble, cured me and made me strong, healthy and well. I want to say to every suffering woman, don't dally with medicines you know nothing about, but take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mrs. Pinkham's advice is free to all. Her address is Lynn, Mass.

The Caledon Wreck Trial; Evidence Taken at Brampton

Eye-Witnesses Agree Train Was Going at Excessive Speed.

Aged Farmer's Evidence—James Ferguson Overcome With Emotion When Recalling Sights of the Fatality — Engineer Colvin Tells of Losing Driving Wheels at Curve—Engine Ran on One Rail.

Brampton, Nov. 15.—Train hands and eyewitnesses of the Caledon wreck of September last gave evidence yesterday on the speed of the wrecked exhibition special which caused seven deaths.

The evidence varied somewhat, but in the main indicated that the train was going at excessive speed. One witness fixed the rate at 60 miles an hour. James Ferguson, who saw the smash, and assisted the injured, was overcome with emotion when the vision of the disaster was recalled.

Samuel Moosop, one of the witnesses, declared the engine traveled on her outer set of driving wheels instead of the inner set, which she would ordinarily run on in rounding the curve. The outer rail at the wreck scene is four and a half inches higher than the inner to keep trains on the track rounding the curve. The momentum lifted the engine off the inner rail, so that the inner drivers whirled in space, and she ran on the set of drivers six and a half inches above the inner rail.

Evidence of a sensational character, it is said, will be forthcoming to-day in the trial of Matthew Grimes and George Hodge, when William Stubbs, ex-M. P. of Caledon, will take the stand for the defence and tell the history of the famous horseshoe curve, where exhibition extra went in the ditch on Sept. 3, and also give important evidence as to the cause of the disaster.

There was a feeling last night that the defence will play a trump card. A new reason as to why engine 555 left the rails, is expected, and County Constable Thomas Smith of Caledon, it is stated, has the new story.

The defence will endeavor to prove that the flange of the engine driving wheel was worn and poor, and that a brake shoe was missing on engine No. 555. Other witnesses will swear that the speed of the train did not exceed 25 miles an hour.

Fifteen witnesses were examined for the crown at the Court House here yesterday, and so far not an item of evidence has been produced against Conductor Grimes and Engineer Hodge for negligence of duty.

John Colvin, for many years a C. P. R. engineer, familiar with the running of trains on the horseshoe curve, stated that before reaching the crest of the hill he would travel from 30 to 35 miles per hour. At that point he would apply the brakes and slow down to 20 miles. The curve was considered a dangerous piece of track, but special instructions, to his knowledge, had been issued to engine drivers.

"I took the curve very lively once," said the engineer. "I had no driving wheels when I got to the bottom."

Mr. Davidson read the evidence of Hodge and Grimes, given at the Toronto inquest. He also put in the answers to questions given by Hodge in his examination to qualify for an engineer.

Superintendent Arthur L. Smith of No. 3 division of the C. P. R., said that under the rules the conductor and engineer were equally responsible for the running of the train.

The distance from Caledon to Monoroad was 8.6 miles. This could be divided into 4.6 good running, 2 miles of less dangerous grades and 2 miles of special dangerous curves. The time allowed for the ill-fated extra to make the distance was 20 minutes.

Robert Preston, master mechanic of the C. P. R. for the Ontario division, gave the history of engine No. 555. The engine was taken off the Havelock division and put on the Owen Sound division during the week of exhibition, to meet the needs of traffic.

He asked Hodge if he had examined his engine at Orangeville. He said that he had gone over it carefully, found everything in place and properly secure. He had found all the brake shoes were in good shape.

Want Motto Restored.

New York, Nov. 15.—A resolution protesting against the omission of the words "In God we trust," from the new United States gold coins, was adopted by the New York diocesan conference of Protestant Episcopal churches, by a vote of 81 to 131.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Nov. 15.—The Presbyterian Brotherhood of America yesterday adopted a resolution urging Congress to restore the motto "In God we trust" on coins.

Sir Lewis Morris, the poet, and pioneer in the movement for education in Wales, is dead, at the age of seventy-four.

MAPS SOLD TO JAPANESE.

Curious Evidence Given Before Commissioner King at Vancouver.

Vancouver, B. C., Nov. 15.—Fred Yosby, Japanese employment agent, who handles large numbers of his countrymen, surprised Immigration Commissioner King yesterday afternoon with the statement that thousands of Japanese come here in order to reach the United States.

"I have seen maps sold to my countrymen, on which were marked points at the boundary line around Blaine and Sumas, and other places, where Japanese could easy cross into the United States."

K. Ishikawa, president of the Vancouver Boarding Housekeepers' Union, said that Yosby's company imported laborers direct from Japan.

Yosby created a scene by making a dramatic denial, and Ishikawa retracted and modified several of his previous statements, although the commissioner warned him of the penalty of perjury.

The commissioner declared that Ishikawa was trying to conceal some feature of his dealings, and a full investigation into this phase of the matter will later be made.

The director of the Canada Kangho Co. said his concern made $100 per week profit in the employment business by the percentage on the wages of their men, but he was at great pains to deny that they assisted importation in any way.

Potteries Burned.

Toronto, Nov. 15.—A destructive fire occurred yesterday morning, which completely destroyed the Carlton West potteries. The fire is supposed to have been caused by a spark from a defective chimney just at the time that the furnace was being started up. The Junction firemen turned out, but, the works being beyond the town limits, nothing could be done. The building, which belonged to George Plant, was worth about $3,000 and was insured for $1,500. The plant and stock, owned by Wm. Stonehouse, who operated the works, are estimated at $2,500, and were uninsured. About ten people will be thrown out of employment as a result of the fire.

Found Body In Woods.

Pembroke, Nov. 15.—While some hunters were passing through a bush in the Township of Alice, about seven miles from here, they found the body of a boy about 15 years old, but unknown, who had been shot through the heart.

The body could not have been there more than a couple of hours, as it was still warm.

From indications, the shooting was accidental, as the country round is full of hunters.

Conscience Money.

Woodstock, Ont., Nov. 15.—A woman yesterday marched into the local customs office and told the customs officer that 30 years ago she smuggled some articles or other into this country, and as her conscience bothered her she wished to make restitution. She paid $10.50 and left the office. Her name is not known.

BRITISH PREMIER ILL

Attacked by Heart Trouble After Public Meeting at Bristol.

London Physicians Summoned In Haste—Sir Henry Obliged to Cancel All Engagements For Political Speeches—Mr. Birrell to Take His Place—Patient Said to Be Progressing Favorably.

Britsol, Eng., Nov. 15.—The Premier, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, after addressing a political meeting here, was seized with sudden illness, Wednesday night, at the residence here of William Howell Davis, Liberal member of Parliament for South Bristol.

Doctors attended the sufferer for over an hour, and although the sharpness of the attack has ceased, the Premier's condition is such that London doctors have been summoned. Heart trouble is believed to be the cause of the illness.

Sir Henry has planned to make several political speeches, but he has given up all his engagements and has requested Mr. Birrell, the Chief Secretary for Ireland, to take them up.

Later it was announced that the Premier's sudden illness was due to a severe spasm of the heart, which gradually was relieved by restoratives. He was progressing favorably yesterday afternoon.

Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, Prime Minister and First Lord of the Treasury since 1905, was born on Sept. 7, 1836. He was the son of Sir James Campbell, but added the surname Bannerman under the will of a maternal uncle. He entered Parliament 39 years ago for Stirling borough. In 1882 he became Secretary of the Admiralty, and two years later Chief Secretary for Ireland. In 1892 he was made War Secretary, and seven years later, on the retirement of Sir William Harcourt, he was made leader of the Liberal party. After six years in Opposition his party was elected to power by a tremendous majority.

BLAMES IT ON FIELDING.

Hon. R. Rogers Says Government Is Responsible For Crisis.

Winnipeg, Nov. 15.—Hon. Robert Rogers, in an interview yesterday, claimed that Hon. W. S. Fielding, in his announcement that the Dominion Government would come to the aid of the west, was too late. He said that it confirmed his opinion that the prevailing crisis is due to the Dominion Government's policy of tieing up and using for their own purposes the savings of the people deposited in the Dominion and Postoffice savings banks.

Had the Government some time ago appropriated and placed in the banks of Canada these savings, aggregating over $60,000,000, and borrowed funds for their own requirements from the money markets of the world, our condition would be very different to-day. We would not have to complain of a loss of $10,000,000 to $15,000,000 to the farmers of western Canada, and all because of sheer mismanagement upon the part of the Finance Department at Ottawa.

Trust President Suicides.

New York, Nov. 15.—Charles T. Barney, president of the Knickerbocker Trust Co., which recently closed its doors, committed suicide at his home, No. 101 East 38th street, yesterday afternoon.

Notice of the suicide was telephoned to the coroner's office shortly after 3 o'clock. When asked for details, Dr. Joseph A. Blake replied that when he was called to Mr. Barney's house the banker was dead.

It became known within the last few days that Mr. Barney was in a state of physical and mental collapse. Mr. Barney was 56 years old and a native of Cleveland, Ohio. In addition to his various other connections, he was a member of the house of Rogers and Gould, a New York Stock Exchange firm. He had made large investments in New York real estate. He was president of the Knickerbocker Trust Co., which closed its doors at the beginning of the recent financial crisis.

The institution was one of the largest trust companies in the city.

Six Killed at Crossing.

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 15.—Six men were killed at South Milwaukee on Wednesday night, when a fast train ran into a crowd on a grade crossing near the station.

All of the victims were so mutilated that identification was for a time impossible.

A dozen persons stood on the southbound track waiting for another train on the northbound track to pull out.

Twenty Arrests In Russian Plot.

Warsaw, Nov. 15.—The authorities of this city made twenty arrests on Wednesday in connection with the discovery of a sensational plot for the sale and conveyance of a quantity of military documents to Germany.

Among the arrested were two trainmasters of the Warsaw, Vistula Railway line and their wives.

Thirty Lashes For Cripple.

Port Arthur, Nov. 15.—At the court yesterday, Judge O'Leary sentenced J. Rice of Fort William to three years' imprisonment with thirty lashes, on the charge of defiling several little girls. He is a cripple, and comes from Ottawa, and has lured girls ranging in age from 8 to 12 in his shack.

Buffalo Bill Accused.

New York, Nov. 15.—An affidavit setting forth, on information and belief, that prior to her marriage to him, Catherine Clemmons' relations with William F. Cody (Buffalo Bill) were meretricious, was filed yesterday by Howard Gould.

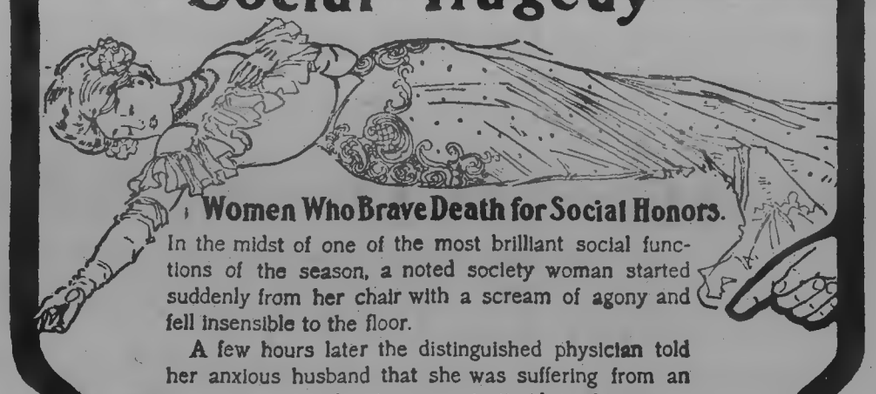
Social Tragedy



Women Who Brave Death for Social Honors.

In the midst of one of the most brilliant social functions of the season, a noted society woman started suddenly from her chair with a scream of agony and fell insensible to the floor.

A few hours later the distinguished physician told her anxious husband that she was suffering from an acute case of nervous prostration brought on by female trouble, and hinted at an operation. Fortunately a friend advised her to try

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

The result was that she escaped the surgeon's knife and to-day is a well woman.

The derangement of the delicate female organism sets every nerve in the body quivering with pain. Headaches, backaches, torturing bearing down pains and dragging sensations make women nervous and hysterical.

Mrs. T. E. Gillis, of Windsor, N. S., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—When I commenced to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was suffering with weakness and female trouble, headaches, backaches, and that worn-out, tired feeling. I have only taken the Vegetable Compound a few short weeks, and it has made me well, strong and robust. I believe that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is without equal for female troubles.

Mrs. Laura Emmons, President Loyal Home Workers, Walkerville, Ont., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham,—I am enjoying such good health that I feel it a duty to write and thank you for what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I suffered for more than five years with functional troubles, causing an unpleasant discharge and weakness which no amount of medicine, diet or exercise seemed to correct. Your Vegetable Compound, however, reached the root of my trouble, cured me and made me strong, healthy and well. I want to say to every suffering woman, don't dally with medicines you know nothing about, but take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mrs. Pinkham's advice is free to all. Her address is Lynn, Mass.

The Caledon Wreck Trial; Evidence Taken at Brampton

Eye-Witnesses Agree Train Was Going at Excessive Speed.

Aged Farmer's Evidence—James Ferguson Overcome With Emotion When Recalling Sights of the Fatality — Engineer Colvin Tells of Losing Driving Wheels at Curve—Engine Ran on One Rail.

Brampton, Nov. 15.—Train hands and eyewitnesses of the Caledon wreck of September last gave evidence yesterday on the speed of the wrecked exhibition special which caused seven deaths.

The evidence varied somewhat, but in the main indicated that the train was going at excessive speed. One witness fixed the rate at 60 miles an hour. James Ferguson, who saw the smash, and assisted the injured, was overcome with emotion when the vision of the disaster was recalled.

Samuel Mossop, one of the witnesses, declared the engine traveled on her outer set of driving wheels instead of the inner set, which she would ordinarily run on in rounding the curve. The outer rail at the wreck scene is four and a half inches higher than the inner to keep trains on the track rounding the curve. The momentum lifted the engine off the inner rail, so that the inner drivers whirled in space, and she ran on the set of drivers six and a half inches above the inner rail.

Evidence of a sensational character, it is said, will be forthcoming to-day in the trial of Matthew Grimes and George Hodge, when William Stubbs, ex-M. P. of Caledon, will take the stand for the defence and tell the history of the famous horseshoe curve, where exhibition extra went in the ditch on Sept. 3, and also give important evidence as to the cause of the disaster.

There was a feeling last night that the defence will play a trump card. A new reason as to why engine 555 left the rails, is expected, and County Constable Thomas Smith of Caledon, it is stated, has the new story.

The defence will endeavor to prove that the flange of the engine driving wheel was worn and poor, and that a brake shoe was missing on engine No. 555. Other witnesses will swear that the speed of the train did not exceed 25 miles an hour.

Fifteen witnesses were examined for the crown at the Court House here yesterday, and so far not an item of evidence has been produced against Conductor Grimes and Engineer Hodge for negligence of duty.

John Colvin, for many years a C. P. R. engineer, familiar with the running of trains on the horseshoe curve, stated that before reaching the crest of the hill he would travel from 30 to 35 miles per hour. At that point he would apply the brakes and slow down to 20 miles. The curve was considered a dangerous piece of track, but special instructions, to his knowledge, had been issued to engine drivers.

"I took the curve very lively once," said the engineer. "I had no driving wheels when I got to the bottom."

Mr. Davidson read the evidence of Hodge and Grimes, given at the Toronto inquest. He also put in the answers to questions given by Hodge in his examination to qualify for an engineer.

Superintendent Arthur L. Smith of No. 3 division of the C. P. R., said that under the rules the conductor and engineer were equally responsible for the running of the train.

The distance from Caledon to Monoroad was 8.6 miles. This could be divided into 4.6 good running, 2 miles of less dangerous grades and 2 miles of special dangerous curves. The time allowed for the ill-fated extra to make the distance was 20 minutes.

Robert Preston, master mechanic of the C. P. R. for the Ontario division, gave the history of engine No. 555. The engine was taken off the Havelock division and put on the Owen Sound division during the week of exhibition, to meet the needs of traffic.

He asked Hodge if he had examined his engine at Orangeville. He said that he had gone over it carefully, found everything in place and properly secure. He had found all the brake shoes were in good shape.

Want Motto Restored.

New York, Nov. 15.—A resolution protesting against the omission of the words "In God we trust," from the new United States gold coins, was adopted by the New York diocesan conference of Protestant Episcopal churches, by a vote of 81 to 131.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Nov. 15.—The Presbyterian Brotherhood of America yesterday adopted a resolution urging Congress to restore the motto "In God we trust" on coins.

Sir Lewis Morris, the poet and pioneer in the movement for education in Wales, is dead, at the age of seventy-four.

MAPS SOLD TO JAPANESE.

Curious Evidence Given Before Commissioner King at Vancouver.

Vancouver, B. C., Nov. 15.—Fred Yosby, Japanese employment agent, who handles large numbers of his countrymen, surprised Immigration Commissioner King yesterday afternoon with the statement that thousands of Japanese come here in order to reach the United States.

"I have seen maps sold to my countrymen, on which were marked points at the boundary line around Blaine and Sumas, and other places, where Japanese could easy cross into the United States."

K. Ishikawa, president of the Vancouver Boarding Housekeepers' Union, said that Yosby's company imported laborers direct from Japan.

Yosby created a scene by making a dramatic denial, and Ishikawa retracted and modified several of his previous statements, although the commissioner warned him of the penalty of perjury.

The commissioner declared that Ishikawa was trying to conceal some feature of his dealings, and a full investigation into this phase of the matter will later be made.

The director of the Canada Kangho Co. said his concern made $100 per week profit in the employment business by the percentage on the wages of their men, but he was at great pains to deny that they assisted importation in any way.

Potteries Burned.

Toronto, Nov. 15.—A destructive fire occurred yesterday morning, which completely destroyed the Carlton West potteries. The fire is supposed to have been caused by a spark from a defective chimney just at the time that the furnace was being started up. The Junction firemen turned out, but, the works being beyond the town limits, nothing could be done. The building, which belonged to George Plant, was worth about $3,000 and was insured for $1,500. The plant and stock, owned by Wm. Stonehouse, who operated the works, are estimated at $2,500, and were uninsured. About ten people will be thrown out of employment as a result of the fire.

Found Body In Woods.

Pembroke, Nov. 15.—While some hunters were passing through a bush in the Township of Alice, about seven miles from here, they found the body of a boy about 15 years old, but unknown, who had been shot through the heart.

The body could not have been there more than a couple of hours, as it was still warm.

From indications, the shooting was accidental, as the country round is full of hunters.

Conscience Money.

Woodstock, Ont., Nov. 15.—A woman yesterday marched into the local customs office and told the customs officer that 30 years ago she smuggled some articles or other into this country, and as her conscience bothered her she wished to make restitution. She paid $10.50 and left the office. Her name is not known.

BRITISH PREMIER ILL

Attacked by Heart Trouble After Public Meeting at Bristol.

London Physicians Summoned In Haste—Sir Henry Obliged to Cancel All Engagements For Political Speeches—Mr. Birrell to Take His Place—Patient Said to Be Progressing Favorably.

Bristol, Eng., Nov. 15.—The Premier, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, after addressing a political meeting here, was seized with sudden illness, Wednesday night, at the residence here of William Howell Davis, Liberal member of Parliament for South Bristol.

Doctors attended the sufferer for over an hour, and although the sharpness of the attack has ceased, the Premier's condition is such that London doctors have been summoned. Heart trouble is believed to be the cause of the illness.

Sir Henry has planned to make several political speeches, but he has given up all his engagements and has requested Mr. Birrell, the Chief Secretary for Ireland, to take them up.

Later it was announced that the Premier's sudden illness was due to a severe spasm of the heart, which gradually was relieved by restoratives. He was progressing favorably yesterday afternoon.

Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, Prime Minister and First Lord of the Treasury since 1905, was born on Sept. 7, 1836. He was the son of Sir James Campbell, but added the surname Bannerman under the will of a maternal uncle. He entered Parliament 39 years ago for Stirling borough. In 1882 he became Secretary of the Admiralty, and two years later Chief Secretary for Ireland. In 1892 he was made War Secretary, and seven years later, on the retirement of Sir William Harcourt, he was made leader of the Liberal party. After six years in Opposition his party was elected to power by a tremendous majority.

BLAMES IT ON FIELDING.

Hon. R. Rogers Says Government Is Responsible For Crisis.

Winnipeg, Nov. 15.—Hon. Robert Rogers, in an interview yesterday, claimed that Hon. W. S. Fielding, in his announcement that the Dominion Government would come to the aid of the west, was too late. He said that it confirmed his opinion that the prevailing crisis is due to the Dominion Government's policy of tieing up and using for their own purposes the savings of the people deposited in the Dominion and Postoffice savings banks.

Had the Government some time ago appropriated and placed in the banks of Canada these savings, aggregating over $60,000,000, and borrowed funds for their own requirements from the money markets of the world, our condition would be very different to-day. We would not have to complain of a loss of $10,000,000 to $15,000,000 to the farmers of western Canada, and all because of sheer mismanagement upon the part of the Finance Department at Ottawa.

Trust President Suicides.

New York, Nov. 15.—Charles T. Barney, president of the Knickerbocker Trust Co., which recently closed its doors, committed suicide at his home, No. 101 East 38th street, yesterday afternoon.

Notice of the suicide was telephoned to the coroner's office shortly after 3 o'clock. When asked for details, Dr. Joseph A. Blake replied that when he was called to Mr. Barney's house the banker was dead.

It became known within the last few days that Mr. Barney was in a state of physical and mental collapse.

Mr. Barney was 56 years old and a native of Cleveland, Ohio. In addition to his various other connections, he was a member of the house of Rogers and Gould, a New York Stock Exchange firm. He had made large investments in New York real estate. He was president of the Knickerbocker Trust Co., which closed its doors at the beginning of the recent financial crisis.

The institution was one of the largest trust companies in the city.

Six Killed at Crossing.

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 15.—Six men were killed at South Milwaukee on Wednesday night, when a fast train ran into a crowd on a grade crossing near the station.

All of the victims were so mutilated that identification was for a time impossible.

A dozen persons stood on the southbound track waiting for another train on the northbound track to pull out.

Twenty Arrests In Russian Plot.

Warsaw, Nov. 15.—The authorities of this city made twenty arrests on Wednesday in connection with the discovery of a sensational plot for the sale and conveyance of a quantity of military documents to Germany.

Among the arrested were two trainmasters of the Warsaw, Vistula Railway line and their wives.

Thirty Lashes For Cripple.

Port Arthur, Nov. 15.—At the court yesterday, Judge O'Leary sentenced J. Rice of Fort William to three years' imprisonment with thirty lashes, on the charge of defiling several little girls. He is a cripple, and comes from Ottawa, and has lured girls ranging in age from 8 to 12 in his shack.

DARING BANK ROBBERY

Four Masked Men Hold Up Cashier at Napierville.

Compelled Him at Revolver's Point to Go Down and Open the Vault—Struck Mr. Brault on Head With Butt of Pistol—Threatened to Use Dynamite—$4,000 Stolen—Got Away Safe.

Montreal, Nov. 15.—Four masked men Wednesday night held up the cashier of the Banque De St. Jean at Napierville. It is a private bank owned by Phillippe Roy, Speaking of the Legislative Assembly.

The cashier and wife live above the bank. Wednesday night the men entered and with revolvers forced him to go down to the bank and open the vault.

They secured $4,000. So far there is no clue.

Three of the men were masked, but one was not disguised. Mr. Brault, the cashier, was struck on the head with the butt of a revolver by one of the burglars and ordered to open the safe. He refused at first, but when they threatened to use nitroglycerine he unlocked the doors.

BALFOUR ON TARIFF REFORM.

Speech at Birmingham Cheers—Would Protect Productive Industries.

London, Nov. 15.—(C. A. P.)—Balfour aroused tremendous enthusiasm at Birmingham by giving utterance to a speech wherein he disregarded the advice of The Times and the wishes of the Unionist Free Traders. He made a strong declaration on the fiscal question. After alluding to the absence of the immortal statesman, Chamberlain, and appealing for the unity of the Conservative party, which meant everything, he referred to tariff reform, and amid uproarious cheering he asked had the fiscal proposal lost force.

"No. Had it gained force? Yes. You have given me your answer; I agree with that answer. (Tumultuous cheering.) He admitted that originally he had fear whether the policy of promoting free trade within the Empire, which was the most important of our commercial interests and must appeal to every member of our world-wide Empire, could be carried out with many units interested, but after the last Imperial Conference no misgivings were possible. (Cheers.) If Conservatives were in power to-morrow their first duty would be the summoning of that conference, which was so rashly closed. (Great cheering.) He could not take a better text than Chaplin's resolution, carried in the afternoon, urging the broadening of the basis of taxation on the safeguarding of the productive industries, strengthening our position in the foreign markets and the colonial preference. To that he subscribed, but any duties imposed must be small, widespread and not touching raw material. It would not increase the burdens of the working classes.

A plot has been discovered in Warsaw, for the conveyance of a quantity of military documents to Germany and twenty person have been arrested.

BRITISH CONSERVATIVES.

Resolution Adopted at Conference Endorsed by Mr. Balfour.

London, Nov. 15.—(C. A. P.)—At a conference of Conservative associations Mr. Chaplin moved a resolution suggesting, as the basis of the party's constructive policy, the broadening of taxation, safeguarding productive industries from unfair competition, and preferential arrangement with the colonies. Mr. Chaplin said Mr. Balfour congratulated him on the terms of the resolution, which accurately summarized Mr. Balfour's views. He believed Mr. Balfour would give the party a lead on tariff reform.

Mr. Maxse warned the party that, if they did not take up tariff reform, Mr. Lloyd-George would steal their powder.

The resolution carried unanimously, and a vote of sympathy to Mr. Chamberlain occasioned a scene of extraordinary enthusiasm.

Bradley Murder Trial.

Washington, Nov. 15.—Substantial progress was made yesterday in the trial of Mrs. Annie Bradley, on the charge of murdering ex-Senator Arthur Brown of Utah. After completion of the jury, the case was opened for the Government by Assistant District Attorney Turner, and a number of witnesses were introduced by the prosecution. There were a dozen of these witnesses, including the manager and a number of employes of the hotel where the shooting occurred, and several members of the police force who were concerned in Mrs. Bradley's arrest.

Poisoned by Canned Salmon.

Hamilton, Nov. 15.—Another serious case of ptomine poisoning was reported last evening, the victim being Maud Barrett, 49 North West avenue, and Christina Dickie, 204 Gibson avenue, two girls employed at the Dominion Belting Co. They took their lunch at the factory. Amongst the things they ate were salmon sandwiches. In the afternoon they were seized with severe pains, and were removed to the City Hospital. Their condition is regarded as being very serious.

Caldwell Succeeds McInnes.

Winnipeg, Nov. 15.—George R. Caldwell, who was nominated Wednesday by the Conservatives, was sworn in yesterday as Provincial Secretary, in place of the late Hon. Dr. McInnes. The nomination will take place Nov. 18, and the election Nov. 25. It is not likely the Liberals will bring out a man.

COST OF POWER.

Province to Assume Any Liability For Cost Over Estimate.

Brantford, Nov. 15.—Power at a rate considerably lower than the rate announced last January, and the statement that the Government would assume the liability for any cost to a municipality in excess of the price furnished by the Hydro-Electric Power Commission, were the important points made by Hon. Adam Beck at the meeting held here last night by the Board of Trade, the City Council and representatives of the township.

The council chamber was crowded, and the explanations of Mr. Beck and Engineer Richards were cordially received.

It was made clear that the Government contract with the Ontario Power Co. was not at a flat rate, as the commission was only liable for 75 per cent. of the power ordered. Mr. Beck showed how the Montreal Light & Power Co. bought 40,000 horse-power and actually sold 76,000 on account of the overlapping, of which the Toronto critics said nothing.

LEFT FIANCEE $25,000.

William Knott, Victim of Shooting Accident Near Dorset.

Huntsville, Ont., Nov. 15.—Wm. Knott, aged about 28 years, died at the home of his brother, near Dorset, Wednesday.

On Tuesday, in company with two companions, he went out for a hunt. While passing through a rough part of the thicket, one of his companions stumbled and fell. His rifle was accidentally discharged, and the ball entered Knott's knee.

Word was telephone to Huntsville and a physician left immediately for Dorest, but the young man died from loss of blood before medical aid arrived.

Knott came originally from New Liskeard. He is known throughout New Ontario as the discoverer of the first rich find at Larder Lake, and received $40,000 for his share of the claim.

He came to Dorset recently to marry a young lady, and the ceremony was to have been performed next week.

He left his fiancee $25,000 of his fortune.

RUSSIAN PARLIAMENT OPENS.

Czar, Through M. Golubeffs, Welcomed Members and Implored Blessing.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 15.—The third Russian Parliament was opened in the Tauride Palace at 11 o'clock yesterday morning, in the presence of Premier Stolypin and the Cabinet, by A. Golubeff, vice-president of the Council of the Empire. The religious service preceding the opening was conducted by the Metropolitan automins and a large number of bishops and other high ecclesiastics and was made the occasion for a great display of patriotic enthusiasm on the part of the Conservative and Moderate members. The national hymn was repeatedly sung and the Emperor was vigorously cheered.

The city is quiet. A few hundred students gathered in the vicinty of the palace, but they did not attempt to make a demonstration.

M. Golubeff's speech in opening the Parliament follows:

"His Majesty, the Emperor, has charged me with the high duty to bid the members of the third Douma welcome in his name, and he implores God's blessing on the work before us, of establishing order and peace in our beloved fatherland, of promoting the enlightenment and well-being of the peoples, of consolidating the new state organization, and of strengthening the great and indivisible Russian empire."

AN ILL-FATED FAMILY.

Four Brothers Working on a Railway —Three Met Violent Deaths.

Montreal, Nov. 15.—There passed through Windsor station Wednesday on its way to Bury, in this province, the body of Norman Beaton, who was killed on the section of the National Transcontinental Line, which is under construction near La Tuque, on Saturday.

The deceased, who was a brakeman on a construction train met his death in a collision at the point where the new road crosses the Canadian Northern.

The remains were accompanied by Malcolm Beaton, the brother of Norman, who is a conductor on the C. P. R. There were four brothers, natives of Bury, who took up railway work. They have all been killed since 1902, with the exception of Malcolm.

Two were brakemen, one an engincer, and one a conductor.

WELLS STILL ON TRAIL.

Detective Hopes to Secure Barton Murderer—Is In Winnipeg.

Winnipeg, Man., Nov. 15.—Detective Wells, Leuty avenue, Toronto, missing since June, and who was thought to have met with foul play, was seen yesterday. He has not relinquished the idea of running the Barton murderer down. He says the murderer is a Toronto traveler, who was divorced and married again. He picked the murdered woman up in Philadelphia and shot her to get rid of her.

He says he needs but one or two more threads to complete the chain of evidence. Wells says he will leave for Toronto in a day or two. He exhibits two late clews, which will strengthen his case.

HEADLIGHT EXPLODED.

Then They Turned the Hose on Engineer Gleason.

St. Thomas, Nov. 15.—William Gleason, M. C. R. engineer, preparatory to going on a freight run lighted the headlight, which exploded. He was enveloped in the flames, but was saved by the prompt attention of comrades, who turned the hose on him. His clothes were almost burned off him, but his injuries were slight.

Cheers For Canada.

Bristol, Nov. 15.—Clifford Sifton yesterday inspected the Royal Edward dock at Avonmouth, and appeared to be much impressed with the facilities afforded for landing Canadian produce.

At the luncheon, which took place at the Victoria rooms, Bristol, Mr. Sifton on rising to respond to the toast of "Ships, Colonies and Commerce," was received most enthusiastically. It was some moments before he obtained a hearing, the applause was so long continued. In concluding his remarks, Mr. Sifton referred to the all-red route, and pointed out, laying great stress on the fact, that as others had a fast service Canada and Great Britain should have equally as good a service. Sifton's remarks were received with much applause, and any reference to Canada enthusiastically so.

Butterfly Airship.

Paris, Nov. 15.—Santos Dumont has just completed the construction of a new aeroplane on a principle different from that previously employed by him. The new machine is shaped like a butterfly.

The trials already held, when it was towed by an automobile, have been successful.

The engine will be installed and the new machine launched as soon as the weather permits.

Germany Obstreperous.

Paris, Nov. 15.—The Matin yesterday morning declared that the reply of Germany to the Spanish-Franco note proposing an international commission to examine into the claims for damages arising from the bombardment of Casablanca is most unfavorable.

It demands a separate German commission to settle the claims of German merchants.

Another Hunting Fatality.

Pembroke, Nov. 15.—Six miles from Pembroke, Harry Beuder, aged 22 years, accidentally shot himself through the heart while out hunting. Bender was home on holidays from Buffalo.

McCarthy Lead Conservatives.

Calgary, Nov. 15.—M. S. McCarthy, M. P., who will shortly retire from Dominion politics, has decided to lead the Conservatives in Alberta in the next local campaign.

Mrs. Carrie Nation, at the annual convention of the National W.C.T.U. in Nashville, Tenn., yesterday was made a life member of the Union.

Judges' Wigs.

Judges in England have worn the peculiar wigs they now wear ever since the reign of Charles II.

"Water of Life."

Professor Arnoldus Villanova, in the fourteenth century, made a panacea of the "water of life," which was said to have the virtue of "giving sweet breath, fortifying the memory, besides being good for sore eyes, the toothache, gout," etc.

Uncanny Jewel Box.

The native Andamanese women have a curious custom. When one of them becomes a widow, she prepares the skull of her deceased husband and carries it about suspended at her side. There it answers the purpose of a treasure box, in which she places her jewels, her money and other valuable possessions, so far as space will allow.

Children of India.

The extraordinary precocity of the children of India has called forth the astonishment of a recent traveler, who says that many of them are skilled workmen at an age when children are usually learning the alphabet.

A Robin Superstition.

"It is unlucky to kill a robin" is a well established saying in England. "How badly your hand shakes! You can scarcely write," said a teacher to a boy in school in England. "It always shakes," said the boy. "I once had a robin die in my hand, and they say if a robin dies in your hand it will always shake."

Upright Pianos.

The upright piano is never exactly vertical. Manufacturers explain that it is made to lean a little toward the front, else it would fall over backward at a slight push, most of the weight being at the rear.

Slight 'Quake at Renfrew.

Renfrew, Nov. 15.—Three earthquake shocks of several seconds duration, following within a second or so of each other, a rather unusual occurrence for this district, were felt here yesterday morning.

Favor Church Union.

Winnipeg, Nov. 15.—By an overwhelming majority, the members of the Presbyterian synod expressed themselves yesterday as being in favor of the negotiations for church union.

Monmouth College Burned.

Monmouth, Ill., Nov. 15.—The main building of the Monmouth College was destroyed yesterday by fire. The loss is $40,000. One workman was killed by falling walls.

$100.00 IN COLD CASH In Rewards For Selling The "Review"

This Grand Competition began Tuesday evening, October 8th, and will close December 31st. (New Year's Eve.) Boys carrying routes, boys selling to customers, boys selling on the street, boys who have never sold papers, are all urged to get up and get. Parents can let the little fellows come to The Review Office after school, and they will be taken care of—not allowed to stay in a dingy cellar or out on the street in the cold. Papers will be ready sharp after 4 o'clock each day. Come On, Boys! Here's a Sure Thing!

Twenty-Six Prizes 26 Twenty-Six Prizes

To the twenty-six boys getting the largest number of New Customers for The Daily Review:

1st PRIZE—$30.00 in Cash, or a high-grade 1908 Bicycle, worth $55.00 as winner may prefer.
2nd PRIZE—$20.00 in Cash, or Fur Goods to the value of $30.00, as preferred.
3rd PRIZE—$10.00 Cash, or $15.00 worth in China, dinner or tea set, or as selected.
4th PRIZE—$8.00 Cash, or $10.00 worth of goods of any kind, as selected.
5th PRIZE—$5.00 Cash.
6th PRIZE—$4.00 Cash.
7th PRIZE—$3.00 Cash.
8th to 12th PRIZES—$2.00 Cash. Five prizes of $2.00 each.
13th to 22nd PRIZES—$1.00 Cash. Ten prizes of $1.00 each.

NOTE—The option, cash or goods, in the first four prizes, is made in case the parents of the boys winning either of the prizes should prefer the larger amount in goods instead of cash.

Any boy may buy Reviews and sell—the more the merrier. The girls have an equal chance with the boys, and will be welcome.

ADDITIONAL PRIZES—Every boy who brings in a paid-up subscription to The Daily Review for three months will receive a bonus of 20 cents; for six months a bonus of 40 cents; for a year a bonus of $1.00.

HERE'S A WEEKLY REWARD—In addition, every boy who buys one paper or more each night of the week, (six papers), will receive once each week, during this competition,

A FREE TICKET TO THE CRYSTAL MOVING PICTURES

See, Boys! You have a paid admission to this beautiful entertainment, even if you do no more than buy one paper each night. This privilege has been secured for you exclusively by The Review.

Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada

Gravenhurst, Oct. 26th, 1907

W. H. HILL, Esq.,
Manager Central Ontario Sun Life of Canada
Peterborough, Ontario.

DEAR SIR,—

Your favor of the 24th inst. received enclosing statement of profits allotted to my policy 7001, in the "Sun Life" for the past five years.

Above policy is for $1,000 on the whole life five year distribution plan on which I paid an annual premium of $28.35, or $141.75 for the five year period.

I find the CASH PROFITS amount to $53.85, or about 40 per cent. of the total premiums paid during the five years. This is certainly a splendid showing and speaks volumes for the earning powers of the Sun Life Company's investments.

Thanking you and wishing your company continued success,

Yours truly,

Hair-Cut to Cost 25cts. First of Year

New Rate to go into Effect in all Union Shops in the City

Once it was 'Johnny get your hair cut, fifteen cents," then a change was made, and now it costs the aforesaid John twenty cents to have his locks removed by a member of the barbers' union But the worst is yet to come After January 1st it will cost 25 cents to get a hair cut at all the union shops in Peterborough the five cent increase having been decided on a few days ago It will take effect in all the union shops, and, as stated above, will take effect the first of the year

The barbers state that they have been compelled to take this step owing to the increased expenses Rent is higher, wages have been increased and the cost of living is much higher than it was a few years ago Despite the changing conditions, barbering prices have changed very little, and in most respects are the same as they were several years ago. The average man does not have his hair cut very often, and it is not likely there will be many complaints against the new rate.

The Protestant Episcopal churches of New York yesterday formally protested against the action of President Roosevelt in omitting the words "In God we trust" from the new coinage. The vote stood 131 to 31.

Eight Killed and Seventy Injured!

Terrible Wreck on the C.P.R. a Hundred Miles East of North Bay and Near Mattawa.

Light Engine Collided With The "Soo" Express Coming East

Special to the Review.

North Bay, Nov. 15.—Last night C.P.R. Soo passenger train, No. 8, collided headon with light engine at Moore's Lake, one hundred miles east of here. Eight persons were killed, including both engineers, and the firemen, mail clerk, express messengers and two employees riding in the baggage car. Seventy others were injured.

ANOTHER ACCOUNT.

Ottawa, Nov. 15.—While a light engine was running on the C.P.R. to the west in the early hours of this morning, it met the Soo express coming east at Moore's Lake about 15 miles from Mattawa. A terrible collision resulted in which seven were killed and many injured. No further particulars are to hand, but both engineers' crews are among the dead.

AMONG THE DEAD.

The dead in the C.P.R. railway wreck at Moore's Lake are Engineer J. E. Young, North Bay, Engineer Hendry, North Bay, Fireman Meadows, North Bay, A. Clark, express man, Montreal, Baggageman J. E. Irving, Ottawa, Brakeman Pendergest, of North Bay, and his father. The train wrecked was No. 8.

They Escaped Only to Meet Worse Death

Brakeman Pendergast and His Father Were in Wreck at Blind River on Nov. 13th—Burned to Death

Almonte, Nov. 15.—A dreadful head on collison occurred about 12.30 a.m. Moore's Lake, 35 miles west of Chalk River, where the east bound Soo train, No. 2, collided with west bound light engine 1575, seven persons losing their lives. Engineer J. Young and his fireman of No. 8, and Engineer Hendrie of the light engine, were killed, and baggageman Irvine, express messenger Clarke and Brakeman Pendergast and his father, who on Wednesday, Nov. 13, were injured in the wreck at Blind River, and who were on their way to the hospital at Pembroke, were burned to death. The mail clerk is still missing and is supposed also to have been burned. Many passengers are reported seriously injured. Three coaches, comprising the baggage car, express car and a colonist car, were burned to ashes. Both engines are badly damaged and in the ditch.

Special ladies' tickets will be given out for Monday night, which will admit two ladies, or one lady and gentleman for 30 cents

GIVEN TILL NOON TO-DAY TO LEAVE CITY

Eli Kidd Appeared in Police Court—Tried to Dispose of Cheap Rings

Eli Kidd was given till twelve o'clock at noon today, to get out of the city, at the police court this morning. Kidd was arrested last evening about six o'clock by P. C. Newhall, while attempting to dispose of two gold rings. He appeared before Magistrate Dumble this morning charged with peddling without a license.

The prisoner pleaded not guilty. It appears that he and a young lad, Bert McCaul, whom Kidd had induced to accompany him, came up from Bewdley yesterday afternoon. McCaul had been employed with Kidd's brother, and Eli Kidd had been staying there for a few days. When they came to the city, Kidd went into a local jewellery store and bought two rings for thirty cents. He offered them to a street car conductor for 75 cents, but a telephone message soon after brought P. C. Newhall to the scene and Kidd was arrested.

Kidd said that he wanted a little money to get back to Toronto and took this means of getting it. He did not think he was peddling.

"I'll let you go if you get right out of town," said His Worship, whereupon the prisoner promised to go.

"He has no money to pay a fine and we will have the gaol full before long if we send all these fellows up," remarked the magistrate.

Three Deer For the Gold Lake Club

Water Lying in Low Lands Made Them Hard to Get—A Big Storm

The Gold Lake Hunt Club returned to the city last night after spending a very pleasant, but not extra profitable season of two weeks and a half at Gull Lake.

The members of the party were Messrs. Wm. Snowden, president; T. Rutherford, captain; A. Blade, J. E Haggart, A Ringer, Ex-Ald. Stewart, Toronto; M C Tooley, H. Sherwood, H Taylor, E Taylor, J Houlihan J King and S. Wainwright, making a total of thirteen.

DEER HARD TO GET

When Captain Rutherford was seen by the Review this morning, he waved aside all objections of some of the other members of the party, and consented to be interviewed.

"How many deer did the party get," was one of the first questions.

"Only three," he replied, "on account of the marshes and low lands being flooded, the hunting was poor, making the chase hard for both the men and the dogs. The deer were pretty plentiful, however, and on the higher lands the hunting parties were generally very successful. The deer were brought down by Mr. Ringer, Mr. Everett Taylor and myself. Two of them, a small doe and a fawn, we ate in camp, and we brought the buck to the city."

A BIG STORM

The party left the camp on Wednesday on one of the McDonald boats, but owing to a fierce storm of wind and snow, were forced to turn back and stayed at Prospect Point over night, lighting a camp fire and sleeping under their canoes. On account of the storm, the experience was naturally not a very pleasant one.

During the return to Prospect Point one of the canoes broke loose from the boat towing it. A search for the canoe was instituted and kept up all night. It was finally located in the morning by Messrs. Rutherford and Haggart, about a mile and a half from where the tow rope broke. It was lodged up against a flat rock and had escped damage.

On Thursday the storm ceased and the party continued its journey to Peterborough without any further incidents of moment.

Summons Came With Suddenness

Mr. J. A. McWilliams, East City, Expires While Sitting in His Chair—Was Visiting His Daughter in Lakefield

While sitting in his chair at the residence of his daughter, Mrs Robt. Carter, Lakefield, and apparently in excellent health, Mr. John A. McWilliams, Rogers street, East City, died last evening about a quarter past eight o'clock. Having made no complaint of feeling at all unwell, the end came with shocking suddenness.

During the past two months or more the late Mr. McWilliams had been working at Lovesick Lake and yesterday started to come home to Peterborough, where he was to attend a meeting of the Royal Scarlet Chapter. Not reaching Lakefield in time to catch the train, he went to his daughter's, where he had supper, and was to remain the night. He was sitting talking to his relatives when, without a moment's notice, he passed away. Medical aid was quickly summoned, but nothing could be done. Death was attributed to heart's disease.

The late Mr. McWilliams was 72 years of age and was born near Kingston. For the past forty years he had resided in Peterborough, on Rogers street, East City. He was universally esteemed and his death will be received with profound regret. Probably in all the Orange Order, there was not a more prominent or active member than the late Mr. McWilliams. Having joined at the age of 18 years at his death he occupied the highest office that any member can fill, that of Past County Master. He had filled the office of district master and County Master. He was also Past Preceptor of the Royal Black Knights of Ireland, No. 261, and Past Master of the Royal Scarlet Chapter. He was well known throughout the Midland district and on several occasions was a representative at Grand Lodge. The deceased was a Presbyterian in religion and in politics was a staunch Conservative.

Besides his sorrowing wife, three sons and four daughters are left to mourn his loss. The sons are Wm., of Winnipeg; Adam, of Bridgenorth; and John W., of Peterborough, and the daughters are Mrs. Robt. Carter of Lakefield; Mrs. Constantine, of Brooklyn, N.Y.; Mrs. Wm. Carter, city, and Miss Mary, residing at home.

The funeral which will be under Orange auspices, will be held Monday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock from the family residence, 279 Rogers street, to the Little Lake cemetery.

BANQUET FOR THE HARRIERS

Active Y.M.C.A. Organization to be Banquetted by Board of Directors

A complimentary banquet is to be tendered the Y.M.C.A. Harriers by the Board of Directors of the Association on Tuesday evening next, at 8 o'clock p.m. The banquet is being personally provided by the directors, and will be held at the Y.M.C.A. It is being tendered the Harriers as a slight recognition of the splendid showing they have made in the recent road races Further particulars will appear later.

To Hold Supper And Concert

A concert and supper is to be held in the Orangle hall, 4th line of Smith, on Tuesday evening of next week, under the auspices of the Presbyterian church at Fowler's Corners. A good programme is being prepared and an enjoyable time is expected.

Dr. Browett's Dates at Peterboro'

His Successful Visit. For the past few weeks Dr. Browett, optical specialist, has been teaching opticians at Midland. A large number of persons have taken the opportunity of Dr. Browett's visit to that thriving Georgian Bay port to have their eyes examined for glasses, and thus save themselves the expense of a trip to the larger cities. While there people from Penetanguishene and other adjoining towns have visited him and several very difficult cases have been helped. Dr. Browett will before visiting his next teaching appointment, spend Tues. to Sat., 12th to 16th at his home office at our store and conduct examinations for those for whom we are making appointments.

OBITUARY

JOHN J. PATTERSON.

The death occurred last evening after a lengthy illness of John James Patterson, at his father's residence, King street. The deceased was 38 years of age and was the eldest son of Mr. Geo. Patterson, city. He was born in this city, but until a short time ago resided in Toronto. Six years ago he was married to his now sorrowing wife, who with three small children is left to mourn his loss. The late Mr. Patterson was widely known and highly esteemed and his death will be learned with deep regret.

Besides his parents, three brothers and two sisters survive him. The brothers are George, of St. Louis, Mo., Wilfrid and Bruce of this city. The sisters are Mrs. L. Craig and Mrs. Sidney Ghrowe, of Peterborough.

The funeral will take place Saturday at 2.30 o'clock from the family residence, King street, to the Little Lake cemetery.

MRS. SIMPSON.

Mrs. Mary A. Simpson, relict of the late Robert Simpson, founder of the Robert Simpson Company, of Toronto, who died at Weisbaden, Germany, on November 7th, was formerly Miss Botsford of Newmarket, and aunt of Mrs. M. B. Tudhope, of Orillia. She is survived by her daughter, Mrs. William Hamilton Merritt; her sister, Miss Elizabeth Botsford, and her two brothers, Mr. Timothy Botsford of Newmarket, and Mr. Charles Botsford of Peterborough.

PASSEPARTOUT PICTURES AND MOUNTING BOARD

The fad for passepartout pictures is again growing very general. Many who have used this means of decorating their rooms, find there is no other way of treating pictures, that is so economical and satisfactory. The Review has a new line of passepartout in all shades, mounting papers and pictures in the popular sepia tints. Call and see them and fix up a few pictures for your friends for Xmas. Nothing is more acceptable than a pretty picture.

An International Juvenile Court Society was organized in Chicago yesterday.

Splendid Reports Were Presented

At Quarterly Business Meeting of Park Street Baptist Church

The quarterly business meeting of the Park street Baptist church was held last night. The proceedings were most harmonious, and an anxious spirit for more aggressive effort and a yearning for a deeper spiritual life in the membership was manifested. The two most healthy departments were the Sunday school and the Building Fund. The average attendance at the Sunday school is 101; teachers, 15; average offerings each Sunday, $2.75.

The Building Fund reported $1,235 in hard cash, four hundred of which came in at the last thank offering Sunday. Arrangements were made for the Week of Prayer in January, and a watchnight service. Special services will be held during winter. Much satisfaction was expressed at the wide, substantial bridge and grading done by the City Council, making it easy for people to approach the church. The fixing to the plastering will be attended to this week by Mr. Jos. Johnston. This with the heaving thanking will make the old church warm and comfortable for the short time it will be needed.

LAST LOCKAGE ON NOVEMBER 24

The steamer, Water Lily, which has been at Stoney Lake for several days went down the river this afternoon to bring up the Rice Lake and lower river people to market tomorrow.

Mr. William Collins, lockmaster, states that the last lockage at the Peterborough lock last year was on November 24th. The Monarch came up the river on December 1st, but did not come past the Street Railway wharf.

May Purchase the Hamilton Plant

Mr. G. Walter Green May Take Over Wm. Hamilton Foundry

It is well known that the machinery, tools, motors and equipment of the machine shop, boiler shop, pattern shop of the Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Co., are offered for sale en bloc or in parcels.

The equipement consists of saw machinery, water wheels, mining machinery, and contractor's supplies.

It was learned today on good authority that Mr. G. Walter Greene may purchase the plant of the Hamilton Company. He is said to be negotiating for it, and may have others associated with him in the purchase. He has had a very successful and prosperous career in his own business. He has gradually extended his facilities and enlarged his plant and buildings, until his establishment on McDonnel street, is now one of the best known in the province.

REPORTER AND POLICEMAN

Versatility of a Local Newspaper Representative

A reporter that is always on hand to get news hot off the griddle, deserves much credit, and perhaps cash, also, but the latter utility is a stranger to the average newspaper man. That, however, is foreign to this story.

Last tnight a young man, employed on a local journal, and who has a voracious appetite for anything in the line of negotiable intelligence was at the police station, enquiring from one of the officers, if anything had transpired that he might publish for the benefit of the readers of the journal he represented.

P. C. Newhall had heard of a peddler plying his trade on the local thoroughfares, and as the vendor of miscellaneous wares had no license he went out after him and succeeded in locating him at the corner of George and Charlotte streets. With that sagacity for which he is noted the press agent trailed behind the officer and followed him, until he placed his man under arrest. It happened that another man, a little fellow by the way, was with the peddler, and P. C. Newhall thought it would be advisable to lock him up also and hold him as a witness or an associate as the case might be. He noticed the reporter and said, "You take the small man." Whereupon the newsboy seized his prey and the quartette, composed of the officer, the two prisoners, and the impromptu Nick Carter, set out for the police station.

Owing to numerous enquiries the reporter in question wishes to deny the rumor that he is a plain clothes man, or is in anyway identified wth a detective agency. He is still in the reportorial game, and will be pleased to learn of any accidents, weddings or deaths. He is generally to be found at one of the local hotels or the police station.

Massage, regular price, 15c; reduced to 10c.

Shampoo, regular price, 25c; reduced to 15c.

Hair tonic, regular price 10c; reduced to 5c.

Best workmanship. Everything first class. Ladies' and children's work a specialty. Everybody welcome.

Higher Prices Reign in Hotels

New Schedule in Force, Commencing To-day.

The higher prices in liquors came into effect at the local hotels today. They prevail all over the province and the hotelmen found it necessary to raise them, on account of the distillers and brewers, increasing the wholesale prices to such an extent that it was found impossible to sell the liquors at the bars at the old scale of prices, unless some processes of adulteration were adopted. The increase in wholesale prices amounted to $5.00 a barrel on whiskey, 10c. a dozen on pints of ale, and $2 a hogshead on draft ale.

Every hotel proprietor in Peterborough, has signed the new schedule list and a prominent hotelman informed the Review today, that any of them who sold for less than the prices agreed upon, would have to "doctor his goods" to enable him to make any profit.

"What you want — When you want it"

That's the Semi-ready "idea" — coupled with a great system which is simplicity personified when once you understand it.

Tailoring men's clothes as good as clothes can be made and making them from the highest priced fabrics at a much smaller cost than you have had to pay for similar style and quality—that is another paragraph in the "Semi-ready" idea.

Delivered to any place you designate — finished within two hours after trying-on. A third idea.

Cash—coupled with your money back if you ask it — which inspires mutual confidence and long friendships. One more basic.

Has Ex-Dective Wells Been The Victim of Foul Play?

Sleuth Who Tried to Unravel Barton Murder Mystery Disappears

HAD VISITED PETERBOROUGH

Left Vancouver Hotel in June to Post Letter and Has Not Since Been Seen

Has Wm. J. Wells, a former provincial detective, met with foul play? His mysterious disappearance and prolonged absence have caused his friends great alarm. Wells is well known in Peterborough, having been here on several occasions in connection with the famous Gow-Hill tragedy in Dummer.

Regarding his disappearance a Toronto despatch says:—

'Wm. J. Wells, formerly provincial detective, living at 15 Leuty Ave., has disappeared so completely that friends are alarmed and fear foul play.

Wells travelled for a Montreal firm of dry goods importers. He went west on a trip for the firm early in the summer, as far as Vancouver, B. C. In June he wrote to his wife from a Vancouver hotel. He left the hotel to post the latter and has not been seen since.

He leaves three children and a wife now in financial and mental distress.

Wells took a prominent part in the attempt to unravel the Barton murder mystery near Hamilton. He never relinquished the idea of running down the murderer, and it is feared that his vigorous prosecution of this case may have something to do with his disappearance."

Huge Army of Immigrants To be Brought to Canada

Vanguard of Salvation Army Will Cross Whole Continent on Two Special Trains—Ten Ships Will Pump in the White Man.

The Salvation Army is taking Rudyard Kipling's advice, and will pump the white man into British Columbia. An immigration campaign is being inaugurated, which is of the most immediate interest to British Columbia, but which will shortly include Ontario in its ramifications. This scheme, for which ten ocean ships have already been especially chartered, seems most fitly described as gigantic.

Commissioner Coombs left for British Columbia this afternoon, says the Toronto Star. His visit has in view the completion of arrangements for the reception of suitable immigrants early next year. He describes the undertaking as "something unique" in immigration" and his comment is not inapt. About a thousand immigrants are now being gathered in the Old Country. The army, will assemble them at Liverpool, where they will take ship on the specially chartered Kensington, of the Dominion Line. Upon their arrival in Canada, they will be taken direct across the continent on two special trains in charge of army officers. The trip from Halifax to the coast, entirely under army auspices will be, as the commissioner says, unique.

This consignment of immigrants will be composed largely of Scotch people and will include a good sprinkling of domestic servants. There will be a representation of North of Irelanders, and a number of farming continentals.

This is but the beginning of an invasion of Canada, which will ultimately include all the provinces. The motto of the army in undertaking this work is brief, but succinct.; "Put them on the land." An effort will be made to secure a class of people fit for farming operations, and to put them where the soil will itself repay their efforts.

The first consignment is being sent to British Columbia simply because the winter weather,—say, in March—would make it inadvisable to place the newcomers in Ontario or the Northwest. The more salubrious climate of the coast will, it is hoped, be found more amiable.

The early shipment of 1908 will be the first of many. After that comes the deluge; for the army has undertaken a scheme of immigration which includes the placing of large numbers of men from across the seas on the farms of Ontario and sister Provinces, as well as on the farms of the great Northwest and the timberlands of the coast.

AIR HOOLIGAN A NEW PEST.

Londonner Lets Out the First Wail Against Ballast Dropper.

The road hog who whizzes through town and village leaving a cloud of dust and a trail of dead dogs and fowls behind him promises to be surpassed as a public nuisance by the air hog, now that ballooning is becoming a popular pastime.

Mr. F. P. Warren, writing to The London Times relates how, as he sat quietly reading in his garden in Gloucester road, Kingston Hill, the other night, a balloon glided over and greeted him with a shower of ballast. "Good ballast, I have no doubt," says Mr. Warren; "but when dropped into my garden it fulfilled Huxley's definition of dirt.

"What right," he asks, "has a balloonist to shoot his rubbish on me and my property? I cannot think his action is legally an act of God; but, if it is, what a prospect is in view for peaceful citizens if in a few years' time air travel becomes a fad of the vulgar rich!

"Suppose I am peacefully tracking a snail to its lair, and am suddenly assailed with the tea slops and heeltaps and broken sorts of a millionaire's midair tea party.

"All my flock of bad words will peer out over the fence of my teeth ready for flight; my wife will tell Johnny and Amelia they must play more quietly, as poor dada is not feeling well, and a general gloom will settle over the house. Multiply the instance and you have a country oppressed as if under the domination of the Puritans."

As the man who flies through the air has a greater field for his nuisance developments than the man who flies along our roads, it may appear advisable, Mr. Warren adds, to get a strong body of public opinion ready to crush the "air hog" as soon as he appears.

But, supposing public opinion to be roused, how is the "air hog" to be dealt with? How is the action of airships 500 feet or more above the earth to be regulated?

A correspondent put the question to Major Baden-Powell, a practical balloonist and aeroplane inventor himself. "I told you so," he said. "There are going to be all manner of complications when the day of airships comes, and I think Mr. Warren is a wise man to start thinking about them.

"But, first of all, I can explain how the incident of the unfortunate ballast happened. Lately they have taken to putting wet ballast in the bags, with the result that it falls in clots and lumps. That's how it is. If it had been dry ballast the sand would have simply fallen in a soft, soothing shower that would have done no harm.

"I know a famous balloonist who, quite recently, dropped wet ballast, and is smashed through a glass house. A pure accident, of course, The sort of thing that might happen to the best intentioned air traveler. The owner of the glass house made inquiries and found out where the balloon started from, the name of the owner, and—well, I happen to know that the owner paid. I should recommend Mr. Warren to claim for moral damages to his garden, if he can find the balloonist.

"You see," continued Major Baden-Powell, "if your balloon is dropping you cannot stop to consider what is underneath it. In fact, you are particularly anxious not to find out what is underneath. You must throw out ballast.

"So much for the present. As for the future there will really have to be serious legislation when airships become the fashion. But I do not see how you are going to prevent millionaires emptying tea slops on the heads of suburban residents if they want to. You could not take an airship's number; it would be invisible at such a height. Probably every airship would be forced to carry its own refuse box, and midair picnics would be forbidden."

KING EDWARD'S DANGER.

His Horoscope Indicates Predominance of Mars.

One of the chief features of the October number of the Monthly Messenger, published by "Old Moore," a well-known English weather prophet, is a horoscope of the principal rulers.

This month the stars that sway King Edward come under survey.

According to "Old Moore," the planet Mars is predominant in the King's horoscope. The seer adds that it is very important in this respect, "that the total eclipse of the sun of January 3 next falls on the place of Mars at the King's birth; and there certainly appears indications of grave international troubles, warlike tendencies, as well as personal dangers and ill-health."

The Midshipman.

Writing in Harper's Magazine, Capt. A. T. Mahan says: By luck, I, for the first time in my life, have found a plausible derivation for midshipman. It would appear that in the days immediately after the flood the vessels were very high at the ends, between which there was a deep "waist," giving no ready means of passing from one to the other. To meet this difficulty there were employed a class of men, usually young and alert, who, from their station were called midshipmen, to carry messages which were not subject for the trumpet shout. If this explanation holds water it, like fore-castle, and after-guard, and knight-heads gives another instance of survival of nomenclature from conditions, which have long ceased. Whatever the origin of his title, it well expressed the anomalous and undefined position of the midshipman. He belonged, so to say, to both ends of the ship, as well as to the middle, and his duties and privileges alike fell within the broad saying, already quoted, that what was nobody's business was a midshipman's. When appointed as such, in later days, he came in "with the havseed in his hair," and went out fit for a lieutenant's charge; but from first to last, whatever his personal progress, he continued, as a midshipman, a handy-billy.

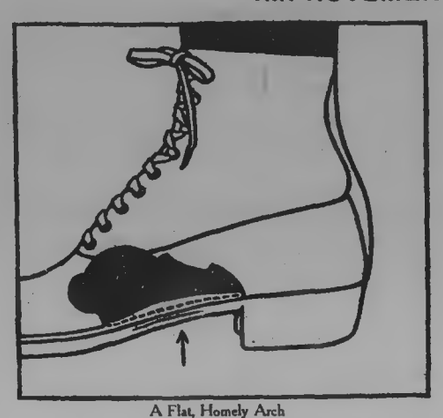
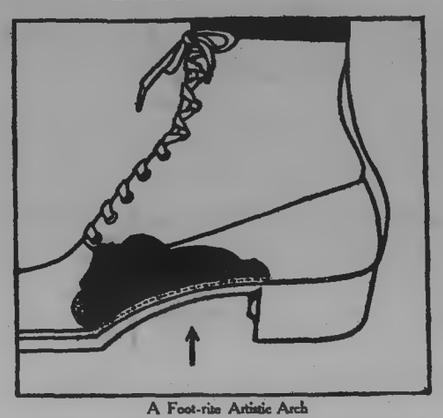
HAS ARTISTIC ARCH

IMPROVEMENT NUMBER SEVEN



A Flat, Homely Arch



A Foot-rite Artistic Arch

Homely thing—a flat arched shoe.

No shoe, whether for man or woman, can be really clever looking without an artistically curved arch.

To make a shoe with a smart arch line costs money. It requires special lasts. The maker can't use stock lasts, ground from a mill by hundreds of thousands, as all stock lasts have flat arches. Ask any last maker. It requires tough heels. He can't use heels made of shoe factory junk. It requires level construction of the heel and sole, and instead of a cheap, weak, wood arch support which falls flat at the first wearing, it requires a stout steel arch.

The Foot-rite Shoe has an artistic arch.

Because it's moulded-over lasts sculptured from the handsomely and ideally formed feet of model athletes. If an athlete hasn't a perfect arch he's not an athlete.

Because of its tough heels which slough off slowly at the back, hence doesn't tip up and jam up into and bend or break the sole line of the arch.

Because of its Plumb-Line Level Heel and Sole which always remain level, leaving the arch line to curve artistically, like a tangent from a straight line.

And because of its strong steel arch support sewed between the inner and outer sole which stubbornly sustains its artistic curve line.

There's a Foot-rite retailer in your town who's skilled in the art of fitting Foot-rite artistic arches. His name's below. You'll find his door swinging inward but never outward to find a more welcome store. Every pair Goodyear Welted.

Cobourg Physicians Formulate a New Schedule of Prices

Cobourg Sentinel-Star; During the past few weeks the physicians of the town have had several meetings during which they have resolved themselves into a medical association. One of the many questions discussed at those meetings was the revision of the tariff. The association felt that a tariff of thirty years ago was grossly unfair and sorely needed readjusting to meet present day requirements and conditions, as the cost of drugs and living expenses have greatly increased. The maximum fee for day visits within one mile of the doctor's office will be one dollar; medicines extra; beyond one mile 50 cents per mile or portion of a mile. Night visits between 9 p.m. and 7 p.m., the minimum fee will be two dollars with in a radius of one mile and seventy-five cents per mile or fraction thereof. In future an office consultation fee will invariably be charged. Patients too frequently are under the impression that when they pay for the medicines they are under no further obligation, and that advice, without medicine should be gratis. The minimum fee for examinations for lodge insurance or sick benefits will be $1.50 and the minimum for certificates for sick benefits will be $1. For vaccination $1; for an anaesthetic $4.

Reynolds Still Working His Jaw

Making all Sorts of Offers on Certain Conditions

Toronto, Nov. 14.—Jimmy Reynolds, Port Hope's famous walking barber, has several propositions which he hopes to have taken up next May, providing that he can secure wagers worth while. He offers to walk over this course from Oshawa to Toronto and return to Peterborough via Port Hope, recently covered by Hartley of Peterborough, in 23 hours, or one hour and six minutes less than Hartley's time. One week later, Reynolds offers to walk from Port Hope to Toronto, and return, a distance of 130 miles, on which he has made a record of 36 hours and 22 minutes, in 34 hours. In each instance Reynolds offers to wager $300 against $500. Again a week later, Reynolds will walk against Hartley 150 miles or more; the course proposed by Reynolds is from Port Hope to Toronto and return to Coburg. In this case, Reynolds must put $1,000 opposition money before he starts. The latter race may in a large measure depend upon the outcome of the 12 hour match race, which is to take place in Toronto next week.

Hayti is running Russia a close second. Five "political" prisoners have recently been shot there, one because he made a military coat for another man, and one because he happened to live between two houses in each of which a rifle had been found.

A BECOMING TEA GOWN

The tea gown is as indispensable to the modern woman of cultured tastes as her slippers or her bath gown, especially during the cool days, when the fireside and the afternoon cup of tea are luxuries to be anticipated with delight. The model illustrated is an especially pleasing one, the long straight lines being becoming to almost any type of figure, while the tucked collar, wide at the back and shoulders and narrowing in front to a point, has a most graceful effect. A charming result, too, is afforded by the tucked yoke, below which the full front falls in unbroken lines to the hem. The gown is adapted to the figure at the waistline by a series of small tucks, over which a ribbon girdle may be adjusted if desired, though this is not necessary. Lansdowne was selected for developing the gown, dotted foulard being used for the full front and embroidered ecru batiste for garniture. To model the medium size 8½ yards 36 inches wide will be needed.

6957—6 sizes, 32 to 42 inches bust measure.

The price of this pattern is 10c.

Leave your order and 10c at THE REVIEW OFFICE and pattern will be sent you by mail.

VERY SUDDEN OPPORTUNITY

Took a Sudden Fancy to Barber and Offered to Build Him Shop

The other day a gentleman walked into a local barber shop to get some tonsorial work done and was so delighted with the way the artist of the brush and blade performed his work that he offered to build a barber shop for him in North Bay and employ him to conduct it.

"There's all kinds of money in the business there," he said, "and there's a crying need for good men."

The man to whom the generous offer was made, has not definitely decided what to do in the matter, but says he will probably go north in the spring.

LITTLE LAKE FROZEN OVER

Little Lake was covered with a thin coating of ice this morning, being frozen across from shore to shore. The bright sun, however, soon cleared away the ice and there were few traces of it at noon.

THE LOCKERS TO BE REPAIRED

Committees were appointed at the meeting of the Board of Directors of the Y.M.C.A. last night to get the lockers repaired, and games of interest arranged for the boys' department. Several other matters were also discussed.

A DISTINCT SERVICE

The importance and significance of the great transcontinental tour undertaken and carried to a most successful completion by Mr. Borden, the gifted Conservative leader, are now being fully realized. He has met the people of many cities and towns in all parts of the Dominion and that he created a most favorable impression and that his policy—wise, progressive and far-seeing—has been received with enthusiasm, are matters well known. His tour has been commended by several Liberal newspapers. The Ottawa Free Press, the Winnipeg Free Press and other staunch Liberal journals, have been indulging in some pretty straight talk to their leaders regarding the necessity and advisability of Cabinet ministers getting out and coming more in contact with the people, not relying on what has been done in parliament to command the support and confidence of the electorate. They state that the west has received little or no attention from the holders of the various portfolios, so far as an educative campaign is concerned and it is time there was an awakening. They further admit that Mr. Borden has performed a distinct public service. This has also been acknowledged by independent journals. Mr. R. L. Richardson, a former Liberal M.P., for Lisgar, Manitoba, who conducts the Winnipeg Tribune, a strictly independent journal, has the following impartial reference and review of the Conservative leader's recent tour;

"He leaves Winnipeg a man whose public speeches are vastly more forceful and convincing than his Halifax platform.

It is not extreme to say that if Mr. Borden's written platform had been as clear, comprehensive and specific as Mr. Borden's address delivered at the Walker theatre, last night, its effect upon the whole country would have been as strong as the effect of the address certainly appeared to be upon the Winnipeg audience.

"For Government newspapers to attempt to make light of Mr. Borden's tour and to claim that he has created no impression is unwise. Indeed, it would be a reflection upon the intelligence of the public if a man of Mr. Borden's admitted sincerity and personal integrity should make no impression. The people have a much greater interest in the public weal than they have in the fortunes of any party.

"There can be little doubt that the reforms advocated by Mr. Borden are the reforms that Canada must eventually have. This the government should understand, and, understanding it, should act upon that understanding, if it desires to hold the reins of power much longer.

"Winnipeg and the west owe a debt of gratitude to Mr. Borden for his excellent elucidation of a policy that was but vaguely outlined in his Halifax platform, for, whether Mr. Borden should be elected to office at the next general elections or not, his campaign will bring those reforms that he advocates much nearer realization, and will almost certainly force the government to "take stock," and to adopt much of the Borden policy, if not for the interests of the country, at least for the more selfish interests of the government itself."

THE RUSH TO CANADA

The Salvation Army, whose colonization immigration and prison reform schemes have made the work of the army world-wide in its scope and character and stamped it as one of the greatest uplifting agencies of modern times in reclaiming and reforming the erring sons of men, will bring a hugh contingent of immigrants to Canada next year. The Army is taking the advice of Rudyard Kipling and will "pump in" the white man by the thousands. After all, it may be advisable to exclude the Orientals by crowding the white man in, but he should be the proper kind in.

As an admirer has said Canada is the best country in the world, but she wants only the best that Europe can send. The Dominion has certainly not exercised close enough scrutiny and passed sufficient restrictions as to who should be admitted to her borders. New settlers have been arriving at the rate of 1000 a day for the past nine or ten months, whereas perhaps, not more than three-quarters of them are desirable.

Men who are victims of an insatiable appetite for strong drink, who are afflicted with incurable diseases, who have been convicted of felony, who have made a failure of everything at home, who are lazy and looking for a soft snap and imagine that dollar bill grow on trees and can be picked off like so much fruit, these men are not wanted. They would not prove a success any where; but rather as a burden and an encumbrance. We have an abundance of the slothful, the extravagant and the shiftless at home, without importing them.

The Evening Standard, of London, England, speaking on a closer scrutiny of immigrants to be made says; "We are informed, that the Canadian authorities have decided upon a more strict supervision of immigrants than has hitherto been carried out.

During the rush of the past few years more people who have turned out to be undesirable in more ways than one have been allowed to enter than is considered good for the country.

A number of these who have gone out from England, under the auspices of philanthropic or rate-aided organizations, have proved very disappointing. They are, for the most part, men whose downward path in the Old Country had been arrested, and who, showing promise of reform, were sent out to the Dominion to begin life afresh in new and better surroundings.

"Many of this class have certainly done well," said an official of the Canadian Government, now in London, to one of our representatives, "but the proportion of backsliders is larger than we should like.

"A deputation from the London Unemployed Body has just returned from a visit to Canada, and I see that one of its members says that all those the organization has already sent out are doing well. I am afraid the deputation did not see them all. After, however, the statement the other day of Mr. Lloyd George that 30 per cent. of the unemployed owed their position to drink, I am only surprised that the failures in Canada have been so few.

"I am far from pleased at the statement that the Unemployed Body contemplates sending many more. They will find that a closer scrutiny of the character and records of the men will be made than has been the case in the past.

"We have sent back the worst cases, not only of the Unemployed Body, but of other organizations."

PEN POINTS

Have you paid your second instalment of taxes?

Cobourg doctors have raised their fees. It will soon be cheaper to die than to live.

This is the kind of weather that naturally reduces the supply of coal in the bin.

A contemporary has the following expressive heading;—"Sad Suicide of a Jackass—Sentimental, long eared animal overcome with Grief."

Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper has accepted the Conservative nomination in Pictou. Sir Charles will take off his coat and enter the fray with that energy, determined spirit and aggressive attitude which spell victory.

The Cobourg Sentinel-Star says:—Next year the election of Warden of Peterborough County will be by ballot. It is, we think, wise, and the united counties of Northumberland and Durham, cannot do better than to follow the example. It will do away with the see-sawing, the changing of votes so as to prolong the elections. Why should not the most popular man, or at least the one who can command the majority of the votes be elected on the first ballot. Of course where a number of candidates are put forward, it may be necessary for a member to change from a candidate dropping out to a stronger one but the child's play of keeping up a contest for fun should be done away with.

When Will Sewer be Completed?

Ratepayers Think That Work on Romaine Street Should be Finished

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—I see by your paper of the 13th inst., under the heading of "Years Work nearly over. Board of Works gangs about finished for the Season." In that article you state what has been done, in improvements also you state that a number of men are employed on the extension of George street. The writer would like to know on what part of it, it is not between Lake and Lansdowne streets, and that is the most important extension we have heard of and it seems as if the G.T.R. Co. do not intend to let it be used by the people. Then again you did not make mention of a gang of men that are employed digging up part of the sewer again, between Romaine street, down Aylmer, to the King Edward School. We would like to know when that sewer will be finished, and about what it will cost when completed, if it ever reaches that stage. Judging by the way it has been handled by those in charge, if this is a specimen of doing public work by day labor, instead of letting contracts to responsible men, we, like hundreds of others, fail to see it. This is only a short synopsis of this now famous and expensive sewer, for which the people will have to pay. I could say a great deal more about this latter work, but will refrain just now. Hoping your informants will give more reliable information next time.

THE IMMIGRATION QUESTION

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir.—Why has Lemieux gone to Japan and why has the unrestricted influx of Japs all but ceased, if everything was as it should be? The stupidity of the Federal Government in this crisis is almost criminal. The truth is, these men do not understand how to govern for the general good of the country and are making a mess of it. It is the same on the money market. Are we all losing money in the present condition of the money market? Certainly not. Money never made money so fast as today, but it is out of the farmer, the workingman and the consumer. The science of finance is cultivated to perfection and the financiers are making us sweat accordingly, all the while crying, "Oh! If we only had more money." A wise Government would have foreseen and provided for this condition of things—if it had the good of the country at heart. But it is a stupid government that has saddled us with the G.T.P. and a hundred millions to pay—to the capitalist—with high prices for food and no benefit to anybody but the financial men, with starvation in the midst of plenty and with a deluge of cheap labor to make it worse for all but the capitalist. Away with such a government!

INTERESTING PROGRAMME IS ARRANGED

By the Debating Club of the Y. M. C. A.—The Officers of the Club

Below is the programme prepared by the Y.M.C.A. Debating Club for the coming season. A glance at it will show that the topics are well chosen, and should form the subject of many interesting and helpful debates. It is as follows,—

Nov. 21.—Men who have helped to make Canada.—Oration.

Dec. 4.—Resolved, "That individual control of capital is opposed to the best interests of the people."—Debate.

Dec. 18.—Oration, "Ideal characters."

Jan. 8.—Opening of a Mock Parliament.

Jan. 22.—Mock Parliament, "Introduction or bill dealing with Canada's transportation problem."

Feb. 5.—Mock Parliament, "Canadian Diplomacy."

Feb. 19.—A Night with the Authors.

March 4.—Resolved, "That Equality of Opportunity is impossible under existing circumstances."

March 18.—"My Trade," by members of the society.

April 1.—Banquet.

THE OFFICERS.

The officers of the club are,—Pres., W. G. Shiner; 1st Vice-Pres., B. A. Lillie; 2nd Vice-Pres., W. McLaren; Secretary, F. F. Simpson; Executive Committee, C. Coleman, G. Armstrong, F. Ray; Critic, J. E. Hodgson, B. A.

Slight Changes in the Districts

There Will be Three-Mail Deliveries of Mail on Charlotte St.

Mr. R. Durston, deputy superintendent of post offices, who is in the city, is making some slight rearrangement in the delivery of letters in the various districts. For instance there will be a change on Charlotte street, where there will be three deliveries a day instead of two, as formerly, owing to the rapid growth of the business interests of this street. There will henceforth be only two deliveries on Brock street instead of three.

Port Hope Has a Mysterious "Hold up" Man

Port Hope, Nov. 15th.—A mysterious man has several times lately closely followed residents of the town who happened to be out late, and although he has caused alarm, no violence has yet been attempted. Among those who have encountered the mysterious individual are several ladies.

On Sunday evening while walking on Pine street Mr. John A. Breen, who is organist at Mr. Mitchell's drug drug store, was closely followed by a man whose movements gave rise to suspicion. When Mr. Breen was opposite the High School he turned quickly. The man was close behind him. Mr. Breen asked him what he wanted. The man did not answer, but at once rushed behind the bushes and disappeared.

Recently Mr. Coral Ogden, who is employed by Mr. Frank Brown, was followed one Saturday night from Dr. Petry's residence on Ward street, to Barrett's mill. Here Mr. Ogden hid himself. The man walked into the mill yard, stood for a time and then turned and walked to Ontario street. Ogden followed him. As he passed under a light Mr. Ogden recognized him as a man who lives in Port Hope and whose reputation is not of the best.

NO HOLD-UP.

A report has been circulated that a well known lady was held up by footpads near her residence on Mill street on Saturday evening and robbed of $20. Sympathetic friends soon visited her, anxious to condole and eager to hear how it happened. But there was nothing doing.

Speaking to a reporter the lady said that there was nothing in the story. She had not even been out of the house on Saturday evening and she had certainly lost no money. The following episode might have given rise to the story. Two men were returning home that evening and were talking over a little deal in which one owed the other a dollar. The pair sat down on the sidewalk in front of the lady's residence and tossed coins as to whether or not the dollar should be paid. Whatever the outcome, one of the men grabbed the dollar bill and made off. This was the nearest thing to a holdup in the vicinity that evening.

The Salvation Army is planning to run its own steamships for its emigration work.

Hastings Proves a Mining Field

Development on Properties shows Many Veins

Mr. L. W. Spear, managing director of Spear's Canadian Mining institute, has received word from from Superintendent George R. Rogers, relating to the development of certain mining properties of the syndicate in Hastings county. On the mine No. 1 shaft has been sunk to the 40-foot level. On the foot wall there is a vein of calcite 18 inches wide, richly charged with copper pyrites, showing an increase in width with the depth. The whole vein is eight feet wide between the walls. The whole formation, so far as it is possible to ascertain, is of slate schist with veins of calcite running from the south to the north through the shaft. Mr. Rogers believes that pay ore will be reached in the shaft at a depth of 50 to 60 feet. Assays from samples taken from the 25 foot level showed a little over 11 per cent. of copper, and $1.30 per ton in gold. At a depth of 35 feet the assays yielded 21 per cent. of copper with a trasing of gold. Work will be continued during the winter, when the shaft will be put down at least 100 feet. The company is also planning to drive a cross-cut through the western end of the property, cutting several surface veins, at a depth of 150 feet.

Mr. Spear has just closed a contract for the development of the Roberton Mine, in Dungannon Township, Hastings county. The property consists of 150 acres, and it is one mile from a railway station. No. 1 vein has a high percentage of nickel and copper, and at a depth of 100 feet it will prove to be a rich copper and nickel lode from 30 to 100 fet wide. No 2 vein is four feet wide, and it has a rich showing of nicoolite between two well-defined walls of diorite. No. 3 vein is three feet wide, and it contains silver, nickel and gold.

On the east end of the property there is a large lode of mica 40 feet wide, and, apparently, carrying little iron.

ELDERLY FOLKS SHOULD TRY IT

Simple Home Mixture Relieves Kidneys and Bladder and Rheumatism

The great majority of men and women at the age of 50 begin to feel the first signs of advancing age in some form of kidney and bladder weakness. Few are entirely free from that torturous disease, rheumatism, which is not a disease in itself, but a symptom of deranged function of the kidneys which have become clogged and sluggish, failing in their duty of sifting and straining the poisonous waste matter, uric acid, etc., from the blood, permitting it to remain and decompose, setting about the joints and muscles, causing intense pain and suffering.

The bladder, however, causes the old folks the most annoyance, especially at night and early morning.

A noted authority in a recent article stated that he has wonderful success with the old-time "vegetable treatment." He states;—"Of sixteen cases of bladder trouble, and rheumatism which have been treated with this treatment, only one very complicated case failed to yield to its remarkable influence. It is the most harmless treatment I have ever found to clean the system of rheumatic poisons; remove irritation of the bladder and relieve urinary difficulties. It is a true vitalizing tonic to the entire kidney and urinary structure, reinvigorating the entire system."

What he terms "old vegetable treatment" consists of the following simple prescription, the ingredients of which can be obtained from any good pharmacy at small cost;—Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce. Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Shake well in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and upon going to bed, also drink plenty of water. This prescription, though simple, is always effective in the diseases and afflictions of the kidneys and bladder.

Gospel Hall Will Give Them a Dinner on December 30th

All the newsboys of the city—big and little, fat and lean, smart and lazy—will be entertained to a dinner in Gospel Hall on Monday evening, December 30. A committee has been appointed by Gospel Hall to make full arrangements for the event, and a fine spread will be provided.

After the appetities of the guests have been appeased, the boys will be given a short address by some speaker yet to be decided upon.

This will be the first dinner ever given the "newsies" of Peterborough, and they are looking forward to the pleasure of the feast of turkey, plum pudding, mince pie and other delicacies.

Mr. H. Wilmot Young Speaks of the Kindness of the Messrs. Turner

The H. Wilmot Young Company concluded its engagement at the Grand Opera House last evening, when the stirring drama, "Monte Christo" was presented to a fair sized audience.

Mr. Young, at the close of the production, expressed his appreciation of the generous treatment accorded his company by the people of Peterborough, and said that they hoped to play a return engagement at an early date. Mr. Young took occasion to pay a neat little compliment to the Messrs. Turner, who, he said, were the most obliging, genial and considerate opera house proprietors he had ever run across. They had done everything in their power to make the stay of the members of the company pleasant, and one and all had several times expressed their appreciation of the kindness and courtesy extended to them.

Put Street Number on All Letters Sent for Delivery

Some of the Difficulties Which the Post Office Officials and Mail Carriers in Peterborough Have to Contend.

In Toronto henceforth no letters will be delivered unless the street and number are written on the envelope. Letters with the numbers omitted will be returned to the sender.

Banks, lodges and other institutions who are in the habit of posting large bundles of notices without street number in the address will have all these missives sent back in bulk.

In Peterborough the post office authorities state that the same fault prevails. Electric light companies, lodges, etc., will send out scores of letters not addressed to any street or number evidently expecting the post office clerks and the carriers to search directories and put proper addresses on them.

Already four directories have been worn out looking for street numbers, etc. Papers and other periodicals are forwarded to the post office with merely the name on. This should be changed as the regulations in cities where street delivery system prevails, requires that the number and street address should be on each letter or paper.

For the protection of carriers, it has been decided to return for general delivery all mail matter addressed to houses where a vicious dog is kept. Such dog owners will therefore have to call at the post office for their mail until the canine is tied up.

The authorities complain that the growing custom of using fancy names for homes and placing the same on envelopes addressed to such, is causing inconvenience and delay in delivering, especially as these names are often duplicated in the list of post offices in the Dominion or elsewhere.

Tom Longboat Will be Invited to Peterborough

To Give an Exhibition at Athletic Meet to be Held at Skating Rink

Arrangements are coming on well for the indoor athletic meet which it is proposed to hold in the local skating rink within the next two weeks. It has practically been decided to hold the meet and it is not improbable that Tom Longboat, Tom Coley, O'Rourke and several other of the Irish-Canadian top-notchers will be present.

The committee in charge are meeting with every encouragement in their work and there is no doubt but that the rink would be packed. A representative of the Barrier's Guide is going to Toronto to-morrow to interview John O. Flanagan of the Irish-Canadians with a view to having Longboat, Coley and several other of their leading athelites appear here. Other athletic bodies in Toronto will also be interviewed regarding sending representatives to Peterborough.

The date for the meet will be announced in a few days and also other information of interest.

While Longboat's manager has announced that the fleet-footed Indian will not race any more until the Olympic games in London next summer, he would no doubt consent to let the running marvel give an exhibition of his speed.

CURLERS MEET NEXT TUESDAY

Annual Meeting of the Peterborough Club to be Held

Curlers Can Have the Rink After First of December

Sweep! Sweep!

The words are full of magic for the curlers. Like snap of winter in the air, has started a tingling in the blood of the devotees of the Scotch game, and they are longing for the days when Angus MacIntosh will have the ice in shape for curling at the Charlotte street rink again.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Curling Club will be held next Tuesday night at eight o'clock at the rink, Charlotte street, and all the members are asked to be on hand. Reports for the past year will be read and officers elected for the coming season. The Curling Club can have the rink after December 1st, and it is expected that it will be in shape for curling, early in the month. Last year was one of the best in the history of the Peterborough Curling Club and it is intended to make the present season an even better one.

Mother-in-Law's Race—Winner Gets a Handsome Son-in-Law."

SONG—"Why Don't They Let Me Play?"

Many Have to Wait Long Time

Before the Championship of the Dominion is Decided

Peterborough will likely play for the Dominion championship, if the championship of the Intercollegiate Union is decided in time for the game to be played this season. At present there is every prospect of there being a tie among the college teams. McGill and Ottawa College play in Ottawa on Saturday, and if the Ottawa Collegians win they will carry off the honors. However, if McGill wins, the two will be tied for the championship, and Varsity, if they defeat Queen's again on Saturday, will be on a level with the other two, in which case there will be little chance of Peterborough meeting the winners, as it will take several weeks to decide the issue.—The Globe.

WALKING

THE GLOBE'S COMMENT.

Since Peterborough has won the O.R.F.U. senior championship, Ernie Wilson has beaten Tom Coley, and Dave Hartley has set the walking fans a-thinking, the canoe town is getting "chesty." A report comes from Peterborough to the effect that Hartley is making special preparations to beat Jimmy Reynolds of Port Hope, when the veteran pair meet at the Mutual Street rink a week from Saturday night. Port Hope has always stuck loyally to this walking barber, and his friends have won liberal wagers, as a result of his walking prowess. In Peterborough Hartley is regarded as a "good thing," and there will be plenty of Peterborough greenbacks here to cover the Port Hope currency on the night of the race. It is the first occasion on which two pedestrians have come together in an actual contest since this walking craze, revived by Jimmy Reynolds, took its recent strong hold on the public.—Globe.

WEDDING BELLS

MOWRY—CUMMINGS

A quiet wedding took place last evening, when Miss Stella Cummings became the wife of Mr. Chester C. Mowry, both of this city, Rev. J. G. Potter officiating. The bride and groom were unattended. The bride was charmingly gowned in navy blue silk, with blue velvet hat, and white plumes. Many beautiful presents were received, among them being a handsome chair from the armakurel department of the C.G.E. This groom's present to the bride was a diamond ring and sable scarf. Mr. and Mrs. Mowry will reside at 457 Cedar-st.

Is Candidate for Second Term

Mr. R. F. McWilliams Will Again be in Field for Mayoralty Honors

"Yes! You can say I will be in the field again for the mayoralty," remarked His Worship Mayor McWilliams to this Review, today.

"I know that it is customary to accord an occupant of the civic chair a second term unopposed, but I will not seek re-election on that ground. I will appeal to the citizens on my record and work for the past year and will be a contestant for the office of chief magistrate, no matter who may enter the race."

Chief Asked to Find Relatives

Of Isabel Poulley Who Died in Philadelphia

Who knows anything of the whereabouts of the relatives of Isabel Poulley, who has just died at Philadelphia and is supposed to have relatives in Peterborough? Chief Rossel today received the following telegram from Philadelphia.—

Philadelphia, Nov. 15th.

Chief of Police,

Peterborough, Ont.

Locate relatives of Isabel Poulley, supposed to live at 17 Devonshire street. Notify them of her death. Communicate with J. M. Rush Germon, Coroner, Philadelphia.

Anyone knowing anything regarding this matter will kindly communicate with the Chief of Police.

NEW SUPERINTENDENT

Mr. J. R. Nelson, the superintendent of this division of the C.P.R. has been transferred to the division north of Toronto, the Owen Sound and Muskoka lines, and he is succeeded here by Mr. W. K. Thompson, late of the White River district.

Investigation Will be Held

To Ascertain Where Blame Rests for Faulty Construction of Romaine St. Sewer

The Romaine street sewer is not working properly and a thorough investigation is to be made by the Board of Works, to ascertain where the blame rests for its faulty construction.

The Board of Works had a meeting yesterday afternoon and visited the sewer, and had a stretch of about ten feet opened on Aylmer-st. between Romaine street and the point where the sewer turns into the King Edward school. It was found that the pipes had not been laid properly being loosely connected, so that there was considerable leakage.

The Board held a meeting last night and decided to discharge the city laborer named Anthony, who had laid the pipes and to have all the sewer on Aylmer street opened, and Street Commissioner Evans make a thorough investigation to ascertain how much of the blame rested upon the higher officials in the employ of the city.

FOR SNAP SHOTS

Why not put all those snap shots you took this summer into a little book and use it as a Christmas gift for those of your friends who will be interested. We have a fine stock of mounting papers in brown, grey and white, that are the proper ones to use. The cover can be made of leather to match, or of a pretty embossed card. Call at the Review office and see the shades of paper used.

Large Shipment of Cattle To-day

Three carloads of cattle were shipped this morning to Montreal from this city. They were of an exceptionally fine class, and were all raised in Peterborough County. Messrs. W. Morris and Thomas Brown were the shippers and this is the largest shipment they have made this year. One load was bought from T. Joplin of Smith.

BARGAIN DAYS IN BARBERING

Mr. David Hall Starts War on the Present Prices

The bargain day feature is spreading. It now applies to nearly all lines of trade, but who would ever think that it would extend to hair cutting and other things which are supposed to make a man look ten years younger, after he has undergone the operation. Mr. David Hall, barber, in the Snowdon House block, Charlotte street, has hit upon Tuesday and Friday of each week as bargain days, and will reduce the price of a hair cut from 20 cents to 15 cents on those days. Shampooing will also be only 15 cents, instead of 25 cents. In fact, everything will be at a cut rate, except a shave.—and that will be the same as ever—simply getting your whiskers cut.

Deer Was Shot in Alnwick Township

Mr. Ezra Houghtailing did not need to go to the unexplored wilds to get his venison for this season.

Mr. John Lamey had noticed a deer on his farm and on informing Mr. Houghtailing, that gentleman procured a license and at once went after his game, which he found feeding on a field of fall wheat on Mr. Lamey's farm and bagged it at once. There is also supposed to be another deer in that locality. The deer must have swam across the lake or river to get to the place where it was seen, as it is not at all likely that it came up from the south. There will likely be some tall hunting up that way until the season closes.—Hastings Star.

New Records for Numerous Stock Issues

New York, Nov. 15.—There was more liquidation in stock today, and prices fell off from 1 to 4 points, thereby making new low record levels for many issues among them being steel preferred, New York Central, Atchison and Erie. Buying power was limited, and, while there was some investment buying noted at the lower range, the demand came chiefly from the shorts.

The Harriman stocks showed much weakness upon the publication of September earnings, which showed decreases in the net, although the gross showed up very well. The financial troubles in Pittsburg were given as the reason for the weakness in the Steel stocks, which was relatively greater in the preferred than in the common. Canadian Pacific enjoyed pretty fair support today and rallied whenever an opportunity offered.

London sent over irregular quotations for Americans and somewhat lower. The refusal of Paris bankers to send gold direct to this country is regarded as the most disappointing feature of the situation. Foreign houses were liberal sellers here today.

The market rallied fractionally in the last hour and closed steady.

Wheat was under pressure, mostly due to the break in Wall street stocks and lost a cent and a half. Liverpool cables were 1-2 lower, but a fair export business was worked here today. Cotton was weak and lower.

Pork and Beans and Pumpkin Pies

A new England supper will be held at All Saints' church this evening under the auspices of the Junior Auxiliary. Pork and beans, pumpkin pies and other reminders of the days of old are on the bill of fare and a most enjoyable time is expected.

Mission Will be Held Next Month

For Ten Days at St. Andrew's Church—Begins Dec. 8th.

Commencing on December 8th, a ten days' mission will be held at St. Andrew's church. It is expected that Rev. Andrew Allan, late of Glasgow, Scotland, will be the special preacher at all these services. Mr. Allan has been conducting missions at Cooke's and at the Dunn Avenue Presbyterian churches, Toronto, this fall and has been meeting with great success. He is a strong, earnest speaker and his discourses have been productive of much good.

Captain Lumb Was in the City

Will be New Manager of the National Hotel

Capt. Lumb, manager of the Quinte hotel, Belleville, and who is to shortly assume the management of the Hotel National, was in the city last night accompanied by Mr. Harry Brown, of Belleville, who will assist him in the management of the National. Mr. Brown will arrive in the city on Monday to take up his duties and Capt. Lumb will be here in the near future.

New Manager Arrives in City

Mr. Showalter is New Man at Head of Prepayment Meter Co.

Mr. Joseph Showalter, who has been appointed electrical and mechanial manager of the Canada Pre-payment Meter Company, is a man of wide experience in electrical and mechanical lines and comes to Peterborough with the highest recommendations as to his electrical knowledge and practical ability. He has filled many responsible positions, and before accepting his present one was connected with the American Meter Co, of Lafayette, Michigan.

It is understood that Messrs. A. B. Cunningham and W. H. Collier have withdrawn from the company and have embarked into business for themselves on Hunter street in part of the premises occupied by Coughlin Bros.' monumental works. The new firm will be known as the Collier-Cunningham Company.

Last of the Cheese Was Shipped To-day

Today, the last consignment of cheese for this year was weighed at this market scale. Almost every factory in the vicinity of Peterborough, had a load of cheese pass the scales this morning. It was all shipped per G. T. R. at noon. An immense amount has been made this season, and a large quantity has been shipped to Montreal.

Large Crowd on To-day's Market

Prices Were Reasonable—Fowl Was in Abundance

The market was crowded today with both buyers and sellers, and it was difficult to get around through the immense throng of people.

The fine weather brought many farmers to the city, and the products were offered at reasonable figures.

Butter was plentiful and brought from 28 to 30 cents per pound. Eggs were not in large numbers, but what there was of them sold at 30 cents per dozen. There seemed to be no end to the amount of fowl offered, and the prices were not too high. Fine large turkeys ranged in price anywhere from $1.00 to $1.50, while geese brought 90 cents and $1.00. Ducks sold at $1.00 a pair, and chickens at 60 to 75 cents.

On the outside market beef was offered for sale at 4 1-2 and 5 1-2 cents per pound; pork went at 8 and 9 and 10 and 11 cents, while lamb could be had at 11 and 12 cents per pound. Potatoes were 85 cents per bag, and apples 75 cents.

The Peterborough Light and Power Co. will be unable to supply any power or electric light on Sunday between 8 a m. and 5 p. m. as they are making some changes at the power house.

RETURNS AFTER SUCCESSFUL HUNT

Engineer Pratt of Toronto Flyer Again in His Place

Mr. George Pratt, engine driver on the Toronto flyer, again took his place this morning, after an absence of two weeks' deer hunting in the back country. Mr. Pratt was with a Lindsay party and hunted in Haliburton County. He succeeded in obtaining his full share of deer and reports having a fine time. During his holiday his place on the flyer was filled by Messrs. Thomas Tutton and Wm. Chambers.

Bottle Lake Hunters Return With Seven Deer

After an Eight Days' Sojourn in the Wilds of the Country

Messrs. Dr. Amys, Gus Corcoran, Arthur Head, Mich. O'Brien, John Wylie, and Dave Johnston returned last evening, after having spent one of the most enjoyable times of their lives deer hunting in the back country, in the vicinity of Bottle Lake. They were loath to leave the haunts of the antlered monarch, and will long remember the outing of 1907. These are true and tried huntsmen, and have for many years took to the woods to engage in this grand old sport.

"Seven deer in eight days is not such bad luck," remarked Dr. Amys to the Review today.

They have five bucks and two does. One buck weighing over two hundred pounds was brought to bay by Mr Head. It certainly is a dandy one. This one was captured in Bottle Lake, but mostly all the others were chased and run down in the woods. Dr. Amys captured two on the run, with the dogs following after. Mr. Corcoran also caught one in this way. Each member gets a deer, and the extra one will be divided. The trophies of the chase are displayed in front of Mr. M. O'Brien's butcher shop, McDonnel street.

Dr. Amys remarked that the deer were fairly plentiful this year, but a number of the old runs of the huntsmen have been spoiled by the lumbermen. Nevertheless, this party are greatly elated over their success, and no mishaps or anything to mar their pleasure occurred.

Convention Will be Held at Lakefield

Epworth League and Sunday School Gathering on Dec. 2

The Epworth League and Sabbath School Convention of the Peterborough District will be held in the Methodist Church, Lakefield, on Monday, Dec. 2nd, 1907. There will be three sessions; morning session to commence at 11 o'clock; afternoon session at 1.30, and evening session at 7.30. Such able men as Revs. H. W. Manning, E. A. Pearson, B. A., S. T. Bartlett, J. Bedford, and Messrs. R. W. Clarke, J. S. Parker, and others, will provide an interesting and profitable programme, which will be interspersed with good musical selections.

A cordial invitation is extended to Epworth Leaguers, Sabbath School workers and others. Ample accommodation will be provided for all.

RICE LAKE FROZEN OVER

Only One Boat Reached City Today—Had Hard Struggle

Rice Lake is frozen over with a coating of ice, about three quarters of an inch thick.

The steamer, Water Lily, which started out from Harwood early this morning, had a hard struggle. Ice had to be broken all across the lake to the mouth of the Otonabee river. The boat reached the Wolfe street wharf at one o'clock, whereas she should have arrived at ten. The Water Lily looked more like a frozen lily, when she steamed in, and Captain Frewer reports that he had an experience getting through that might well be described as strenuous.

The steamer Monarch started out from Gore's Landing, but was forced to turn back owing to the ice.

The Rainbow from Birdsalls did not attempt to make her usual Saturday journey to Peterborough today.

About twenty passengers came up by the steamer Water Lily.

IN WINTER'S EMBRACE.

About two inches of ice have been formed on the narrows between Chemong Lake and Little Buckhorn Lake, opposite Chemong Indian village. The Chemong stage was unable to cross by ferry this morning and had to drive around by way of Buckhorn, to reach the city.

Some people were able to walk across the narrows the ice being sufficiently solid to hold them. Chemong Lake is covered with about two inches of ice.

John Jacobs and William Johnston were among those who walked across this narrows this morning.

The Protestant Episcopal churches of New York yesterday formally protested against the action of President Roosevelt in omitting the words "In God we trust" from the new coinage. The vote stood 131 to 31.

A WONDERFUL CURE OF RHEUMATISM

THE CAUSE An excess of uric acid and ureates are deposited in the tissues of the body and joints, causing aches and pains which are called rheumatic.

All the various causes of rheumatism, such as the acute, articular, muscular and gout, have the same common cause—Uric Acid.

To effect a satisfactory cure the uric acid must be removed. This can only be done by introducing into the circulation a remedy which will dissolve the uric acid and stimulate the action of the excretory organs.

No Case That Ferrozone Can't Cure

The remarkable success of Ferrozone is due to the fact that it attacks the disease in the blood. It goes right to the root and cause of the trouble.

Ferrozone is a perfect solvent for uric acid and quickly destroys its evil effect. It stimulates and quickens the sluggish circulation and drives every trace of rheumatic poison out of the system.

Rheumatism Can't Last If FERROZONE is Used.

We have conclusive proof of this. The strongest possible endorsements from people who have been cured after all else failed. If you suffer from rheumatism yourself, or in case you have a friend or relative subject to this disease, read the following—they tell their own tale.

LIFE-LONG CRIPPLE CURED

Mr. Louis Noll, 15 Fulton street, New York, N. Y., writes: "Ever since boyhood I have been a sufferer from rheumatism. My joints were twisted and swollen, and the pain at times was really intense. I used gallons of liniments, vapor baths, and other treatments, but was first noticeably relieved by Ferrozone. It cured me perfectly after taking twelve boxes."

Mr. Henry Heer, Pharmacist, 23 Eldridge Ave., New York, vouches for Mr. Noll's absolute cure. He says: "Mr. Noll has been freed from chronic rheumatism by Ferrozone. For years he has not been so well, and today shows no signs of rheumatic trouble. It is a pleasure to recommend Ferrozone."

The BEST remedy for rheumatism that science has produced is Ferrozone—it is unquestionably the only sure and lasting cure. Sold everywhere by druggists. Price 50c per box or six boxes for $2.50—by mail to any address if price is forwarded to N. C. POLSON & CO., Kingston, Ont., and Hartford, Conn., U.S.A.

FERROZONE, THE ONE SURE CURE.

More Details About the C. P. R. Disaster Yesterday

Dreadful Head-on Collision of C.P.R. Trains at Moore Lake.

Both Engineers Are Dead—Other Trainmen Cremated In Fire Which Broke Out—Disobedience of Orders Again the Cause—Did Not Take Siding For "Soo" Express—Passengers Slightly Injured.

North Bay, Nov. 16.—The list of railway wrecks on the main line of the C. P. R., including those at Sand Point two years ago and at Azilda and Chapleau last year, had another terrible addition Thursday night at 11.45, when a light engine from Chalk River crashed head-on into the Soo eastbound express, crowded with passengers, and seven lives were lost, besides eleven passengers more or less injured.

The light engine left the divisional point at Chalk River in charge of Engineer James Hendry and Fireman Nadeau of North Bay, and as both were killed the real cause of the accident may never be known.

Watch May Have Stopped.

Railway men surmise that Hendry's watch must have stopped, as it is not thought possible he could have forgotten the proximity of the eastbound express, and there were two sidings between Chalk River and Moore Lake that he could have taken.

The scene of the wreck is a wild rocky country with curving roadbed, rocky cuts and hard ground, making the jumping by the train crews a dangerous undertaking. Engineer Young of the express was one of the oldest engineers on the division with a splendid record for carefulness. He was a prominent citizen of North Bay, and leaves a wife and family. His fireman, Fred Ball, a young married man of North Bay, is among the injured, but telegraphed his wife that he was all right. Engineer James Hendry lived in North Bay with his young wife of six months, and the shock is a terrible one to her.

Hendry's family live in North Augusta, near Brockville, where he will be buried. Fireman Nadeau lived in North Bay. He was unmarried, his parents living in Chalk River.

David Clarke, express messenger, who was killed, leaves a wife and family in Montreal. J. Irvine, baggageman, of Ottawa, leaves a family.

Thomas Pendergast of Webbwood, who was killed with his father in the baggage car, was being taken to the Ottawa Hospital in charge of Dr. Bennett of North Bay, having had both legs broken in Tuesday's wreck at Blind River. The case of the Pendergasts is a particularly sad one, the young man being only twenty years of age. His father leaves a family of young children.

Physician Escaped.

Dr. Bennett, who accompanied young Pendergast from North Bay, escaped serious injury. His patient was suffering severe pain from his recent injuries, and the doctor was making the young man as comfortable as possible.

How MacLeod Roberts escaped death is a mystery, as the mail car was in the worst place of the wreck. The wreckage caught fire, adding additional horror to the scene, but as the rear cars remained on the track, the uninjured passengers and train crew turned in quickly to the task of saving the injured and taking out the dead. Conductor Wright, in charge of the express, escaped injury.

Refused Information.

General Superintendent F. P. Brady left for the scene of the wreck early yesterday morning, and the list of injured has been refused the press at his office, only the official statement being made that the injured will all be able to continue the journey and none are seriously hurt. Passenger trains east and west have been held up all day by the wreck, and the first train from the scene reached North Bay after 9 o'clock.

Killed—John Nadeau, fireman, North Bay; J. Hendrie, engineer light engine, North Bay; J. Clark, express messenger, Montreal; J. Irvine, baggageman, Ottawa; J. Younge, engineer, North Bay; H. K. Pendergast and P. Pendergast, passengers, Webbwood.

Injured.—Fred Hyland, Hull; Alf. Roberts, Ottawa; Madame Gelinas, Ottawa; D. Lynch, Hintonburg; E. Roberts, Ottawa; M. Mulloney, Mt. St. Patrick; E. McGuire, Ively; Wilfrid Malone, Montreal; H. Labelle, Montreal; F. Ball, North Bay.

Four Bodies Cremated.

Ottawa, Nov. 16.—Four bodies were completely cremated in the wreck at Moose Lake.

Foundry Destroyed.

Petrolea, Nov. 16.—The foundry in connection with the Stevenson Boiler Works was totally destroyed last night by fire. The loss is covered by insurance.

Close Down Quarries.

St. Thomas, Nov. 16.—The Michigan Central quarry at Hagersville is closing down and may not resume until next year. Over 100 men are out of work.

A Stenographer's Suicide.

Brandon, Man., Nov. 16.—Miss Eva Jefferson, a young stenographer, committed suicide Thursday evening by drinking carbolic acid.

MURDERER SHOT DEAD

Man Who Killed Cariboo Trader Found Hiding in the Woods.

Had Eluded Capture For Several Days—Clue Given by Indian Woman Who Saw Him in Canoe—Stout Drew Revolver and Narrowly Missed Shooting Policeman—Was Instantly Shot Down.

Kamloops, B.C., Nov. 16.—H. Stout, alias Williams, the murderer of Bob Williams, the Cariboo trader, was himself shot and instantly killed by Donald Gordon, special constable, out with one of Chief Constable Fernie's posses last night. The chase for the murderer had been hard, and he eluded his pursuers some days, leaving no traces to work on. He had abandoned his horses, and the police were of the opinion he had hidden in the mountains, waiting for an opportunity to double back to Edmonton.

On Tuesday night an Indian woman, procuring water from the river, saw a canoe slip by in the darkness, and this gave a clue to how he was attempting to escape. Constable Fernie at once put other posses out at the lower end of North Thompson on both sides and a strict watch was kept on the river and all the trails in the valley.

Last night Donald Gordon and Duncan McLean came upon the man crouching in the brush. They immediately covered him and placed him under arrest. He gave up one revolver and with words, "I have another gun," he drew a 44 revolver from his holster and shot point blank at such close range that the side of the constable's head was scorched and powder burned him. Both specials shot, and Gordon's bullet killed him.

OUTBURST OF THE SUN.

Flames Shot Up to a Height of 325,000 Miles.

Oxford, Eng., Nov. 16.—A remarkable outburst on the sun was observed by Prof. Ambau, director of the Radcliffe Observatory at 11.45 yesterday morning. An immense flame shot up at the rate of over 12,000 miles a minute until it reached a height of 325,000 miles.

At 12.10 it broke into fragments and disappeared.

Sun spots and solar disturbances have been observed for some days past. It has been predicted that they would reach their greatest magnitude about the middle of November, and that they would probably lead to violent magnetic disturbances on earth, causing storms, floods, volcanic disturbances and earthquakes. Prof. Edward C. Pickering of the Harvard Observatory said two days ago that he expected the sun spots to be attended by an earthquake, but of not sufficient gravity to cause alarm.

The Wily Chinee.

Victoria, B. C., Nov. 16.—The British Columbian Government has passed an order-in-council memorializing the Dominion authorities to repeal the clause in the Chinese Immigration Act providing for the refund of $500 per head tax to Chinamen who can produce proof that they have attended school for the term of one year.

Latterly quite a number of Chinese have been coming in under this clause and the school boards of Victoria and Vancouver are being put to great expense to provide accommodation for them.

Kair Hardie's Opinion.

London, Nov. 16.—(C. A. P.)—Kair Hardie, writing in The London Leader on the Socialist and Labor movements in Canada, says if only the Socialist and Trade Unionist could find some common platform on which to stand, progress would be very rapid. Four men in Canada, P. M. Draper, Ottawa; James Simpson, Toronto; A. W. Puttee, Winnipeg, and J. H. Hawthornthwaite, M. P., Nanaimo, if they could meet and come to an understanding, would unite the forces all over the Dominion.

Fleet For Salvation Army.

London, Nov. 16.—Officials of the Salvation Army immigration department confirm the announcement of The Shipping Gazette that a Salvation Army navy is projected.

One of the chief features of the scheme is that every ship will be manned throughout by members of the army.

"Wireless" Station Burned.

Nantucket, Mass., Nov. 16.—The Marconi wireless station at Siasconset was destroyed by fire yesterday.

The Siasconset station was the first to be established on this side of the ocean for commercial purposes, principally for reporting vessels approaching the American coast.

Bryce's Auto Wrecked.

Washington, Nov. 16.—A large touring automobile belonging to James Bryce, the British ambassador, was almost completely wrecked while the chauffeur was trying to avoid collision with a carriage on Massachusetts avenue. It had just come from the repair shop.

Revolutionists Must Die.

Barcelona, Nov. 16.—A court-martial has passed the death sentence upon the Carlist General Moore and his son, captured near Barcelona on Dec. 21 last, leading an armed uprising in Catalonia. Six other men were sent to the chain gang for life.

Caught Fire From Incense.

Findlay, Ohio, Nov. 16.—Miss Hannah Oman, 80 years of age, was burned to death Thursday while practicing an ancient religious rite. She burned incense while praying, and in some manner the fire was communicated to her clothing.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS

COLLINS HANGED YESTERDAY.

Condemned Man Went to Gallows With Unflinching Courage.

St. John, N. B., Nov. 16.—After three trials, the first and third returning him guilty, and in the second the jury disagreeing, Thomas F. Collins was yesterday morning hanged at Hopewell Cape, this province, for the murder of Miss Mary Ann MacAuley at the rectory, New Ireland, on Sunday evening, Aug. 19, 1906. The execution took place at 7.25 in the jail yard.

The condemned man died bravely. After sleeping three hours he woke shortly after 6 and spent the rest of the time in prayer with Rev. Mr. Thomas of Dorchester Penitentiary. A little after 7 Radcliffe entered the hall and conducted him to the scaffold. Collins made no confession or left any statement of any description. The doctors pronounced him dead after seven minutes.

Collins, with unflinching courage and dignity, walked briskly to the gallows.

On entering the cell, Radcliffe said, "Good morning, Mr. Collins." Collins replied, "Good morning, Mr. Radcliffe."

Radcliffe then took the prisoner's arm and walked rapidly along the passageway to the gallows. The victim stood on the trap and Radcliffe adjusted the black cap.

Mr. Thomas recited the Lord's Prayer, and as he reached the words, "Thy kingdom come," the hangman drew back the lever and the condemned man shot into eternity.

FATAL GAS EXPLOSION.

Twenty-Five Persons Injured at Pittsburg—Firemen Severely Burned.

Pittsburg, Pa., Nov. 16.—About 25 persons were injured yesterday, two fatally, and a dwelling house was torn to pieces, when an explosion of natural gas occurred in a house in Elm street, this city. Two firemen were severely burned.

Apparently gas had been leaking in a kitchen stove all night. When a match was struck in the lower portion of the house to light the stove in the early morning there was a terrific explosion.

C. P. R. Will Supply Cars.

Winnipeg, Nov. 16.—The Saskatchewan grain growers have been assured by Mr. Whyte, second vice-president of the C. P. R., that plenty of cars will be furnished for the purpose of sending damaged grain to Ontario, where it is needed for feed.

Bankers here refuse to discuss the Government's proposition of furnishing money to facilitate the moving of the crops, as they have no official instructions as yet regarding the nature of the assistance. One ventured to say that buying would be helped, and that the price would go up, thus stopping the seaport movement. As it is the prevailing prices are above the export basis.

Another banker who received word last night of the Government's contemplated action, says it will have a beneficial effect.

Want Seeds Guaranteed.

Toronto, Nov. 16.—Hon. Nelson Monteith received a deputation from the Vegetable Growers' Association, who urged that legislation be enacted requiring seedsmen to guarantee the seeds supplied by them are true to the varieties named. This would do away with the sale of substitutes and with the danger of purchasers obtaining impure seeds.

They also asked for a representative on the advisory committee to assist the Minister in the management of the experimental fruit farm at Jordan; that the Agricultural Department collect and publish statistics on vegetable growing, and that the Government grant to the association be increased.

Power From Eugenia.

Flesherton, Nov. 16.—The plant of the Georgian Bay Power Co., situated at Eugenia Falls, was inspected by a committee from the Owen Sound Council and Board of Trade. The company is said to have offered Owen Sound 3,000 horse-power per year at a cost of $20 per horse-power per year. This is on the condition that the town build the power line to it, but, as the right of way has been purchased already, this is not such a costly undertaking. It is estimated that the total cost would not exceed $60,000.

Moral Tone Low.

Winnipeg, Nov. 16.—"The condition of the province has become so low that the Ministers and a great many other men are now convinced that something must be done to raise the moral standard of the province," said Rev. Dr. Shearer, secretary of the Temperance and Moral Reform Branch of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, yesterday morning.

Protest Against Freight Rates.

Winnipeg, Nov. 16.—The Board of Trade sent an emphatic protest to the Railway Commission against the proposed tariff of freight rates out of Winnipeg.

The council find that the rates out of Winnipeg to Manitoba points, under the new proposed tariffs, are increased, while to most points in Saskatchewan and Alberta slight reductions appear. Also that the rates on commodities to Kootenay points will be very heavily increased.

The Telegram asks that any reduction of freight rates out of Winnipeg should be done on the basis of the rates out of St. Paul and Minneapolis to Minnesota and Dakota, and should be no higher than those rates.

Russ Parliament Quiet.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 16.—Neither of the Houses of Parliament was in session yesterday, pending the audience which President Khomyakoff is to have of Emperor Nicholas. The next session will be held Nov. 18.

The opening of the third Parliament Thursday attracted comparatively little attention in the country.

BEER* IS GOOD FOR MOST FOLKS
(HARDLY ANOTHER BEVERAGE FEEDS SO WELL)

BEER really excels milk as a food-drink for most grown people. And many, many people cannot digest milk easily, because it is so lacking in solid food-contents. Moreover, milk is so liable to contagion that it is seldom pure when we get it in the cities. But Ontario-brewed beer is really pure,—brewed in cleanliness, of sound materials, in a sanitary way, and brought to the user in the same fit-to-drink state.

Beer Is No Stimulant

Drink beer with meals and at bedtime, as an item of diet that will help the stomach do its work better, and will feed the body besides. Don't choose beer as a stimulant, though,—it does not contain enough alcohol for that. Use it as a food-drink that induces lazy stomachs to do their work well, and so helps them get more good out of all food.

Beer Makes Better Nerves

Ontario beer is not only deliciously appetising and refreshing, because brewed of pure malt and hops only; but, besides, all the power that hops possess to repair nerve wastes is kept in these brews. That is what makes beer so particularly good for women to drink regularly. Ask your own doctor what he thinks of beer for your household.

* BEER is a term which covers lager, ales, porter and stout; and, in the practise of Ontario brewers, implies beverages made under most hygienic conditions from Ontario barley (the best in the world) malt, hops and pure water. 301

Defence Play Their Trump Card in Caledon Wreck Trial

Constable Swears He Found Loose Rail at Caledon Rail.

Says Coroner's Jury Were Present at the Time—Crown Witnesses Not So Sure About Excessive Speed—Brakes Were Applied Before Curve Was Reached — Rail Hung by a Spike.

Brampton, Nov. 16.—The defence in the Grimes-Hodges case played its trump card at the Court House last night, when County Constable Thos. Smith of Caledon got in the box and swore that on Sept. 24, when examining the track at the famous horseshoe curve he found a loose rail. Members of the Caledon inquest jury were present at the time.

Constable Smith made a good witness, and when cross-examined by Crown Prosecutor Davidson made some sharp repartee, which twice, was greeted with laughter and applause from the gallery, which was packed with women.

William Stubbs, ex-M.P., who made a sensational address at the inquest as to the defects in the rail elevation, was not such a good witness, having to contradict himself at various times in giving his evidence as to the measurements taken by himself the week of the wreck.

To-day Engineer Hodge and Conductor Grimes will take the stand in their own defence, and it is expected that the verdict of the jury will be returned to-night.

The feature of the case yesterday was the fall down of the crown witnesses, who at the inquests both in Toronto and Caledon testified to the "excessive" and "terrific" speed of the exhibition extra when brought before the high court and jury appeared to be not so sure of their opinion on the speed question; in fact, in several instances, would not corroborate their statements given immediately after the disaster. In several cases Mr. Davidson attempted to refresh the memories of these witnesses by referring to the stenographic report, but his lordship overruled the question.

When the crown's case was closed, Mr. Robinette requested that the case against his clients be taken from the jury, especially the charge against Grimes. He outlined his plan of defence. If Grimes were charged with negligence the evidence went to show that he was only negligent in not stopping his train within one and one-half miles, and that it had been shown that he could not determine the time in less than one mile of this distance, and that his train would have gone in the ditch before he could have time to notify his engineer, according to the evidence of the air-brake expert. With regard to Hodge, the company had given him no instructions as to the speed he was to run down this curve, and also that the evidence had gone to show that there was a defect in the outer rail.

"The case will go to the jury," said Justice Magee.

Examined by Mr. Robinette twelve witnesses took the box and testified that the speed of the exhibition extra was no greater than the ordinary train, which made the grade every day. Some were passengers and in each case swore that the brakes were applied before the horseshoe curve was reached.

Thomas Smith of Caledon said he had found a five-eight-inch depression in the outer rail and at that point the rail was hanging on by a spike, and was loose at each side.

This was news to Mr. Davidson, and he went after the witness rough shod, taunting him with refusing to obey the crown attorney, which the witness explained, amid the applause of the gallery.

Questioned by his lordship, the witness said that he had made no note of his measurement of the five-eight-inch impression, but that the jury were present at the time and saw for themselves.

"Did you point out to anybody the loose rail?"

"Yes. The jury."

William Stubbs, ex-M. P., who asked the Caledon jury to visit the spot and take certain measurements of the depression in the rails, was the next witness. He told of taking the measurements as detailed by the last witness. He also saw the loose rail.

Cross-examined by Mr. Davidson. Mr. Stubbs was not positive of his measurements.

Caledon Wreck Expensive.

Ceylon, Ont., Nov. 16.—David Madill, injured in the Caledon wreck, has settled with the C. P. R. for $2,700. He suffered a severe fracture of the right leg.

Dundalk, Nov. 16.—A number of the more serious damage claims arising out of the Caledon wreck were settled during the past week. Some of the claims so settled, with the amounts, were, it is understood, those of Mrs. Wright, Flesherton, $3,100; Mrs. Goff, Markdale, $1,700; W. K. Richardson, Flesherton, $2,700; Mr. Brander, Priceville, $5,000.

Mrs. Payne was very seriously burned in a fire started by a falling lamp in Payne's store, Hartney, Man.

ALLEGED CHECK FORGERS.

Police at Welland Make Two Important Arrests.

Welland, Nov. 16.—George B. Buck, alias Robert L. Oliver, giving his address as St. Louis, and Harry Groots of Philadelphia were placed in Welland jail by Detective Dowd Thursday night, and the arrest is believed to be an important one. Buck seems to have been following the occupation of passing forged checks. He had in his possession check forms from the leading banks of Canada and the United States. There were as well many checks made out to himself for the amount of $100 and signed by municipal clerks.

Accompanying each is a letter from the persons signing the check, thanking him for the expeditious manner in which he is disposing of the bonds and asking him to continue in the good work.

Since the arrest, it transpires that both these men are wanted in Toronto. Groots jumped a $40 board bill at the King Edward and Buck attempted to pass one of his famous $100 checks at the Queen's. While in the city Buck made application to the S. S. Nesbitt Co. for permission to sell stocks for them, but was unsuccessful. Arriving in Bridgeburg, he attempted to pass a check purporting to be issued by the company and with the name of Samuel Sproul Nesbitt forged as a signature. A rubber stamp made for the purpose was used.

Groots has his pockets lined with keys of all kinds. Buck is a fine-looking men of 31 years. He is of splendid address and well-informed. His statement that he is a graduate of Harvard has been verified by a Buffalo lawyer.

CHEAP POWER AT GUELPH.

Royal City Hopes to Benefit by the Government's Plan.

Guelph, Ont., Nov. 16.—There was a meeting held here last night of the City Council, the special power committee and several interested powers users, when Engineer Richards of the Niagara Power Commission went very fully into the question of costs of the power, distribution, and installation.

No city in Ontario, it was claimed, would be able to distribute power so cheaply as Guelph, on account of the very central location of their plant, and no city could benefit so much from it as Guelph, owning, as it does, all its public utilities. It is estimated that the city would save in all $10,000 a year at $24. The light and beat commission figures on saving $5,000, the street railway $1,250, the waterworks $2,250.

The commission's original estimate of $24, it was thought, would be considerably reduced, as the price of copper and other necessaries was a good deal lower. The manufacturers are looking forward to it, as several power-users here are now paying $90 per horsepower a year.

Head Tax Injustice.

Port Arthur, Nov. 16.—The injustice of the head tax as applied by the United States to foreign-born people entering the republic had an illustration in Port Arthur Thursday about the time the steamer American was leaving this port for Duluth.

Rev. W. Blonquist, pastor of Stansgarius Swedish Church in Minneapolis, who has for about ten days past been in the city assisting Rev. Mr. Totterman, pastor of the Port Arthur St. Ansgarius Church, intended leaving for his home on the other side of the line. Although for thirteen years a resident of the United States and a member of the Minnesota diocese of the Swedish church, it was pointed out to him by the steamboat officers that before he could land himself and his baggage at Duluth he would have to pay the head tax of four dollars.

Inhaled Nitric Acid.

Cobalt, Ont., Nov. 16.—A sad death occurred in Cobalt yesterday when William McIntosh succumbed as the result of inhaling nitric acid fumes. He upset a bottle of the acid on his coat, while engaged in making up prescriptions two days ago in the Clifford Moore drug store, where he was a clerk.

He tore his clothing off as rapidly as possible, but he nevertheless inhaled the fumes, which caused congestion of the lungs. Deceased was 28 years of age and came from Strathroy.

Another Fishing Dispute.

Burlington, Vt., Nov. 16.—The long standing dispute as to the right of seining and net fishing in Missiquoi Bay, at the northern extremity of Lake Champlain, will soon become the occasion of a conference between a Vermont commission and Canadian officials, and if not then disposed of may be referred to the Federal Government.

Another Policeman Shot.

New York, Nov. 16.—Policeman Edward Kavanagh was shot and killed in the street in Brooklyn last night by William Morse, colored, who was attempting to escape, it is alleged, after having snatched a pocket-book from Mrs. C. E. Johnston, wife of an electrical engineer of Waco, Texas.

Wealthy Woman's Sentence.

Chicago, Nov. 16.—Mrs. Evelyn Romadka, who is the wife of a wealthy merchant of Milwaukee, and who was recently indicted for burglary and larceny, was yesterday sentenced to the penitentiary for from one to twenty years.

Received the First Cable.

New York, Nov. 16.—William F. Shiebler, who received the first message over the Atlantic cable, sent to President Buchanan by Queen Victoria, is dead in Brooklyn. He had charge of the first military telegraph station.

Asks For Parcel Post Law.

Norfolk, Va., Nov. 16.—The American Federation of Labor yesterday adopted a resolution calling upon Congress for a small parcel post law as a relief from the "express company monopolies."

It is said M. S. McCarthy, M.P. will become leader of the Alberta Conservatives when he retires from the Dominion House.

Motorman Committed.

Hamilton, Nov. 16.—Further developments are predicted in connection with the legal proceedings started over the collision of the street car last Tuesday afternoon with a freight train at Ferguson avenue and King street. James McIlwraith, the motorman, was committed for trial at the Police Court yesterday morning on the charge of criminal negligence. It is hinted that some of the officials of the company may be proceeded against.

Edward Stratford, car inspector, swore that when he examined the car after the accident the speed lever was on full, the reverse lever was not. Superintendent Miller testified that the motorman had had two months' experience.

Author's Canoe Upset.

New York, Nov. 16.—Ernest Thompson Seton, the author, has returned from his exploration trip of seven months through Northwest Canada and is enthusiastic over that part of Canada below the Arctic zone, calling it the "white man's last opportunity." Settlers by the thousands, he said, are pouring in.

Mr. Seton canoed 2,000 miles, having one narrow escape from losing, not only his diaries and all his drawings and maps, but his own life, when his canoe upset in the Athabasca River.

He discovered a number of lakes and rivers in the Arctic region which he is now naming in conjunction with the geographical survey of Canada.

Committed For Trial.

St. Catharines, Nov. 16.—Stuart Nelson, proprietor of the Union Hotel, Merriton, was committed for trial on a charge of stealing a quantity of valuable lumber from the Niagara, St. Catharines & Toronto Railway Co.

Cowes, Isle of Wight, Nov. 16.—Great Britain, not content with possessing the largest warship in the world in the Dreadnought, has constructed the fastest fighting craft destroyer in the Mohawk.

Laborer Is Left a Million.

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 16.—A despatch from Ludington, Mich., says: John C. Jeans, a day laborer, was bequeathed $1,000,000 by an aunt, Anna T. Jeans of Philadelphia.

Town Wants the Fine.

Toronto, Nov. 16.—A deputation from Essex Centre, headed by J. A. Auld, M. P. P., waited on the Government yesterday to request that the $25,000 fine imposed by Justice Riddell on the Michigan Central Railway, after the fees are paid, should be handed over to the town, which suffered so much damage from the recent explosion.

Hon. J. J. Foy said there is little doubt that they will get part, if not all, of the fine. Otherwise it would go to the Provincial Treasury.

An Eclipse.

Tangier, Nov. 16.—The Star of Mulai Hafid, Sultan of the South, appears to be waning. Mulai Mahommed, a brother of the Sultan, and pretender to the throne, has joined Sultan Abdel Aziz at Rabat.

Street Car Men Strike.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 16.—The union men employed by the Louisville Street Railway Co. went on strike yesterday for an increase in wages and the reinstatement of several discharged men. The company employs about 1,100 men.

Dynamite In Drain.

Ottawa, Nov. 16.—A Polish immigrant named De Nango was fatally injured yesterday forenoon while working on a drain. He struck an unexploded charge of dynamite. His skull was terribly fractured.

TO SEE THROUGH A BRICK.

The Apparatus Can Easily Be Made by Any Ingenious Boy.

Take three small, square, flat paper boxes and provide yourself with four pieces of mirror. One of the boxes is placed on the table, the cover closed and two sides or ends cut out. The other two boxes are closed and a piece as large as one of the sides taken out of the first box is cut out of the top and bottom of two opposite ends. Then the three boxes are fitted together, as the illustration shows.

In each corner of the rectangular tube, F E D C formed by the three boxes, a piece of mirror is fastened at an angle of forty-five degrees. To make it more effective the two outside boxes can have kneelike extensions made of cardboard and pasted on the two openings. R indicates the brick. When a flower or any other object is placed on the other end of the rectangular tube (A) it will reflect upon C, from C upon D, from D upon E and from here upon F. In this last piece of mirror it will appear to the eye of the person looking into the opening to the left as if he had seen the object in a direct line.

SPORT FOR INDOORS.

Box Baseball is an Excellent Game For a Rainy Day.

A very enjoyable though noisy game for the home is called box baseball. If you are playing in a room with a hardwood floor draw at the end in chalk a square two feet on a side and then divide this by two lines drawn at right angles into four squares, each a foot on a side. These are marked successively 1, 2, 3 and H, which letter stands for home.

The players are divided into two sides under the leadership of captains and the playing begins. A bean bag will do very well to take the place of the baseball. The player must stand about eight feet from the box and aim to throw the bag into the square marked 1. If in three trials he fails to put it inside the box he is out, as in baseball. If the bag falls in the square marked 1 it is reckoned that there is a man on first base, and the object of the next player is to advance him to second base by throwing into the square marked 2. If a player throws into 2 when there is no man on 1 it is regarded as a foul and does not count. After one side is out the other has its innings. Nine innings constitute a game, though if this proves too long it may stop on any odd number of innings. As the keeping of the score is somewhat complicated it is well to appoint one of the company official score keeper.

To Puzzle Over.

Let any one write a word on a slip of paper when you are not looking and let him place a weight on it so that you cannot see what is written. You undertake to tell what is upon the paper without touching it.

The answer is that the weight is upon the paper.

A man and his wife quarrel and agree to part. The man walks eastward; his wife walks westward. After going nearly 100 miles they are less than 100 yards apart.

The explanation is that they are traveling on shipboard and that the man goes to one end of the ship and his wife to the other.

The Tiger Bird.

India's tiger bird, so called because he is the one thing the royal beast fears, is no larger than the sparrow. Yet so bold and combative is he that if the great cat is surprised by a sufficient number of the little creatures far from the protecting shelter of the jungle it will go hard with him. When alone the bird will not attack. Supported by a flock of friends, however, often numbering several thousands, the bird will seek out his hereditary foe and give him battle.

A Riddle.

I have a head, a little head
That you could scarcely see.
But I have a mouth much bigger
Than my head could ever be.

That seems impossible, you say.
You think 'twould be a bother?
Why, no! My head is at one end;
My mouth's way at the other.

I have no feet, yet I can run,
And pretty fast, 'tis said.
The funny thing about me is
I run when in my bed.

I've not a cent in all the world,
I seek not fortune's ranks,
And yet it's true that, though so poor,
I own two splendid banks.

I've lots of "sand," yet run away;
I'm weak, yet "furnish power;"
No hands or arms, yet my embrace
Would kill in half an hour.

You think I am some fearful thing.
Ah, you begin to shiver!
Pray, don't, for after all, you know,
I'm only just a river.

W. H. HILL, Esq.,
Manager Central Ontario Sun Life of Canada
Peterborough, Ontario.

DEAR SIR,—

Your favor of the 24th inst. received enclosing statement of profits allotted to my policy 7001 in the "Sun Life" for the past five years.

Above policy is for $1,000 on the whole life five year distribution plan on which I paid an annual premium of $28.35, or $141.75 for the five year period.

I find the CASH PROFITS amount to $53.85, or about 40 per cent. of the total premiums paid during the five years. This is certainly a splendid showing and speaks volumes for the earning powers of the Sun Life Company's investments.

Thanking you and wishing your company continued success,

Yours truly,

RELIGIOUS BODY GIVE RISE TO MUCH COMMENT

"Followers of Christ" Holding Meetings at Villiers Schoolhouse

A religious sect, known as the "Followers of Christ," is creating considerable talk in the vicinity in which it is at present giving voice to its ecclesiastical inclinations. This gathering of religious enthusiasts for the past month or so, have held meetings at the Villier's school house, and a Scotchman, John MacNeil is the principal member and exhorter.

Judging from reports, they are disinclined to countenance popular beliefs as to how to get to heaven, and urge their method as the only way. They are economical, live on very little food, and are most ardent and persistent in expounding their beliefs. Their congregation is rather small, and the orthodox church members seem disinclined to accept their views.

This is the same body that aroused much indignation in Norwood recently by their wholesale denunciation of the present day religious denominations.

DRINKS ARE ONCE AGAIN AT OLD PRICE

New Tariff Did Not Long Prevail —Cards Removed

The new and higher tariff for drinks in Peterborough, did not long prevail. It went into effect yesterday, but today, nearly all the hotelkeepers are selling at the old figure.

Tea and whiskey is back again to five cents, and fifteen cent drinks are going at ten, as formerly.

"Yes, I took my card down this morning," remarked a local hotelkeeper to the Review. "I found that others would not live up to it, and were going back on the schedule. If two or three were violating the agreement, there was little or no use of the remainder of us, sticking to it. This is the second time we have tried to advance prices and the attempt has not been successful. We will now likely adhere to the old rate. I am tired of signing agreements and not having others live up to them.

Y.W.C.A' NOTES.

A prayer meeting will be held this evening from 7.30 to 8 o'clock at the Y.W.C.A.

The regular Sunday afternoon Bible class will be held tomorrow afternoon at 4.15, Miss Best, leader.

Several Hunting Parties Lost Their Best Dogs by Poisoning

It is Said That Settlers Are Jealous of Outsiders Getting a Few Deer and Put Poison Out to Destroy the Canines.

The Dunsford correspondent of the Bobcaygeon Independent says: The Thurston party returned from their hunt on Wednesday and had a very successful time on the whole. They brought back nine deer, one of them a huge buck with a magnificent set of horns. They were in Galway and camped in the old house of Sandy Watson's near the depot. The only unpleasant incident was the poisoning of their dogs, and it made them leave the camp much earlier than they would have done so. The local people are jealous of the outsiders getting a few deer, and put out poison to destroy the dogs. Seven poisoned baits were found. It is a mighty mean piece of business.

A North Harvey correspondent says: Teddy Bowen and brothers were out for a hunt, and did well till their dog was poisoned. Nearly all the hunting parties in the district have lost dogs by poison and there appears to have been an agreement among some of the settlers to kill the dogs of visiting hunters. The weather has not been good for hunting, but Thursday, was a dandy for still hunting; the flurry of snow being just right, the air clear and keen and the sun when you got into it, bright and cheerful. It was one of the best days in the woods during the whole season.

OLD TIME CONCERT RECALLED THE DAYS OF AULD LANG SYNE

Unique Entertainment at St. Andrew's Hall, Last Night Attended by Big Audience—A Programme of Much Merit.

Even the most sanguine did not expect this "Old Time Concert," held in St. Andrew's Church Hall last night, to be the success it was. Of course the majority expected that the programme would be just average and that there would be just the average audience on hand, but this was one case where the majority did not strike the mark a little bit. At a quarter to eight the hall was comfortably filled, at eight standing room was at a premium, and when the programme commenced a few minutes later, the crowding was almost uncomfortable, especially at the back of the hall. Over five hundred were in attendance and not one of the number wasdis appointed with the programme.

As the title signified the concert was modelled after events of its kind held in the days of long ago, when the ladies wore hoop skirts and queer looking bonnets and the gentlemen appeared resplendent in knee breeches, frock coats, with lace embellishing the front, buckled slippers, and high silk hats. Without the silk hats, these were the costumes worn as nearly as possible by those taking part in the programme last night and the effect was striking. Candles to illuminate the stage, music on a spinnet, more than two hundred years old, and songs of the long ago, added to the effect and were in keeping with the spirit of the occasion. The hall was prettily decorated with flags and presented a charming appearance. Great credit is due Mr. F. C. Freeland, who had charge of the entertainment and good results were shown of the hard work he had done in arranging the programme and conducting the rehearsals. Mrs. McClelland, the accompanists, also did splendid work, as did also all those taking part in the programme. The solo, duet and quartette numbers were given with excellent effect, while the chorus work was a revelation in many respects. Splendid harmony was evidenced in the different numbers, especially in two of the most pleasing items on the programme: "O, Hush Thee My Baby," and "The Old Oaken Bucket." There were twenty numbers on the programme, making it impossible to particularize here. However, mention must be made of the solo work of Mrs. Davidson, the duet from the "Geisha" by Mrs. R. J. Davey and Mr. Chandler, and the two numbers of Mr. David Moore, who recited Bayard Taylor's "Song of the Camp" with piano accompaniment, and an original monologue with hits on various members of St. Andrew's congregation. Both numbers were received with enthusiasm.

Not the least interesting feature of this concert, was the printed programme with its decidedly quaint phraseology. It contained much interesting matter, and the programme proper, was given as follows

PARTE YE FIRSTE.

God Save Ye King.—By all ye singers in ye meetynge house.

Parte Songe.—"O, who will o'er the Downs so free, De Pearsall, by all ye singers.

Duete—"Alice, Where Art Thou," Guernsey, by Jerusha Firth and Adonijah Firth.

Parte Songe.—"Ye Three Chafers" Truhn, by all ye meanie singers.

Parte Songe.—"Ye Songe of ye Hop Pickers," Elizabeth Philp, by all ye singers.

"A Songe of ye Camp," an "Incidente of ye Crimea, introducing ye auilde song "Annie Laurie," Ye spoke piece, David Moore. Accompaniment will be played on ye olde spinet, helped by four soldiers of ye Crimea, unseen.

Vocal Solo.—"I cannot sing the old songs," Claribel, by Deborah Davidson.

Parte Songe.—"O, Hush Thee, My Babie," Sullivan, by all Ye Singers.

Quartette and obligato, "Tyrolean Duchs," Dressler, by 2 meanie and 3 wimmen, Deborah Davidson, Belinda Common, Prudence Brundrette, Ephriam Morphet, and Father Freeland.

Take particular notice that ye class will stop singinge of some minutes, if so be ye singers may re-obtain some breath and ye younge meanie may have an opportunity to asse ye younge wimmen, such as they wante to go home withe, which is proper.

PARTE YE SECONDE.

Duete on ye olde Spinet.—Diantha McClelland, and Priscilla Greenslade.

Auilde Lang Syne.—To be sung by all ye people in ye meetynge house.

Take particular notice that after ye concerte, all ye listeners will please go straight to their own houses.

Ye names of ye persons who unite in ye praise at ye greate concerte at ye auilde kirke meetynge house.—Deborah Davidson, Jerusha Firth, Tabitha Rothwell, Zilpha Devey, Belinda Common, Bethiah King, Polly Kennedy, Hepsibah McFarlane, Susanna Thompson, Bathsheba Ross, Melvina Clarke, Priscilla Greenslade, Prudence Brundrette, Obediah Devey, Adonijah Firth, Ephriam Morphet, Jeremiah Rothwell, Abisha Greenslade, Ichabod Thompson, Zepheniah Clark, Ebenezer Campbell, Jehonadab Gerard, Theophilus Kerr, Elias Common, Benjamin Warcham.

Praiseworthy Father Freeland, Chief Tymeist.

Diantha McClelland, player on ye greate organ.

Reference must be made to the work of Miss Mowatt, who occupied a seat on the platform during the rendering of the programme. She delineated the character of grandma to perfection and gave a pleasing realism to the stage setting.

Announcement was made during this evening, that the concert would be repeated with a few minor changes next Tuesday evening, and another bumper house is assured.

After the entertainment, those taking part in the programme, posed for a flashlight picture, taken by Mr. Louis Mendel, and afterwards were entertained to a dainty repast at the home of Rev. J. G. Potter, where a jolly time was spent. Mesdames Potter, McFarlane, Robinson were the hostesses. An impromptu toast list was honored, Mr. Potter acting as chairman and several bright speeches were made.

Mr. F. C. Freeland and Mrs. McClelland, who were instrumental in the presentation of the unique affair, desire to thank Mrs. L. Martin for the loan of the Spinet, the Peterborough museum for the spinning wheel, Mr. F. R. Clarke, for a clock, St. John's church for scenery, and all others who gave their aid in any way towards making the entertainment a success.

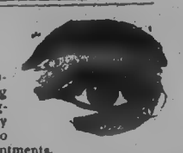
Detective Wells is Still Alive

Has Not Relinquished Idea of Running to Earth Barton Murderer

A Winnipeg despatch says: Ex-Detective Wells, Leuty avenue, Toronto, missing since June, and who is thought to have met with foul play, was seen today. He has not relinquished the idea of running the Barton murderer down. He says the murderer is a Toronto traveller; who was divorced and married again. He picked the murdered woman up in Philadelphia, and shot her to get rid of her.

He says he needs but one or two more threads to complete the chain of evidence. Wells says he will leave for Toronto in a day or two. He exhibits two late clues, which will strengthen his case.

Dr. Browett's Dates at Peterboro'



His Successful Visit. For the past few weeks Dr. Browett, optical specialist, has been teaching opticians at Midland. A large number of persons have taken the opportunity of Dr. Browett's visit to that thriving Georgian Bay port to have their eyes examined for glasses, and thus save themselves the expense of a trip to the larger cities. While there people from Penetanguishene and other adjoining towns have visited him and several very difficult cases have been helped. Dr. Browett will before visiting his next teaching appointment, spend Tues. to Sat., 12th to 16th at his home office at our store and conduct examinations for those for whom we are making appointments.

Ketchecum Club Home

The Ketchecum Lake Hunt Club has returned to the city, and certainly did not come back empty-handed. They are plank-backed by the Deer Protective Association of Lake Ketchecum district, for no less than twenty of the nimble quadrupeds that are so eagerly sought after each season, were brought down by the unerring aim of the Ketchecum Club's nimrods. To Mr. Harry LeBrun belongs the honor of securing the king buck of the hunt. It is a particularly fine one and one of the best secured in the northern hunting grounds this year.

The party say that they have had an excellent outing and are thoroughly delighted with the success of their hunt. They remained there for the whole season and every member find his share of the luck.

Some who were at the lake returned at different times and those who came back yesterday were Messrs. H. C. Winch, captain; H LeBrun, Geo. Morrow, W Irwin, R J Munro, C B Campbell, Gus Hay, R J Kingan, Geo Bennett, Robt. Gibbs, Stewart Anderson, Norman Hatton and Archie Jackson, chef. The guides were Alexander and Thos. Simpson.

A SERENADE

At two o'clock on Monday morning the members of the Bottle Lake camp came down to the Ketchecum Lodge and serenaded the party, making a noise something like San Francisco on a busy day, and discharging sixty rounds of ammunition. The sleepers in the lodge were rather rudely aroused from their slumbers and for a while imagined they were being attacked by some band of Indians of whose existence they were not aware.

FINE PHOTOGRAPHS

Mr. Fred Roy took a number of photos of the party and many of them are very original and realistic. Excellent enlargements of them as well as several taken of the Eastwood party, Stoney Creek, and Crawford party, Mountain Lake, are on exhibition in the downstairs studio showcase.

Game Warden Clarkson of Lakehurst, visited the camp on Thursday afternoon, examined the deer, and licenses, and took record of all deer killed and other information he desired. Mr. Clarkson will later send a report to the Provincial Secretary's department, concerning the number of men in each camp under his jurisdiction, how many deer they have killed, etc.

The Peterborough Light and Power Co. will be unable to supply any power or electric light on Sunday between 8 a. m. and 5 p. m. as they are making some changes at the power house.

HUNTERS RETURN WITH FOUR DEER

Messrs. Philip Westlake, of Ennismore, and C. Blewett, city, returned yesterday from Bottle Lake, Cavendish township after a most enjoyable fortnight deer hunting. They each secured their share of the antlered monarchs. They state that this year the deer were very plentiful and all the hunters apparently were well satisfied with the result of the season. There were no mishaps that would in any way mar the outing.

WOMAN KNOCKED DOWN BY BUGGY

About noon today, as a middle aged woman from the country was crossing the road at the corner of George and Simcoe streets, she was knocked down by a rig driven by Mr. Harry C. Winch. She attempted to cross in front of the vehicle and fell beneath the wheels. She was taken into the Dominion Bank, and after remaining there a few minutes was able to leave. She was not injured, receiving only a slight shaking up.

Many Weak Spots Have Developed

Many Railroads Report Decreased Gross and no Earnings—The Stock Market

Special to J. R. Heintz & Co.

New York, Nov. 16.—Kansas and Texas is no exception to the general rule of railroads reporting decreased gross, and net earnings. During September gross increased 9 per cent., while the net was practically what it was a while ago. Gross earnings have fallen off decidedly since the beginning of the fiscal year as the increase aggregates 15 per cent., while the net increased 18 per cent., practically all of which was made up during the months of July and August.

There was considerable more foreign selling here today than generally on Saturday. Not only stocks but bonds were disposed of, the same fear being prevalent, which existed yesterday, namely, that higher rates of discount by the Bank of England are among the possibilities in view of the continuing demand of America for gold.

Foreigners consider the situation in most of the monetary centres in this country as decidedly discouraging, and the asset currency by Chicago banks, is regarded as only another indication of exceedingly critical times. European selling was responsible for the weakness in Hill stocks.

Liquidation continued in the market, which, however, holds fairly strong as there is a pretty large short interest, covering the week end, and manipulation by the banking interests, to hold the market up is a most acute character.

Many weak spots developed in this market today, Illinois Central losing nearly three points and making a record very considerably below the lowest previous level of this year. The Hills and Atchison also suffered declines of two points, while the active leaders, generally were soft.

PIONEER RESIDENT GOES HOME

Death of Mrs. Jos. Wright Who Remembered Peterboro' When There Were But Three Houses Here

One of the oldest residents of Peterborough County passed away this morning in the person of Eliza Foster, relict of the late Jos. Wright, of Emily. Deceased was 84 years of age and was a native of Ireland. She came to this country with her parents in 1837, seventy years ago, and settled in Smith township, where she resided until about ten years ago when she went to live with her son-in-law, Mr. Alex. Henry, of Emily township. When Mrs. Wright settled in Smith township there were only three houses where the city of Peterborough now stands, and she remembered the district as one big swamp.

The late Mrs. Wright is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Alex. Henry, of Emily; Mrs. Wm. Richardson, of Peterborough, and Mrs. Wm. Handley, of Mount Pleasant, and one son Mr. John Wright, of Smith township. One brother also survives, Mr. John Foster, of Toronto. He is 72 years of age. Three daughters have passed away, Mrs. Forest Guthrie, of Emily, and Misses Jenn and Eliza.

Deceased was a member of the Church of England and was highly esteemed by a large number of friends and relatives. With her death, the county loses one of its pioneer residents and a link that connected the present with the past.

The funeral will take place Monday at ten o'clock from the residence of Mr. Alex. Henry, lot 20, con. 2, Cavan, to Little Lake cemetery.

REPORT WILL BE CONSIDERED

Board of Health and Water Commissioners to Meet.

A joint meeting of the Board of Health and Water Commissioners will be held on Monday afternoon at 4.30 to consider Sanitary Inspector Ball's report of the conditions at Stoney Lake. It will be remembered that Mr. Ball visited the lake last summer and made a thorough investigation of the sanitary conditions there. His report will be taken up on Monday. Several other matters will receive attention from the Board of Health.

RINK AND SLIDE AT JACKSON PARK

Street Railway Company Having Them Put in Readiness

The Peterborough Radial Railway Company is making arrangements to again operate the rink and toboggan slide at Jackson Park

The rink has been levelled, the weeds cut and things generally put in shape.

The slide will also be made ready, and the lights will shortly be installed. When winter really sets in, the rink and toboggan chute will be in good shape.

Some Changes at the Power House

Peterboro' L. & P. Co. Will Install Several New Panels and Put in New Circuits

The Peterborough Light & Power Company desire to notify their patrons that there will be no current for either light or power tomorrow from 8 o'clock in the morning until five o'clock in the afternoon.

New panels are being installed in the switch board and new circuits put in, henceforth the shutting off of the current. Certain lines have in the past been overloaded, and it has been decided to make a new division of the currents.

The latest marble panels with self-oiling switches will, as stated, be installed tomorrow, and the load on certain circuits, which has been rather heavy, will be more equitably distributed. The changes and improvements will be completed by tomorrow night.

MR. POTTS TO ASSIST REV. DR. LANGFELDT

Mr. Potts, B.A., of Trinity College will assist Rev. Dr. Langfeldt in the services at St. Luke's church tomorrow. Rev. A. L. Reed, who is Dr Langfeldt's regular assistant, is still confined to his bed, and it will be two or three weeks before he is able to be out again.

TORE OFF BOARDS AND BURNED THEM

County Constable George Cochrane is today serving papers on Vincent Sullivan and J. O'Toole of Otonabee, charged with tearing boards off of Geo. Garrett's fence and burning them. The case comes up for trial on November 20th at eleven o'clock before County Police Magistrate Edmison.

OLD TYME CONCERT

The scenery used at the Old Time Concert at St. Andrew's Hall last night was the personal property of Mr. R. J. Dewey and was loaned by him for the occasion.

The concert will be repeated next Tuesday night when the admission will be seven pence half penny each, for men and women and two York shillings for two children.

The Largest Jack Manufacturer in the World Writes about Zutoo

Regarding your Zutoo Tablets I beg to say: I have been a sufferer from headache since childhood and have used all, or nearly all, of the so-called "cures" on the market, till warned by my physician to discontinue their use on account of their bad effects on the heart. Some months since my attention was called to your Zutoo Tablets and I have been using them ever since with the most gratifying results. I find they cure a "sick" or "nervous" headache in a few minutes and leave no bad effect. My family use them whenever needed with equally good results. I have frequently given them to friends who were suffering from headache and they never fail to give quick relief. I find them a good remedy for "sour" stomach as well as headache. I always carry them in my grip on the road and would not be without them at any cost.

TAX RECEIPTS WERE VERY LARGE

About $20,000 Taken in on Second Installment

City Tax Collector Green has been a busy man during the past couple of days. Yesterday his office was besieged by a swarm of people ready to pay the second installment. Mr. Green has taken in in the neighborhood of $20,000 during the past week. The first payment had to be made before August 1st, and to those who paid a discount of 2 per cent was given. The second had to be made by last evening, at 5 o'clock. Approximately there is about $8,000 yet to be paid. On the first payment the collector took in $100,000.

Rev. Mr. Brace at Mark St. Church

Preached an Impressive Sermon at Last Night's Meeting

At the revival service at Mark street church last evening, Rev. A. H. Brace, pastor of Park street Baptist church, gave a strong address. It was a very impressive one, and productive of much good. At the close of it many came forward, thus signifying their intention to lead better lives. There was a large congregation present, and the music was of a bright and happy character.

VISITS AFTER ABSENCE OF TWENTY YEARS

Mr. Henry Beyette of Harrisburg, New York in City for a Week.

Mr. Henry Beyette, of Harrisburg, New York State, left this morning for Deseronto, after a week's visit to his brother, Mr. Jos. Beyette, Grand Central Block. Mr. Beyette who is an old Deseronto boy, had not been in Peterborough for twenty years previous to his recent visit and, quite naturally, notices very many improvements in local conditions. He regards the lift lock as the greatest example of engineering skill he has encountered in his travels.

Mr. Beyette was known many years ago as the fastest skater in Deseronto and vicinity.

SPECIAL INTEREST ADDED TO MEETING

Rev. H. J. Keith Gave Address Before St Luke's A. Y. P. A.

Special interest was added to the St. Luke's A.Y.P.A. meeting last night, because of the presence of Rev. H. J. Keith of Knox Church, who gave a most interesting and instructive address on "India," and the programme of Christian work there. The members of the A.Y.P.A. appreciate this big turning out in large numbers. The president, Mr. H. C. M. Potter was in the chair. Dr. Langfeldt opened the meeting with devotional exercises. In introducing Rev. Mr. Keith, Dr. Langfeldt said that it gave him a particular pleasure to do so for two reasons. First, because it was his first visit to St. Luke's and secondly, because Mr. Keith, while in India, had become an intimate friend of a college chum of his, Rev. Mr. Harlam, who with his wife, was giving great service to the church in missionary work. Mr. Keith acknowledged and appreciated the hearty welcome extended to him and remarked that he came often into contact with Church of England missionaries, in fact, on his arrival in India, was entertained by a clergyman of the Anglican church. His lecture was most helpful and highly appreciated by the large audience. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered to him.

The A.Y.P.A. decided to entertain the congregation on Friday evening, Nov. 29.

Dramatic Intelligence And Gossip

Harry Lindley, the Old Man Of the Stage, Discourses Interestingly of the Past

Has Been Before the Public for Over Fifty Years—Connected With Many Companies—His Wide Experience in Theatrical Affairs.

Any person in any of the towns or cities of Canada, whether a theatre-goer or not, who has not heard of Harry Lindley must certainly be of a Rip Van Winkle turn of disposition. This venerable comedian, who still retains his powers of entertainment has appeared here during part of the past week with the H. Wilmot Young Co, and has played the principal comedy roles, and done a humorous specialty turn in a manner that invariably won the unanimous approval of the audience.

On account of him being beyond a doubt one of the most interesting personages on the stage to-day the Review saw Mr. Lindley on the last night of his engagement here and he graciously consented to an interview.

Mr. Lindley has been on the stage for over half a century and during his career has been associated with many famous dramatic people and essayed innumerable roles.

"I have been over fifty years in harness," he said, "which makes me almost the Nestor of the profession and when one can boast of having supported Charles Kean, Phelps, Mrs. Bancroft and a host of lesser lights in England, in addition to Forrest, Booth, Davenport and many other American stars he has covered a great deal of dramatic ground. In fact I have seen the dramatic world completely change in different cycles, having participated in the stock star system, the peripatetic system, the combination system and the repertoire system. For thirty years I ran my own combination or managed theatres, and it has been my lot to pilot Jno. Lawrence Toole, Fetcher and T. C. King and occassionaly Kate Fisher, Mariette Ravel, Oliver, Byron and others of that calibre, as stellar attractions.

I believe I was the first to run a theatre in Montreal during the winter months and I have been burnt out twice in Canada.

Canadians look upon me as one of them. Well, as I voted for Sir John A. Macdonald on one occasion I presume you may write me down that way.

PLAYED MANY PARTS.

I don't know exactly whether I am a comedian, opera singer or tragedian. I have tried them all and for three years was with the Holman Opera Company. A man in his life plays many parts, but if I were to catalogue my assumptions they would reach into the thousands. Some of them must have been woefully alike, although as Charles Dickens has it "I came as near nature as I could for sixpence."

A SOLDIER, TOO.

I have, strange to say, carried a musket for three years in the cause of the Confederate States under General Billy Mahone, a fact of which I am made to feel proud when in Virginia and North Carolina.

I am also one of the pioneers of the Northwest and without egotism can call attention to the fact that I was one of the early visitors to note the wonderous possibilities of that regime by articles in the "Des Moines Register," and other papers whilst I was two seasons theatrically in Vancouver, Victoria, Skagway and other western towns during the Klondyke rush.

I have just returned from a two weeks tour in the Sunny South where, instead of dollars, I imbibed rheumatism, but am at it again.

LOCAL EXPERIENCE.

In Peterborough I have dallied at various times and strutted my brief hour over the market hall, in the opera house, owned by Mr. E. C. Hill, and later by Mr. Bradburn, till now I have reached a real theatre.

A PLAYWRIGHT.

Despite his advanced age Mr. Lindley is in full rentention of all his physical and mental powers and is now working on a play for May Belle Marks, "The Congressman and the Typewriter." She is at present including in her repetoire another of his pieces, "The Castaways." He has also written "In the Klondyke," "The Raiders," and numerous other plays.

DAUGHTER WITH HIM.

Mr. Lindley is accompanied by his daughter, who is also with the company. She is a member of the cast and appears in a song and dance specialty.

The whole Lindley family, which is a large one, is theatrically inclined and one of Mr. Lindley's sons, who has adopted the stage name of Walter Woodall, is playing second business to Jas. K. Hackett in "John Glayde's Honor."

RICH TREAT FOR PETERBORO'

The original version of "The Passion Play," in a series of beautifully colored and descriptive slides, will be shown at the Crystal in the near future for a week or longer. The views will be most life like impressive and each individual scene will be a masterpiece. The presentation of this famous play in picture form occupies about forty minutes and during that time two miles and a half of films are used.

THE MUSICAL PLAY

It was predicted some time ago by some dramatic writers and theatrical men that comic opera had had its run, and would, therefore, die out. It has been emphatically proven, however, that the prophets were altogether too premature. It is quite true that musical plays with their elaborate settings, attractive girls and tinkling music, are not the mammoth novelties they were when first produced, but, nevertheless, a good comic opera has still great drawing powers for the average theatre-goers. There is an abundance of them having good runs in the big cities and playing to good business on the road.

The success of the musical play is probably due to the fact that it provides bright entertainment and taking music, without requiring any deep thinking or previous knowledge of the theme. The time passes pleasantly and the show affords welcome relaxation from cares of the day.

From present indications the musical attractions of the better class are good for a pretty long life.

Rev. Mr. Brown, formerly of Agincourt, has been inducted pastor of St Andrew's Presbyterian church at Fergus.

THEATRICAL NOTES

Mr. Wm. J. Coon, Toronto, who is at present employed in this city, and concerning whose experiences as an aeronant extended reference is made in another column of this paper, has had considerable theatrical experience, having been identified with the Bert Brokhart Stock Company, and the Ideal Opera Company. In the former he played the part of a street boy, and in the latter sang in the male chorus.

Mr. Harry Lindley intends organizing a company of his own, and expects to visit Peterborough next year.

OLD FAVORITE IN CITY TO-DAY

Uncle Tom's Cabin Parade Attracts Mach Attention

Downie's Uncle Tom's Cabin show is in the city to-day and appears at the Grand Opera House to-night. At noon the company paraded the main streets and attracted a lot of attention. In addition to the usual brass band, there were several handsome ponies, some ferocious looking blood hounds and a genuine cabin drawn by a team of horses. The company is an unusually large one and makes a greater display than any that has appeared here in the past.

How the Canny Scot Saw it

One of the well praised confreres of David Warfield in his new play, "A Grand Army Man," is Reuben Fax, whose subtle character work is the admiration of all. His present high salaried position, which calls for an amount in three figures, is a far cry from his earlier one in his old home town, where single figure indicated the size of his weekly stipend.

This fact was recalled one day recently on Broadway, when the actor met an old boyhood friend from Belleville, the little Canadian city where he was born. After recalling the past, when they were clerks in the same store at $8 per week, the fact was elicited that the old friend's wages had not been raised in all these years above the $12 mark.

Fax was asked the amount of his present salary, and fearing that a figure representing even half the amount would not be believed, named a sum a little above thirty dollars. The reply of his Scotch-Canadian townsman showed what even that small figure in these days of big salaries meant to him when he exclaimed:

"Why, mon, ye must be pilin' up riches at an awfu' rate!"—New York Clipper.

MADE MONEY DURING BOOM

Mr. H. Wilmot Young's Well Timed Investments Bring Him $18,000

Mr. Arthur J. Mackey, business manager for the H. Wilmot Young Company, is responsible for the statement that Mr. Young made $18,000 in the Cobalt when the boom was on. The company opened the Cobalt opera house three seasons ago, on the 27th of June, and during the thirteen weeks they played at Cobalt ,New Liskeard and Haileybury, Mr. Young bought a large amount of stock in Cobalt Lake, Silver Leaf Nipissing and other mining properties. He has sold out all his interests, since, however, and now has nothing to show for his investments except the profits, but paper of a green tinge is much more desirable, however ,than any other kind.

MR. FOSTER WILL SPEAK AT LINDSAY

At Big Conservative Gathering on Wednesday, Nov. 20

A big Conservative gathering will be held in Lindsay on Wednesday evening, Nov. 20th. The gathering will be in the interest of Col. Sam Hughes, M.P. Among the speakers will be Hon. George E. Foster. Mr. Foster is one of the most effective and eloquent platform speakers in Canada, and doubtless a large number of electors will avail themselves of the opportunity of hearing Canada's former Finance Minister. A number from Peterborough will attend.

Troubles of the Manager Of a Small City Theatre In Satisfying His Patrons

Has to Provide Plays to Please all Classes and Cannot Specialize Like a Large City Theatre—Many Companies Refuse to Play One Night Stands.

The manager of a theatre has a rather hard time catering to the demands, and very often whims, of playgoers, the majority of whom are continually clamoring for something better. This cry is the keynote of patrons of the theatre all over the world, from the humblest "Opry" House in the rural town to the most magnificent auditoriums in the British and European capitals.

The manager of a theatre is essentially a business man. He expects to derive a living profit from his playhouse, and does his best to put on attractions that will meet with the approval of the theatre-going public. If he be in a small city he has a difficult proposition to deal with. A very small proportion of the public wants dramas, and encorts of worth, another part musical plays, another, farce comedy, another melodrama, and so on.

The smaller theatre manager is decidedly handicapped as compared with his brother in the large city. The man in the small city conducts a house of amusement that has to present plays ranging from tragedies to that class of so-called musical pieces bordering on burlesque, wherein the larger cities there are theatres where a specialty of the presentation of productions of a certain kind is made. Take Toronto for instance. At the Royal Alexandra, the experiment of putting on high-class plays, interpreted by a resident stock company is being tried, and thus far has met with a large measure of success. At the Princess are seen many good dramas and musical shows of merit. At the Grand, the productions are along the same lines and generally of good class. At the Majestic, the lover of melodrama revels in many thrills and the crushing of base and designing villains who would have true hearted heroes swung from the gallows for crimes of which they are the ignoble authors. At Sheas, the merriest, brightest vaudeville reigns and at the Star the devotee of burlesque may puff his cigar and see some fascinating ballet dancer lose herself in a maze of the latest Parisian evolutions.

But what conditions prevail in a "one night stand" town. The manager of the theatre there must pick from the above class of productions a variety of plays that he thinks will suit his patrons, and has to a very great extent, to be contented with what the man in the central city who books the shows through the smaller places gives him. Both of the above have their tasks cut out for them in meeting the demands of this public.

THE COMPANIES, TOO.

Then there are the theatrical companies. A person may fitly say, "Why don't they bring such and such a show here, it was remarkably good when I saw it in Toronto last week." Well, it is very often because the manager of "such and such a show" refuses point blank to play at one night stands or else demands a guarantee that would make it impossible for smaller city managers to have the production presented, except at prices which this public wouldn't pay.

GOOD THINGS DON'T PAY.

In a great many smaller cities a high-class production will fail to draw a paying house. Take for example, Peterborough. The taste of the public here seems deplorably perverted. When Miss Alys Bateman, the celebrated English soprano, assisted by Mr. Edouard Parlovitz, the brilliant pianist, appeared here, about forty musical epicures, showed their appreciation, by attending. Mons. Mercier, the famous tenor sang here last winter, under the most favorable local auspices, and the reception he received from a numerical standpoint, was in keeping with the season. Louis James, one of the foremost actors on the American stage, couldn't draw a half paying house in "Virginius," and "The Merchant of Venice," and painfully slim audiences greeted Thos. E. Shea in "The Bells," and "Napoleon, the Great." Dozens of other instances of a similar nature might be cited. Of course, Ben Greet, was well received in "Macbeth". But this was a striking exception and was owing largely to the fact that a great many students of the Collegiate Institute, interested in the study of Shakespeare attended, and, besides, the event partook somewhat of the nature of a social event.

Another matter in connection with the presentation of plays, interpreted by large and high salaried casts, are the big prices of admission, insisted upon by the company, before they will play at a one-night stand. A show that only charges as high as a dollar for the best seats in a theatre in a large city insists on charging a dollar and a half for seats of the same kind before appearing in a one night stand, owing to the fact that their profits are naturally larger in cities where they have a run of a week or more, than in places where they only show for one night, and there is also much more discomfort, and inconvenience in every way, in connection with "quick jumps."

Was Remanded for Eight Days

Charles Beavis Appeared Again in Police Court

Charles Beavis, whose appearances in police court have been legion, was again in the dock this morning. He was charged with vagrancy, and was remanded for eight days. He has been drinking heavily and is without employment. He slept at the police station several nights this week. "It is a pity," said His Worship, "that good ,honest, industrious people should have to pay for the keep of good for nothing fellows."

Good Progress on "Little Bob" Dam

The contractors are at work on the dam at Little Bob, and are making an energetic start that looks as if the contract would be finished well ahead of the time limit. They have arranged for Cosh's gravel and sand pit, and clay for the wing bank will be obtained from the Oliver lot. They have engaged stable room and two of the houses at Little Bob, and will bring down several of their own teams. A car load of pressed hay arrived for them on Wednesday.—Bobcaygeon Independent.

THE ORDINARY HOMELY ARCH

The foundation of shoe beauty lies in a skillfully modeled arch.

Nearly all, we might say all, shoe manufacturers utterly disregard this vital beauty point and instruct their lastmakers to supply them with nothing but flat-arched lasts because flat arches save expensive hand work in the making.

But the Dolly Varden Shoe is made without regard to saving paltry pennies on arch construction. Its arches are exact reproductions of perfect feminine feet at whatever the cost. This is why ninety out of every hundred feminine shoes have the dull, gloomy appearance of here, instead of the sharp, lively lines of the Dolly Varden, as shown in Fig B.

SATURDAY, NOV. 16, 1907.

A JUST COMPLAINT

In connection with the system of street delivery of letters in Peterborough, some abuses have crept in and tasks are constantly imposed on the staff which they are not compelled, and should not be expected, to perform. Their time is fully occupied in receiving, sorting and despatching mail matter, without looking through directories and hunting up streets and numbers. Four city directories have already been worn out, and it is time that all correspondents complied with the regulations. In addressing envelopes, etc., they should see that the street and number are included. The regulations of the department require that these conditions be complied with, if it is desired that the missives should be left at the doors. Companies, in forwarding notices, frequently merely put the name on the envelope, and trust to luck or the labor of some one else that the letters reach their proper destination.

The local staff have carried on the work of filling in addresses long enough and it is high time that a halt was called. They have every right to raise objections and not make up for the shortcomings, indifference or laziness of disseminators, of local correspondents.

Bundles of letters not properly, or fully directed, should be returned to the consignors. Two or three lessons along this line would have a salutary effect. Many fraternal society papers or publications also come addressed to Peterborough post office. When a postal official the other day called the attention of a lodge secretary to the fact that no street or number was put on the labels he received the rather impudent reply: "Put them on yourself; that is what you are paid for."

The post office clerks are in no sense expected or required to direct correspondence, hunt up scores of addresses, etc., and the citizens generally cannot too soon learn that, the street delivery system, now being in force, they must inscribe the street number on all correspondence, parcels, etc. This regulation must be strictly adhered to.

THE CIGARETTE EVIL

The practice of small boys smoking cigarettes is apparently growing instead of decreasing. How long will this evil continue?

In the course of a few weeks a deputation will wait on the Dominion Government and ask to have the manufacture and sale of cigarettes prohibited. About 315,000,000 cigarettes were sold in this country last year. While it is not at all probable that their manufacture will be prohibited by the federal authorities, it is certainly time that regulations governing their sale were made more stringent and the output lessened. The practice of cigarette smoking is dangerous. The larger cities in the United States have started a war against the "coffin nails" and it would be well if Peterborough followed the good example. In New York and Chicago, the first question asked when application is made to enter any position, bank or factory, clerk or office is, "Do you use cigarettes?" If the answer is an admission to the habit, the chances are all off with the applicant. Men, and especially business men, are determined to do all within their power to do away with the harmful practice, and in their hands lie the very best chances, that of filling up good positions with non-cigarette fiends. No man or woman respects a lad with a cigarette constantly in his mouth; somehow it conveys to the mind that he is rather weak of intellect and dull of comprehension. With the very young boy one can only pity the lead he has taken from his older brother or companions and instinctively you know he is going to grow up a follower of weak men and not a leader of strong ones. The boy who does not taint his mind and body with the poisonous fumes of cigarette smoking is going to develop a clean body and a clear mind capable of reaching the highest point, both physically and mentally, of his manhood. Business men can help our boys if they will, for it would be a mutual benefit to employer and employee, to discourage the use of cigarette smoking among the youths of Peterborough.

PEN POINTS

The price of whiskey and other corn goods has gone up in Peterborough. This will probably do more to lessen the drinking habit than all the temperance campaigns ever carried on in the city.

Mayor McWilliams is a candidate for a second term. How many aldermen will come trooping up for re-election? It does no man harm to declare his intentions early.

One no sooner gets the second instalment of taxes paid than there are Christmas presents to buy. Will the tugging at the purse strings never cease?

It is well to look around and do your shopping for the holiday season. It is a great relief to find when the rush comes on, that you are all through.

The city hotelmen have entered into a compact to raise the figure for drinks. The new price scale will last about as long as the effect of a jag. It was tried once before and ignominously dropped on short notice.

Mr. Pugsley's organ in New Brunswick suggests that if Mr. Bordan will cease from his campaign in favor of electoral purity there need be nothing more said about the charges made by Mr. Pugsley concerning Opposition expenditure in 1904. Mr. Pugsley will not be allowed to escape in that way. The Leader of the Opposition will continue his campaign and when Parliament meets Mr Pugsley will be asked to "make good." The answer is about to be given to the report that the London conspiracy prosecution will be abandoned in consideration of the fact that the Liberals did not put up a candidate in London against Major Beattie. In a few days the trial of the conspirators will come on.

New England Ideas Recalled to Mind

At a Successful Supper and Concert at All Saints' Church Last Evening—Presentation of Prizes

The New England supper and concert held last evening at All Saints' church, under the auspices of the Junior Auxiliary, was a grand success and the superintendent, Mrs. T. J. Blois, and her assistant, Mrs. N. Scott, deserve credit for the manner in which the arrangements were carried out. The basement of the church was well filled with an audience that greatly appreciated the unique and interesting features of the entertainment.

The Junior Auxiliary is one of the most flourishing organizations of all Saints' church. Their works lies not only in the mission field, but they have also done a great deal along the line of improving their holy edifice.

Rev. Mr. Major, who acted as chairman, referred to them as being the most active body in the congregation. They had purchased a handsome marble font and when the new church is erected they expect to furnish the baptistry. Particularly busy had one little girl in the band been. Last summer six members were given 25 cents as talent money and they were to return it in the fall with as much more as they could make. Little Miss Lillian Spicer last week returned her quarter with a twenty dollar bill. This energetic young girl bought sugar with the money and made taffy which she sold. She continued this until the above mentioned sum was raised and she turned it over to the treasurer. As an appreciation of her zeal, on behalf of the Auxiliary, Mr. Major presented her with a gold ring.

To the member who sold the most tickets for the concert last evening another presentation was made. Miss Irene Scott sold four and a half dozen and she was the recipient of a handsome music holder. Miss Scott also won this honor last year.

Mr. Major concluded by urging the parents to send their children to the Auxiliary. It interests them, and they learn a great deal.

The following was the excellent programme rendered:—

Piano Solo.—Miss Ida Mulholland.
Recitation.—Miss Helen Metheral
Piano Solo.—Miss Mabel Hooper.
Vocal Solo.—Miss Gladys Mulholland.

After the programme an adjournment was made to the "dining room" where a repast of the "New England" variety was partaken of. The tables were prettily decorated, being lighted by candles and huge pumpkins scooped out and served for fruit baskets. This lent an "old time" appearance to tables. The "menu," which consisted of pork and beans, brown bread and pumpkin pie, needless to say was greatly enjoyed. The waitresses, Misses Mabel Hooper, Mabel Williams, Bessie Latimer and Pearl Huskell were dressed in old fashioned garbs and altogether the "New England" ideas were carried out most effectively.

A candy table under the direction of Miss S. Hutchison, was well patronised.

The hall was prettily decorated with flags and bunting, the work being done by Mr. A. Kingcote.

A very enjoyable evening was closed by the singing of the National Anthem.

BADLY RUN DOWN

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Came to the Rescue After Doctors Treatment Failed.

The life of any constant traveller is always a hard one, but those whose work compel them to take long, tiresome drives over rough roads, exposed to all conditions of weather, are in constant danger of losing their health. The extreme heat of summer or the piercing winds of winter sap their strength, the kidneys become diseased or rheumatism sets in. What is needed to withstand this hardship is rich blood—the pure blood that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills alone can make. These pills are the travellrs' never-failing friend. Concerning them Mr. George Dalpe, of St. Eloi, Que., says; "I am a grain dealer and am obliged to make frequent trips, sometimes very tiring. I returned home from one of these trips last summer very much fatigued. I was overheated and tried to cool and rest myself by resting on the verandah till late at night. I caught cold and the next day I did not feel at all well. I had a headache, pains in my stomach, and was very weak. I went to see a doctor, but he said I would be all right in a day or so, so I started on another trip. I had not gone far before I felt very ill and had to return home and go to bed. I had chills, headache, pains in my stomach and kidneys. The doctor came to see me, and he said I was overworked. He treated me for several months, but instead of improving I continually grew worse. I wasted away almost to a skeleton, and really thought I was going to die. One day my wife returned from the village with a supply of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. She urged me to take them as she said they had been very highly recommended to her. I did so and by the time I had taken four boxes I felt enough benefit to decide me to continue them, and I took about a dozen boxes. They fully cured me and today I am able to do about my work without feeling fatigued."

Fatigue, or the least exertion, is a sign that the blood is poor. Replace the bad blood with good blood and labor will be a pleasure. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills make pure, red blood. That is why they cure anaemia, rheumatism, kidney trouble, indigestion, heart palpitation and the nerve-racking ills of girlhood and womanhood. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail, at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, from the Dr. Williams Co., Brockville, Ont.

Two New Stores Will Soon be Ready

Drug Store and Boot and Shoe Business Will be Carried on

The new brick block of Mr. W. G. Lendrum, on Charlotte street, is going ahead rapidly. The stores will be ready for occupation shortly after the new year. One of them will be occupied by Mr. W. J. Thurston, of Hamilton, who will open out a boot and shoe establishment. Mr. Thurston is well known in Peterborough, having been employed by Mr. R. Neill a number of years. The western store in the new block has been leased by Beemer Bros., two young men from Toronto, who will carry on a drug business, photo supplies, etc.

Cordage Factory Will Resume Work

On Monday November 25, After Being Closed a Month for Repairs

The Canadian Cordage and Manufacturing Co., which has been closed for a month for repairs, will resume operations beginning on Monday, Nov. 25th. The company will start work on next year's output and will give employment to about 150 hands, including men, boys and girls. Those desiring employment should call at the factory office on Friday or Saturday, November 22nd and 23rd.

The prospects for a busy season are good.

WOMAN RESCUED.

Ottawa, Ont.—Slavery is not dead. Daily, the traffic in human souls goes on. Only a short time ago, a number of Chinese were arrested as they attempted to smuggle young girls from Canada into the United States. In Eastern countries, the slave trader plies his vocation in the market place. Some go into another kind of slavery—unknowingly—yet make a valiant effort to escape. Ottawa is all agog over the wonderful escape of one of her charming matrons from that physical slavery, Rheumatism. Mrs. R. C. Small says, "I was a constant sufferer from rheumatism for over seven years. I used many treatments—consulted doctors—tried hot baths—used almost every known mineral water—but nothing did me any real good. The pains were in my joints and back, and I had frequent headaches and bad indigestion. About a year ago, I saw 'Fruit-a-tives' advertised and decided to try them. After I had taken two boxes, I was much better. Altogether I took seven boxes. I have had no rheumatism for over six months now and feel that I am quite cured. I have gained over ten pounds in weight."

"Fruit-a-tives" cure because the intensified fruit juices and tonics strengthen the kidneys—regulate the bowels—and invigorate the skin. This means pure blood, free of uric acid.

Cure yourself. Take "Fruit-a-tives" now and be free of Rheumatism all winter. 50c a box; 6 for $2.50. At druggists, or from Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa, Ont.

Wholesale Drug Supply House

Will Soon be Started in Peterborough—Located on Simcoe St.

A wholesale drug supply house will shortly be opened in Peterborough. The new establishment will be located in the eastern store of the new block on Simcoe street, just west of George street. It is probable that wholesale lines of confectionery and other supplies will be handled by the proprietor, who is a well known young business man on George street, and expects to have his new wholesale establishment going before Christmas.

Will Worship in the Church Again

The congregation of St. Paul's will again worship in the church tomorrow. Rev. Dr. Talling will preach at both services. In the morning his subject will be "The Universalization of the Spirit." In the afternoon at the Bible Class he will speak on "Old Testament Prophecies." In the evening his subject will be "Fourfold Judgments."

His subject at next week's prayer service will be "Answers to Prayer, and the Silence of God."

County Magistrate Reserved Judgment

In the Case of Killen vs. O'Connor Over Matter of Damaging Culvert

County Magistrate Edmison reserved judgment yesterday for three weeks in the case from Ennismore township, wherein Reeve Samuel Killen charges Cornelius O'Connor with having unlawfully damaged a culvert, which crosses one of the highways.

Mr. R. F. McWilliams was present for the complainant, and Mr. W. H. Moore represented the defendant. Before the hearing was begun Mr. Moore produced a writ from the High Court of Justice against the township, and Mr. Bernard Flood asking for an injunction to restrain the Council from placing the drain across the road where it was proposed.

It was explained in court that the previous drain was of 8-inch tile. Mr. O'Connor claims that the council, by laying this drain, is taking the surface water from Mr. Flood's farm and letting it run on to his. He therefore claims that his action towards the former drain was in self-defence.

Brass Workers Held an "At Home"

First One in New Conservatory Hall—A Great Success

The first of the winter "At Homes" held by the brass workers of the city took place last evening in the new Conservatory hall. The brass workers are noted for the delightful social functions they give and the one last night was no exception.

Incidentally it might be remarked that this was the first "at home" held in the new hall and the spacious building certainly added much to the pleasure of dancing. Over sixty couples enjoyed the hospitality of these young men. The floor is an excellent one for this popular pastime, and the delightful music furnished by the opera house orchestra under the direction of Mr. Nicholls, made the evening a very enjoyable one. The committee are to be congratulated on the success of the affair. The merry dancers dispersed at midnight.

ENJOYABLE DANCE AT LAKEFIELD

Most Successful Function Held in Town Hall Last Night

A most enjoyable and successful dance was held in the town hall, Lakefield, last evening. The hall was prettily decorated for the occasion, and the affair was gotten up by a number of the young men of the village.

About sixty couples were present. Excellent music was provided by Messrs. Charles Wesley, Robert Wilson, Mr. R. J. Devey, of Peterborough. Mr. Archie Moore was Master of Ceremonies. The evening will long be remembered as one of musical pleasure.

WEDDING BELLS

FALLIS—WINSLOW

At the church of the Holy Trinity, Toronto, on Oct. 31st, by the Rector, Rev. Dr. Pearson, Emery M. Fallis to Louisa, second daughter of Mr. B. G. Winslow, of Cavan. The bride, who was with the T. Eaton Co. for several years, was made the recipient of a very handsome set of table linen by the company and also of a case of sterling silver initialed spoons by the department in which she belonged. Mr. and Mrs. Fallis left on the afternoon train for their home in Stratford amid the good wishes of a large number of friends.

Longboat, Coley, O'Rourke, Green, Sellen, Flanagan

To Come to Peterborough—Word Received From Toronto That the Irish Canadians Will be Well Represented at the Indoor Athletic Meet Here.

Tom Longboat, Tom Coley, Hilton Green, Percy Sellen, O'Rourke, the shot putter, and T. C. Flanagan, the manager of the Irish-Canadian Athletic club of Toronto, are all coming to Peterborough for the indoor meet to be held under the auspies of the Peterborough Y.M.C.A. Harriers in the near future.

Definte assurance to this effect was received to-day by Mr. E. M. Best, president of the Harriers, from Mr. H. R. H. Kenner who is in Toronto.

In a telegram to Mr. Best, Mr. Kenner stated that he had seen Mr. Flanagan and that the head of the Irish-Canadians would be pleased to come to Peterborough for the meet and to bring the great Longboat, Tom Coley, Hilton Percy Sellen, Green and O'Rourke, the weight man, along with him.

This is great news for the promoters of the indoor meet and to those interested in local athletics generally.

Something About the Y.M.C.A. Harriers Club of This City

An Organization That Has Developed Rapidly

PETERBOROUGH TO THE FRONT

New Men Are Joining and the Future Has Bright Prospects—The Olympic Team

The Y.M.C.A. Harriers Club is an organization which Peterborough people have been hearing about a great deal lately as a result of Fred Simpson's great running at Hamilton. Ernie Wilson's victory over Tom Coley and other splendid feats on the race track. And unless all evidences are mistaken, the club is just starting on its career and will be heard from many times in the future in connection with Canadian athletics and, perhaps, outside the borders of the Dominion.

It is interesting at this time to review in a brief manner the history of the Harriers Club since its organization a few years ago. The Harriers first came into existence in 1900 and the charter members were W. Richardson, W. Campbell, R. Dobbin, P. Campbell, C. Kemp and J. Laing. Road racing was not so much in vogue then as at the present time, but considerable cross country running was done and the Harriers took an important part in fostering this branch of athletics. They also played basketball and have had a team in the Y.M.C.A. league every year and several times have carried off championship laurels. Last year the Harriers won the league championship and will have a strong team again this year.

Three years ago the Harriers were reorganized and the membership considerably enlarged. More attention was paid to running with the result that when the Examiner decided to hold a road race last fall the Harriers had several young men within their ranks who jumped into the game and made a splendid showing. First and second places in the ten mile run went to Harrier men, Ray Best and Ernest Wilson respectively. The road race gave a stimulus to the running game in Peterborough and a short time after Thanksgiving day last fall the Harriers met and decided to put the organization on a more active basis. E. M. Best was elected president, Art Emmerson secretary, and Ray Best and Ernest Wilson captains. Fred Simpson, the Hiawatha Indian, who ran third in the Thanksgiving day race was taken into the fold and has been given every opportunity to develop into a great runner and it is gratifying to note that the opportunity has been taken advantage of to the fullest extent.

GREAT WORK THIS FALL.

The fall of 1907, however, will go down on record as the time when the Harriers first came before the public of Canada. Fred Simpson's great showing in the Hamilton Herald road race where he took second place, and Ernie Wilson's victory over Tom Coley, the Irish-Canadian crack, in a five mile contest have shown the public that Peterborough has runners that are as good if not a little better, than the best of them. Note must also be made of Ray Best's good showing in the Montreal Herald's race when he took 24th place in a field of over 200 starters, 160 of whom finished.

One of the new men to join the Y.M.C.A. Harriers is Ben Howard, the Hiawatha Indian, who was a close second in the Examiner race on Thanksgiving Day. Howard has severed all connections with the Irish-Canadians and in future will run under the colors of the local Y.M.C.A. Howard, with training, should make one of the best five or ten milers in Canada.

SOME MATERIAL.

With Simpson for 15, 20 and 25 mile stretches, Howard and Wilson and several others for the five and ten miles and several good ones for the shorter distances, the local club has a bunch of runners that should keep Peterborough well to the fore. Ray Best intends dropping the longer distances and train for the mile and half mile, while Fred McGrath has joined the club and will be the representative for the 100 and 220 yards. McGrath is wonderfully fast at these distances and can be depended upon to uphold the reputation of the club.

The Harriers do not intend confining themselves to running alone, but are securing men who will be trained for pole vaulting, shot putting and other lines of athletics. There is some excellent material in the city for these branches and its a safe assertion that Peterborough will be heard from in these lines ere long.

THE OLYMPIC GAMES.

It is not at all unlikely that Peterborough Harriers will be represented on the Canadian team for the Olympic games at London, England, next summer. The showing made by the local runners will have to receive consideration from the committee appointed to select the Dominion's representatives at the world's greatest athletic meet.

In a sketch of the Harriers' Club there is one man especially who must not be forgotten. The reference is to "Dick" Baker, the club's trainer. He knows his business from A. to Z. and has devoted himself to the Harriers' interests in a manner that has won unstinted praise. He has given his time, and some money too, to help produce the great runners that are now members of the club. In connection with Fred Simpson, his work especially deserves mention. Had it not been for the work of "Dick" Baker Simpson, perhaps, would have remained in obscurity.

PRESENT OFFICERS.

The officers of the Harriers Club at the present time are as follows:

Hon. Pres.—Mr. J. R. Stratton.
Hon. Vice.-Pres.—Mr H. R. H. Kenner.
Hon. 2nd Vice-Pres.—Mr. W. G. Morrow.
President.—Mr. E. M. Best
Vice-Pres.—Mr. J. J. Bowden.
2nd Vice-Pres.—Mr. V. Eastwood.
Secretary.—Mr. R. M. Glover.
Treasurer.—Mr. C. G. Graham.
Captain.—Mr. Ray Best.
Trainer.—Mr. Dick Baker.
Committee.—Messrs. F. A. Clarke, E. Wasson, E. Bruce, E. S. Clarry, and A. Poe.

Arrangements are now under way for a big indoor athletic meet to be held here at an early date under the auspices of the Harriers Club and one of the most successful gatherings of its kind ever held is expected.

HOCKEY TEAM WAS ORGANIZED

Karnots Will Play Independent Hockey—Enthusiastic Meeting Held Last Evening

About fifteen members of the Karnot Athletic Club were present last evening at the Y.M.C.A. at a meeting to organize a hockey team for the coming season. The affairs of the club were interestingly discussed, and much enthusiasm was displayed. The Karnots have splendid material for a winning team, and will play independent of any league. The officers were elected last night as follows:

Hon. Pres., Mr. Wm. Irwin.
Pres., Fred Craig.
Vice Pres., J. Maher.
Sec. Treas., N. Geale.
Executive Committee, A Cameron, E Fox, L Geroux.
Manager, T Kelley.

HELP YOUR BABY

No mother can expect her little ones to escape all the minor ailments of childhood, but she can be reasonably sure that her child will be healthy if she gives it an occasional dose of Baby's Own Tablets. And she can feel absolutely safe in giving this medicine, as she has the guarantee of a government analyst that it contains no opiate or poisonous soothing stuff. Mrs. Urin Cressman, New Hamburg, Ont., says:—"I have used Baby's Own Tablets for stomach troubles and constipation with the greatest success. I always feel safe when I have a box of Tablets in the house." Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

The Peterborough Light and Power Co. will be unable to supply any power or electric light on Sunday between 8 a. m. and 5 p. m. as they are making some changes at the power house.

ANOTHER MATCH NOW IN SIGHT

Lindsay Man May Meet David Hartley at Early Date

Another walking match is in prospect. John Everson, of Lindsay, had a challenge in Thursday's Lindsay Post to meet David Hartley and George Stevens went to Lindsay this morning and saw Andrew Robertson, Everson's chief backer. Mr. Stevens offered to have Everson and Hartley meet at the Borck street rink, Peterborough, on November 30th, for $1.00 0 aside and the winner to get 40 per cent. and the loser 10 per cent. of the gate receipts. The walk will be for 12 or 20 hours. The Lindsay man agreed to consider the proposition and is to notify Peterborough before November 22nd if the terms are satisfactory.

VILLIERS YOUNG MEN GIVE DANCE

Largely Attended and Successful Affair Held Last Night

The young men of Villiers gave a dance at the Villiers cheese factory last night, which was attended by about eighty-five couples, and was in every way the most successful function of its kind ever held in Villiers. Splendid music was supplied by Messrs. Dodds and Woods, of Hastings and Mr. David H. Moore, of Keene, was a most acceptable master of ceremonies. During the evening an excellent supper was served by the young ladies present.

An Aeronaut Gives Graphic Account of His Experiences

Mr. W. J. Coon, Now of Peterborough, is an Aeronaut of Some Note

Ascended at Scarboro Beach

Tells Review Representative How it Feels to be "Up in the Air"

The very thought of a person going up in a balloon makes the ordinary person shudder. It seems a fearsome spectacle to see a man thousands of feet in mid-air, seated on nothing but a small trapeze bar and, with nothing between him and the earth if he were to fall—well, everybody knows what that would mean.

An aeronaut is a rarity any place, and when one is right here in our midst, special interest is attached to the fact.

Mr. Wm. J. Coon, 21 years of age, whose home is at 65 De Grassi street, Toronto, is now in this city, employed at Mac's barber shop, Peterborough. He is a native of Peterborough and left here when two years of age. Since then, he has travelled extensively, having been over a large portion of the United States and Canada and has also visited Cuba. He located in Toronto five years ago and took up the barber business. He remained there until about six weeks ago when he came to this city.

WANTED TO BE AERONAUT

Last summer he was working in Robt. Callendar's tonsorial parlors, 66 Gerrard street, east, Toronto, when Capt. Thos. Callaghan, the famous scout and balloonist, dropped into the shop to get a shave. Learning the identity of the stranger, Mr. Coon told him he would like him to give him a chance to make an ascension at Scarboro Beach, where the captain was daily sailing skywards in the big bag. The latter thought it was only jest, but being assured by the other that he was in earnest consented to give him a trial, with the result that three or four days afterwards, Mr. Coon went over to Scarboro Beach and made his first balloon ascension and parachute drop.

He walked out of his dressing room clad in his ordinary clothes over his tights. A "spieler" from one of the numerous attractions on the grounds announced through a megaphone that a green man was about to go up in the balloon and requested the crowd to keep quiet and not make the amateur nervous.

Throwing off his outer garments Mr. Coon grasped the trapeze bar attached to the parachute, the latter being fastened to the balloon above. The big monster of the air was released and shot up through space at a rate that the uninitiated balloonist was not prepared for. To use his own words, he "thought his arms were pulled out." He hung onto the trapeze, however, and swung himself safely to his seat, when some distance up in the air.

IN MID-AIR

"Everything seemed to grow smaller," he said, "as I ascended. The people at length disappeared altogether, the streets looked like threads and the houses like mere specks. The water of Lake Ontario became indistinguishable, but I could distinctly see the black mass beneath, which I knew to be the land. The air was cold, thin and hard to breathe. When I had gone up about four thousand feet I heard Capt. Callaghan say: "Cut her loose." I couldn't see him but could distinctly hear his voice. So I pulled the rope fastened to the knife that cuts the rope attaching the parachute to the balloon and made the drop. For about two hundred and fifty feet I shot through the air at a terrific rate, the trapeze bar seemed to fall away beneath me, and at last the parachute opened and all was pleasant sailing for the rest of the way. I made two ascensions in daily succession afterwards at Scarboro Beach. I also made one at the Kirkfield fall fair. When I made the second ascension at Scarboro Beach I did the snake drop when about two feet in the air, waving a couple of small silk Union Jacks in either hand. The flags were slipped up my sleeves before I went up. On this trip I went above the clouds, losing sight of the earth entirely."

THE CRITICAL MOMENT

"Were you frightened when you found yourself so many feet above terra firma," the aeronaut was asked.

"Not in the least," was the reply. "The only thing I fear is that the parachute may fail to open. When the parachute is cut loose that is the critical moment. Should it fail to open it would mean death. Although there is a great deal of danger incidental to every ascension outside of the thought of the parachute failing to work, there is nothing about the work that in any way appals me."

WILL PERFORM THIS YEAR

"Do you intend to follow up the profession of aeronaut?"

"Yes. I have an opportunity next year of an eighteen weeks' engagement at a salary of $100 a week. I don't think I will take it, however, as I think I should be able to be booked at $35 an ascension, making the ascensions daily. On account of so many fatalities happening balloonists, the field is not overcrowded, and the financial inducements offered are consequently good.

NO PREVIOUS TRAINING

Mr. Coon said he had had no gymnastic training of any kind, previous to his first ascension, and learned all the tricks he knew when a small boy executing various stunts for his own pleasure.

"What are the requisite qualities an aeronaut must possess?" he was asked.

"Nerve," was the laconic, but sufficient reply.

Had Face and Hands Burned at C.G.E. Work

George Stewart Was Victim of Painful Accident This Morning

George Stewart, who resides at 109 Reid street, was the victim of a painful accident this morning. He is engaged in the test department of the C. G. E. Works, and while in the discharge of his duties came in contact with a current of electricity, and had his face and hands badly burned. Dr. Young was called and attended the young man's injuries. He was afterwards removed to his home in the Dan Spencer ambulance. He will be unable to resume his work for several days.

WILL REMOVE TO LAKEFIELD

Rev. Father Phalen to Change Place of Residence

It is learned that Rev. Father Phalen, parish priest of Young's Point and Lakefield, intends moving to Lakefield in the near future. At present, Father Phalen's residence is at Young's Point, and the change is being made because Lakefield will be much more convenient.

There are Roman Catholic churches at both Lakefield and Young's Point.

LINDSAY LADY SWALLOWED PIN

And all Efforts to Remove it Have Been Unsuccessful

Lindsay, Nov. 15.—Miss Ethyl Graham was the unfortunate victim of a most unusual accident on Sunday. Miss Graham was adjusting her collar, and holding a black-headed steel pin in her mouth while doing so. Some one entering the room caused the young lady to laugh and thee sudden inspiration of air drew the pin into her throat, where it lodged. All efforts to remove it were unsuccessful and the young lady suffered much pain from the bad mishap. At the time of writing, she is a little improved, but still suffering severely and the left shoulder is affected. The doctors so far have been unable to locate the pin and, unless they succeed, the young lady will probably be taken to Toronto, where the X-rays may be used and treatment given.

Ye Old Time Concert will be repeated on Friday evening Nov. 19th. in St. Andrew's School Room. Admission at the door, adults 15c each, children 2 for 25c. Those who held tickets and who were unable to get in on Friday evening, may present their tickets on Tuesday evening. The management thank the public for their patronage on Friday, and hope for a bumper house on Tuesday evening.

NOTED EVANGELIST IS COMING HERE

Rev. Alex. Allan Will Conduct Mission at St. Andrew's Church.

The session of St. Andrew's church met yesterday and made final arrangements for the visit of Rev. Andrew Allan, of Glasgow, Scotland, in his ten days' mission, beginning Dec. 8th.

The Rev. Messrs. Alex. Esler, of Cooke's church, and A. L. Geggie, of Dunn avenue church, have written in the most commendatory terms, regarding the valuable work Mr. Allan has done in these Toronto churches.

The services will be conducted every night, with song service beginning at 7.30. Every afternoon Mr. Allan will conduct a course in Bible Study, in which line of work he has been particularly successful.

The following is the language of a letter from Rev. Dr. W. D. Moffat, M.A., of Edinburgh, Scotland,—

From Rev. W. D. Moffat, M. A., Edinburgh, Convenor of the Bridge-of-Allan Convention.

My Dear Mr. Allan.—I view with reluctance the loss of your gifted ministry to your congregation in Glasgow, and to our own beloved church in Scotland. Your work has been so manifestly sealed by the Spirit of God, that I feel we are losing a great spiritual force in Scotland, just at a time when we needed it most, in losing you.

My one comfort is that your tour round the world as a missioner may bring you back again to us a greater power than ever, and more than ever equipped for the work, which I believe, God has yet in store for you in this land, and if it please Him, in the United Free Church.

Your brethren in the ministry here who love and esteem you both for your own and your work's sake, will follow you day by day with their prayers. They believe that nothing but the clear call of God would have separated you from their fellowship in the meantime, and believing this, they feel assured that God has great things for you to do in the ends of the earth.

As Convenor of the Bridge-of-Allan Convention, I recall with thankfulness to God the memory of the valuable services you rendered to us there, and as an Edinburgh minister, I can never forget the blessing received by my own congregation when we were privileged occasionally to have your ministry.

May the Great Head of the One Body go before and be with you. May He open doors wide and effectual. May He use you in undreamt-of ways for the furtherance of the Gospel and the Glory of His Name. And may He send you back to us to lead some great spiritual campaign in Scotland.—With much affection,

Yours always,
W. D. MOFFAT

The session of St. Andrew's call upon their people to look forward to these meetings in earnest prayer.

All the services will be open to the public and will be without charge.

Trainmen Are Not Guilty; Verdict in Caledon Trial

Acquitted on Charge of Negligence in Caledon Curve Wreck.

Verdict Received With Cheers In Court—Jury Were Out Two Hours —First Ballot Stood Eight to Four For Conviction — Justice Magee's Summing Up In Favor of the Accused Men.

Brampton, Nov. 18.—After being out two hours, the jury in the criminal assizes, which closed here Saturday night, brought in a verdict of not guilty in the case of Engineer George Hodge and Conductor Matthew Grimes, charged with criminal negligence, which caused the wreck on the C. P. R. at Caledon horseshoe curve on Sept. 3, when seven lives were lost.

The court-room was packed, the gallery being filled with women, who sat for over an hour awaiting the result.

At exactly 8.50 the jury came into the room, two hours after Justice Magee had given his charge, explaining the legal points.

There was complete silence, and Clerk Dickson asked the foreman if a verdict had been reached. The foreman rose slowly, and in a quiet voice said: "Not guilty."

There was great applause, despite the protestations of the court officials.

When order had been restored, Justice Magee said to the prisoners: "I am glad for your sake that this verdict has been reached. I trust it will be a warning to both of you through your whole lives. I release you from attendance at the court."

Conductor Grimes will go back to work. Hodge has not decided yet what he will do. Both were heartily congratulated on the result of the trial. Grimes expected no other verdict. Hodge was glad the strain was over.

Five minutes after the jury was locked up a ballot taken stood eight to four for conviction. The four jurymen who were in favor of the accused commenced in earnest to explain and argue every point. It took over an hour, when one by one the others fell into line, until the 12 were convinced that the accident was not caused through any negligence of Hodge and Grimes.

T. C. Robinette, counsel for the accused, expected the verdict, and was naturally pleased. Crown Prosecutor Davidson thought the charge of Justice Magee had largely to do with the verdict.

The accused themselves took the witness' stand in the morning.

Conductor Grimes in a straightforward and pleasing manner answered the questions put by Justice Magee. He explained that the schedule laid out was perfectly easy to make. Any high speed would be made on the good part of the track. He was sure the brakes were applied at the proper point and did not pay any attention to the speed. He did not know how fast the train was traveling.

To Mr. Davidson he stated that he had never seen a bulletin regarding the running of a train on the horseshoe curve. He was busy taking tickets on the way from Caledon and looking out for order boards. The witness added that he would not like to swear to any slowdown. He thought he felt the brakes applied about a quarter of a mile away.

Hodge admitted he had little experience as an engineer on a passenger train. It was his first trip down the Caledon grade as such and he had never been warned as to the speed there. A quarter of a mile from the scene of the accident he had applied the 7-lb. air pressure.

T. C. Robinette, K. C., made a strong plea for the prisoners in an address lasting an hour and ten minutes. He spoke of the defendants as two young men who keenly felt the death of the passengers, but it was not right to hold them responsible for the accident when perhaps "the system" was equally or more to blame.

He dwelt upon Hodge's inexperience with a passenger engine, which he had been ordered to take out. On the fatal grade he had applied air brake pressure sufficient for a freight train. This was a sin of omission. It was not an offence against the law. Where reasonable doubt existed on such a point, the code declared that the prisoner was entitled to the benefit.

The crown had not proved that the accused had deliberately run the train at an excessive speed. The men had been doing their duty as they saw it. If Hodge knew that a fast rate was dangerous he would also know that if an accident occurred he would likely to be the first to be killed. That he had escaped was an act of Providence.

Mr. Robinette dwelt upon the possible affect a broken brakeshoe on the engine would have at such a time, and closed with an appeal that the jury should not punish two young men for a mistake. To err was only human.

Justice Magee addressed the jury at 8.20.

"The railways," he argued, "carry thousands of lives every day and the public relied upon railway employes for protection from any danger to life and limb.

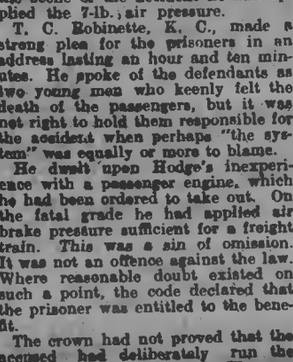
"It did not follow, however, that the first person called before a jury of his fellow-citizens should be punished, but it is clear that carelessness and negligence in the discharge of duty must be so dealt with as to give a warning to others.

"When one sent for a doctor or a veterinary he expected to be given the best service. It was in their power to give and to exercise their best caution.

"If the accused had left anything undone which might have prevented the accident," his lordship said, "then they were guilty of negligence and liable under the criminal code which covers the offence."

The history of the accident was reviewed and the evidence analyzed.

The judge commented upon the disappearance of the train bulletins at Orangeville and Toronto.



PRINCE AND PRINCESS WED.

Magnificent Ceremony at Home of Duke of Orleans.

London, Nov. 18.—A glimpse of the manners and customs of the old French court was presented Saturday at Wood Norton, where Prince Charles of Bourbon was married to Princess Louise of France, with ceremonies, the picturesqueness and stately magnificence of which could hardly have been exceeded had the Duke of Orleans, the owner of Wood Norton and the bride's brother, been the occupant instead of a pretender to the throne of France.

About 40 members of royal families, near relatives of the bride and bridegroom, were present, each bearing a name closely associated with the history of Europe in bygone centuries, while among the 300 to 400 other guests were diplomatists representing most of the nations of the world.

The civil marriage was performed by the registrar in St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church at Evesham, at 8.30 o'clock Saturday morning. Half a dozen member of royal families, including the King of Spain, and other necessary witnesses, were the only spectators at the early ceremony, though, in spite of the attempt to keep it secret, quite a crowd of people gathered in the vicinity of the little church and heartily cheered the princess, who is most popular among the country people.

The religious function was carried out at noon in an artistic temporary chapel, specially erected for the occasion, the Roman Catholic bishop of Birmingham officiating.

Parent Won His Case.

Montreal, Nov. 18.—Ex-Premier Parent Saturday won his suit against Senator Legris, securing damages from the court at Three Rivers for $1,000 and costs. He sued Senator Legris for $10,000 damages as the result of charges made against him by the Senator at St. Jerome during the bye-election campaign of 1904.

Senator Legris charged the then Premier Parent with malfeasance of various kinds, but more especially in connection with the administration of the province's timber resources. Shortly afterwards Parent was boosted out of the Premiership by Lomer Gouin, the present Premier, and he took a number of libel actions as a result of the charges made against him.

Big Treasury Issue In U. S.

Washington, Nov. 18.—Secretary of the United States Treasury Cortelyou made the important announcement last night that as a means of affording relief to the financial situation, the treasury will issue $50,000,000 of Panama bonds and $100,000,000 certificates of indebtedness, or so much thereof as may be necessary. The certificates will run for one year, and will bear interest at 3 per cent.

The Secretary's action meets with President Roosevelt's hearty approval.

Kicked by a Horse.

Chatham, Ont., Nov. 18.—After being unconscious for about half an hour as a result of a terrific kick in the face sustained from a vicious horse while attempting to feed the animal, Peter McGarvin, aged about 40, part owner of a large livery barn, was found lying on the floor all but dead.

He was removed to the public general hospital.

Nicholson Fined.

Fredericton, N. B., Nov. 18.—Thos. Nicholson, McAdam Junction, against whom were 15 Scott Act charges, was Saturday found guilty by Police Magistrate Marsh on all and fined $50 each; total $750, and costs amount to $158.

Lineman Falls to Death.

Ottawa, Nov. 18.—While stringing wires for the Bell Telephone Co. on Sparks street on Saturday, Edward Nedeau, 25 years old, an employe of the company fell 25 feet and was killed instantly. He was unmarried.

Brandon Gets $3,000.

London, Nov. 18.—James Brandon, Craigville, who was injured in the C. P. R. wreck at Caledon, has settled with the company for $3,000.

Costly Fire at Montreal.

Montreal, Nov. 18.—A fire that assumed considerable proportions broke out Saturday afternoon on the premises of Messrs. R. H. Ives & Co., manufacturers of William street.

The two top floors, where the enamelling is done, were completely ruined, while the rest of the building is virtually gutted by fire and water. The damage is $60,000.

Stabbing Affair at Ottawa.

Ottawa, Nov. 18.—Frank Corell, an Italian, living on Poplar street, was probably fatally stabbed, and his wife less seriously injured by three Italians last night. The men were refused lodgings and immediately set upon the couple.

Bulgarian Cut His Throat.

Sault Ste. Marie, Nov. 18.—While imprisoned in the jail Saturday night, on a vagrancy charge, a Bulgarian, arrested at Blind River, whose name is unknown, cut his throat with a razor and will die.

LIVELY FIGHT ON STAGE.

Singer at Forest City Theatre Pummelled by Burly Manager.

London, Nov. 18.—As the result of a row which took place on the Grand Opera House stage at the conclusion of the "I'm Married Now" production on Thursday night, J. A. Shadrick, one of the principal singing comedians of the company, is now confined to his room at the London House with a badly lacerated face and other injuries, the result of connection with a pair of brass knuckles.

The singer's misfortune was that he was pummelled by a burly stage manager, who was, it is said, in love with a blonde actress who traveled with the show under the name of Miss Paquette, but who is said to have a husband and three children living in Boston.

For some reason or another, it is alleged, Miss Paquette became jealous of Mrs. Shadrick, who also played a leading part in the show, and at every opportunity took her spite out by calling her names and taunting her about her poor work.

Matters kept growing worse and worse, and on Thursday night they reached a climax when, it is alleged, Miss Paquette, who weighs somewhere in the neighborhood of 200 pounds, slapped Mrs. Shadrick, who is a rather small young woman. Shadrick perceived the action and thrust the big blonde aside. Then the burly stage manager rushed in and knocked the little actor down.

After the show Shadrick went to Frank Nason, the manager of the production, and informed him that either he and his wife or Loring must go, as Loring's manner had become unbearable. Nason tried to smooth matters over, and while the two men were discussing the question Loring came rushing at Shadrick and the fight commenced.

REMAINS OF WRECK VICTIMS.

Father and Son Placed In One Casket —An Ill-Fated Brakeman.

Ottawa, Nov. 18.—All that remains of Baggageman James Irvine, who was killed and cremated in the ill-fated Soo train at Moore Lake, Friday morning, arrived in this city Saturday. The funeral will leave Ottawa for Carleton Place on Tuesday morning. The Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen will take charge of the burial arrangements.

Fate seems to have haunted the deceased railwayman ever since he entered the employ of the railroads. Nine years ago he lost two fingers at Carleton while coupling cars. Later he had his foot crushed at Arnprior, and he has been in three train wrecks and sustained injuries in each. His father, too, an old railway man, is minus his left hand while at work.

The remains of Prendergast, father and son, have been placed in one casket and sent to Webbwood for burial on Tuesday. All that can be found of D. A. Clark, expressman, of Montreal, is a trace of the revolver he carried in his hip pocket.

Object to Freight Schedule.

Winnipeg, Nov. 18.—The new schedule of freight rates was vigorously condemned by the local branch of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association at a largely attended meeting of that organization Saturday. At the conclusion of the meeting the following telegram was sent to the Board of Railway Commissioners at Ottawa:

"The Manitoba branch of the Canadian Manufacturers Association emphatically protest against the new schedule of freight rates out of Winnipeg, just published, and respectfully request that the Board of Railway Commissioners withhold its sanction to it adoption until such time as the schedule can be studied."

Four Earthquake Shocks.

Manila, Nov. 18.—Four sharp earthquake shocks were felt in Manila and surrounding provinces on the night of Nov. 16 and the morning of Nov. 17. There was no damage.

The first shock was felt at 11.25 in the evening. Gov.-Gen. Smith and party were attending a performance of the "Mikado." A panic was averted by the presence of mind of the governor-general, who rose in his box and commanded the people, who had already arisen, to sit down. The orchestra stopped playing, but the actors continued, being undisturbed, and the audience quickly calmed down.

Dismissed Jap President.

Vancouver, B. C., Nov. 18.—Believing that he had divulged too much of the private affairs of the Japanese Boarding Housekeepers' Union, the directors of that institution met Saturday and dismissed I. Ishikawa from the presidency. It was his admission to Commissioner King regarding immigration affairs which caused the forming of the new commission, especially to investigate these affairs.

Yarmouth Lives Apart.

London, Nov. 18.—Lord Yarmouth is back in town after a long motor tour in France.

He is staying at the Hotel Rits, which is a comfortable place, seemingly preferring it to the little place near Evesham, where the countess remains, refusing to be seen in London until after the trial of her brother, Harry K. Thaw.

Shoots Daughter and Self.

Santa Cruz, Cal., Nov. 18.—Major Frank McLaughlin, prominent politician and capitalist, shot his daughter, Agnes, in the temple yesterday, the bullet coming out on the other side of her head. Soon after he committed suicide.

The girl is still alive, but unconscious. No hope is entertained for her recovery.

Pawnbroker's Suicide.

Montreal, Nov. 18.—While in a fit of despondency, resulting from the recent failure of his son in business, Hiram Rutenburg, a well-known Jewish pawnbroker, committed suicide by taking poison yesterday afternoon.

Rutenburg had contracted heavy liabilities on account of his son.

BUILT UP HER HEALTH

SPEEDY CURE OF MISS ECCLISON

She Is Made Well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and Writes Gratefully to Mrs. Pinkham.

For the wonderful help that she has found, Zula Ecclison, 6 Erie St., East, St. Thomas, Ont., believes it her duty to write the following letter for publication, in order that other women afflicted in the same way may be benefited as she was. She writes:

Zula Ecclison

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I heartily recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as a tonic and regulator for female troubles. I suffered for four years with displacement and no one but those who have experienced this dreadful agony can form any idea of the physical and mental suffering those endure who are thus affected. Your Vegetable Compound cured me. Within three months I was fully restored to health and strength and now my periods are regular and painless. What a blessing it is to obtain such relief when so many doctors fail to help you. Your medicine is better than any doctor or medicine I ever had."

No other medicine has such a record of cures of female troubles as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Women who are troubled with painful or irregular periods, backache, bloating (or flatulence), displacement of organs, inflammation or ulceration can be restored to perfect health and strength by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Her experience is very great, and she gives the benefit of it to all who stand in need of wise counsel. She is the daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham and for twenty-five years has been advising sick women free of charge. Address, Lynn, Mass.

THOUSANDS CRY FAREWELL.

Mauretania Now on Maiden Voyage With Record Cargo of Gold.

Liverpool, Nov. 18.—The departure Saturday of the Cunard steamship Mauretania, on her first transatlantic voyage, inspired the mighty crowd that had assembled to a degree of enthusiasm equal to that shown when her sister ship, the Lusitania, sailed away from Liverpool on her first voyage a few months ago. The weather was cold and rain was falling, but thousands of persons turned out in the darkness to shout farewell to the latest of all the ocean greyhounds. The giant Cunarder was a remarkable spectacle, with her many tiers of electric lights glittering when she was towed into the stream at 7.30 p. m. Whistles were blown and people cheered.

Considering the season, the Mauretania carried an unusual number of passengers, of whom there were 300 in the first cabin, while the second cabin and the steerage was booked nearly to the limit, making a total of 2,000 passengers aboard.

The consignment of gold carried by the Mauretania is believed to be the largest ever transported on one vessel. It was conveyed to the steamer on six cars, which were specially guarded, and amounts to $2,500,000.

The commander of the new steamship is Capt. Pritchard, who began life as a cabin boy on a Welsh coaster. The Cunard officers say that no special attempt will be made to break the record on the first voyage; nevertheless, great things are expected. The Mauretania was built on the Tyne, and her sister ship, the Lusitania, which now holds the record, was built on the Clyde, and there is keen interest as to which of the rival builders will make the better showing.

Queenstown, Nov. 18.—The Mauretania, on her maiden voyage to the United States, was 207 miles west of Fastnet at 10 o'clock Saturday night. As she left Queenstown at 11 o'clock yesterday morning, her position shows that she made 265 miles in 11 hours.

KINGSTON COUNCIL DECLINED.

Local Option Petition Did Not Have Enough Signatures.

Kingston, Nov. 18.—The council has declined to submit a local option by-law in January, as a petition asking for it had only 5 per cent. of the electors, whereas 25 per cent. is required to ask for the permission to submit the question.

It has at length been decided that the formal opening of the new medical laboratory's building will take place immediately after the return of the students to the city in January.

Struck by M. C. R. Train.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Nov. 18.—The body of a man was found yesterday morning about 7 o'clock alongside the M. C. R. tracks near Bender avenue, with his skull crashed in and right arm cut off, having come into contact with a passing M. C. R. train while walking the track towards the Falls. He was identified as James Killam, employed on the Convent Farm, at Falls View. He was about 30 years of age and unmarried. Relatives residing at Belleville, Ont., have been notified.

Round-Up of Smugglers.

New York, Nov. 18.—With the arrest yesterday of Austin F. Montayne on a charge of smuggling the Federal authorities have commenced a campaign against a sensational smuggling conspiracy. The other arrests are expected to follow shortly, in one of which, the duty alone on the goods smuggled, is said to be $6,000. Montayne is accused of bringing in a quantity of valuable laces and dress goods from Paris, Sept. 13.

SPYING IS RECOGNIZED

French Officer's Treason Will Not Involve Any Complications.

Ensign Ullmo Confesses Having Delivered Secrets to Germany—Complete Revision of French Naval and Military Signal Code Will Be Necessary—German Attache Not to Be Recalled.

Paris, Nov. 18.—The treason of Ensign Ullmo, of the French navy, who was arrested at Toulon, Oct. 25, on the charge of being a spy and who, it was announced, subsequently had confessed, is now considered to be firmly established.

There is no longer much doubt that he made several trips to Germany and delivered documents to the chief of the German spy service at Brussels, which will necessitate a complete revision of the French naval and military signal codes and plans for mobilization. Nevertheless the incident is not likely to lead to diplomatic complications with Germany, as spying is a recognized institution in Europe.

The French Government officially announced yesterday that it did not demand the recall of Rear-Admiral Siegel, the German naval attache at Paris, who is suspected of having participated in Ullmo's espionage.

SCENE AT FUNERAL.

Police Restrain Crowd at Obsequies of Suicide Banker.

New York, Nov. 18.—Funeral services for the late Charles T. Barney, former president of the Knickerbocker Trust Co., who committed suicide last Thursday, were held at the family residence, 101 East 38th street, Saturday.

The services were conducted by the Rev. Dr. Charles H. Parkhurst. None but the relatives and the closest friends were present. However, a dozen uniformed policemen and several detectives were required to keep in order a crowd of 300, which had gathered outside the residence.

Floral tributes were so numerous a large truck was used to carry them to the cemetery.

Crime Not Increasing.

Kingston, Nov. 18.—Dominion Parole Officer Archibald is visiting the penitentiary on official work. When asked yesterday about the population of the penitentiaries, Mr. Archibald replied: "We have no alarming or abnormal increase in the volume of crime or in the populations of our Federal institutions. There are in a few localities sporadic waves of criminality, but the disturbance is of a local character and not general.

"The Dominion as a whole is law-abiding, and you will find no nation having a more wholesome regard for good citizenship and the operation of law than in Canada to-day. Thousands are flocking in, and they are falling into line and will make useful units of this mighty country."

Mr. Archibald has visited every province in the Dominion since last June.

Poet Girl's Suicide.

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 18.—No reasonable motive has been discovered for the suicide with poison of Miss Nora May French, a beautiful young poetess. A telegram from her sister in Los Angeles reveals the fact that she had suffered three surgical operations and anticipated another. It is understood that she was engaged to a young Englishman in San Francisco.

The work of the dead girl foreshadowed as much promise as that of any literary woman on the coast. Her prose was vigorous and graceful, as appears by her "Diary of a Telephone Girl," recently developed from her own experiences and published in an eastern periodical.

Drowned In the Thames.

London, Nov. 18.—Archie Blackwell, aged 10 years, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Blackwell, was drowned in the Thomas at the foot of Hill street yesterday morning about 11 o'clock. The boy was venturing out on the thin ice on the river, when one foot went through and the lad could not move.

A citizen telephoned for the fire brigade, which made every effort to rescue the lad, but nothing could be done. A few moments later he went under in 18 feet of water. The body was soon recovered, but efforts at resuscitation were of no avail.

Shot Rabbits With His Teeth.

Hanover, Pa., Nov. 18.—Although he has no hands, Abraham B. Meyers broke this season's record for the most successful one day's hunt in York County, when he brought home Saturday night 23 rabbits, 18 of which he had killed himself, while his companion, possessed of both arms, shot only five. Meyers holds his gun by a ring under the stock large enough to admit the stump of his left arm, while to the trigger a strap is attached, the end of which he grips in his teeth.

Crazed Professor's Dead.

Redding, Conn., Nov. 18.—Prof. Underwood of Columbia University, during a fit of insanity yesterday afternoon, attempted to murder his wife by cutting her throat with a razor, and then took his own life by slashing himself in the neck with the razor which he used upon his wife.

Automobile Fatality.

New York, Nov. 18.—Joseph H. Redstern, a wealthy lumberman, was instantly killed, and his wife and Judge and Mrs. Alfred Streckler were injured Saturday night, when a West Shore engine struck the automobile in which they were riding near Englewood, N. J.

Taft at Vladivostock.

Vladivostock, Nov. 18.—Secretary of War Taft arrived here at noon yesterday on board the converted cruiser Rainbow.

Hon. L. P. Brodeur in an address at Toronto, told how Canada, contributed toward imperial defence.

THE LITTLE RUBY RING

By Virginia Leila Weeks

[Copyright, 1907, by Homer Sprague.]

It was an inconsequent band with a ruby setting, an odd little ring of no great worth, and Cynthia had often speculated about its history. One thing, though, she knew—Frances valued it above everything that she possessed.

"I say, Frances," she'd once remarked to her sister, who happened to be polishing the stone, "if that ruby had a story that went with it, why that would be a different thing. If, for example, it had been given to Uncle John when he was consul to Calcutta by the rajah of Singhalee for a service—hiding him in the consulate during an insurrection or something. If in handing it to uncle the rajah had said: 'Excellency, this ruby rolled from the wounds that killed Esuka, favorite princess of my ancestor, the king of Ahar'—one moonlight night as the king strolled in the royal gardens, harking to the nightingales"—

"What an unmitigated goose you are, Cynthia!" Frances had interrupted, smiling in spite of herself. Immediately, however, her exquisite face had grown grave. "We'll never speak of this little ring again, dear. Do you understand?"

And Cynthia—clever, wise Cynthia—understood. She understood that her sister's nature did not crave sympathy, the sort that thrives upon mutual confession and confidence. She understood that serene and resolute Frances met the critical situations in life with an inscrutable reserve.

"But I'm sure of one thing," Cynthia summed up to herself. "Here at twenty-eight Frances is still unmarried, and it's that little ruby ring that keeps her an old maid in spite of her beauty."

A beauty? That is what Frances Logan unquestionably was. She had been photographed in every variety of pose that modern society approves. She had been painted by several of the most celebrated artists. In fact, she was famous on two continents for her rare and wonderful personal charms. Yet she was still unwed. "Must be waiting for a title," gossip said, as other girls, far less charming, came out, danced through a season or two and were married.

But above the doorway of the house of Logan was written Ichabod—everything belonging to them, the old homestead included, gave hint of departed glory. A wealthy marriage had been pointed out to Frances as her duty in life. No sacrifice had been considered too great to give her the proper setting to this end, and her father and Cynthia, the second daughter, and the two little motherless boys had uncomplainingly submitted to remain in the background that Frances might shine abroad.

More and more plainly stood out the Ichabod. More and more ardently pressed the suit of Birney Gates for Frances' hand. He was a man growing old, with thinning brown hair pathetically brushed, but with sun reddened face and eyes sharpened to keenness. "A man for men—to plan, to direct. The air of the broad, energetic west in every movement," Cynthia had once defined him. Presently Frances grew weary of the struggle and gave in. From the beginning it had been an unequal contest, for all along she knew that she must requite her family for their devotion. As she was going to sell herself for a price she might as well get the highest price.

"Frances, my dear, I am bankrupt," old Mr. Logan had said to her one evening as they were sitting around the library fire. "I can no longer keep up even a pretense of show. What are you going to do? Mr. Gates stands ready to put me on my feet again, but—ah, Frances!" His voice was almost a cry.

Frances looked quickly away. She was toying nervously with her little ruby ring. Cynthia bent her head over a magazine that she had picked up, and there was a constrained silence.

"Frances, dear, don't you think you could accept him?"

"If Mr. Gates calls tomorrow, father, I shall accept him." There was a strange, sudden glitter in the girl's dark eyes as she bent over to stir the smoldering logs. Cynthia involuntarily turned toward the shapely hand that held the fire tongs. The little ruby ring was gone!

One morning a few weeks later Mr. Gates called and presented Frances with a jewel case. In the early light he looked older and redder than ever. She shrank from the touch of his lips on her hand. As she opened the case listlessly a necklace of diamonds and rubies sprang to view.

Rubies were her favorite stones. Some one else had promised her a deluge of them when he should have achieved fame and fortune.

"Frances, haven't you anything to say? They are superb!" reproved Cynthia. But her sister's lips only parted in a faint, inscrutable smile.

"Mr. Gates is aware that in a picturesque sacrifice one always decks the victim," she said mockingly.

For a second Mr. Birney Gates' keen eyes looked narrowingly at this cold, insulting woman, so speedily to become his wife. He almost contemplated giving her back her liberty. Then he smothered his better impulse, being led afield by her beauty, and a look of mastery tightened his thin lips.

From under her heavy lidded eyes Cynthia watched him. "He will tame Frances' spirit horribly," she thought to herself. "But I could tame his beautifully. If I might only try! Suppose"—

That night in dressing gown and slippers she trailed into her sister's room to have a few words with her. Frances was sitting in a deep chair, somewhat in shadow, her long white, ringless hands lying very still in her lap. Her whole being was as motionless as if it had lost all power of action.

"Honey," began Cynthia calmly after making herself comfortable against the rosewood bedpost, "you can't abide Mr. Birney Gates. Oh, don't bother about protesting, dear. Let us at least be truthful with each other. You can't abide him, and you love—the one who gave you that little ruby ring."

"Cynthia!" ejaculated Frances sharply.

"Now, if Mr. Gates would only set you free and take me in your stead," went on Cynthia evenly, pushing back a wavy lock of copper colored hair, "it would keep the money in the family just the same and give you your chance for happiness. Yes, and me, too," she added, with a slight blush, "for, Frances, you may not believe it, I could really learn to be fond of Birney Gates. It wouldn't all be merely mercenary ambition."

The incipient smile about the corners of the elder girl's delicate mouth gave way to an expression difficult to fathom as her eyes rested critically upon the slight figure in the pale gray dressing gown. Then slowly she shook her head.

"Mr. Gates has loved me for three years—not me, but my beauty. You are not even pretty, dear. Forgive me if I speak plainly, but you asked for truth between us."

"Uh-huh!" acquiesced Cynthia, biting her scarlet under lip and tugging slightly at the lace of her rolling collar. "You took all the beauty there was in the family, Frances, but if you give me permission to try maybe I can take him from you."

"Try, by all means," granted Frances indulgently.

The next night at the opera Frances made a remark to her fiance that was more than usually caustic. From their box she had seen a face in one of the orchestra chairs—a vigorous, handsome, youthful face—which had recalled some one long absent. Just as the recollection was shooting through her with exquisite pain Gates chanced to lay his hand on her bare arm to call her attention to a bit of stage business.

"Don't!" she cried, shrinking. "For heaven's sake, don't!"

"Oh, Frances, Frances!" Cynthia's low, rich voice shook with emotion. Birney Gates turned his head in her direction and met her eyes. Curious gold green eyes they were, shadowed by long black lashes, langourous and enticing. For one moment he gazed as if under a spell. Later the girl dropped her fan, and he stooped to pick it up for her. As he handed it back his fingers touched her, and the contact thrilled him strangely.

As Frances' manner grew more and more mocking, Cynthia's grew more and more tender until Gates found himself turning to her for comfort after every rebuff from his promised bride.

"Of course I know she doesn't love me," Gates explained to Cynthia one day. "How could she? I am growing old. I am homely. But I am rich, and I want the best for my money, and so I want her—and I'm going to have her."

Cynthia's little hand on his arm quieted him.

"And is beauty the best?" she questioned softly.

He looked at the delicate face, alight with childish eagerness. The mutinous red mouth was quivering, the mysterious eyes were ablaze.

"Cynthia, got you!" he cried, his heart leaping. Then he opened his arms to her. "Sweetheart, you little witch, I don't know how it has come about, but it is you who are filling my days and nights—not Frances. Come."

"Oh, no," she warned, gliding away from him; "not until Frances has written giving you your freedom. But I'll tell her tonight, and then you can come openly to father and claim my hand."

* * * * * * *

On the day of Cynthia's wedding the guests, seeing the adoration in the eyes of Mr. Birney Gates, could not doubt the verity of her conquest, and she beamed with a pretty importance. Frances, robed in soft, shimmering white, was radiant. Her dark eyes were suffused with a mysterious softness, as of a joy new heralded.

And on her left hand once more she wore her little ruby ring.

FOR THE VISITING COSTUME

Fashion has this season given special distinction to the costume, and in view of this fact some especially handsome designs have been evolved. In the model sketched are combined some of the most attractive features of these. The waist (6983) is made with centre-front closing, while the full fronts are strapped over the vest in a novel and most pleasing fashion. The sleeves may be made in either full or shorter length, as desired. The skirt (6986) is a 7-gored model, and may be cut in either round or short round length. A pleat at each seam disposes of the fullness from the waist-line to the hips, while side-pleated extensions in front and back provide the necessary flare at the hem. Any of the new materials may be used for making silk or fine broadcloth being suggested, with fancy braid for garniture. To develop the model in the medium size will require 3⅞ yards of 27-inch goods for the waist, and 7¾ yards for the skirt.

TWO PATTERNS: 6983—6 sizes, 32 to 42 inches bust measure.
6986—7 sizes, 20 to 32 inches waist measure.

The price of these patterns is 20c, but either will be sent upon receipt of 10c

Leave your order and 10c at THE REVIEW OFFICE and pattern will be sent you by mail.

BEER IS A FOOD

LAGER is a mild appetizing product of malt and hops with less alcohol than sweet cider, which cannot ferment in the stomach. It is specially suited to women as a dinner drink.

ALES as brewed in Ontario are so rich in the food elements of malt that they rank above milk as an item of diet, and are far purer than most milk is when city-dwellers get it.

PORTER differs from ale in that the malt is roasted (like coffee) in the brewing process, and this makes porter so nourishing that it is a real specific for anaemic and run-down people.

STOUT is the richest and most strengthening of malt beers; it contains nearly as much nourishment as eggs, and digests easier. Thin people will find it builds healthy flesh.

BEER* is a term which covers lager, ale, porter, and stout, in the practice of Ontario brewers, implies beverages made under most hygienic conditions from Ontario barley, the best in the world; malt, hops, and pure water.

BEER* is ... better bedtime, ... digestive power ... gets you more ... out of the food you eat—and is itself a food.

C. Beer does not contain enough alcohol to react upon the system ... just enough to induce the stomach to do its work better.

C. Beer is not an intoxicant—it is a beverage with definite value for almost every grown person.

C. Ask your own doctor whether it wouldn't be good for you and the adults of your household.

Forked Lightning.

Forked lightning, though beautiful to look at, can be terribly destructive. An extreme case was at Freiburg, Germany, in 1794, when a flash with three prongs reached a mark with each prong. One struck a house near a cathedral in town, and the other two struck houses several miles distant to the north and south.

An Old Irish Jig.

"St. Patrick's Day In the Morning" is really the air of an Irish jig. It had no words. Doggerel verses had been written to the air, one set beginning, "Potatoes and fish is a very good dish."

Humming Birds in London.

Considerable interest is excited by the humming birds now on view at the zoological gardens. Fifty-three of these tiny, fragile birds were taken on board from Venezuela. Many died on the voyage, but the fittest survived, and twenty reached Regent's park alive. At the time of writing seventeen are shown in two large glass cages furnished with flowering plants and placed in the insect house, which can be kept at a high temperature. Moths in a cage near look bigger than these small birds. It is to be hoped that these dainty feathered gems may take kindly to their new surroundings and live long to delight the eyes of many dwellers in smoky London.—Westminster Gazette.

Remarkable Engineering Feat.

Coal has been reached at a depth of 1,321 feet in Lord Londonderry's new colliery at Seaham harbor, in England, after a remarkable engineering feat. Owing to the presence of enormous quantities of water, forming a quicksand, it was found necessary to freeze the ground to a depth of nearly 500 feet. Twenty-eight holes were bored in a circle about the shaft to a depth of 484 feet, and freezing tubes were inserted. Brine was the medium used to extract the heat from the strata. The length of time required to form a wall of ice was 185 days, the wall being maintained for 253 days. In the shaft bottom the frozen sand was so hard that it could be penetrated only by blasting.

A Pair of Elephant Tusks.

An extraordinary pair of elephant tusks lately shown in London measure in length eleven feet five inches and eleven feet respectively, but each has a girth at the base of only eighteen and a half inches, and together they weigh but 203 pounds. The great length and slenderness of these tusks as contrasted to the usual compara-

ICE ON RICE LAKE.

Navigation Impeded as Result of Early Freeze-Up.

Peterboro, Nov. 18.—Rice Lake was so badly frozen over yesterday morning as to delay the steamer Water Lily for four hours on her regular Saturday trip to the city, and to prevent the Monarch from coming up at all. The Lily left Harwood at the usual hour, but had to break her way through three-quarters of an inch of ice as far as the Otonabee. She arrived in port at 1.30 p. m., or four hours behind her scheduled time.

The Monarch was less fortunate. She left Gore's Landing at the usual hour, but was forced to turn back on account of the thickness of the ice.

Fire in Baltic Shipyard.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 16.—Saturday morning fire destroyed the Baltic Shipbuilding Works. The battleship Pagi, in course of construction, was seriously damage. Two gunboats were completely destroyed by the flames. An enquiry shows that the cause of the fire was accidental. The losses are covered by insurance.

LONG BOW STORIES.

Legends of the Famous Archers of the Remote Past.

Many "long bow" stories may be cited in the literature of the world, and by far the greater part of them had their origin in the remote past.

Vergil, in the "Æneid," tells of four archers who were shooting for a prize, the mark being a pigeon tied by a cord to the mast of a ship. The first man hit the mast, the second cut the cord, and the third shot the pigeon as it flew away. The fourth archer, having nothing left at which to shoot, drew his bow and sent his arrow flying toward the sky with such speed that the friction of the air set the feathers on fire, and it swept on like a meteor to disappear in the clouds.

That is a bow and arrow story that tests the strongest powers of credulity.

The stories of Robin Hood's archery, illustrated by his wonderful performance as Locksley in Scott's "Ivanhoe," are also a decided strain on one's power of belief.

The famous legend of William Tell is believed by some to have a foundation in fact. There was a Dane named Foke of whom the same story was told, and William of Cloudesley, an Englishman, is said to have shot an apple from his son's head merely to show his skill.

The majority of bow and arrow stories relate to the accurate aim of the archers, but a Frenchman, Blaise de Vigenere, tells one in which the main point is the tremendous force with which an arrow may be propelled if the bow is strong and long enough. According to his own account of the matter, he saw Barbarossa, a Turk, admiral of a ship called the Grand Solyman, send an arrow from his bow clean through a cannon ball. Whether the cannon ball had a hole in it or not he neglects to inform us.

Perhaps the most astounding of all stories about arrow shooting is that of the Indians who used to inhabit Florida. It is said that a group of them would form a circle; one would throw an ear of corn into the air; the rest would shoot at it and shell it of every grain before it fell to the ground. Sometimes the arrows would strike the ear of corn so hard and fast that it would remain suspended in the air several minutes, and the cob never fell until the last grain had been shot away.

Three Miners Killed.

Vancouver, B. C., Nov. 18.—A frightful explosion of dynamite occurred Monday in the coal properties being opened by the Canadian Pacific Railway at Hosmer, B. C., and as a result, three of the miners lost their lives.

Peterborough, Ontario.

DEAR SIR,—

Your favor of the 24th inst. received enclosing statement of profits allotted to my policy 7001, in the "Sun Life" for the past five years.

Above policy is for $1,000 on the whole life five year distribution plan on which I paid an annual premium of $28.35, or $141.75 for the five year period.

I find the CASH PROFITS amount to $53.85, or about 40 per cent of the total premiums paid during the five years. This is certainly a splendid showing and speaks volumes for the earning powers of the Sun Life Company's investments.

Thanking you and wishing your company continued success,

Yours truly,

HE BROKE THE SABBATH DAY SELLING GOODS

John Doig Was Fined in Police Court for the Offence

There was a heavy docket at the police court this morning and several cases were disposed of.

Cornelius Ryan was charged with trespassing on property belonging to Mr. J. J. Lundy. He pleaded not guilty.

Mr. Lundy said that he had given several verbal notices to the prisoner to leave the premises. He owed $42 back rent. A week ago Mr. Lundy found the house standing open and empty. He locked it up and Ryan broke in.

His Worship stated that Mr. Lundy had not given sufficient notice. The charge was dismissed.

BROKE SABBATH DAY

John Doig was fined ten dollars to be paid in ten days for buying and selling a brass casting on Sunday. He stated that a boy came to his house yesterday morning before he was up and wanted to sell the goods. The casting is a valuable one and was the property of the Machine Telephone Co. Doig also pleaded guilty to conducting a second hand business without a license. For this he had to pay a fine of ten dollars and costs, amounting to $12.25.

A VAGRANT AND A DRUNK

John C. Switzer was charged with being a vagrant.

"I am guilty, your honor, but I will go right back to Emily, if you allow me to," said the prisoner.

"Well, I don't know whether I ought to congratulate the people of Emily on getting you, or congratulate ourselves on getting rid of you," remarked His Worship. "You may go."

Ed. Shields imbibed too freely, of the stuff that cheers, on Saturday, and had to pay a fine of two dollars this morning.

Will Course of Canal be Changed?

Men have been at work digging test pits on the west side of the river with a view to testing the character of the earth to ascertain the cheapest and best route for the canal. Several backyards have been invaded, and everyone is in a quandary as to whether their property will be disturbed or not. Some of the residents on the west side are loud in their opposition to the idea of destroying property to make a route for the canal, when the course of this river can be followed without molestation to anyone. — Campbellford Herald.

THE "BOB HALL" AND "BESSIE BUTLER" SOON TO BE TIED UP

The Government boat, "Bessie Butler," is tied up at Lakefield for the winter months and will not be used again this season. The "Bob Hall" is at present doing some closing up work on the northern parts of the canal, and when it is through, will also be taken to Lakefield and tied up for the winter.

The season of navigation is practically over on the Trent waters, although there will likely be a few boats in operation until the first of December.

INDIAN BABY BOY CHRISTENED "FREDERICK HERALD SIMPSON"

FREDERICK HERALD SIMPSON.

In the presence of a large number of interested spectators the 6-months old son of Fred Simpson was baptized and given the above name at Hiawatha yesterday. The ceremony took place at the home of Mr. Muskrat, father-in-law of the great runner, and was performed by Rev. Geo. Dunkley, Methodist minister at Hiawatha and the pastor of the church which Fred Simpson and nearly all the members of the Hiawatha band attend.

The baby has been given the name, Frederick Herald Simpson, in view of his father's splendid achievement at Hamilton on Thanksgiving Day when he took second place in the Herald road race. Had he won the race, Fred says the baby would have been called Hamilton Herald Simpson.

Among those present at the christening were a party of young men from Peterborough who have been instrumental in having Simpson come to the front as a runner. They presented the youngest son of the great runner with a handsome baby carriage, "Dick" Baker making the presentation with a few appropriate remarks. Several other appropriate gifts were received and the happy parents were showered with congratulations.

The baptism was an impressive event and nearly all the Indians on the reserve were in attendance.

Fred Simpson is now the father of four children and the family is an exceedingly happy one. Fred has a good farm, is a steady worker and a member of the Methodist choir at Hiawatha. He is a model Indian, in fact, and is looked upon with pride by his brother Mississaugas.

The Peterborough party attended divine service after the christening and were warmly welcomed by the populace of the village.

Splendid Progress Has Been Made on New Dam

Mr. C. Brisbois, who is engaged on the work of building the new dam at Buckhorn, was at his home, Burnham street, east city, over Sunday. In about two weeks more operations on the dam will be discontinued until next spring. Splendid progress has been made this summer, but it is expected that the dam will not be fully completed before next fall. Nine cement piers have already been constructed, and there are about as many more to build. At present there are fifteen men engaged in the work. Mr. Brisbois remarked that Buckhorn has been a busy little village during the past few days, occasioned by the return of several hunting parties. They usually stopped at Buckhorn over night and made things rather lively during their stay. They all had their share of the spoils of the forest.

The recent burglary at Purser's grocery store, in which twenty-five dollars was stolen, has been forgotten and all chance of ever capturing the culprit has been given up.

Hunting Parties That Have Returned From the Chase

This hunting season is over now and all the local parties have returned to the city. The deer have been plentiful this year, and the nimrods have been favored with the best of luck. The crack of the hunter's rifle has been heard continually in the northern woods during the hunting season, and the usual haunts of the deer, the woodpecker and the fretful porcupine have been the scene of much noise and confusion. However, the season is over, now and the inhabitants of the forest and glen, rest more quietly in their primitive home, until the baying of the hounds next season, announce that the lovers of sport and venison, are once more on the warpath.

EASTWOOD PARTY

T. Eastwood Gets 232 Pound Buck—T. J. Parker Sight Otters

Come seven, come eleven. The Eastwood party, Stoney Creek, consisting of seven members, secured eleven deer which in no way proves their tendency toward Monte Carlo methods, but which simply shows they had good luck in their mission at Stoney Creek. The party consisted of I. Eastwood, captain, T. Eastwood, A. Nicholls, T. J. Parker, Richard Portsmith, C. Herkimer and Nat. Neil. Mr. T. Eastwood shot a particular buck weighing 232 pounds.

SAW OTTERS.

Mr. T. J. Parker saw a couple of otter in the east branch of Stoney Creek, but did not shoot them owing to the law in force prohibiting their being killed.

One night Mr. T. Eastwood fell across the front saddles of a deer, and thinking he had struck one of the animals asleep fired at it. His rifle missed fire however, and he called to one of the members of the party to help him out. When the latter arrived he found out, however, that it was only the front part of a deer already killed. Little Bobbie, the chore boy, also appeared on the scene.

RUESTCH PARTY

Get Six Deer Two of Them Bucks Weighing Over 200 lbs.

The F. Ruestch party who spent their hunting season at Stoney Creek were fortunate enough to secure 6 deer, 4 does and 2 bucks, the latter weighing over 200 lbs apiece. The members of the party were Messrs. F. Ruestch, captain, W. Bear, Geo. Williamson, Walter Greenwood, Al. Wicklin and Jack Gross. Mr. Williamson got the biggest one, a magnificent buck, and is having its head mounted. Mr. Ruestch secured the other buck, which is also a fine specimen.

HAWK LAKE CLUB

Haliburton County Apparently Good Hunting Grounds

The Hawk Lake Hunt Club which had the best luck possible in their expedition this year at Hawk Lake, Haliburton county, getting ten deer, the full complement. There were only five members in the party. They were Messrs. T. H. Ashby, F. White, C. Hicks, H. Mallard and Oliver Green. Six bucks were brought down, Mr. White getting the largest one, which tipped the scales at 215 lbs.

One of the members of the party saw a bear swimming in the lake near the camp and shot at him, but the black fellow managed to make good his escape.

A party of six or seven hunters among whom were Magistrate Denison, of Toronto, were located near the Hawk Lake Club's camp and managed to get nine deer.

J. B. LAROCQUE PARTY

Obtained Five Deer—Mr. Barney Larocque Brings Down Biggest One.

The Larocque party, consisting of Messrs. J. B. Larocque, Barney Larocque, of Toronto, and Louis Houdrey have returned to the city, after a very successful hunt at Deer Lake, Cavendish. They were fortunate enough to bring down five, deer, two bucks and three does. The larger buck weighed one hundred and eighty-five pounds and was shot by Mr. Barney Larocque. The party boarded with Mr. Albert Davis while away, and express their highest praise for the excellent manner in which their host looked after their every want.

AFTER A BEAR

One day Mr. J. B. Larocque and Mr. Houdrey noticed the tracks of a bear in the snow and followed them for about a mile and a half. The tracks were fresh and bruin had apparently been jogging over the ground at a good rate. The two hunters were hopeful of getting a shot at him, but the snow suddenly ceased, and they had to give up their pursuit.

Mr. Barney Larocque until his recent outing was uninitiated into the mysteries of the chase, but is now a thoroughly enthusiastic deer slayer, and intends in the future to go on a deer hunting expedition whenever the occasion permits him doing so.

Mr. Houdrey took several excellent snapshots of the deer the party killed, and various scenes of the lakes, mountains and picturesque spots of the hunting grounds.

EAGLE LAKE CLUB

Mr. A. Mitchell Shoots Largest Buck—Party Obtains 14 Deer

The Eagle Lake Hunting Club always has good luck, and this year the success they met with proved no exception to the rule. Out of the fourteen fine deer they obtained, and which were the centre of much admiration at Mr. George W. Fitzgerald's carriage shops, the laurels for obtaining the two largest bucks go to Messrs. A. Mitchell and M. Dobson. The one Mr. Mitchell shot was the larger of the two, weighing over 200 pounds, while the one Mr. Dobson secured weighed in the neighborhood of 190 pounds.

The party was composed of the following:—J. Cottingham, captain; L. Hall, secretary; H. Evans, treasurer; Geo. W. Fitzgerald, Milne Hamilton, P. O. Dumole, A. Mitchell, C. Butcher, C. Westlake, M. Dobson and J. Gibbs.

Mr Gibbs kept an interesting diary of the daily happenings, recording who killed the deer, etc.

Dr. Browett's Dates at Peterboro'

His Successful Visit. For the past few weeks Dr. Browett, optical specialist, has been teaching opticians at Midland. A large number of persons have taken the opportunity of Dr. Browett's visit to that thriving Georgian Bay port to have their eyes examined for glasses, and thus save themselves the expense of a trip to the larger cities. While there people from Penetanguishene and other adjoining towns have visited him and several very difficult cases have been helped. Dr. Browett will before visiting his next teaching appointment, spend Tues. to Sat., 19th to 23rd at his home office at our store and conduct examinations for those for whom we are making appointments.

NORTH SEQUIN PARTY

From the wilds of North Sequin comes the tale of the downfall of eleven venison bearers. The members of the party responsible for this depletion in the ranks of the fleet-footed dwellers of the north were, Rev. J. H. Tenny, Omemee; Mr. Davis, Omemee; Mr. Turner, Roseneath; Geo. Montgomery, Fenella; R. A. Elliott and Jas. Storey, Peterborough. Rev. Mr. Tenny obtained the prize buck and to Messrs. Elliott and Storey respectively, fell the distinction of getting a buck and doe.

BEARS EAT DEER.

On one occasion a doer was shot at and followed for some time, but owing to the fact that no blood marks could be seen the hunters concluded that it had not been hit. Next morning, however, they ran across a spot where there was much blood and bones and the tracks of three bears. The animals had eaten most of the deer. What they could not devour on the spot had carried off to their dens, pieces of flesh being seen here and there on twigs and projecting knots on fallen trees having been caught there as the bears were dragging their treasure away.

Mr. Arthur Fry, a resident of North Sequin, acted in the dual role of host and guide to the entire satisfaction of all the members of the party.

LOCAL TEAM WILL PLAY PORT HOPE

Lakeside Basketballers Coming Here on November 28th

Arrangements have been completed for a basketball match between the senior Y.M.C.A. teams of Peterborough and Port Hope, to be played at the local "Y" on Thursday, Nov. 28th. The Lakeside Association boasts of a strong team, but they will likely go down to defeat when they collide with the local quintette.

OBITUARY

ELIZABETH PICKEN

The death occurred Saturday evening of Elizabeth Picken at the residence of her sister, Mrs. Wm. Taylor at the Customs house. The deceased was sick for some time. She was 65 years of age and was born in England having only been in this country about nine months.

The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon at 2.30 o'clock from the residence of Mr. Wm. Taylor, Customs House, to the Little Lake cemetery. It will be private.

MRS. JOHN RUBIDGE.

The death occurred this morning of an old and respected resident of Peterboro, in the person of Mrs. John deP. Rubidge, after an illness, extending over two months. The deceased was seventy-eight years of age, and was born in Ireland. Her maiden name was Mary Kennedy, and she came to this country some fifty years ago, settling in Peterborough. She afterwards was married to John deP. Rubidge, who predeceased her ten years ago. The late Mrs. Rubidge was a member of St. John's church and was highly esteemed by all who knew her. One son and five daughters are left to mourn her loss. The son is Mr. J. D. Rubidge, of Keokuk, Iowa, and the daughters daughters, Mrs. Drayton, Lakefield, Mrs. Lamb, Toronto, and the Misses Minnie, Lizzie and Florence, residing at home.

The funeral will take place on Wednesday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock from the family residence, 291 Stewart street, to the Little Lake Cemetery.

Money Tight In New York

Three Thousand Actors Unable to Find Employment

Mr. A. L. Sternberger, of Sternberger, Ballerstein & Co., is registered at the Oriental. In conversation with the Review, Mr. Sternberger said that the effects of the recent financial depression in New York, are very serious, and while the tension is greatly relieved now, "hard times" are painfully prevalent in the American metropolis.

Mr. Sternberger was in New York, when the financial crash came and said the panic resulting from the disastrous chain of failures was one of the wildest imaginable.

NO FOOTLIGHTS SPARKLE FOR THEM.

This year is one of the poorest, in the history of the theatrical profession, and according to Mr. Sternberger, three thousand actors are walking the streets of New York unemployed, and without any prospects of securing engagements.

Work Starts on New Raceway

Messrs. Bogue & Buchanan Begin Operations in Campbellford

Messrs. Bogue and Buchanan have commenced operations this week on the raceway in connection with the new electric power plant at Middle Falls. The contract was signed last week at a special meeting of the council. This is the first work to be done by the contractors, and it is expected that they will operate through the winter months. The contract calls for the completion of this part of the undertaking, including all concrete work within six months.

GOVERNMENT WILL COME TO RELIEF

Of Money Market—Good News Received on Wall St.

Special to J. R. Heintz & Co.

New York, Nov. 18.—The announcement that the Government would come to the relief of the money market, met with a hearty welcome in Wall Street this morning, and stocks opened one to three points higher, and in the first half hour went higher still.

After the first hour, however, the demand slackened and prices eased off until in some instances, all the gain was lost and Saturday's closing prices was touched again. The market grew very dull on the recession, however, and then improved again.

London was favorably influenced by the news from Washington and sent higher prices all around.

Union Pacific, Reading and the Steels were the strongest features of the early market, but St. Paul and New York Central were laggards and the first to break back. Call money was quoted at from ten to six per cent. There was no other news market-wise.

Wheat was helped by the better financial outlook, and higher Liverpool cables, resulting in a cent gain.

LAST CHANCE TO PRESENT CLAIMS

The last sitting of the Court of Revision, for hearing appeals will be held tonight at two o'clock. All those who have been called, but who have been hearing during the past privilege of presenting their claims. After hearing the appeals the court will start considering the cases they have not yet appeared, will have the ten days.

SHOULD SCRAP MUD.

One of the snow plough men evidently thought the streets needed a little work after last night's snow fall. This afternoon he turned out and headed down the middle of Kent street. If he had come out a few days ago and ploughed a little of the mud aside, drivers would have thanked him.—Lindsay Post.

DON'T DO IT.

Don't teach your children that it is a shame to wear torn and patched clothes, if you are not able to afford better, for their is no honor in wearing new ones that are not paid for. A poet said, "Remember that rags may cover a boy, who will some day be the world's greatest joy."

LOST AN EYE.

Mr. Calvin Tee made a call on his many old friends here the other day. It was with regret that we heard that he had lost the sight of one eye from the accident when going to camp last June, when a piece of broken glass flew into his eye. He was nineteen weeks in the hospital in Toronto, under the care of Dr Reeves. The appearance of the eye was maintained, however.—Millbrook Reporter.

NOT ROOSTERS

A young lady carried a brace of fowl into the market some days ago and enquired of Mr. Plunkett, the obliging market clerk, if he would be wished to buy any, meantime placing the bunch on the counter. Looking up from his work of assorting young sprouts from Brockstock county potatoes, and supposing the fowl to be alive the clerk asked, "Will they lay there?" "No, sir," replied the maid, fidgeting with her kerchief, "they're they're—they're roosters."—Orillia News-Letter.

SELECT A CANDIDATE

At a meeting of the Young Conservative Club executive on Saturday evening, the matter of holding a convention to nominate a candidate for the House of Commons in the interest of the party for the West Riding of Peterborough was discussed. It was decided to confer with the executive of the Liberal-Conservative Association and consider the advisability of placing a standard bearer in the field at once.

There is no valid reason why such proceedings should be delayed. The sentiments expressed were strongly in favor of holding a nominating convention as speedily as possible. There is no doubt but that, after the forthcoming session of Parliament, the Laurier Government will immediately make an appeal to the electors, and the Liberal-Conservative party should be prepared for the fray. There is no move so effective and encouraging as to have the organization and voters' lists in good shape and candidates placed in each riding at once.

When Mr. Borden, the aggressive Conservative leader, visited Ontario on his recent tour, there was one point which he particularly emphasized, and that was the importance and urgency of having candidates early in the field. In many constituencies standard bearers have already been selected and are now diligently at work.

In time of peace prepare for war is an excellent motto, and the same truism is equally applicable to political campaigns. By all means let a convention be called at once and the candidate chosen. There are several excellent men, any one of whom, if in the field early, and staunchly supported by the rank and file, can carry the Conservative cause to victory in the next federal election. The party has an able, progressive leader, a sound, practical and advanced platform, and animated by a high, unselfish purpose, and earnest co-operation on the part of the workers, there is no reason why West Peterborough cannot be redeemed.

In the last campaign victory was secured by the Liberals owing to the Conservative candidate not being placed in the contest in time, and the mistake of 1904 should not be repeated.

In the minds of all independent, fair-thinking men there is a strong feeling existing against the reign of graft, corruption and scandal at Ottawa, the record of broken pledges, reckless expenditure and time-serving interests. With a strong, aggressive local leader, willing and ready to take the field at once, there is no doubt that West Peterborough will once more send a representative to support clean, decent and economical Government, and assist Mr. Borden in ushering in a higher and better order of things. This is a time when all fair-minded and honest men will unite in placing in power a government which believes in honest appropriation and expenditure of public money, which favors honest and decent elections, and appointments to the public service, based not on party pressure or pull, but on consideration of fitness and worth. The Laurier Government has failed, and failed enominously, to stamp out corruption, to punish bribers, and to check scandals. It has connived at gross miscarriages of justice, plundered the public domain, encouraged frauds and malfeasance of office.

On the occasion of Mr. Borden's visit to Peterborough on September 11th he said when referring to the last Dominion election, that the Conservative leaders had expected that the two Peterborough ridings would return Conservative members, but in this they were disappointed. The party had been defeated, and the defeat was probably not due to popular sentiment, but owing to lack of organization, and delay in getting candidates in the field. "Let us remember," said the leader, "that if these things did exist they must be removed. Have your candidates in the field early, and have your preparations for the election made plenty of time in advance. See that your methods are clean, however, and that nothing is done that will not stand the closest scrutiny. With the platform we have and clean methods and perfect organization, we will be victorious at the coming contest.

SCHEDULE HOLDS GOOD

A local hotelkeeper told the Review to-day that there was no truth in the rumor that the new schedule of liquor prices had not been recognized by Peterborough hotelmen.

"While there are some backsliders the majority of hotelkeepers will abide by the recent agreement to raise the prices," he said. "It's impossible to sell bwhiskey at five cents a glass."

Young Lady is Having Trial on Charge of Theft

Appears in Police Court Today —Much Evidence Being Taken

A young lady who was charged in the police court on Thursday last, with the theft of a cash box and some articles of clothing from Chas. V. Jones, appeared again this morning.

Mr. R. E. Wood conducted the prosecution and Mr. G. N. Gordon defended the young girl. She pleaded not guilty. Considerable evidence was taken, but an adjournment was made until 2.30 this afternoon when the defence was heard.

Chas. V. Jones, the complainant, was first called. He said that he was a roomer at Noble's boarding house on Hunter street. On November 11th witness said that he missed a cash box containing an insurance policy for $1,000, a spirit level and $46 in loose money. A blue coat and vest were gone, and a pair of Slater shoes. Other articles of dress were also missing. Witness said the last time he seen them was on October 15. He was out of town from then until last Monday. When he saw the box in the police station the policy was gone and there was only nineteen dollars.

Before leaving the city Mrs. Noble assured the witness that his things would be all right and there would be nothing to fear. When he returned he found that his room was occupied by two other men. Mrs. Noble told Mr Jones that some of the goods had been placed in another young man's room. The young man had been sick in the hospital and the young lady accused had called to get his things and had taken Mr. Jones' articles believing them to belong to her friend, who, on leaving the hospital, was to board at her house.

Mrs. Noble, on being called, stated that she understood Jones would not be back, and therefore rented his room. She moved all his things into another room, except the cash box, which was placed at the end of the hall. The defendant called to pack the things to be removed, and was shown the room. Witness thought the cash box was where she had put it until she went to get it for Mr. Jones.

Wm. Sargeant was called. He was the boarder who occupied Mr Jones' room. He knew that Mrs. Noble had removed everything from the room, but he did not know where they were put.

Harry Gibbs stated that he delivered a trunk and a suit case to the defendant's home, but he did not see the cash box. On the following Saturday he again went to the house to get a grip which had been left by mistake. One of the girls remarked; "Give him the cash box." Witness informed the police and P. C. McGinty went and searched the house, and recovered the cash box.

DISMISSED.

At the police court this afternoon, the young woman, who was charged with theft, was allowed to go, the charge being dismissed.

BOARD OF TRADE ANNUAL BANQUET

Tickets for Wednesday Night's Event are Going Rapidly

The first annual banquet of the Peterborough Board of Trade will be held at the Oriental Hotel on Wednesday night next, Nov. 20th.

The tickets, which sell at $1.50 each, are going rapidly. It is expected that about 150 business and professional men will be in attendance. Hon. J. D. Rolland, of Montreal, president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, will be the principal speaker of the evening. A most successful and enjoyable banquet is being looked forward to.

TRAPS LARGE GREY SQUIRREL

Mr. Gilbert Blezard brought to the city this morning a magnificent specimen of the grey squirrel species which he trapped yesterday in the woods near Blezard's station. He made a gift of the squirrel to Mr. John Jayes, the popular clerk at the Munro House, and it attracted much attention in the hotel yard to-day in its impromptu home of captivity.

AMUSEMENTS

UNCLE TOM'S CABIN

"Nigger, nigger, never die." The preceding quotation might well be applied to "Uncle Tom's Cabin," which appeared at the Grand Saturday for matinee and night performances. Despite the fact that the play has been in Peterborough nearly a dozen times, and the book by Harriet Beecher Stowe is familiar to nearly everybody that reads, "Uncle Tom's Cabin" has lost none of its drawing power, and two very large houses honored its presentation. In the afternoon the matinee audience numbered fifteen hundred persons, possibly the greatest gathering that has ever assembled for a matinee in Peterborough.

Downie's production of the piece is a good one. The cast is large, and the scenic effects are appropriate. The company carries its own orchestra, and some clever specialties are introduced between the acts. All the old familiar friends, Uncle Tom, Little Eva, Topsy, Marks, the lawyer, Simon Legree and the others are represented by capable people, and the show in its various stages was greeted with hearty applause.

DE MATEO'S CHALLENGE.

De Mateos, the handcuff expert, who, with his wife, commences his engagement with Marks Bros. to-night, says he is prepared to free himself from any handcuffs placed on him by either police officials or private citizens, and claims there is not a legitimate handcuff or any other "prisoner's jewellery" that he cannot effectively cope with. He challenges P.C. Newhall to place his handcuffs on him at the opera house, and it is understood that latter will do so tonight.

De Mateos is a Frenchman, and says he has made a thorough study of locks of every character. He is an ex-detective of the French secret service bureau.

WEDDING BELLS

BEALL—WILSON

On Thursday evening, 14th, inst., a quiet wedding took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Wilson, 17 James street, Ottawa, when their only daughter, Gertrude, was married to Mr. Herbert P. Beall. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. M. Snowden, rector of St. George's church, in the presence of the immediate friends of the families. The bride wore a gown of Limerick lace over white silk and chiffon with veil and orange blossoms, and carried a large bouquet of bride's roses and maidenhair ferns. The bridesmaid, Miss Alice Scott, was gowned in white silk cotienne, over white silk, trimmed with embroidered chiffon, inlet with lace. She wore a crescent brooch with pearl settings, the gift of the groom, and carried a bouquet of red roses and ferns. The groom was attended by his brother, Mr. George Beall of Lindsay.

Mr. and Mrs. Beall left for Toronto and other western points on the eleven o'clock train, the bride travelling in a navy blue chiffon cloth suit with hat to match.

The large number of beautiful gifts received, testify to the esteem in which the bride and groom are held.—Ottawa Journal.

Special Committee of Conference to Meet Here

On Wednesday of this week a meeting of the Bay of Quinte Conference special committee will be held at the George street Methodist church. This committee is the most important one in connection with the conference and is made up of the chairman of all the districts in the conference. The chairman of the Peterborough district is Rev. H. M. Manning, and the president of the committee is Rev. Richard Duke, of Newburgh.

The meeting is called for ten o'clock and the business to come up is the granting of authority to the district chairman to select the young men who are desirous of entering the ministry, and also to arrange for supplying vacancies in the conference.

All Men Outside the Church To-day

Cannot be Classed as Bad, Says Rev. J. R. Webb

In Murray Street Baptist Church on Sunday evening, Rev. J. R. Webb, the pastor, spoke on the subject of "Good men outside the church." He spoke from St. Luke, 7th chapter, verses 41 and 42, "A certain creditor which had two debtors—the one owed 500 pence and the other 50, and when they had nothing to pay, he frankly forgave them both."

The speaker emphasized the points as follows:

I.—The difference in the debts. All men because the church cannot be classed as bad.

II.—The equality of the debtors. Neither the positively bad, nor the average man, has anything with which to pay the debt, which he must acknowledge.

III.—The mercy of the creditor. He frankly forgave them both.

DIRTY MONEY.

A Large Part of Our Paper Currency Is Not Fit to Handle.

Recent cases of blood poisoning from handling dirty money furnish a striking illustration of the unsatisfactory condition of the paper currency of the country in this important respect of cleanliness. It has often been asserted that the dirty notes which pass from hand to hand in this community serve as vehicles for the dissemination of disease, but it may be doubted whether these reiterated statements have carried much conviction with them.

The average man does not exactly disbelieve them, but he has an idea that they are exaggerated, that there is no real danger from the source mentioned, and he is generally too glad to get money of any kind to be very particular about its physical quality. He thinks that there is not much risk of his contracting any disease from all the money he has occasion to handle, and, anyhow, he is perfectly willing to take his chances.

That kind of feeling can be understood, and yet it shows some lack of thought or sense. There are noxious germs on much of the paper money in circulation. Considering how many hands it passes through and all the kinds of people who have had it in their possession it is natural, it is almost unavoidable, that there should be, and that these noxious germs may prove infectious has been proved more than once.

As a matter of fact, a large part of the paper currency in circulation is not fit for a nice, clean, self-respecting man to be carrying around concealed upon his person. In other large cities where there are numerous banks the conditions are not so bad, because the banks refrain as far as they can from giving dirty notes to their customers, but in the country, where greenbacks and treasury notes are passed around until they will scarcely hold together, a state of things exists in this connection which is distinctly injurious and discreditable.

It has been proposed as a remedy that the use of paper money in denominations lower than twenty dollars be discontinued and that gold and silver coin be exclusively employed in retail transactions. That this would not be impracticable is proved by European experience. There is practically no paper money in England.

The smallest bill is the five pound note of the Bank of England, which the person tendering is liable to be asked to indorse, so seldom is it seen. Americans have for too many years been accustomed to the convenience of a paper currency to be willing to give it up. Yet the problem is not insoluble, and some other remedy should be sought for and applied when found.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Earthquake Curiosities.

During the earthquake in Jamaica in January four statues in the public square, all within about 100 yards of one another, underwent remarkably varied experiences. The statue of Queen Victoria, on the south side of the square, was turned slightly to the left. Another statue in a corresponding position on the north side of the square was turned to the right. A statue facing northeast was thrown to the ground and broken in pieces, and one facing west was snapped in two in the middle, and the bust dropped upon the base of the pedestal without being overturned. Streets running north and south were filled with fallen walls, but those running east and west were less obstructed, mainly because the earth movements were in that direction.—Youth's Companion.

"Deaf Mutes" Talk.

It is a misnomer to refer to any one as "deaf and dumb." Except in rare instances a child is mute, not on account of any malformation of the vocal organs, but because it is deaf and has never heard a spoken language. The loss of the sense of hearing should therefore not necessarily mean deprivation of the power of speech also. It is only within recent years, says the Scientific American, that we have come to realise this fact, and in up to date institutions the old fashioned finger alphabet is now unknown. Every child is taught to speak in the natural way by means of the vocal organs.

Felt Lined Tires.

A piece of felt interposed between the air chamber and the envelope is a French solution of the tire puncture problem that seems to have given good results. The felt is about half an inch thick, its width depending on the size of the tire, and it is held in place by the outer envelope at its edge and cemented to the inner surface of the protecting band. It soon adjusts itself to the shape of the tire. Before a nail or other sharp point the felt tends to give way instead of being penetrated, and the resistance usually prevents puncture, though not invariably.

A New Complaint.

The following mysterious official document has been received after having recently passed through the hands of an officer:

"Regret to inform you that Pte. ——, admitted to hospital this morning, is dangerously ill, suffering from N. Y. D."

This may interest "the faculty," who are always on the lookout for new complaints. In point of fact, however, it seems that N. Y. D. stands for "Not yet diagnosed."—London Truth.

Germany's Emperor Talks To the British Press

Emperor William Talks to Newspaper Men at London.

Says Only Little Good Sense Is Needed—To Preserve Harmony Between Germany and England—Expresses Hope That Friendly Relations May Be Fostered Between the Two Nations.

London, Nov. 18.—Emperor William, who went to London Saturday from Windsor Castle, to receive numerous deputations at the German embassy, was specially cordial to the newspaper men, who presented him with an address, His Majesty said:

"The power you wield is great and most beneficial when exerted in the direction of promoting feelings of friendship among the nations. Your address proves that you have this task at heart. I am glad to meet you and I hope you will continue to foster the friendly relations between our two nations, which are so necessary to the peace of Europe. We are of the same race and religion, ties which should prove strong enough to keep us in harmony and friendship."

In conversation with the newspaper men the Emperor emphasized the great influence of the modern press and the facility with which international misunderstanding were fomented in the newspapers. He added that he thought what was needed was simply a little good sense on both sides.

Regarding Anglo-German relations, His Majesty deprecated attaching too much importance "to the utterances of excitable people in either country.

No Mixed Marriages.

Montreal, Nov. 18.—An important pastoral was read in the Roman Catholic churches yesterday, absolutely forbidding mixed marriages. Archbishop Bruchesi made an announcement that in so far as this diocese is concerned dispensations will no longer be granted to Roman Catholics wishing to marry Protestants. The custom hitherto in vogue is done away with. In strong and emphatic language his grace places a ban upon all such unions. Hereafter should Protestants and Catholics wish to marry they will not be able to secure the blessing of the Church upon their union.

Legislate Against Hindoos.

Vancouver, B. C., Nov. 18.—J. H. Clarke, immigration commissioner for Canada, with headquarters in Montreal, has decided, after an investigation here, to recommend the Government at Washington to pass legislation to exclude Hindoos from the United States. The recent riots at Bellingham and Everett have been given much concern.

Thousands of Hindoos have gone from Vancouver south this year to logging and railway camps in Washington and Oregon and the fruit ranches in California.

The raising of the railway rates in the west, has drawn a vigorous protest from Winnipeg merchants, and the Board of Trade is taking the matter up with the Railway Commission.

Cromwell's Wife.

While portraits of Oliver Cromwell are sufficiently numerous, only one indisputably genuine portrait of his wife is known to exist. This appeared as the frontispiece of a rare and curious cookery book published in 1664, entitled "The Court and Kitchen of Elizabeth, Commonly Called Joan Cromwell, the Wife of the Late Usurper, Truly Described and Represented."

The Cigarette.

Laurence Oliphant, the celebrated author and traveler, is said to have introduced the cigarette into England about the year 1844. They became quite common after the Crimean war, owing to their use by the Turkish officers.

French Mussel Gatherers.

The women mussel gatherers of France wear trousers and high boots, which look grotesque worn with a tight fitting waist, and a sailcloth apron, which is doubled up to keep it out of the water. They carry also wooden sandals of a wide and curious pattern, which are intended to give them a firmer footing on shifting sands.

MONDAY, NOV. 18, 1907.

WHY THE CHANGE?

Here is a problem that is difficult to explain. Does a man become vain after marriage, or is he so influenced by his wife that he has to change his Christian name, or rather use his second name instead of the one he has been familiarly known by among the boys. A decent, sensible thoughtful level-headed chap weds. His name is "John E. Peckover," of "Edward M. Runstead." They are styled "John" and "Ed" by their friends and associates. But some day fair maidens cross their pathways. Courtships spring up, friendships ripen into love and love leads the way until both young men plight their troth at the altar to the lovely companions they have selected to accompany them along the pathway of life. Honeymoon trips are taken and the bridal couples return and settle down in their snug, and attractive new homes. All goes well. They have received the cordial congratulations of their friends but lo and behold! what a change appears in a few days! Mrs. John E. Peckover and Mrs. Edward M. Runstead believe that it is time to hold a post nuptial reception and this is how the notices will in all likelihood read: "Mr. J. Ellingsworth Peckover will be at home to her friends on —— afternoon and evening." "Mrs. E. Molycinathian Runstead will receive on —— afternoon."

Ye gods, what a change! Plain "John" is now "J. Ellingsworth Peckover," while ordinary "Edward" is "E. Molycinathian Runstead." How the new bridegrooms must groan! No one ever knew that they had such ridiculous cognomens previous to marriage—not even their most intimate friends, and why this preposterous change in name? It is to smile. Are the newly wedded wives responsible for the alteration in name or is it all an effort to put on style, create an impression, or a bold, deliberate attempt to hold "hubby" up a a laughing stock among his friends, who scarcely recognize him in his new title? Is it not about time that such conglomerations as S. Cleanshirt Jones, J. Chopthewood Murphy and T. Wipeyourfeet Odell were done away with in the race for social prestige or distinction? Be natural, be sincere, young man. If you are plain "Tom," "James" or "Samuel" before marriage, why is the title not good enough after? It adds nothing to your reputation or dignity, social standing or worldly honor to be known by some outra appellation after you have joined the ranks of the benedicts. It will not make you a better husband or assist you in any degree in making life a success.

MEN AND THE CHURCH

Why do more men not go to church? This is a question very frequently asked. Various answers are given and divers pleas put forward as to why men in the larger cities especially, do not attend service. The chief fault lies in the fact, says an authority, that the modern house of worship is too much like an ice-box. Men and women go there Sunday after Sunday and scarcely a soul welcomes them, nor is there a hand extended in greeting. The average man longs for bright, cheerful companionship. He finds it in the lodge room and in the club where he is styled brother and made to feel thoroughly at home. He finds there an atmosphere of cheer, good fellowship, and congenial spirits. The result is that he likes to attend and too often makes the lodge serve as a place for the church. Of course, this ordinary church member does not mean to be cold, stiff or formal. He thinks the stranger should break the ice, and the latter believes the church man should make the advance. Thus the silence and formality on both sides continues and finally the man feels that he is not wanted, that nobody cares very much whether he is present in his pew or not and he finally ceases to be present at the means of grace. A forward movement is needed not only in aggressive Christian work, but in retaining the men, who are within the church. It is strange that at the annual church parades and lodges, many members turn out with their fellow members, and go to worship—men who, during the remainder of the year scarcely ever cross the threshold of a sanctuary. On the occasion of the church attendance of their lodge, they feel that they are at home among their fraternal friends and take pleasure in being present. But on other Sundays, how different is the situation! The stranger feels that he has not very much in common with other church members, so he stays away.

There should be more brotherly love, more of the spirit of helpfulness, of unity, of mutual good will, and co-operation among the men of the churches.

That spirit is progressing and is manifesting itself in the laymen's movement, young men's clubs, guilds, and other organizations. It is a healthy and hopeful sign, and the men, who are behind the work are level-headed, thoughtful, earnest fellows, who recognize that, unless more of the men in the community apply the same industry, judgment, care and intelligence to the interest and welfare of the church as they do to everyday business affairs, the outlook is neither bright nor encouraging.

PEN POINTS

This beautiful weather is delightful for constitutionals but hard on trade.

The price of drinks has again been but the higher figures for the necessities of life, still prevail.

Cheer up! You may be an aldermanic candidate, and waited upon by a large and influential deputation. Who knows?

Galt Reporter says: Editor Sawle of Preston, captured an umbrella in a drawing at the R. C. Bazaar, Preston, on Saturday. Here's one editor at all events, who is putting away something for a rainy day."

Every business man, professional man, manufacturer and any other who can make it convenient to do so should attend the Board of Trade banquet on Wednesday night.

The tax collector has only $8,000 left of this year's taxes to collect. That is a pretty good record. Those who have not yet paid should do so at once. The excuse offered by some delinquents in previous years, that they were unable to climb the steps will scarcely hold good now, since the collector has his office on the ground floor.

APPOINTED A DELEGATE TO CONGRESS

"Hal" Pearson Will Have Opportunity to Meet President Roosevelt

Mr. H. A. Pearson, general secretary at St. Catharines Y.M.C.A., who is a son of Mr. John Pearson, Lindsay, and a brother of Mr. R B Pearson, Peterborough, has been appointed a delegate to the International Congress at Washington, D.C., and will leave next Tuesday. At Washington the "Y" delegates will be introduced to President Roosevelt and the members of his Cabinet. Mr. Pearson will also visit Hampden Roads, Jamestown Exhibition, and Richmond, Va., and the trip promises to be a memorable one.

PASSEPARTOUT PICTURES AND MOUNTING BOARD

The fad for passepartout pictures is again growing very general. Many who have used this means of decorating their rooms, find there is no other way of treating pictures, that is so economical and satisfactory. The Review has a new line of passepartout in all shades, mounting papers and pictures in the popular sepia tints. Call and see them and fix up a few pictures for your friends for Xmas. Nothing is more acceptable than a pretty picture.

Amusements Subject of Discourse

Rev. E. A. Pearson Says Recreation is Necessary—Condemns the Theatre

Ecclesiastes, 11, 9;—"Rejoice, O young man, in thy youth; and let thy heart cheer thee in the ways of thy youth, and walk in the ways of thine heart, and in the sight of thine eyes: but know thou that for all these things God's will bring thee into judgment."

The above was the text chosen by Rev. E. A. Pearson, paston of George street Methodist church, when he spoke last night on "Amusements." The discourse was the sixth of a series being preached on subjects of particular interest and use to young men.

In the matter of amusements, the preacher said, one is between those who take an extreme position and those on the other hand who want to run, without discrimination, into all kinds of amusement without any thought or reflection. An attempt to crush out all kinds of amusement is bound to fail. Aristotle has long since laid down the law that all extremes are wrong.

There are some descendants of the early Puritans who would place everything in the shape of vice and pleasure in the same category. To associate religion with gloom and long-facedness is an almost sinful representation of the case. The church has a duty to perform in pointing out amusements that are proper and beneficial, and in uttering a warning against those that are wrong.

It must be admitted that when one is under a severe mental or physical strain there must be rest and recreation.

PURPOSE OF AMUSEMENT.

Amusement is not an end, it is a means. Amusement for amusement's sake is sinful. One will get most enjoyment out of amusement when it has the purpose of recreation. The man who makes life one round of pleasure loses the power of real enjoyment. Amusement should be taken that is farthest removed from one's work. If one's work is physical, mental recreation is necessary, and if one's work is mental, physical recreation is necessary. The preacher then enlarged on the various kinds of amusement. He was of the opinion that there are thousands of people at various games who would be better employed exercising their own functions instead of simply watching a few opposing players engaged in a game.

We should not be swayed by the general opinion in the matter of amusement, but should act on our own principles. Each one of us has to bear his own responsibility.

Some say: "I should do as Christ did." Our Master did not ask to do this, but said: "Ye are my friends if ye do whatsoever I command you." This rule as laid down by our Saviour is simple, comprehensive and sufficient for anyone who calls himself a Christian. We should remember that we are shut off against all pleasure that conflicts with the decalogue.

It is wrong to gamble, whether in the stock market, a game or on a horse race. In the matter of amusement anything that is in contravention to the decalogue in letter or in spirit is positively wrong and sinful.

CONCERNING THE THEATRE.

The speaker said that he and a fellow minister went incognito to more than one theatre in the city of Toronto for the purpose of investigating the nature of the performances being presented. He asked a friend of his who was a critic on the "Toronto News," what he considered the best attraction at any of the Toronto theatres, and on going to see the one he recommended, he found it contained more of the suggestive and immoral than what he saw at the lowest play house in the city.

The matter of influence is a very important one, and by the example we set we wield an influence over many of our fellow men.

We should remember we are Christians, and if we are in fellowship with Christ, and seek to do God's will, we will make no mistake in the matter of amusement.

Mrs. Payne was probably fatally injured in a fire at Hartney.

Presentation to Miss Pakenham

Honored by Sunday School and Mission Band of St. Luke's Church

St. Luke's Parish Church Work says Miss Ethel Pakenham, who is at present teaching at Rockcroft, spent the Thanksgiving Day holidays in the city. While she was here she was presented by the Sunday school and the Mission Band with a beautiful travelling companion and address. Miss Pakenham was a most enthusiastic help in the activities of the church, and as a mark of appreciation the presentation was made. The address reads as follows:—

Ashburnham, September 30, 1907.

Miss Ethel Pakenham, Rockcroft:

Dear Friend,—The officers and teachers of St. Luke's Sunday school, and the members of the Mission Band, desire to unite in extending to you their hearty appreciation of your faithful work as a worker in both organizations. They deeply regret that your calling is preventing you from continuing the happy relations as co-workers in the good cause. Your loyalty to your duties, and the gladness and readiness in which you performed them, have endeared you very much to us all.

We wish you every success in your work in your new field of labor, and we ask you to accept the accompanying gift as a mark of our esteem and appreciation.

We remain, on behalf of St. Luke's Sunday school and Mission Band,

Very sincerely yours,
D. SPENCE,
Supt. of St. Luke's S.S.
L. SCOTT,
President Mission Band.

OTHER NOTES.

The Mother's Guild are preparing a social evening combined with a sale of work and entertainment for Wednesday, November 20. They have undertaken to pay for the installation of the sewer connection in the Rectory. Mrs. R. H. Kelly, who, though not a member of St. Luke's, attended most regularly the services, has removed with her family to Toronto. We shall miss her kinds interest in our church very much.

The Right Reverend Bishop Reeve, assistant to the Archbishop, will administer the Holy Rite of Confirmation at St. Luke's on Sunday evening Dec. 15. The Rector holds a confirmation class every Tuesday evening.

The 1st Sunday in advent, Dec. 1 will be set apart for receiving special contributions for the maintenance fund of St. Luke's. A letter has been sent to every parishioner and friend of St. Luke's, and we hope that a generous response will be made.

Nicholls' hospital is gaining much ground in the confidence of the public, so that its wards are continually filled to the utmost capacity. Under the able management of Miss De la Mater many improvements have been made, and the hospital is, to-day, one of the best equipped. The Protestant public of Peterborough should loyally support this institution which, through the generosity of the late Mrs. Nicholls, is absolutely no expense to the community. At the graduation exercises held at the Y.M.C.A. on October 8th, five nurses graduated. The attendance was so large that hundreds were turned away on account of the limited room.

CAR KNOCKS DOWN HORSE

Was Going at Slow Rate and Animal Not Hurt Much

On Saturday afternoon, at about 4.30 o'clock, a northbound car collided with a team of horses at the corner of Hunter and George streets, knocking down one of the horses. The animal was considerably dazed, but after its owner worked over it for a short time, was able to proceed. The car was fortunately travelling at a slow rate, and had it been going as fast as usual, it is probable that one or both of the horses would have been killed.

Woman's Institute Held Good Meeting

Mount Julian Organization is Flourishing One—Other Notes of Interest

Mount Julian, Nov. 16.—The November meeting of the Mount Julian Women's Institute was a very successful one. Owing to the unavoidable absence of the President, and Vice-President, the chair was filled by Mrs. Albert Reid.

The meeting opened by singing "God Save the King." Then the minutes of the previous meeting were read by the secretary, Miss Jessie Reid, and accepted.

The topic for the day was the preserving and pickling of sweet apples, taken in an interesting manner by Mrs. W. Sanderson, and a lively discussion followed by the other members.

Papers on "A Young Girl's Duty at Home" were read by Mrs. Lauder and Mrs. Wm. Church. A motion was made to send the president and secretary to the convention in Guelph in December, and carried.

After the business of the meeting was over, the Misses Sanderson, Reid and Wigg sang "My Old Kentucky Home," followed by mouth organ solos from Miss Millie Reid and Miss Addie Wigg. The meeting closed by all singing "The Maple Leaf Forever."

The Institute was opened in July of this year by Miss Carter, from Guelph.

Director—Mrs. Albert Reid, Mrs. Carter and Mrs. Clarke Stone.

President—Miss Emma Reid.

Vice-President—Mrs. Joseph Northey.

Secretary and Treasurer—Miss Jessie Reid.

One meeting is held every month and a regular programme carried out.

There are now 22 members, with an average attendance of about 15. Two magazines, the Ladies' Home Journal and Good Housekeeping, are taken, and each member is given a copy of the Hand Book used in Women's Institutes. The fee for each member is 25 cents per annum.

The meetings are held in turn at the home of each member, and tea is served at the close.

OTHER NOTES.

Mr. Wm. Northey, whose home was unfortunately burned last May, has built a fine new one again; also has on, Mr. W. T. Northey, has built one.

Mr. James Reid is building a large addition to his house.

Mr. Alex. Reid, near Mount Julian wharf, has been building chimneys and sheeting his house.

Mr. Hopkins, of Boschink, left on the 14th for his home in Boston. He is the last of the summer tourists to leave Stony Lake.

Mrs. W. M. Church has been up to close her cottage, Cedar Brae, Mt. Julian, for the winter, and visit relatives in the neighborhood.

Mr. Richard Darling and his son, Mr. Albert Darling, of Douro, with Messrs. George Nicholl, B. Nicholl and Geoffrey Harvey, of Smith, have been up hunting with A. H. Church and C. Lauder.

KNOWN EVERYWHERE

Simple Home-Made Treatment to Overcome Rheumatism.

When an eminent authority announced the fact that he had found a new way to treat that dread American disease, Rheumatism, with just common every-day drugs, found in any drug store, the physicians were slow indeed to attach much importance to his claims. This was only a few months ago. Today nearly every newspaper in the country is announcing it and the splendid results achieved. It is so simple that any one can prepare at at home at small cost. It is made up as follows; Get from any good prescription pharmacy, Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Mix by shaking in a bottle, and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bedtime. These are all simple ingredients, making an absolutely harmless home remedy at little cost.

Rheumatism, as everyone knows, is a symptom of deranged kidneys. It is a condition produced by the failure of the kidneys to properly filter or strain from the blood the uric acid and other matter which, if not eradicated, either in the urine, or through the skin pores, remains in the blood, decomposes, and forms about the joints and muscles, causing the untold suffering and deformity of Rheumatism.

This prescription is said to be a splendid healing, cleansing and invigorating tonic to the kidneys, and gives almost immediate relief in all forms of bladder and urinary troubles and backache.

TO DEVELOP APSLEY MINE

American Capitalists are Expected at the Village at an Early Date

Apsley, November 15.—W. Gray, of Lakefield, who lately discovered what is reported to be a valuable mine near the village, is at present engaged in extending the shaft and expects a couple of experienced American capitalists in a few days when, if they are satisfied with the outlook, work of development on an extensive scale will be proceeded with.

Our old friend, Joe Yelland of Peterborough, is down at Jack's Lake with several men repairing the dam at the outlet into Jack's Creek. As all the timber required has to be teamed from there to the lake over a bad road, and then taken on a punt or towed for a distance of six miles down the lake, Joe has no light task, especially with the stormy weather of the past few weeks.

Waggon Went Down With Bump

Carter Had a Hard Time on George St. This Morning

A local carter had a rather hard time this morning on George street, just north of the C.P.R. station. The dropping out of a linch pin allowed one of the front wheels of the waggon to run off and the axle dropped to the ground with a decided bump. Fortunately it did not brake and the wheel was put back in its place after considerable lifting and strenuous work. The carter had to summon assistance to get things righted.

Handsome Gift for Mr. C. C. Mowry From Meter Department

Mr. C. C. Mowry, whose marriage took place on Friday, was the recipient of a handsome gift from his fellow employees in the Meter Department of the Canadian General Electric Company. The present, a beautiful cuckoo clock, was accompanied by a handsomely embossed address. The presentation took place on Saturday afternoon at Mr. Mowry's home, 457 Cedar street, and was made by Mr. Howard Mallory and the address was made by Mr. Jos. Allen. The address was as follows,— Unalloyed bliss doesn't come often in a man's lifetime, but your fellow employees believe you have entered upon its confines by becoming a benedict. Your companionship in our Meter Assembling Department has been short, yet during that time you have endeared yourself to one and all. We cannot allow your marriage to pass without wishing you health, wealth and prosperity and with it would ask you to accept this clock as a memento of our esteem and regards, and as it ticks may it remind you of the pulsation of love towards you of the donors. Wishing you all the blessings that can be showered upon you.

YOUR FELLOW LABORERS.

MARRIED AT CALGARY

The Calgary News has the following reference to the marriage of the daughter of Mr. Wm. Eyres of this city.—"A quiet wedding took place last night at the Methodist parsonage on Fifth avenue, when Miss Eyres, a very popular teacher of the Central School staff, and Mr. John Dafoe, formerly of Gleichen, were united in matrimony. Rev. G. W. Kerby performed the ceremony. It is understood that both Mr. and Mrs. Dafoe will remain in the city for some time, as Mr. Dafoe is feeling very poorly and is not able to travel."

THE PRICE OF BREAD

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir.—Not only have our bakers reduced the weight of the loaf, but have also raised the price of the same, having for an excuse that it was done elsewhere. Now that Kingston and other places have restored the former price of ten cents, will our bakers show the same alertness in following suit?

Some Information as to Last Year's Hockey Tangle

At the annual meeting of the Ontario Hockey Association in Toronto on Saturday, the address of the president, Mr. D. H. Darroch contained several matters of Peterborough interest. The following is an excerpt from Mr. Darroch's report:

"In senior group 1 Kingston and Midland were scheduled to play a single game in Peterborough or Toronto, which should count two. Peterborough objected that it was unfair to them, in that both teams were decidedly hard to beat at home, and asked that they be allowed, either to play the winners of the district or of the championship. A mail vote showed the Executive almost unanimously opposed to either, inasmuch as Peterborough had been a party to the schedule. They withdrew from the association."

In his annual report Secretary Hewitt said in part:

"The senior series opened with five teams in group 1, and the same number in group 2. The Kingston team celebrated their first year in the association by capturing the first group, beating Peterborough out by winning from Midland in Toronto in a game, which, according to agreement in schedule counted two. As a protest against the O.H.A. for not giving them a chance against Kingston, the Peterborough team withdrew from the association, but did not turn professional. The Kingston team played good sterling hockey, were ably managed, and were such fine fellows that no one begrudged them their honors, nor would they if they had gone further."

Langford Will Try Once More

To Make the Long Distance Walk in 35 Hours

The following appears in Saturday's Toronto Star;

I intend to try and make a new record for the walk from Toronto to Port Hope. It is my intention to start from Oshawa this time, to Toronto, then from Toronto to Port Hope and return to Oshawa. I am going to try and make the trip in thirty-five hours and feel confident having been once over the road. I am walking again as an amateur and have no side bet on. I intend to start from the Commercial hotel, Oshawa, at eight o'clock Tuesday morning. Yours truly.

D. Langford.

WELL KNOWN HOCKEY PLAYER

Mr. Harry Brown, of Belleville, Arrives in Peterborough

Mr. Harry Brown, who will assist Capt. Lumb in the management of the Hotel National, is none other than the famous point player, who did such clever work with Belleville, when the hockey team of that town played with Peterborough in the intermediate O.H.A. series. He will be a valuable acquisition to the local team that secures his services, provided of course he plays the game this season.

Mr. Brown reached here today.

KINGSTON TEAM TO PLAY HERE

Y.M.C.A. Intermediate Basketballers Coming to Peterboro'

Kingston, Nov. 16th.—The Y.M.C.A. basketball teams have their work cut out for the coming season now. The seniors will play the Watertown seniors on Nov. 28th in Watertown, and about a week later the return game will be played. Games are now being arranged with the Central and West End Y.M.C.A. teams of Toronto. The intermediates are at present planning a trip to Port Hope and Peterborough. Both intermediates and seniors are fast, and are expected to show up well in the series.

The challenge of the Winnipegs for the Stanley Cup has been accepted.

SENIORS AND JUNIORS PLAY

The seniors and a team picked from the local junior aggregations played a practice game at Riverside park Saturday afternoon. The seniors lineup was: Backs, Milburn, Colledge, Crough, Quinlan, Lundy; scrimmage, Clarke, Denneard, O'Brien; wings, Dickson, Wilkie, Dillon, Hurtubuise, Caniff, Fitzgerald.

"Bill" Crowley was referee and W. Carter officiated as umpire. Although no representative from this paper was present, it was stated by some prominent members of the teams that the officials were away off color and many of their decisions were of the limburger cheese variety. However, owing to the fact that the game was simply a practice one their rulings were not seriously disputed.

WALKING

STARTER APPOINTED.

The Toronto World says:—Mr. Thos. Fitzgerald, at one time Canada's best professional 100 yard runner, and now a hotel keeper of this city, will act as referee and starter of the 12-hour walking match between Jimmy Reynolds, of Port Hope, and D. Hartley, of Peterborough, at the Mutual street rink a wee kfrom today.

TO MEET THE WINNER.

Samuel Brooks, an English walker of note, living in Toronto, is eager to meet the winner of the 12 hour walking contest between Jimmy Reynolds of Port Hope, and David Hartley, of Peterborough.

The Port Hope Guide, of Saturday, says; One week from today, at this hour, Reynolds and Hartley will be battling for honors at the Mutual-st rink, Toronto. Both men are practicing every day and the contest will create much interest. Reynolds takes his daily work out at the drill shed, and 'tis said he circles about in lively style. There will be many followers from both Peterborough and Port Hope at the contest.

HOCKEY

Eddie Howell, who did such effective work on the Peterborough Intermediate O. H. A. seven in the memorable year, when Peterboorugh, Picton and Belleville were in this district, will play cover-point for the Brantford pro team, this season.

TECHNICAL TRAINING.

What Is Being Done in England to Educate the Young.

Some few years back British manufacturers preferred the workman who could only use his tools. Theory was tabooed—practice was enough. But foreign competition has taught a lesson which is bringing about results beneficial to the trades of the country. It has been discovered that the man who can design and draw, as well as make, an object is the valuable person and he finds employment where the purely hammer and chisel practitioner has to go idle. In the technical schools under the control of the London County Council it is made imperative that the student shall know his trade from beginning to end. He must thoroughly work out his ideas on paper before he is allowed to express them in the necessary material. The system may be seen at its best in the exhibition of work executed by the boys and girls at the Technical Institute, Pitfield street, Shoreditch. In that admirable institute, they begin by giving the pupils an intimate knowledge of the alphabet of their craft, then they pass, as it were, to the forming of words, and, these essentials acquired they proceed to composition. The success of this training is evident in all the exhibits. For example, a boy is set to design a cabinet. He is told the dimensions. A rough design is made and criticized by the teachers; sectional elevation, and other drawings are limned. A cutting list is prepared, then the model is begun and completed to scale, and a cost estimate of the full-sized object is furnished. Is it small wonder that the knowledge of this exhaustive character is appreciated by the progressive employer? A talent thus developed can adapt itself to many things.

The school is meant for those who intend to follow some particular trade, and there are day and evening classes—those held in the day time being preparatory, those in the evening for youths who are in employment—the ages in both sections ranging from 14 years. The work done is excellent in design and workmanship. The idea is always in conformity with its practical evolution. Ornament is chaste and applied with taste and economy of material. Mother of pearl and the natural color of various woods are utilized with artistic judgment, evident in a series of cabinets, a handsome hall stand of oak inlaid with rosewood, holly, and ebony, and in two beautifully proportioned fireplaces and overmantles, one done by a deaf and dumb boy. Two or three other lads similarly afflicted show capital specimens of panelling, and there are a flight of steps with balustrade, the effort of six boys, a substantial well-fitted oak cabinet, upholstering, carving, architectural draughtsmanship, pattern making, etc.

The dressmaking and embroidery section contain skilful work, and in the domestic economy class girls learn how to cook a substantial dinner for four people at a cost of one shilling, dainty dishes for supper, pastry; and not only do they know how to treat the matter at their disposal but they know the constituent parts of a juicy chop or a pint of milk. In this branch elementary dressmaking and laundry work are important features, carefully studied and well executed.

RATS ATE HORSE ALIVE.

Horse Attacked by Rodents at Night Was Found Skeleton in Morning.

Kildysart, in County Clare, is becoming famous for happenings of a wonderful kind. Astonishing stories have come from that part of Ireland of late, but they have been entirely capped by the amazing tale now to hand concerning the exploit of a party of rats that attacked a horse alive, and in the course of one night picked clean its bones.

A horse which had been badly injured (so the story goes) was on Saturday handed over to a knacker, who took the animal down to the seashore, it being his custom to remove the hides from dead horses and to launch the remains into the sea.

The knacker, however, did not destroy the horse on Saturday, but left it on the shore, and early on Sunday morning returned with the intention of killing it. To his surprise all he found of it was the clean-picked skeleton.

The place is infested with rats, and it is thought that the horse lay down, and it being unable to rise owing to weakness, the rodents attacked the animal and ate it alive.

HARTLEY OFF FOR TORONTO

Peterboro' Walker Will Train at Mutual Street Rink

David Hartley, Peterborough's walking wonder, left for Toronto this morning to get into shape for his twelve hour walk against Jimmy Reynolds at the Mutual Street Rink next Saturday. He will put up at the Woodbine hotel, and will put in several hours on the track each day and should be in fine shape for Saturday. George Stevens also went to Toronto this morning, and will remain there for the rest of the week.

Today's World says: D. Hartley, the Peterborough walker, who is to meet "Jimmy" Reynolds, the Port Hope barber, in a 12-hour match in the Mutual Street Rink next Saturday, starting at eleven o'clock in the morning, will be here today with his trainer. He has secured quarters at the Woodbine and will put in several hours' work on the track every day. Reynolds will be here Thursday and will stay at the Grand Central. A first-class band has been engaged.

MOTION TO QUASH THE INDICTMENT

Made in Charges of Bribery Arising Out o London Election

Special to the Review.

Toronto, Nov. 18.—A motion to quash the indictment questions of jurisdictions and other legal objections were introduced this morning in the case of John O. Okman, W. J. Mulley, Daniel Wiley, and George Reid, charged with bribery at the bye-election in London in 1905. Judge Winchester, himself, raised the question of jurisdiction, while Mr. E. F. Johnston, the defence lawyer, took formal objections to the indictment, arguing that the charges were not sufficiently specific and claiming ing the prosecution was barred by lapse of time. It was finally decided to take evidence this afternoon.

CITY'S BANKING FOR YEAR 1908

Will be Considered To-morrow at Meeting of Parties Interested.

A joint meeting of the Finance Committee of the City Council, the Finance Committee of the Board of Education the Water Commissioners and the City Trust Commissioners, will be held tomorrow afternoon to consider what will be done regarding the city's banking for the year 1908. The Bank of Toronto are the city's bankers at present, but it is understood they are not desirous of carrying the account for 1908 at the same rate as this year.

It is likely that tenders will be called, the same as was done last year, and all the banks given an opportunity to submit a rate.

THE PERMITS FOR THE WEEK

Three Dwelling Houses Included in the List.

Building permits totalling $5,350 were issued at the city hall during the past week. Three of them were for dwelling houses. The list is as follows;—

Peterborough Light & Power Co., governor house, on Simcoe street, $150.

Mrs. Margaret Davidson, brick house on Water street, $2,000;

R. J. Hudson, frame dwelling on Dublin street, $1,000.

Edwin T. Lush, brick dwelling on London street, $2,200.

Dominion Honors for Peterboro'

Ottawa College defeated McGill at Ottawa Saturday, 12—9, winning the senior inter-collegiate championship. Secretary Joe Hay, of the Ontario Union, some time ago put in a challenge to have the senior O.R.F.U. champions meet the Collegiate winners, but no word has been received from Ottawa as to whether the College team is willing to meet Peterborough. The locals are anxious to get a crack at the students, and word from the Capital is anxiously awaited.

It is likely that the Collegiate team will accept the Ontario challenge and meet Peterborough for the amateur championship of the Dominion.

The Peterborough team will practice tonight at 7.30 at Riverside Park, and every man is asked to turn out. In all probability the locals will play in Ottawa next Saturday, and if the team has a few good practices they should be able to give the College squad the run of their lives.

NEW CHURCH FOR THE SOUTH END OF CITY

Matter to be Considered at Meeting in King Edward School Monday Night

On Friday night of this week a meeting will be held in the King Edward school to consider the advisability of building a new Methodist church in that part of the city. The committee appointed some time ago, composed of representatives from the three Methodist churches in the city, have been hard at work, and have secured considerable information bearing on the question, and the meeting is being held to secure the views of the Methodists residing in the southern part of the city for whom the church is intended.

The Conductor Courteous.

St. John's, N. F.—some of the natives call it "Senjens"—is far more picturesque than beautiful. But its quaintness redeems it from stupidity, and, wander where you will, you meet with that courtesy and kindness that are the graces of people who live unhurried lives in remote places where strangers are a welcome break to their monotony. When you say to some casual benefactor that you are "much obliged" for some courteous direction, he will touch his hat and say, "Thank you," as if you had conferred the favor upon him. The street car conductor (they even have a trolley line, though how it can be run in winter is a mystery) will see that you are set down where you should leave the car and, if you are uncertain of your way, will get off his car and point your destination out, holding his other passengers until he is sure you understand.—Travel Magazine.

Down on the Farm.

The unsophisticated chap from the city had passed his first night in the old farmhouse.

"Waal, neighbor," drawled the farmer at breakfast, "how did you sleep last night?"

"Sleep?" blurted the city chap in disgust. "Why, man, I was turning and turning all night!"

The old farmer laughed uproariously.

"Kept turning, did you, neighbor? Waal, I told you that you would sleep like a top."

"Funny, eh? Well, do you know there was so much loose straw in the mattress it kept getting in my ears and nose all night?"

"Just so, stranger. When you asked about the bed, didn't I say it would tickle you to death?"

And then the old farmer passed over the left over pie and black coffee.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Exorbitant.

"Compared with former years," said the man who did the family marketing, "the price of beef during the past twelve months has been something fierce."

"That's what!" agreed the amateur sportsman. "When I was gunning several months ago I shot a cow, and the farmer's charge was frightful."—Catholic Standard and Times.

A STORY.

It all began when he was young.
Through fortune's hard mischance
It came about he had to wear
His daddy's cut down pants.

He then grew up to man's estate,
Continued as before,
And when he went in politics
The boss' collar wore.

He next became a benedict.
Of course we may surmise
From color combinations strange
He wore his helpmeet's ties.

And though in his apparel, thus,
He never cared to choose,
He made a failure when he tried
To fill a great man's shoes.

The moral of this tale is this:
For either fame or pelf
A tailor poor is circumstance.
You'd better dress yourself.

—McLandburgh Wilson in Lippincott's.

300 People Turned Away Last Night

Unable to Secure Admission to Grand Opera House

About 300 people were turned away from the Grand Opera House last night when the production was "The Rogue's Gallery," by Ernie Marks Company. Even standing room was at a premium.

The ladies, who held cards, entitling them to a thirty cent seat for fifteen cents and who could not gain admission last night, will be allowed thirty cent seats this evening for fifteen cents, on presentation of the cards.

Beautiful Story Told by Views

Capt. Hurd Delighted Large Number at S. A. Barracks

There was a large and appreciative attendance at the Salvation Army barracks last evening, when Captain Hurd, travelling financial special, gave an address, illustrated by fifty limelight views on "Cattarina." It was a story of London life, (of how a blind little girl lost her mother, and used to accompany her drunken father on the street, while he played a hand organ. The sight of the poor ill-clad child drew many gifts from the people. The father was injured and died in (a hospital, and the unfortunate girl one day met an old blind man, who was exclaiming, "Whereas once I was blind, now I can see." The child went to him, thinking he had been cured of physical blindness, but the old man explained that he too was blind. He said that he was referring to spiritual sight, and told he who had been led to see the error of his ways and how had a clear vision of God. The child became impressed, was converted and became a great power for good in rescue work, and in leading others to the mercy seat of Christ.

The story is a beautiful and impressive one, and will be repeated this evening at the barracks at six o'clock, for the benefit of the children. Captain Hurd leaves tomorrow for Port Hope and will visit several towns, before arriving in Montreal on December 13th.

Park St. Young Peoples Success

Large Gathering Enjoyed Excellent Programme Last Night

The expectations of the young people of the Park street Baptist church, were more than met last night at their social, for they succeeded in filling the building with young life, a very pretty sight and a most profitable programme. The president, Mr. Charles Barrie, very ably filled the chair. (A most acceptable duet was rendered by Mrs. Jewett and Mr. Jas. Tranter. Miss Hill followed with a very pathetic recitation, which made a profound impression. Rev. A. H. Brace, in a short speech introduced Principal Dunlop, of the King Edward school, who gave an address on "Wanted, men for Gideon's Band." The address was scriptural and immensely practical, and Mr. Dunlop received the hearty thanks of the young people. Miss Kidd of the Murray street church, followed with a solo in good form, which was encored. Mr. Jas. Tranter also rendered a solo by request. "When the the spirit comes to you." This interesting gathering then formed into small groups and dainty refreshments were served. The B.Y.P.U. are to be congratulated on the deserved success of their social evening.

Six Months In Central Prison

Thos. Rigby was given six months in the Central Prison yesterday afternoon at a special session of the police court on a charge of stealing a bicycle from Mr. Brownlee of this city. The prisoner was arrested in Mountain on Sunday and P.C. McSharry brought him here. He pleaded guilty and was given the above sentence.

Eliza Thomas, a Brantford Indian, was fined $30 and costs for having whiskey in her house.

CONDITIONS AT STONY LAKE

Water Commissioners and Board of Health Talk About the Matter Informally

The Water Commissioners and the Board of Health were to have held a joint meeting yesterday afternoon, but the latter body did not have a quorum and no business could be transacted. However, Chairman Eyres, of the Board of Health, brought up the question of the unsanitary conditions at Stony Lake, as brought out in the report of Sanitary Inspector Ball, who made an investigation last summer and drew attention to the fact that it might be possible that Stoney Lake was not within the jurisdiction of the Provincial Board of Health. He wanted the Water Commissioners to pass a resolution asking a ruling on this point from the Provincial Secretary's Department and it was decided to do so, the Board of Health to take similar action.

December 3rd. Likely to be Date Selected

For the Indoor Athletic Meet—Handicap Race to be a Feature

It has practically been decided to hold the indoor meet of the Y.M.C.A. Harriers on Tuesday evening, December 3rd. This matter will be definitely settled tonight, when further arrangements for the big event will also be made. Owing to a matter of litigation, it is impossible to secure the rink until after the first of December, and as it is desirable to have the meet as soon as possible, December 3rd will likely be the date selected.

One of the features of the meet will be a handicap race open to all runners in Peterborough. This should prove an exceedingly interesting event and would no doubt attract a big field of starters. The committee in charge are hard at work and will announce the programme in a few days.

RADIANT WOMANHOOD!

The glory and satisfaction of beautiful womanhood can only be known to those possessing the unlimited advantage of health.

The weak woman can't be happy or enjoy half the pleasures of life. Pallid cheeks, sunken eyes, exhausted nerves all tell of a terrible struggle to keep up.

Nothing overworked women can take will benefit like FERROZONE, which renews, restores and vitalizes instantly; it's a WOMAN'S REMEDY, that's why

FERROZONE

MAKES WOMEN STRONG, PLUMP AND BEAUTIFUL.

FERROZONE contains abundance of nutriment, the kind that forms muscle, sinew, bone and nerve. It sends a vitalizing stream of new life through the weary body, making its strengthening influence felt at once.

Every FERROZONE Tablet means more strength, better appetite, delightful color, bright happy spirits—in short FERROZONE brings true womanly health, and that's worth striving for. Avoid substitutes.

Price 50c per box or six for $2.50. At all dealers or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

The London Case Goes on; Accused Plead Not Guilty

Crown Counsel Refuses to Change the Indictment.

Four Defendants Plead Not Guilty—Alleged Bribers Face Judge Winchester at Toronto—Defence Objections Overruled—Counsel Declares Election Charges Are Outlawed by Lapse of Time.

Toronto, Nov. 19.—The four defendants, George Reid, John O'Gorman, Daniel Wiley and W. J. Mulloy, in the London election conspiracy cases appeared before Judge Winchester, pleaded not guilty and were placed on trial.

G. Lynch-Staunton, K. C., of Hamilton, and H. L. Drayton of Toronto appeared for the crown, and associated with them were John Gould of London and Mayor J. C. Judd of London. The defence counsel were E. F. B. Johnston, K. C.; George Wilkie of Toronto and J. M. McEvoy of London.

Two witnesses were examined yesterday—W. A. Buchner of London and John Pritchett, the star ballot switcher, who operated in Brockville, South Ontario, West Huron and West Elgin. Nothing new or startling was brought out.

Before his honor decided to go on with the case, and after the defendants had elected and pleaded, Mr. Johnston proceeded to file four objections to the lengthy and complicated indictment.

"There are in all," he noted, "some twenty odd paragraphs. Each paragraph charges a distinct crime on a distinct conspiracy, and in many instances in different years. No court has the power to try a series of charges extending for a number of years, each one conspiracy an indictable offence.

"In the second plea, each of the counts—at least, so far as concerns the first five or six—contain in themselves several different crimes and offences, each one of which might be a charge of conspiracy. We contend that conspiracy should be charged with particularity, and the specific offences and dates given in order that we may have an opportunity to meet the charges."

The third objection raised by Mr. Johnston was that "the charge or charges made in this case are no longer an offence at law. The right to proceed as regards bribery and kindred offences was barred by the lapse of time. To conspire to do an offence no longer unlawful was not a conspiracy at all. The whole thing was dead, as it were, and has no longer any existence."

No conspiracy, he contended, took place at two places in regard to the same occasion. If it took place in London, then that was a complete and separate conspiracy, or if at Toronto, the same.

Mr. Johnston moved to quash the indictment. Mr. Staunton said he had no reason to change it. Judge Winchester then decided, in view that the divisional court had not allowed a change in venue, he would hear the case.

The first witness was W. A. Buchner, barrister, of London, who was returning officer during the Hyman-Gray election in June, 1905. He told of the appointment of Jerry Collins as deputy returning officer, on the recommendation of Jeffreys, a barrister.

Witness received protests on some of the appointments. J. P. Moore protested against the appointment of Percy Bradwin and Jerry Collins to the office of deputy returning officer. But witness paid no attention to Moore's demand that a change be made. Collins was objected to because he was a hotelkeeper, and Bradwin because in a previous election Mr. Moore said there was something wrong with his ballot-box.

"What did you do with all the papers in this election?"

"Sent them to the Department at Ottawa."

To Mr. Johnston witness said that as far as he knew the election was clean and honest, both on his part and on the part of his deputies.

"Did anyone make a proposition that the Conservatives here sanctioned the appointment of half of the returning officers."

"Yes. Young Mr. Meredith. At least, he asked me if he could act," said the witness.

John Pritchett was called. He had operated in spoiling ballots in South Ontario in the election of Dryden and Mr. Calder. He had gone there at the request of O'Gorman, whom he had met at the Walker House in Toronto to switch and spoil ballots. He was to be paid $100 and expenses. He had met Tom Lewis at Oshawa and Whitby, but had nothing to do with him. The story of Pritchett's work under O'Gorman's instructions at Brockville, in the Comstock-White election, was given as in the Police Court. He described to Judge Winchester his method of switching ballots.

Pritchett also told of his flight from London to the other side on instructions from O'Gorman. He received $625.

At this juncture Judge Winchester adjourned to give Mr. Staunton opportunity to look up authorities on some points of evidence.

The four defendants were allowed their liberty on sureties of $2,000 each.

Succumbed to Injuries.

Regina, Nov. 19.—Ernest S. Forsey, assistant manager of the Massey-Harris Co. here, who was injured while riding on Sunday of last week, passed away at midnight, never having recovered consciousness.

Suicide at Uxbridge.

Uxbridge, Nov. 19.—While temporary insane as a result of worry, John Hunter, a retired butcher, and an old resident of this town, cut his throat yesterday morning with a razor.

He was 80 years of age.

"THE SMILE WILL BE FOR YOU."

John Wenzel Walked Cheerfully to the Electric Chair.

Ossining, N.Y., Nov. 19.—John Wenzel, the murderer of George Spats, a Brooklyn saloon-keeper, went to his death in the electric chair at Sing Sing prison yesterday with a smile just as he had promised his sister he would do. The sister visited him in the death house Sunday, and before her departure Wenzel said: "I will walk to the chair with a smile on my face and the smile will be for you."

Bourbon Prince Dead.

Rome, Nov. 19.—Prince Charles Louis Marie de Bourbon, Infanta of Spain and Duke of Parma, died of heart disease Sunday near Parma.

Prince Charles was born in 1848. He was deprived of his succession to the throne of the Duchy of Parma in 1860, at the age of 12 years, when the Duchy was incorporated with the Kingdom of Italy. The prince was twice married, the first time to Marie Pia, Princhss of Bourbon, Sicily, and the second to Maria Antonia, Infanta of Portugal. He was the father of 21 children and leave a fortune estimated at $40,000,000. The last child, a son, was born June 17, 1908.

Threatens Holy War.

Paris, Nov.19.—A correspondent of The Matin in Morocco has secured an interview with Mulai Hafid, the Sultan of the South, who declared he was about to march against his brother, Abdel Axis, the Sultan of Record. Hafid said he hoped France would not assist his brother, as otherwise he would be compelled to fight her, too, and in this event all of Morocco would rise in a holy war. "God will be our leader," he said, "and neither I nor any other Mussulman will be able to control this movement."

Chinese Troops Rebel.

London, Nov. 19.—In a despatch from Tokio the correspondent of The Times says that the revolt of a company of Chinese troops in Formosa resulted in the murder of 63 Japanese policemen and civilians. The incident has caused uneasiness in Tokio, the correspondent declares, as the loyalty of the Chinese mercenaries had hitherto been unquestioned.

Warner Convicted.

New York, Nov. 19.—Frank H. Warner was convicted last night of murder in the second degree, for killing Esther C. Norling on July 23 last. The trial has been in progress for a month.

"I'm sorry they did not make it first degree," was Warner's only comment when the sentenced was announced.

JAP AND BRITAIN CLASHED.

Count Okuma Hints at Aggressive Policy to Protect India.

Pekin, Nov. 19.—The speech delivered at Kobe by Count Okuma, who was at one time head of the progressive party in Japan, in which he declared that Japan would sorely disappoint the people of India as well as ignore the opportunities given by heaven if she failed to afford protection to the millions of India now being oppressed by Europe, has caused great excitement among the British newspapers published in Northern China.

In this section of the empire the Japanese expansion movement is interfering greatly with British interests and there is open warfare between Japanese and British merchants.

Since last May Englishmen have been the leaders in the anti-Japanese campaign in Pekin and Tientsin. The Times, which is the principal despatch organ in North China, gives expression to the "deep seated and smoldering wrath" of Britons in the far east and accepts Count Okuma's words as a national expression.

"They reveal," this paper declares, "the cloven hoof and the attitude of ill-mannerism toward a country, the support of which gave her her present position in the world. We hope that the revelations made by Count Okuma will open the eyes of King Edward and his countrymen as the eyes of Briton were opened long ago."

The pro-Japanese press in the south of China has recently indicated its purpose of fighting the Japanese, "Who see operations," it is declared, "now conflict with those of Britain's from the Yangtse to Manchuria." One paper expresses the conviction that agitation of the present situation probably will result in breaking the Anglo-Japanese alliance.

THREE KINGS AND FIVE QUEENS

Gathering at Windsor Castle Probably Unique in English History.

Windsor, Eng., Nov. 19.—Sunday will be long remembered in Windsor as an occasion of an event probably unique in history; at Windsor Castle a luncheon was served in the state dining-room to a party consisting of three kings, five queens, and sixteen princes and princesses.

The royal guests were the King and Queen of England, the Emperor and Empress of Germany, the King and Queen of Spain, the Queen of Portugal and the Queen of Norway.

Several interesting photographs of the group of monarchs and then of the entire party were taken.

London Power Bylaw.

London, Nov. 19.—The Niagara power bylaw was given its first reading at the City Council last night, and was referred to the special committee of the council, who were given power to instruct the engineer to prepare a statement of the estimated cost of distribution and to prepare plans showing the area proposed to be covered.

These plans and estimates will be considered at a special meeting of the council. The bylaw providing for an expenditure of $393,500 for waterworks extension was given its second reading after strong opposition. It was decided to apply to the Legislature for power to grant financial aid to the Western University.

Played Practical Joke on Reinhard.

New York, Nov. 19.—Ringlief Reinhard, 45 years old, of Warren street, Newark, is in the Newark City Hospital with a badly injured head. The physicians believe his skull is fractured and that he may die.

Practical jokers told Reinhard the shoes on the hind feet of a mule were different, and when nobody was watching he went into the Essex stables at No. 64 Golden street to investigate. The mule didn't take kindly to the investigation and kicked Reinhard squarely in the head. He was still unconscious when he reached the hospital.

Logging Industry at Standstill.

Vancouver, Nov. 19.—Many of the largest logging camps on the coast closed during last week and it is expected within a short time the industry will be practically at a standstill for the reason that there is now no demand for logs of any description. Some mills operating there own camps have laid off part of their crews in view of approaching close down of the mills for a month at the very least.

To Improve Vancouver Narrows.

Vancouver, Nov. 19.—The Federal Government has been petitioned by the Vancouver Liberal Association to send an engineer to this city to report upon the proposal to deepen and widen the first narrow's entrance to Vancouver harbor. An expert has already given the opinion that to remove a couple of bars and put the narrows in first-class condition will cost about a million and a half dollars.

The All-Red Route.

London, Nov. 19.—(C. A. P.)—The Mail says that preliminary steps have been taken toward the formation of a corporation of the establishment of an Atlantic section of the all-red route. The corporation's character gives assurance that with the cordial co-operation of the two Governments the idea will in due course become an accomplished fact.

Anti-Asiatic Campaign.

Vancouver, Nov. 19.—As soon as funds of combined Asiatic Exclusion League of Vancouver at Victoria and New Westminster are available a provincial organizer will be appointed and sent throughout the province to distribute literature and form new leagues in a thorough campaign against Oriental invasion.

Paroled a Prisoner.

Brockville, Nov. 19.—In response to a largely signed petition the Minister of Justice has made an order paroling Arza Johnston, a young convict, serving three years in the Kingston penitentiary for horse-stealing. He was sentenced from Brockville in 1906.

20 YEARS ECZEMA CURED BY ZAM-BUK

Mr. W. H. Leason, of Wychwood, Ont., says: "For 20 years I suffered from Eczema. My body and legs were covered with spots which itched and irritated terribly. My legs down to the knees were like one mass of sores. These disappeared and were very unpleasant apart from the pain. I had tried all kinds of remedies (salves, ointments and embrocations) and came to the conclusion that nothing would cure me. A sample of ZAM-BUK was given to me one day, and I applied it to a small patch of the eczema. This did me some good and I obtained a full supply of the balm. The first box was a revelation to me as to ZAM-BUK'S power. It took away the smarting and reduced the irritation and itching. It took several boxes of ZAM-BUK to work a cure, and I am glad to say that in a few weeks it cured me completely. In my opinion, ZAM-BUK IS WORTH ITS WEIGHT IN GOLD."

All Skin Diseases yield to Zam-Buk

Heals Cuts, Burns and Bruises rapidly and is "Nature's First Aid."

Also cures Piles, Rheumatism and Sciatica. Sprains, etc. Disappear as ZAM-BUK'S touch if it is "well rubbed in." 50c a box at all druggists and stores.

TORONTO v. C. P. R.

Privy Council Dismisses City's Appeal In Regard to Crossings.

London, Nov. 19.—The Judicial Committee of the Privy Council has dismissed the appeal of the City of Toronto v. C. P. R., and orders that the appellants pay the costs.

The Supreme Court of Canada directed that the city and railway companies must divide equally the cost of protecting the railway crossings at Avenue road, Dufferin street and Bathurst street.

The city claimed that the order providing for such a division of the cost was not valid, and appealed to the Privy Council of England.

The decision of the Privy Council has now been handed out and confirms the decision of the Supreme Court.

LOOKS LIKE SUICIDE.

Cornelius Van Diemen Killed at St. John, N. B.

St. John, N. B., Nov. 19.—Cornelius Van Diemen of Kansas City, who, with his brother, Benjamin, has been here since Saturday selling patent medicine, was killed by an Intercolonial train about 9.15 last night near this city. He was lying on the track when seen by the engineer of the train, then two car lengths away. He was dragged by the engine and was dead when taken out. Benjamin Van Diemen, who identified the body, said they had been drinking, and had a dispute early yesterday, and his brother had left his company. He said he had been searching for him.

Took Fit, Drank Poison.

Woodstock, Ont., Nov. 19.—Frank Hall, a farmer residing in Blenheim Township, met with an accident one day last week that is probably unprecedented in the annals of the county.

Hall bought some Paris green with which to exterminate some squirrels that were doing mischief about his house. He was engaged mixing the poison with water when he was attacked with an epileptic fit. It appears that he is subject to this terrible malady and is in the habit of taking a drink of water when it comes on if water is available. He seized the Paris green mixture, and evidently thinking it to be water, drank it. He was immediately taken with violent pains. A doctor was summoned. A stomach pump was used and after great labor he was brought around.

Killed at North Bay.

North Bay, Nov. 19.—A young man named Angus Macdonald, from Nova Scotia, aged about 22, employed by Forest City Paving Co. on the construction of the T. & N. O. Railway shops at North Bay, was struck by a shunting engine yesterday while standing on the track in the T. & N. O. Railway yard talking to a companion.

Macdonald was instantly killed, his body being cut in two. He leaves a widowed mother in Nova Scotia.

Greater Pittsburg.

Pittsburg, Pa., Nov. 19.—The action of the United States Supreme Court in declaring the Greater Pittsburg bill constitutional, was received with enthusiasm here yesterday. The consolidation gives the city an area of thirty-eight square miles and an estimated population of 550,000.

It will outrank Cleveland and Baltimore, and come close to Boston for fifth place in size.

Quebec's Finances.

Ottawa, Nov. 19.—Provincial Treasurer Weir of Quebec was in the city yesterday on departmental business. Mr. Weir says that the province was never in a better position financially. For the first four months of the fiscal year, that is for July, August, September and October, there was an increase in the surplus as compared with the same time last year of $248,000.

British Crown Enriched.

New York, Nov. 19.—Two landed estates in England, a third in Scotland and a sum in the Bank of England, which by the interest of nearly a century has grown to five million dollars, is the bounty which falls to the British crown by the death of Dr. George Sullivan Carter on Saturday in his home in Tarrytown.

Attack on Salvation Army.

Chicago, Nov. 19.—Dr. Mangasarian in a sermon made a virulent attack on the Salvation Army. He declared it was treason for an American citizen to join the organization. He added that General Booth was building up a "world-wide hierarchy for a Booth dynasty."

Bears at Huntsville.

Huntsville, Nov. 19.—J. E. Mosely, hardware merchant of this town, has on exhibition two large black bears and two cubs. They were shot within six miles of Huntsville.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Cables Firmer—American Markets Steady for Cattle and Hogs.

LONDON, Nov. 18.—London cables are firmer at 10c to 12½c per lb., dressed weight; refrigerator beef is quoted at 10c per pound.

Toronto Junction Live Stock.

TORONTO JUNCTION, Nov. 18.—Receipts of live stock at the Union Stock Yards were 53 carloads, composed of 1028 cattle, 2 hog, 936 sheep and 13 calves.

Exporters.

Few good exporters were on sale. Prices ranged from $4.35 to $4.80, but only one load at the latter price. Export bulls sold at $3.35 to $3.75.

Butchers.

There was a scarcity of choice butchers' cattle. Two or three picked butchers' sold at $4.50; the best loads on sale, which were none too good, sold at $4; medium, at $3.75 to $4; common, $3 to $3.50; canners, 75c to $1.50 per cwt.

Feeders and Stockers.

Few feeders or stockers were on sale, and prices were unchanged. Messrs. H. & W. Murby were the main buyers, altho there were some farmers who were looking for a few well-bred feeders of good weights. Heavy feeders of good quality were reported as being worth from $3.40 to $3.65, and something choice would be worth a little more money.

Milkers and Springers.

Few milkers and springers were on sale, and more would have found a ready market, as three of the leading cow buyers were on the market. Prices ranged from $40 to $60 each.

Veal Calves.

Calves sold at $5 to $6 per cwt.

Sheep and Lambs.

The run of sheep and lambs was fairly large, and prices were quoted at $4 per cwt. for export sheep, and $5 to $5.35 for the best lambs, with common to inferior at $4 per cwt.

Hogs.

Gunns, Limited, quote hogs at $5.75, fed and watered, and $5.50 to $5.60, f.o.b., cars, at outside points.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, Nov. 18.—(Special.)—At the Montreal Stock Yards' West End Market the receipts of live stock for the week ending Nov. 16 were 4315 cattle, 2543 sheep and lambs, 2235 hogs and 358 calves, while the supplies this morning for the local trade consisted of 2000 cattle, 1200 sheep and lambs, 1300 hogs and 320 calves.

There was little or no demand here from exporters, and trade in this direction was slow. Sales of good cattle here were made at 4¼c to 4½c; fair at 3¾c to 4c; common at 2¾c to 3c, and inferior at 1½c to 2½ per lb. A weaker feeling has developed in the market for export sheep since this day week, and prices are ¼c per lb. lower, which is due to increased supplies coming forward and discouraging advices from abroad. At the above reduction demand was fairly good, and sales were made at 4c per lb. In butchers' sheep, trade was quiet, but prices ruled about steady, at 3¾c to 3¾c, and culled sheep were dull of sale at 3c per lb. The demand for lambs was good, and, as the offerings were somewhat larger than usual, an active trade was done at 5¾c to 6c per lb. The trade in calves was fairly brisk, and prices ruled steady, with sales of choice stock at $12 to $15; good at $8 to $10; fair at $5 to $7, and common at $2 to $4 each.

A stronger feeling has developed in the live hog situation, and prices have advanced 25c to 35c per 100 lbs. since this day week. This has been due principally to the falling off in the receipts and the increased demand from packers for supplies; but, aside from these facts, there has been no other factor in the market to warrant the higher prices, as cables from all the leading foreign markets on Canadian bacon have been anything but encouragig to exporters. A fairly active trade was doe here in hogs, and sales of selected lots were made at $6.25 to $6.50 per 100 lbs., weighed off cars.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

EAST BUFFALO, Nov. 18.—Cattle—Receipts, 6800 head; slow and lower; prime steers, $5.40 to $5; shipping, $4.85 to $5.50; butchers', $4 to $5.25; heifers, $3 to $4.75; cows, $2.50 to $4.35; bulls, $2.75 to $4.50; stockers and feeders, $2.75 to $4.35; stockers and heifers, $2.25 to $2.75; fresh cows and springers, steady, $30 to $58.

Hogs—Receipts, 20,500 head; active; pigs, 10c higher; others, steady; heavy and mixed, $5.65 to $5.75; yorkers, $5.50 to $5.65; pigs, $5.40 to $5.50; roughs, $4.90 to $5.20; stags, $4 to $4.50; dairies, $5.25 to $5.60.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 23,000 head; sheep, active and steady; lambs, slow and 10c lower; lambs, $5 to $6.75; yearlings, $5.50 to $5.65; wethers, $5.25 to $5.50; ewes, $5 to $5.30; sheep, mixed, $2.50 to $5.30; Canada lambs, $6.40 to $6.60.

New York Live Stock.

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—Beeves—Receipts, 2362. Steers, generally 10c lower. Cows, steady to firm; steers, $3.75 to $6.25; cows, $1 to $4.85; bulls, $2.50 to $4; cows, $1.25 to $3.50; top price, $4.25. Exports to-morrow, 700 cattle, 20 sheep and 3400 quarters of beef.

Calves—Receipts, 2121. Veals, steady to firm; grassers, 15c to 25c higher; western, normal. Veals, $8.50 to $9.50; choice, $9.75; culls, $4 to $5; grassers, $3.25 to $3.90; yearlings, $3.50 to $5.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 14,324; sheep, steady at last week's decline; lambs, slow and 15c to 25c lower; sheep, $2.25 to $5.25; few choice, $5.40; culls, $2; lambs, $6.25 to $7; few early sales, $7.10 to $7.15; one car choice, $7.25; Canada lambs, $7; culls, $4.50 to $5.50.

Fred Scott was exonerated from blame for the death of John Baptiste by a coroner's jury at Brantford.

DRIFTED IN OPEN BOAT

Crew of Nova Scotia Schooner Rescued After Great Hardships.

Vessel Was Battered by Gale and Foundered — Captain and Sailors Had No Food or Water—Feet Were Frozen When Picked Up — Men Lost Everything They Possessed—Drifted Forty Hours.

Boston, Nov. 19.—After forty hours of helpless drifting in their little yawl during the cold weather of the past few days, without food or water, Capt. Himmelman and five members of the crew of the British schooner Vinita, were brought into port Sunday by the Boston fishing schooner Mattakesett from the Middle Bank. The vessel, which was loaded with sulphur, from New York for Lunenburg, N. S., her home port, sank about 20 miles east by south of Eastern Point Thursday evening. All the members of the crew suffered severely from their exposure, and one was taken to the hospital to be treated for frozen feet. The men saved nothing except the clothes they wore and the ship's flag.

While coming over the Pollock Rip shoals last Thursday the Vinita was badly battered by a stiff gale and had a list to port. A hurried examination showed that her hold was filling with water, and the yawl boat was lowered, and the men tumbled into it quickly. A constant watch was kept for some fishing vessel, but through the long, cold hours of Thursday night, Friday and Saturday morning the six chilled and hungry men drifted. Then the Mattakesett's sails were made out and the frantic cries and signals of the shipwrecked men were seen.

The Giolitti Cabinet.

Another member of the Giolitti cabinet in Italy has fallen a victim to the fatality which seems to dog its footsteps. Signor Majorana, the minister of the treasury, the youngest and most promising member of the government, who was publicly designated as his successor by Signor Giolitti last summer, has fallen ill and has gone to Sicily, leaving his resignation in the premier's hands. Thus in eleven months no fewer than four out of eleven members of the Giolitti cabinet have died or resigned from ill health, a fact which has much impressed the superstitious who believe implicitly in the evil eye.

WHY IRELAND IS POOR.

Report of Royal Commission on Congestion in Emerald Isle.

New York, Nov. 18.—The Herald has received the following cable despatch from London: The Government has just issued the voluminous evidence taken before the Royal Commission on the congestion in Ireland, and many are the gloomy and dismal phases of life in the Emerald Isle which can be picked out of its pages.

Rev. Thomas McAnran, a parish priest of Killinaga, County Cavan, supplies one which is typical of many. He says that as soon as the youth of the country are able to provide for themselves they fly off to America, thus leaving the aged and the young children to look after the homes, with the result that the lands are not tilled as much as they should be, the children are not sent to school, and all depend for support on the credit given by the local shopkeepers, waiting for the American dollar.

The further result is they become loaded with debt, and if the shopkeepers refuse them credit there is nothing before them but an emigrant ship to America, or the workhouse.

Nothing Definite Yet.

Winnipeg, Nov. 19.—The bankers of Winnipeg have not as yet received any definite information as to the progress or result of the conference at Montreal between the representatives of the Dominion Government and of the Canadian banks regarding the talked-of $10,000,000 loan by the Government to the banks.

Another Victoria Mystery.

Victoria, B. C., Nov. 19.—Lying half submerged by tide, with a pistol bullet lodged in his temple, the lifeless body of an unknown man was discovered near Beacon Hill Park here on Saturday. His name and the manner in which he met his death are at present baffling the utmost efforts of the police.

Wife Goes to Jail.

A TRIM FITTED JACKET

There are many occasions when it becomes necessary to have one's coat made at home, and a model of excellent style is here shown. Many smart coats this season are made in hip length, and as a rule they are distinctly jaunty and becoming. The coat illustrated is double-breasted and is well adapted for fall and winter wear. It is admirably suited to development in covert cloth, broadcloth or any of the popular suitings, and with collar of velvet and seams stitched or braided it will prove altogether pleasing when completed. For the medium size the jacket requires 2¼ yards of 54 inch material.

6982—6 sizes, 32 to 42 inches bust measure.

POLICE AND STUDENTS

Conference at Kieff University Broken Up by Military.

Two Hundred Students Were Arrested—Names of One Thousand More Taken—Alleged to Be Revolutionists — Cossacks Occupy Streets—Riotous Scenes in Lecture Rooms—Russian Parliament Busy.

Kieff, Nov. 19.—A cordon of police and soldiers was thrown around the Kieff University Sunday while a conference of the southern social revolutionary organization was being held in the building in the guise of a student meeting.

The meeting was broken up and every person who could not show matriculation papers was arrested.

After the departure of the policemen and the troops a mob of students broke into the university and demanded that lectures be suspended as a protest against the invasion of the university precincts by the authorities. To put an end to this disorder the buildings were surrounded by troops a second time. Two hundred students were arrested and the names of a thousand others were taken down. Cossacks occupied the streets leading to the university, and no one was allowed to pass the building.

Conservatives Get Offices.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 19.—The ticket of the Octoberist-Conservative coalition was successful in the subordinate election for officers of the Lower House of Parliament yesterday, Prince Vladimir Wolkonsky being chosen first vice-president, and Prof. Baron von Meicdorff, of the Baltic Provinces, second vice-president, receiving 168 of the 402 votes cast.

The election showed the strength of the Progressive group, the Constitutional Democratic candidate, M. Muklakoff, receiving 138 votes on the first ballot. The Social Democrats, as before, refrained from voting.

The election of a Baltic German as a vice-president of the Lower House of the Russian Parliament is considerably commented upon. Baron von Meicdorff, who is a professor of the St. Petersburg University, is a member of the Baltic Constitutionalist party, whose aims are similar to those of the Octoberists.

The text of the address of the House to the Emperor as drafted by the Octoberist committee has been approved by the Conservatives. It declares it to be the intention of Parliament to carry out the principles of the October manifesto, considering this to be the Emperor's will, and expresses the hope that it finally will abolish anarchy and give the Government an opportunity to make progress along the path of reform, to aid in the economic development of the country, and to grant further civil liberties.

Finally, the address says that the House will first devote itself to endeavoring to bring about a rapprochment between the Emperor and the people, and hopes the House will merit the confidence of both.

The Constitutional Democrats do not object to the wording of the address, and probably it will be adopted without dissent.

Will Fight Black Hand.

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 19.—Aroused by increasing boldness on the part of desperate blackmailers, masquerading under the name of the "Black Hand," professional and business men among the Italians of Chicago Sunday organized the "White Hand Society."

From now on, the Mano Bianco (white hand) will wage a war of extermination against the Mano Nora (black hand) Society. The crusade has been started by the two leading Sicilian societies of Chicago.

Captured Alleged Bank Robbers.

Montreal, Nov. 19.—The two suspected bank robbers who were only captured after a stand-up revolver fight with four city detectives Sunday at St. Lambert, and who are now lodged in jail, the remaining four of the gang having taken to the woods and escaped for the time being at least, are from Ontario. One is John Boevin of Berlin, and the other Thos. Hudson, a Scotchman by birth, resided in Lindsay up to three years ago.

Chinamen Cross Border.

Brockville, Nov. 19.—A party of four Chinamen during the past week eluded the U. S. officers watching the Canadian and American shores between here and Prescott and making a landing succeeded in getting away without being captured. Prescott and Brockville are the headquarters of the Celestials, who are seeking to get across the line, and it is intimated that upwards of 200 are in waiting to take the chance.

Royal Visit Concluded.

London, Nov. 19.—The official visit of Emperor William and Empress Augusta Victoria to King Edward and Queen Alexandra was concluded yesterday, when they both left Windsor, the Empress proceeding to Holland, where she will visit Queen Wilhelmina, and the Emperor going to High Cliffe Castle, where he will spend several weeks in recuperation.

Premier's New Car.

Ottawa, Nov. 19.—Sir Wilfrid and Lady Laurier have joined the ranks of the automobilists, and are now possessors of probably the finest motor car in Ottawa. It is a new English touring car, valued at about $8,000, and arrived in the city a few days ago for Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and is now in commission.

15,000 Letters Destroyed.

Ottawa, Nov. 19.—The mail of the eastbound 800 train, which was destroyed in the Moore Lake wreck of Thursday night last, was one of the heaviest the train had ever carried. In addition to 15,000 letters there were 150 pieces of registered mail matter.

SENATOR COSTIGAN SAVED FROM DEATH

New Brunswick's Grand Old Man Suffered Severely, but Made a Quick Recovery.

Practically everyone in Canada has heard of Hon. John Costigan—statesman, orator, M.P., Cabinet Minister, and now Senator, from New Brunswick. For over thirty years this prominent Irish war a martyr to Chronic Constipation. Leading physicians of London, Paris, New York and Ottawa treated him in vain. It remained for a wonderful Canadian discovery to cure him—and in only three months too.

233 Cooper Street, Ottawa.

"I have been a dreadful sufferer from chronic constipation for over thirty years, and I have been treated by many physicians and taken many kinds of medicine, without any benefit whatever. Finally, I was advised to try "Fruit-a-tives," and, after taking them for a few months, I feel I am well from this horrible complaint. 'Fruit-a-tives' is the only medicine I ever took that did me any positive good for Constipation. I can conscientiously recommend 'Fruit-a-tives' as, in my opinion, it is the finest medicine ever produced."

AN INSECT PLAGUE.

The Mosquitoes That Infest the Region of Lake Nyassa.

In his book "From the Cape to Cairo" E. S. Grogan writes: "The Kungu fly, which is peculiar to Lake Nyassa, resembles small May flies, and at certain seasons of the year they rise from the water in such stupendous clouds that they blot out the whole horizon. Seen in the distance they have exactly the appearance of a rain-storm coming across the lake. When they are blown landward they make every place uninhabitable by the stench which arises from the countless millions that lodge and die on every inch of sheltered ground. I myself have seen them lying a foot deep in a room, and I was told that they are often much worse. The natives sweep them up and make cakes of them.

"Biting and poisonous ants are another pest, but the mosquito is the great enemy of man. It was absolutely necessary to turn in half an hour before sunset and to make all the preparations for the night. I piled all my belongings round the edge of my net and kept a green wood fire burning at each end, and then I lay inside, smoked the native tobacco and prayed for morning. As soon as the sun went down the mosquitoes started operations.

"It was like having a tame whirlwind in one's tent. They could not possibly have been worse. Every night 200 or 300 contrived to enter my net—I have no idea how. The most pernicious and poisonous kind was a very small black mosquito that might possibly have penetrated the mesh. I used to turn out in the morning perfectly dazed from the amount of poison that had been injected during the night."

Forced to Wear False Hair.

Even though a woman's own hair is heavy and beautiful, the milliners are in league with the hairdressers to force her to wear the store kind. The latest creation in headgear from Paris, called the haystack hat, requires the hair to be dressed high. A thick pad must be pinned on the crown of the head, and over that the hair must be rolled. Then the hair is arranged in little curls. On this mass the hat is poised and fastened with two long pins. The hair then is loosened in front and pinned up to the brim of the hat. "This new wrinkle," a woman says, "may require a girl from the milliner's shop as maid to place the hat properly and drive in the hatpins where they will do the most good."

SALVATION ARMY SECRET.

Mystery of General Booth's Successor Not Yet Revealed.

Certain statements published professing to reveal the name of General Booth's successor as head of the Salvation Army have given considerable offence.

The aged evangelist had stated at Blackburn that "the same electric flash that carried the news of his death would announce that a new general of the Salvation Army lived." On this was built up a theory that the individual pointed at was Mr. Bramwell Booth, eldest son of General Booth.

Commissioner Nicol characterized this story as "most indiscreet and stupid."

No one but the general himself and his legal adviser can know who is to be the successor. The document which secures the succession is in a sealed packet in the strong-room of the solicitor, and will not be opened until after the general's death.

"It is safe to say, however," said Commissioner Nicol to a pressman, "that the general has done all that the best legal minds can suggest to him to preserve the principles and conduct of the Army, and everything will proceed as heretofore.

"As to jumping at names, it is most indiscreet. Couldn't the Army have a queen as well as a king?"

As illustrating the extreme care which the general has used in drawing up the contents of the sealed packet, Commissioner Nicol volunteered that amongst those the general had consulted in regard to the principal arrangements are Mr. Haldane and Mr. Asquith.

General Booth is now in his 79th year, and Mr. Bramwell Booth, the eldest of his three sons, is fifty, and now bears the title of chief of staff.

A Pretty Story.

General Booth's own comment on the situation in the event of his death is as follows: "Many people have said to me, 'Well, general, you can't expect to live for ever, you know. You must die some time. What is going to become of the Salvation Army when you are dead?' My answer to this is simple: I would be foolish indeed if after building up a great organization I did not take the necessary steps towards it perpetuation. I would be lacking good business sense if I had not already made all preparations that best legal skill could devise. All these preparations are made.

"But I want to say I am not dead yet; on the contrary, I have a lot of fight in me still."

The latest tour of the general has called forth many dainty stories, but few with more feeling than the one told by a Salvation lassie at Southport. When applying for her first situation she was asked for a reference, but not having been in work before she was unable to produce one. Noticing her Army brooch, and seeing the general's photo suspended from it, the employer said: "Well, I will take General Booth as a reference." "So you see," added the girl, "the general got me my first place."

STRUGGLE FOR PRIZE MONEY.

"Sport of Kings" Attracts Men of Diversified Professions.

The vast multitude of race horse owners in England, from the King downwards, are eagerly engaged in a strenuous struggle for the £500,000 annually distributed as prize money on the turf. It is extremely interesting and somewhat surprising to glance at the list of winning owners and see who the lucky sportsmen were who obtained a share of this glittering heap of gold in the last contest. Headed by His Majesty the list of winning owners contained the names of four dukes and twenty-four lords, says The Tatler. The ducal owners carried off £19,719, but the lords easily beat them with an aggregate of £79,224. As showing how widely and curiously distributed was the turf gold the winning owner comprised brewers, distillers, bookmakers, professional backers of horses, a theatrical manager, an actor, an actress, stockbrokers, diamond merchants, ex-jockeys, millionaires, newspaper proprietors, trainers of racehorses, army men, a rear-admiral of the fleet, a solicitor, bankers, a boot manufacturer, farmers, a ladies' mantle merchant and a whole host of other trades and professions, all meeting on the same common level of the turf.

CUNNING OF MUSKRATS.

Foresight With Which These Animals Build Winter Homes.

In the month of March, before the rivers have opened, on the snow around the heads of the creeks and about the airholes in the thick ice may be seen the curious trail of the muskrat. It can readily be recognised by the firmly planted footmarks, heavily and slowly impressed, and the sharp after drag of the long, scaly, bladelike tail. All through the cold winter months these heavily furred animals have lived warm and comfortable in their well constructed houses, rearing their third and last litter. One house erected about September seemed planned with almost human foresight. Here, with their long sharp teeth and strong, inch long claws, they had cut and cleared wide paths through all the marshes—paths so deep that three feet of ice did not close them, so wide that we have often paddled along them, marveling at the great floating masses of torn up aquatic vegetation. These paths were a hundred yards long and four feet wide and were cut through a mass of tangled cover high enough in most places to thoroughly conceal a duck hunter and his canoe. In the winter months the muskrats can easily dive from their houses into these under ice channels, and the whole marsh is before them to choose their meal from. The long yellow roots of the flag and the juicy tubers of the wild onion (the muskrat apple is the more poetic Ojibway) hang exposed before them or are readily torn out.—Bournycastle Dale in Outing Magazine.

A BUSY MONARCH.

King Edward Lives Strenuous Life—Has No Idle Moments.

The program of activities which King Edward is undergoing this summer marks him as one of the busiest and most hard-working Monarchs of his time. The German Emperor has a popular reputation for activity, and President Roosevelt's name is linked with "the strenuous life," but when it is considered how much older the King of England is than his compeers he may challenge comparison with either. The recent visit to Ireland was one of the last chapters in the King's work before an August vacation at Marienbad concludes a strenuous summer.

Last week the King went to Newmarket for racing, and after that to the Goodwood races and to the Cowes regatta before his departure for Marienbad.

While abroad the King will meet the Emperor of Austria. In September the German Emperor will visit King Edward while the court is in residence at Windsor. This will mean much entertaining, reviewing of troops and formalities, but the recent announcements have failed to excite any enthusiasm in this country. There was much sighing in society during the years of Queen Victoria's widowhood for the splendors of court life. King Edward is giving the court and the country a memorable social reign, apart from his activities as a diplomat.

She Raised the Dust.

A woman who was unskilled in any art or trade became a professional duster. She had never been trained to work and was quite at a loss to know what to do when circumstances rendered it necessary that she should become self supporting. She had a large circle of friends, who were very well to do, and, hearing one of them complain of the carelessness of her maid in dusting the beautiful and costly bric-a-brac with which her house was filled, she offered to do the dusting periodically. She supplied herself with dusters of various kinds, exquisitely clean chamois skins for polishing, camel's hair brushes and skewers for dislodging the dust from crevices. Eventually she had several engagements. This is a true story, and it offers the suggestion that if a person thinks long and earnestly he or she will be likely to find at last something to do.

She Was Wise.

"And you say this is the first time you have ever loved?"

"Yes."

"Do you know what I think you are?"

"Well, what?"

"I think you are a matrimonial fakir."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Peterborough, Ontario.

DEAR SIR,—

Your favor of the 24th inst. received enclosing statement of profits allotted to my policy 7091, in the "Sun Life" for the past five years.

Above policy is for $1,000 on the whole life five year distribution plan on which I paid an annual premium of $28.35, or $141.75 for the five year period.

I find the CASH PROFITS amount to $53.85, or about 40 per cent. of the total premiums paid during the five years. This is certainly a splendid showing and speaks volumes for the earning powers of the Sun Life Company's investments.

Thanking you and wishing your company continued success,

Yours truly,

Rich Finds in Northern Part of the County

Ores Found by Prospector Fred Reutsch Assay Highly—Chance for Capitalists

A company of nine local workingmen, believing that there was much mineral wealth in the northern part of the county, decided to send one of their number on a prospecting trip to that particular part in which they believed minerals were to be found most plentifully. As a result application was made to the Minister of Mines for the province for a prospector's license for Mr. Fred Reutsch, and the license was granted him on visited the grounds in question and took out several claims, sinking shafts in one of the properties now known as No. 1, and found much gold, silver and copper ore, samples of which he sent J. F. Latimer 13 Patrick street, Toronto, who is an expert assayist. As a result of the tests made by Assayist Latimer, the surface silver ore was found to yield 67 cents a ton, and gold found at a depth of five feet, $1.25 p ton, and silver found at the same depth $1.61 a ton, making a total in the case of the latter two of $2.66 to the ton, with a trace of copper. At a depth of nine feet gold ore was found yielding $1.50 a ton. On No. 1 property there is also a sixteen-foot foot rock bed, with a four feet, sixteen inches seam, showing aloitte with gold and silver in large quantities. A glance at the result of the assays will prove that the showings of ore assayed highly.

It is the desire of the company to get some capitalists, either from Peterborough or outside places, to lend their financial assistance in the project of working the mines, and its members are convinced that if the operations were carried out, very large returns would result. They believe the scene of Mr. Reutsch's prospecting to be one of the richest mining fields in the north country.

Any information concerning the matter may be obtained at 106 Stewart street, the residence of one of the members of the company. A good sized sample of blue cobalt rock from No. 1 property, containing gold, silver and copper is at his office, and may be inspected by anyone desiring to examine it.

REMAINS WERE LAID TO REST

Funeral of the Late John A. McWilliams Was Largely Attended—Many Pay Last Respect

The remains of the late John A. McWilliams, who passed away suddenly in Lakefield on Thursday night last, were laid to rest in Little Lake cemetery yesterday afternoon. The funeral was held under Orange auspices and the different lodges in the county were represented. The cortege was a long one, many prominent citizens turning out to pay their last respect to the memory of one who was universally respected and esteemed.

The services at the deceased's late residence, Rogers street, East City, was conducted by Rev. J. G. Potter, assisted by Rev. Dr. Talling, of St. Paul's church, of which, the late Mr. McWilliams was a devoted member. Rev. C. H. Coon and Rev. A. H. Brace also assisted at the house.

Honest and upright in all his dealings and always foremost for that which was good, the deceased was a striking example of the Christian man.

The funeral procession was led by the local S. A. band followed by the members of Diamond L.O.L. No. 80. Representatives were present from Downer's Corners lodge No. 321, Nassau No. 457 and Smith No. 178. The members of the Black Preceptory and the Royal Scarlet Chapter were in attendance and several gentlemen in important offices in the Orange Order drove in cabs. The procession was several blocks in length and all along the street were lined people who had known the deceased in his life time and had turned out to show their respect.

At the cemetery, Rev. A. H. Brace, chaplain of Diamond L.O.L. No. 80, took charge of the last sad rites.

The pall bearers were Messrs. Wm Gaudham, P.C.M., Lakefield; Jos. Batten, P.C.M.; G. Stewart, P.C.M.; Jas. Moore, P.C.M., Lakefield; Wm. Kinsted, P.C.M., and W. H. G. Armstrong, County Master.

The floral offerings were numerous and beautiful, including a cross from the Black Preceptory, and many other handsome designs from the different branches of the order, and several tributes from friends.

The bereaved widow and family have the sympathy of a host of friends in their sad bereavement.

All the Members of One Family Afflicted With Ptomaine Poisoning

They Partook of Sausage for Dinner and Became Ill—One of the Family Still Sick—Medical Aid Summoned Just in Time.

The members of the Detcher family, 171 Harvey street, on Saturday partook of sausage for dinner, and suffered from ptomaine poisoning. Messrs. Frank and Thomas Detcher and their sister, Miss Lillie, partook quite freely of the meat, but Mr. Joseph Detcher did not eat much of it. On Sunday morning, all the members were in a drowsy condition and could not be aroused by people who called. Finally Mr. Joseph Detcher, by a supreme effort, managed to get around, and he found his two brothers and sisters in a stupor. He aroused them, but they relapsed into their former inanimate condition. Medical aid was summoned and on arriving a physician found the members extremely sick and faint with temperature below normal and a rapid beating of the pulse, as well as severe headaches.

Remedies were applied and the male members of the household are again at work, but Miss Detcher is still quite ill.

The family certainly had a close call. Ptomaine poisoning is very dangerous, and only the prompt measures taken, resulted in the family escaping as they did.

Thrown From Horse, Young Boy Receives Serious Injuries

Stanley Gorman, Rubidge St., Badly Hurt Last Evening.

Young Colt Became Frightened at a Shunting Engine

While riding on horseback along King street last evening, about 6 o'clock Stanley Gorman, the fifteen-year-old son of Mr. Thos. Gorman, of 343 Rubidge street, was suddenly thrown to the ground, receiving painful injuries. Riding towards the G.T.R. station, the animal, which was a rather spirited one, took fright at a shunting engine, reared up on its hind limbs and fell backwards, trampling the young lad underneath it. The horse was a young colt and naturally became scared very easily. Mr. Charles Cavanagh, who was passing in a buggy, was a witness of the accident, and at once went to his assistance. The boy was driven in an unconscious condition to his home and Dr. McNulty was quickly summoned. It was found that he had received several cuts and bruises about the face and head. He was suffering intense pain, and it is thought that the young fellow is seriously injured internally. The accident is a very unfortunate one, the victim having just recently returned from Ottawa, where his uncle had given him the horse as a gift. He prized it very highly, and it was affording him a great deal of pleasure.

It was learned today that the young fellow was resting easily and progressing favorably.

LADIES NARROWLY ESCAPED MEETING HORRIBLE DEATH

While Walking Along Railroad Track Sunday Evening

DID NOT SEE TRAIN COMING

Fell Headlong Down Embankment in Their Hurry to Get Out of the Way.

Two young ladies while walking east along the G.T.R. railroad track on Sunday evening about 8.30 o'clock, had a narrow escape from meeting a most horrible death. They were walking towards the bridge, which is situated a little to the west of Stewart street and at this point there is quite a curve in the track making it impossible for one to know if a train is coming until they are very close to it. In this particular instance a double header freight train was rounding the curve at a terrific rate of speed and but for the quickness of Mr. J. Cunningham of this city, who shouted to the girls to get off the track they would have certainly been instantly killed. Both young ladies in their hurry to get out of the way of the fast approaching train, rolled headlong down the embankment. Other than being terribly frightened, the ladies escaped unhurt. After recovering somewhat from the shock they realized the great danger they had been in.

In the afternoon a lady with a baby carriage had the same experience, and people in the future will have to more careful at this point and should take the sidewalk and thus avoid taking any risks.

Board of Trade Annual Banquet

Hon. J. D. Rolland of Montreal Will be Principal Speaker

At the first annual banquet of the Board of Trade tomorrow (Wednesday) evening, at the Oriental hotel, the principal speaker will be Hon. J. D. Rolland, of Montreal, President of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association. Mr. Rolland will arrive in the city by the early morning C.P.R. train, and at 9 o'clock will be met by a committee from the Board of Trade and driven to the various industries and points of interest in Peterborough. The banquet will begin at 8.30 o'clock sharp, and Mr. Rolland will reply to the toast of "The Canadian Manufacturing Industries."

The toast list is not a long one, and the banquet should be over at a reasonably early hour.

Among the other noted guests of the evening, Hon. Geo. A. Cox, Mr. Frederic Nicholls, Mr. Stratton and others are expected.

Dr. Morrison, president of the Board of Trade, will preside, and the attendance promises to be large and representative in every respect.

Mrs. Dorothy Wilkinson, of Leamington, is dead, aged 90.

Hard Time Landing the Passengers

Water Lily Had Exciting Experience at Rice Lake Saturday Night

The crew of the steamer "Water Lily" had a rather exciting time on the return trip from Peterborough Saturday night. Rice Lake was frozen over and, although the boat had broken its passage through in the morning, the channel was frozen over again before the boat returned and it was with great difficulty that the steamer was able to proceed. The passengers on board had to be left at the various ports of call, and it was an unusually late hour before the boat had completed its trip. Several times the steamer had to stop on account of the thickness of the ice.

The Water Lily came up last night with a scow load of wood of the Peterborough Fuel & Carriage Co. She returns tomorrow and unless the weather becomes unusually warm, the "Lily" will make no more trips this season.

WORD EXPECTED THIS AFTERNOON

Locals Anxious to Have a Crack at Ottawa College

The locals are hopeful of meeting Ottawa College next Saturday, but nothing definite has been decided in the matter yet. Definite information will probably be received this afternoon. Peterborough is very anxious to play the inter-collegiate champions and it is to be hoped that they will have the opportunity to do so. The teams and its supporters have been eagerly looking forward to the game ever since the locals won the O.R.F.U. championship.

DIED

TREMBLE.—At Toronto, on Nov. 18th, 1907, Emma, beloved wife of Frederick Tremble.

Funeral Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock, from 84 Queen's Park ave.

Dr. Browett's Dates at Peterboro'

His Successful Visit. For the past few weeks Dr. Browett, optical specialist, has been teaching opticians at Midland. A large number of persons have taken the opportunity of Dr. Browett's visit to that thriving Georgian Bay port to have their eyes examined for glasses, and thus save themselves the expense of a trip to the larger cities. While there people from Penetanguishene and other adjoining towns have visited him and several very difficult cases have been helped. Dr. Browett will before visiting his next teaching appointment, spend Tues. to Sat., 19th to 23rd at his home office at our store and conduct examinations for those for whom we are making appointments.

OBITUARY

MRS. JAS. KIDD.

At the age of 87 years, Mrs. James Kidd, one of the oldest and most highly respected residents of Dummer township, has passed away. The deceased, whose maiden name was Isabella McNaughton, is survived by three sons and five daughters. The sons are Dr. Peter Kidd, of New York; Dr. Donald, of Atwood, Ont., and Walter John, of Dummer, and the daughters, Mrs. John Ferguson, Lakefield; Mrs. O. G. Williamson, Omemee; Mrs W. J. Campbell, Belleville; Mrs. Fife, Omemee, and Mrs. Kelly, at home.

MRS. J. RUBIDGE.

In the person of Mrs. John Rubidge, who died yesterday morning at her residence, 291 Stewart street, Peterborough, this city loses one of its very oldest and best known residents. Mrs. Rubidge also had been suffering from heart trouble for the past five months, was a native of Ireland, coming to Canada early in life. Her husband, who has been dead some twelve years, was John De P. Rubidge, a son of the late Capt. Rubidge, R.N.; well known as one of the original settlers in this county. A sister, Mrs. Cooper, of Detroit, two married daughters, Mrs. Reginald Drayton, of Lakefield, and Mrs. A. B. Lambe, of Toronto; three unmarried daughters, Misses Minnie, Lizzie and Florence, and one son, Mr. J. D. Rubidge, of Keokuk, Iowa, are the survivors.

The funeral will be held from her late residence to the Little Lake cemetery on Wednesday afternoon at 2.30, and will be conducted by the Rev. Canon Davidson, as Mrs. Rubidge was a member of St. John's church.

MRS. FREDERICK TREMBLEE.

The death occurred in Toronto yesterday of Mrs. Frederick Tremble, a former resident of Peterborough and a lady well known in this city. Deceased was forty years of age and was a daughter of Mrs. George Woods, 132 Park street. She is survived by her husband and one daughter, Miss Florence Tremble, of Toronto, also her mother and one brother, Mr. George Woods, Peterborough, and three sisters, Misses Lucy and Alice Woods of Peterborough, Mrs. Gilbert Scott, of Neapolis, Alberta.

The late Mrs. Tremble was highly esteemed by a large number of friends and her death will be sincerely regretted.

The funeral will take place on Wednesday afternoon at three o'clock from her late residence, 84 Queen's Park avenue, Toronto.

Three Cases at Non Jury Sittings

The Non-Jury Sittings of the High Court will open on Thursday afternoon next at the o'clock, before Mr. Justice Mabee. Three cases will come up for hearing.

Lover of Drama Upholds Plays

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir.—I read the report that appeared in the Review yesterday concerning a sermon preached on Sunday night in one of the local churches, and was also unfortunate enough to hear the sermon. In some respects it was passable, in others amusing. Any man, whether a preacher or not, that takes it upon himself to pass an opinion upon something of which he knows nothing, certainly does not deserve serious consideration. A single visit to a theatre or several theatres counts for nothing. There are many plays on the stage today that are master-pieces, both from a literary and moral standpoint, and in their very divinity are above the comprehension of ordinary promoters of pink teas and church theatricals and will live for hundreds of years after their ineffective critics are forgotten. The most intellectual and high-minded men of all nations have been patrons of the higher drama, as have also the more broad-minded clergy.

Yours sincerely,
LOVER OF THE DRAMA
Peterborough, Nov. 19.

Social Evening at St. John's A.Y.P.A.

A social evening was spent by the members of St. John's A.Y.P.A. at their regularly fortnightly meeting. Mr. Matt. Drysdale occupied the chair in his usual happy manner. The following programme was given;

Recitation, Mr. Richardson.
Cornet solo, Mr. C. Wesley.
Vocal solo, Mr. Chandler.
Vocal solo, Mr. Bayliss.
Recitation, Mr. Greenhalgh.
Stump Speech, Mr. M. Drysdale.
Vocal solo, Mr. Coleman.

Refreshments were then served and a social time spent.

FULL DRESS SHOES

The social season is now upon us. The man or woman who "goes out," will want Dress Shoes, and will want just the correct sort. They are here in great variety of handsome styles. Such choice Leathers as Patent Kid and Colt, Vici Kid, and Gun Metal, in laced or button styles are the favorites.

Footwear Elegance

ST. ANDREW'S YOUNG PEOPLE

The Young People's meeting of St. Andrew's church was well attended last evening. The newly organized Young Men's Bible Class had charge, Mr. Harvey McCollough, the president, presiding. The subject was, "Men for Gideon's Band," and several able papers were read, Mrs. King taking a solo in good voice. Next Monday a missionary meeting will be held under the direction of the Missionary Committee. On Monday, Dec. 2nd, the Social Committee will have control. It will be a Scotch night, in honor of St. Andrew's day, which falls on Saturday, Nov. 30.

THE BATTLE OF LIFE

During the month of September industrial accidents to 340 individual workpeople were reported to the Department of Labor. Of these 96 were fatal and 244 resulted in serious injuries. The number of fatalities was six more than in September, 1906. Twenty persons were killed in railway service during the month, and 31 injured. Three railway employees were killed in collisions.

A BIG INDUSTRY

The new building now being erected for the Dickson Bridge Co., in Campbellford, is making progress, as the workmen are now engaged putting up the steel girders for the roof. The structure is a massive one, in keeping with the heavy character of the work to be performed within it. The enlargement of this industry will prove of great benefit to the town, as the prospects for this line of manufacture are very bright indeed.

More Bad Boys in Police Court

Four Fined $5 Each for Stealing Brass From C.G.E. Company

That Peterborough is overrun with a lot of bad boys was evidenced this morning, when nine, ranging in age from nine to sixteen years, were arranged before the Magistrate's police court.

Some of the offenders were charged with having on Sunday last, stolen a quantity of brass, the property of the C.G.E. Company. They elected to be tried by the Magistrate and pleaded guilty. "This is a serious offence," said His Worship. "A manufacturing company being robbed by boys that the lads might satisfy their taste for cigarettes, cheap shows and sweets. These boys should have been at Sunday school, and this punishment shall not be treated as a joke." A fine of $40 will have to be paid before they go, or, in default of payment, 20 days in gaol.

In view of the fact that one of the boys' mother was a widow woman, His Worship reduced the fine to twenty dollars. The fine, $5 each, was paid, and the lads were allowed their freedom.

STOLE COPPER WIRE.

Three other boys were charged with stealing copper wire, while another trio faced a charge of the theft of three brass lugs from the Canadian Machine Telephone Co.

Both cases were engarged until this afternoon at four o'clock, when they will be disposed of.

PARENTS WANTED MARRIAGE STOPPED

But Young Couple Had Already Been Wedded—Notice Received too Late

A young couple from Bridgenorth came early to the city last night, got married and, after staying at a hotel all night, left this morning for Toronto on a honeymoon trip.

About ten o'clock last night Chief of Police Rozel received a message from Constable Cullen, of Bridgenorth, to stop the marriage and arrest the bride-to-be as she was under age and her parents on that account objected to her marriage.

The chief at once made inquiries, and finding that the young couple had already been united in the holy bonds of matrimony, he could do nothing in the matter without further instructions.

School Girls Do Walking Staunts Now

Everybody has the walking fever nowadays, even to the school girls. Yesterday a walking contest was inaugurated from the King Edward school to the corner of George and Hunter streets, by some of the young girls in attendance at the school, and whose homeward course takes them northward, and was continued today. Miss Pearl Morgan holds the record, fifteen minutes, which is fast time for the distance. Among the others who were conspicuous for their fast time, are Miss Clinkscale and Miss Maud Rountree.

Another Party Home From Chase

Secured Four Deer in Parry Sound District—Lakes Frozen Over

Messrs. Robert Neill, Sam Ray, Joseph Gibson and Charlie Gladman who have been deer hunting in Burnes township, about 28 miles north east of Parry Sound on the banks of the Shawanaga river, have returned home. There were only four members in the party, and, this not being a sufficient number to cover all the runways, many deer escaped. This company secured four fine animals—all bucks—the two largest weighing 225 and 200 pounds respectively. The party had four good dogs and report deer plentiful. They had intended going to Goose Neck lake, but finding so many hunters going to that spot they changed their destination and went to Shawanaga river instead. Owing to the poor train service and some of the lakes being partly covered with ice, they did not reach their objective point until November 4th. However, they all report having had an excellent time. They would have returned sooner, only they were delayed a couple of days in getting out, on account of the snow and ice. On some of the lakes, the ice is four inches thick, while snow three inches deep covered the ground last week.

REVIEW WANT ADVTS.

The want advertisement when inserted in the Daily Review, seldom fails to accomplish the object aimed at, because the people read the Review and consult its columns. Here are three instances within the last two days:—

An owner advertises a new house for rental and gains a suitable tenant on the second insertion.

A lady's watch, lost on Sunday night, was advertised for in the Review on Monday, and returned to the owner on Tuesday morning.

A cow strayed into a citizen's premises and stayed there for four days. Then the citizen, growing weary of supporting the cow, advertised in the Review, and the owner came next day and claimed his beef.

Concerning the Tiny Children

Management of the Grand Unable to Admit Them to Evening Performances

Owing to the complaints of a large number of patrons, the management of the Grand Opera House has found it necessary to disallow children in arms being taken to the evening performances. It is the desire of the management to show their appreciation of all who patronize the opera house and to extend them every courtesy possible, but the above step was decided upon on account of the confusion and discomfort, frequently occasioned by very young children while a play is being presented. They will be admitted to matinee performances, however, but in case they disturb the productions, they must be taken from the theatre, or else removed to the foyer, until they are quieted. The management has been loathe to take this action, but with every consideration for those concerned, has found it necessary to do so.

MEETINGS OF THE INSTITUTE

Excellent Speakers Have Been Secured—Good Musical Programme

The regular winter meetings of the West Peterborough Farmers' Institute will be held as follows; At Ennismore town hall on Dec. 7th, afternoon and evening, and will be addressed by T. G. Raynor, of the Seed Department, Ottawa; E. C. Drury, of Crown Hill,, Dr. Annie Backus, of Aylmer, and other local talent, and on December 9, at Lakefield town hall, afternoon and evening. This latter will be a joint meeting.

The Women's Institutes will hold their own meeting in the Foresters' Hall in the afternoon. The speakers will be Mr. Drury, Dr. Backus, F. H. Reid, B.S.A., Teacher of Agriculture in the High School, Lindsay. Other local speakers are expected.

A splendid musical programme will be rendered at evening meetings.

And Now it's Chocolates That Are Up

Local Dealers Have Advanced the Price to 60c Per Box—Raw Material is Dearer

And now its the price of chocolates that's up.

Local confectioners are now selling the three leading lines, Lowney's, Webb's and Garong Bros., at sixty cents per box, whereas they formerly sold at fifty cents. At present there are only a couple of makes which are not dearer than they were a few days ago, and the dealers handling them are anticipating that they will soon have to make an increase in them.

The manufacturers claim that the price to them of the raw chocolate has been advanced, and so far some fines at least they are charging the dealers more. And the dealers simply pass on the increase, to the young men who want to please their best girls, and the husbands who want to put their wives in good humor. The advance is general throughout the country, and may have the effect of reducing the number of boxes of chocolates given as Christmas gifts. Peterborough dealers, however, report no falling off in sales.

St. Thomas Council have declined to submit a bylaw to raise $12,000 for an isolation hospital.

HONORABLY ACQUITTED

Young Lady Who Was Charged With Theft Dismissed

It was unfortunate that the young lady who was arraigned before the magistrate in police court yesterday on a charge of theft should be brought to face such a serious offence when she was perfectly innocent. She is highly esteemed and engaged as a Sunday School teacher in one of the city Sabbath schools. Her reputation has always been of the highest, and His Worship in giving judgment stated that there was no evidence against her. He was sure that she was perfectly innocent of the offence. The young lady's actions were not those of a guilty person. He regretted that she should have been brought to court, but was pleased to say that she was free from any connection with the case.

Many Attended the Revival Services

At Mark St. Church—Mr. Harry Dunford Spoke Last Evening

The revival service was continued last evening at Mark street church and was attended by a large number and much interest was displayed. Mr. Harry Dunford gave an address on the "freedom of the Gospel," basing his remarks on the text "If the Son can make you free then you shall be free." His discourse was very interesting and profitable and at the close several signified their intention to lead a better life.

To-night the song service will start at 7.45 sharp and Rev. E. A. Pearson of George street Methodist church, will preach.

Returns From Northern Ontario

Mr. Martin McFadden, Hunter St., Spent Two Weeks Hunting

Mr. Martin McFadden, Hunter st., returned on Saturday evening after spending two weeks vacation in the northern part of Ontario hunting and trapping. Mr. McFadden was stopping with a friend, a former Peterborough man, Mr. Jas. Cleary, who is situated 180 miles north of North Bay, near Lake Abitibi. Mr. Cleary is trapping back there and also has two mining claims on which he has been doing considerable work. Mr. McFadden had a successful hunt and downed several fine moose, but the distance was too far to bring any of them to Peterborough. Winter has set in very hard back in New Ontario, remarked Mr. McFadden. It is quite cold and there is a considerable depth of snow which makes sleighing the very best. Mr. McFadden did not stop off at Cobalt or New Liskeard, but only seen them as he passed through on the train. Cobalt has assumed a quieter aspect and the busy, thriving little village has greatly changed during the past few months.

Passed Cheque On Local Bank

Charles Drinkwater Allowed to Go on Suspended Sentence

The Toronto Star says;

Before Judge Winchester in County Criminal Court this morning, James P. Drinkwater pleaded guilty to obtaining $5 by false pretenses. He had spent a month in jail, and as it was a first offence he was let go on his own bond, on suspended sentence. Drinkwater issued a cheque on a Peterborough bank for which there were no funds.

Woman's World

MRS. C. M. COLEMAN.

Secured Nova Scotia Exhibit For Jamestown Fair.

The American woman's knack of doing things has often been remarked. The latest case to attract attention is that of Mrs. C. M. Coleman of Virginia, who accomplished a diplomatic mission to a foreign country after others had failed.

The Jamestown exposition attempted for months to interest the provincial government of Nova Scotia to the extent of making an exhibit of its vast mineral resources, but without success.

Mrs. Coleman learned this and determined that, if possible, the enterprise planned and promoted by the people of her native state should have the benefit of an exhibit from and the participation of the country which, next to Virginia, appeals to her most.

Mrs. Coleman, after an illness of several years, the result of an accident, went to Nova Scotia for her health. She was greatly benefited by the salubrious climate, and, possessing a very active mind, she became interested in the natural resources of the province. Mrs. Coleman found of especial interest the romantic history of the famous tribe of Mismac Indians, which has figured in Nova Scotia's history from the time of the first settlement of the province from these Indians, who were the first discoverers of gold in the province, Mrs. Coleman learned much of the vast gold deposits of the country. As a result she became interested and employed the services of expert mining engineers, geologists and scientists, whose reports were so satisfactory that she became a stanch and practical advocate of Nova Scotia as a country of great industrial possibilities.

MRS. C. M. COLEMAN.

Knowing, therefore, that the province could make the exhibit desired, and a creditable one, she went to the premier of Nova Scotia and so convincingly argued that a display at the Jamestown exposition of the mineral resources of the province would draw the attention of the world and result in much good to the country that the premier, receiving the approval of his cabinet, authorized the exhibit.

As a result Nova Scotia has today in the Palace of Mines and Metallurgy at the exposition one of the most beautiful displays of minerals made at the fair and the only exhibit of the kind made by any foreign government.

Brightening Leather Frames.

The raised embossed leather frames which are so much in evidence in most households soon get hopelessly shabby.

Usually they can be freshened by special polishes which are prepared for different kinds of leather and which should be bought at a reliable dealer's. They come in different colors and even tones, but often having the effect of making the article dark and dingy looking.

This can be overcome on certain kinds of leather by rubbing it from time to time with turpentine to take off the stains and then applying a little crude oil to prevent stiffening and cracking. Do not use much of the oil and rub it in well with a clean piece of flannel.

It is well to be sure, however, before trying this treatment that the article to be cleaned is really leather and not a composition, as is too often the case. Otherwise the coloring might be affected by the turpentine.

After the oil has been well rubbed in the surface should be gently polished with a soft clean cloth.

The French Knot.

The revival of interest in the French knot as a medium for embroidery has given us many interesting pieces of fancy work in which few if any other stitches are employed. We see scarfs, table covers, centerpieces, bureau scarfs and even borders to curtains developed entirely in innumerable knots so closely set as to make the work appear like a great raised mass of tiny composite flowers.

Probably one of the best subjects for this French knot treatment is the wild carrot, which lends itself to many graceful designs. The huge flower heads are worked by a collection of closely set knots, each one of which is made very tight and smooth and set close together.

The trouble with most embroiderers is that they do not attempt to do these knots evenly, so rough, loose ends and loops result.

To make a knot correctly the thread must be brought through the material exactly where the knot is to go. Then wind the thread around the needle two or three times. The oftener it is done the larger and firmer will be the knot. Put the needle down close beside where the thread came up.

The most important part of the work is at this point, for if the thread is not held perfectly taut with the thumb the looped effect is inevitable.

Though the French knot is now employed almost exclusively for floral designs, it has served for other purposes in times past.

In the earliest ecclesiastical embroideries it was used to represent the hair of men and of angels, while in even more ancient examples of Chinese art needlework it was employed for the flesh of the queer Celestial figures and was scattered like stipple over the entire surface of the embroidery.

Today the French knot is much used instead of embroidered dots on conventional bandings and trimmings, but is scarcely as serviceable, especially for materials that require laundering, as the raised dot in satin stitch, which washes much better.

When washing greasy dishes a pots and pans, Lever's Dry Soap (powder) will remove the grease with the greatest ease.

Easy and Sure.

One day Lord Russell while chatting with Bismarck asked him how he got rid of those importunate visitors whom it is impossible not to receive and who when they have been received never think it is time to take themselves off, says Il Motto per Ridere. The chancellor replied smilingly:

"Oh, I have an easy and sure means. My wife at once understands when a person belongs to that terrible class, and when she is sure that such a person has me in his clutches and sees that he is staying too long she finds some way of coming to call me and of getting me away, on some plausible pretext."

Bismarck had nearly finished giving his explanation to Lord Russell when his wife appeared in the doorway of the adjoining room.

"My dear," she said, "will you come and take your medicine? It is more than an hour past the time."

Famous Writers' Foibles.

Keats liked red pepper on his toast.

Dickens was fond of wearing jewelry.

Daudet wore his eyeglasses when asleep.

Edgar Allan Poe took his cat to bed with him and was inordinately proud of his feet.

Thackeray used to lift his hat whenever he passed the house in which he wrote "Vanity Fair."

Alexandre Dumas the younger bought a new painting every time he had a new book published.

Robert Louis Stevenson's favorite recreation was playing the flute—as he said, to tune up his ideas.

Robert Browning could not sit still. With the constant shuffling of his feet holes were worn in the carpet.

Mahogany Cake.

The unusual combination of sweet milk and soda in this cake is very good because of the chocolate. The cake keeps fresh and moist several days: One and a half cups of sugar, half a cup of butter, a cup of sweet milk, three eggs, a square bitter chocolate, a teaspoonful of soda, two cups of flour. Melt chocolate in half the milk and dissolve soda in the remainder. Cream butter and sugar, add the well beaten yolks of eggs, then add the melted chocolate, milk and flour. Fold in the stiffly beaten whites last. Bake in two square pans in a moderate oven. Put together with any favorite icing.

Just Cold Water.

It's so easy and so inexpensive, so altogether simple, that the cold water way to beauty is seldom traveled. But it is true that cold water is excellent as a preventive of wrinkles. Used frequently on the face, it makes the flesh firm, and firm flesh never wrinkles. If a cold spray can be used, it will be better than the cold compresses, and dipping the face into a basin of cold water is also a great help to the skin. Used in any way, in fact, except for cleansing purposes, there is nothing so good for face, throat and chest as cold water.

Planked Whitefish.

Clean and split a three pound whitefish. Put the skin side down on an oak plank one inch thick and a little longer and wider than the fish. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and brush with melted butter. Bake twenty-five minutes in a hot oven. Remove from the oven, spread with butter, garnish with parsley and lemon. The fish should be sent to the table on the plank.

Lemons which have become hard and shrunken owing to the cold weather or from being kept too long may be softened by laying them to soak for a few hours in cold water. To keep the yolk of an egg from congealing it is a good plan to pour a little water over it before putting it away. When this is poured off before making use of the yolk the latter will be found perfectly soft and fresh.

Mr. Rich—I suppose you find that a baby brightens up the house.

Mr. Benedict—Yes; we burn nearly twice the gas we used to.

Don't close the oven door with a bang when cake is baking.

To scale fish easily dip it in boiling water.

In a year end C.P.R. collision at Brandon on Saturday Brakeman McEachren was burned to death.

HOW TO ARRANGE FLOWERS.

Never Put Different Varieties Together In the Same Vase.

There is as subtle an art in the arrangement of flowers as there is in the arrangement of a coiffure, and many a flower "blushes" as privately in the cramped quarters of an overcrowded vase as it would amid the recognized solitude of the "desert air."

She who would obtain the best effects from her flowers should remember the methods of the late Celia Thaxter, the poetess of the Isles of Shoals. Mrs. Thaxter, who was passionately fond of flowers, had enormous gardens in her island, which daily yielded her quantities of flowers. Her house from kitchen to garret was filled with vases of bloom, and these vases were a joy to the eye used to bouquets of uncongenial tints and alien floral personalities. For, instead of the familiar ragout of flowers, Mrs. Thaxter separated each variety, and so all over her house there were great vases of roses, and there were equally great vases of trailing wistaria, there were bowls of sweet peas and tall urns full of velvety nasturtiums. Every flower was assigned a separate apartment, and the result was a sense of harmony and repose which is never afforded by the indiscriminate mingling of flowers.

But more dangerous than any jargon of floral tints is the huddling together of flowers. Frequently nowadays one sees a vase of daisies which is clutched so tightly together that every petal encroaches upon its neighbor's anatomy. The result is as unpoetic as a knot of hair which is screwed up on the back of the head without any preliminary of wave or pompadour. After encountering the tenement arrangement of flowers, so to speak, it will occur to many that the well known speech of Robert Chambers' "Poet Beautiful" in regard to "a single flower against a mere background of nothing at all" is not without value.

She Understood.

"Indeed he did. He succeeded in raising the mischief." — Des Moines Register.

An Address on "Christian Life"

Given by Sheriff Hall to Knox Church Young People

The devotional committee of the Young People's Society of Knox church had charge of the meeting last evening and a very interesting and profitable time was spent.

Mr. Carruthers, convenor of the committee, occupied the chair and opened the proceedings. Mrs. Tappin and Mrs. Parker gave a vocal duet, while Misses W. Anderson and A. Carr each gave splendidly rendered solos.

The principal feature of the evening was the address by Sheriff Hall on "The Christian Life." He pointed out several characteristics of the life of a christian. His discourse was a forceful one and productive of much good.

TOO EXTRAVAGANT

Are the people spending too much? Are they living too extravagantly, mortgaging the future too heavily to realize on the present? It would seem so judging by the statements of bank managers, and those in a position to closely observe the trend and tendencies of the times. The clergy are also calling attention to the lavishness and recklessness of this age. A neighboring divine in an address last Sunday pertinently observed:

"Far too much attention is being paid to what our neighbor possessed." It was so today, that the man on a small salary strove to have luxuries that the man on a large salary had. It was this effort on the part of many to live beyond their means that was causing untold suffering, and was the occasion of grave sin. Almighty God would hold every man responsible for the goods of the world placed in his (the man's) possession. We were not privileged to squander money or to go into debt to have everything we desired in this world."

To the young men he gave some pointed and valuable advice. "Too much money was being spent in entertainment, on cigars, fivery rigs, costly clothes and other luxuries. Young men, in a great many instances, were not fulfilling their duties towards their parents. Instead of being a help to their parents, who were in some instances broken down by hard work, they were an additional burden.

"It was actually true, that in some cases, the hard-working parents were obliged to board and clothe young men who ought to be lightening the burdens of fathers and mothers, instead of increasing them. It was a debt every young man owed his parents, for they worked for these young men when they were in their infancy, and too young to take care of themselves.

"He desired this young men over of his congregation to be more considerate of their parents and not drive the lives out of fathers and mothers by a life of sloth and idleness. They had a duty to perform and that duty must not be shirked."

FEAR EXPOSURE

It is announced in correspondence sent out from Ottawa to the Government press throughout the country that in the coming session Opposition members will not be allowed to "slander" their opponents as they did last year. Mr. Foster, Mr. Fowler and others are mentioned as members to be suppressed. About a year ago similar threats were made apparently with the idea of intimidating opposition members and preventing criticism and exposure. But the criticism and the exposure went on and the country knows what happened to certain imposing public men in consequence. There may be an attempt in the coming session to gag members in the House and choke off inquiry in the committees. No doubt there are Ministers and members who would dearly love to discover some process by which the light could be kept from their transactions. In the past they have been partially successful by their control of the machinery of the House and by their power of voting down motions for inquiry. That they have not fully succeeded in preventing exposure, the long list of proved scandals testifies. They have not been in the least degree successful in frightening any Opposition member from the performance of his duty, and the attempt will be equally vain in the session of 1907-08.

PEN POINTS

The high price of meat continues. Even venison is dear this year.

Some of the Peterborough barbers are cutting hair, whiskers and prices.

Attend the Board of Trade banquet to-morrow night and get filled up — — on good ideas as to how best to advance the welfare of the city.

Do not talk hard times too soon. Remember most men feel as they talk. There is no use crossing a bridge until you come to it, or shaking hands with a ghost before you meet one.

Once more—just once! Do your Christmas shopping now. Why delay? You have no good reason, whereas if you act now you will have great cause for thankfulness later on.

These are sorry times for the man who does not exercise some forethought. For instance he cannot now enter an appeal against his assessment or claim a discount for paying his taxes.

The Canadian Club will shortly hold its opening meeting. The addresses to be delivered before the members will prove timely, interesting and instructive. The club has ensured short speeches by engaging Prof. Shortt, of Queen's University for the opening night; therefore, no matter how long he talks his address will certainly possess the merit of being Shortt.

The milkmen will say there is no profit in delivery milk at the present prices, the baker will tell you the same. "Then what are you doing it for?" impertinently inquired a cynical woman. "If it does not pay you why don't you get out of it." "Well," replied the driver "we all have to live and I might as well live off you as anybody."

From hints thrown out by the Opposition newspapers, it is clear that the liquor law enforcement will play an important part in the issues of the coming Provincial campaign. It is thence a wise part for those on the Government side to see that the law is properly enforced a state of affairs that never existed under the iniquitous Ross administration.

The last issue of Preston Progress, edited by Mr. Charles H. Sawle, formerly of the Review staff, shows a healthy growth, having been enlarged to a twelve page six column weekly. The town of Preston is also advancing, over sixty new houses going up last season. Mr. Sawle has also installed a new cylinder press, much new type and affords other evidences of thrift. The Progress is certainly an enterprising, creditable journal and bids fair to keep up with the hustling industrial centre in which it is published.

Two old fashioned Liberal principles have been violated within a week. The member of Parliament for Colchester has been appointed to the Bench of Nova Scotia, taking a position of which he has had the promise ever since his election, and which has been kept vacant for him at a great inconvenience to suitors. All this is contrary to the policy announced by Liberal leaders in opposition, notably Sir William Mulock, afterwards minister, who declared that members sitting in Parliament with the promise of office were a corrupt and corrupting influence in Canadian public life. Sir William introduced a bill prohibiting the appointment to office of any member during the term for which he is elected. The bill was dropped fortunately, for the mover, as he himself afterwards stepped out of Parliament into a judgeship, after appointing to another judgeship the member of Parliament who had seconded his motion.

FOR SNAP SHOTS

Why not put all those snap shots you took this summer into a little book and use it as a Christmas gift for those of your friends who will be interested. Call at the Review office and see the styles of paper used.

Appreciation of His Services

Mr. Samuel Armstrong Honored by Sunday School With Which He Has Been Connected

To Mr. Samuel Armstrong:

"If thou doest well."

How wisely God lays out the way for his children. No arbitary line is laid down for human doing. The divine word is never "as well as" in comparison with others, but always, "If thou doest well, shalt thou not have the excellence." Gen. 4, 7.

When we see others seeming to out do us in spiritual living, seeming to serve us we cannot, we are not to envy or discourage, but in a sense of God's perfect love and perfect understanding, His perfect way of giving us our own due reward.

Always he "searches the soul with love's testing rod; gets its innermost depth and plan; ignores the products, and exalts the man."

It has been the pleasure of the sixth line, Otonabee, Sunday school, to present Mr. Samuel Armstrong with a handsome block and silver sugar bowl, accompanied by an address. Mr. Armstrong has been associated with the Sunday school for more than seventeen years and has been a faithful worker in the vineyard of His Lord and Master. The address was read by Miss Stark and the presentation made by Mr. John Shearer. The address was as follows:

To Mr. Samuel Armstrong:

Dear friend and Fellow Worker,—For many years you have given yourself with untiring zeal and rare self-sacrifice to the work of our Sunday school here. When we consider that in addition to your work in the school at Bethel church, in the performance of which most men would have considered their work fully done, you have not been deaf to the call here, but have under all circumstances and at much personal inconvenience, we are sure, given freely of your valuable services to us as well, and when we realize that whatever measure of success has attended the work of our Sunday school in this place, has been largely due to your faithfulness, energy, geniality and devotion to duty, it has appeared to us that the present occasion, marking the beginning of a new epoch in your life, is an opportune time for us to express our appreciation of your efforts on behalf of our school. You will, therefore please accept this gift, not as in any sense a remuneration for your services, but simply as a token or symbol of our esteem for you personally and appreciation of your efforts in our behalf.

It is our earnest hope and prayer that by the grace of God you and your worthy partner in life may long be spared to lives of happiness and usefulness in His services.

On behalf of Sixth line Sunday school,

MR. DAVID ARMSTRONG
MR. JOHN SHEARER.

Mr. Armstrong replied expressing his thanks and said it had been his pleasure to serve.

Ice is Breaking in Rice Lake

Lake Boats Will Probably Make Trips Next Saturday

Mr. Willie Cowe, the Blairathol stage driver, says that the ice is commencing to break in the centre of Rice Lake, and from present indications, the boats will be able to conveniently ply their traffic to the city next Saturday.

The Water Lily is taking on a scow load of wood to bring to the city next Saturday. There are several orders for potatoes to be delivered from the lake ports to Peterborough; and the Rainbow, Water Lily and Monarch will run their trips here next Saturday.

Return After Absence of Many Years

Messrs. R. J. and H. Stenson Guests of Their Parents Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Stenson, Reid Street

Mr. R. J. Stenson, mining recorder for the Ainsworth Mining Divsion with head offices at Kaslo, B. C., in company with his wife, is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Stenson, Reid street. His brother, Mr. Harry Stenson has also taken advantage of the opportunity of paying a visit to his parents, and both of the above gentlemen are enjoying themselves in their native city, which has surpassed all their most ambitious conjectures by growth and development. It is eleven years since Mr. R. J. Stenson has been in Peterborough, and fourteen years since his brother has visited the city.

The former when seen by the Review yesterday, said he was completely astounded with the great number of residences and manufacturing plants that had been constructed since the time he was here last, and on many places that had been mere pasture fields or vacant lots at that time, handsome dwelling places had been erected and pretty avenues built. In a ramble through the districts with which he is familiar by reason of his long residence here, he found many of them almost beyond recognition, so vast has been the changes and improvements.

FORMER RESIDENTS.

Mr. Stenson is acquainted with some Peterborough old boys in British Columbia, and all of them are doing well. Mr. Sam Green has the honor of being mayor of Kaslo, and his brother, Mr. J. W. Green is in the employ of the Ainsworth Mining Division, and is connected with the same office as Mr. Stenson. Mr. R. F. Green, who is a resident of Victoria, B. C., is prominent in provincial politics, and a staunch supporter and confidential friend of Premier McBride.

Mr. William Rutherford, a brother-in-law of Mr. Benj. Shortly of this city, and who served his professional apprenticeship with Mr. J. D. Tully, the local druggist, is in the drug business for himself in Victoria.

Messrs. R. J. and H. Stenson have been here for some time, and will stay here for a few days longer. On Wednesday, the former goes to New York to visit his brother, but will return here for a brief visit before returning to his home in the coast province.

MR. FOSTER WILL SPEAK AT LINDSAY

At Big Conservative Gathering To-morrow Evening

A big Conservative gathering will be held in Lindsay tomorrow (Wednesday) evening. The gathering will be in the interest of Col. Sam Hughes, M.P. Among the speakers will be Hon. Geo. E. Foster. Mr. Foster is one of the most effective and eloquent platform speakers in Canada, and doubtless a large number of the electors will avail themselves of the opportunity of hearing Canada's former Finance Minister. A number from Peterborough will attend.

GREETING CARDS

Leave your order for Xmas Greeting Cards early, at the Review Office, as the prettiest ones are sold out first.

COURT WILL HEAR NO MORE APPELLANTS

Large Number on Hand for the Last Night—Consideration of Appeals Will Now Start

The Court of Revision held its last sitting for hearing appeals last night and this evening will commence considering the claims of the different appellants. The meeting last night was to give all those who had been called, but had not appeared to be present and submit their claims. A good number showed up, but many did not appear and as a result their appeals will receive no further consideration. The Court has held nine meetings and has just got through one phase of its work. As many meetings more will likely be necessary before its labors have been completed.

Following are the appeals dealt with last night:

Martha Britton, increase of $350 at 13 Harvey street.—Reserved.

John Britton, increase $4,500 at 17 and 19 Harvey street.—Reserved.

F. E. Hunt, $330 increase at 38 Wescott street.—Reserved.

Geo. Haverth, over assessed at 104 Chambers street.—Reserved.

Are Preparing for Celebration

Sons of England Report Progress on Dominion Day Demonstration

At the regular meeting of Lansdowne Lodge, No. 25, S.O.E.B.S. held last night, three candidates were initiated. At the next meeting to be held on December 2nd, the nomination and election of officers for the ensuing year will take place. The Dominion day demonstration committee met after the lodge session and reported progress. Further arrangements were completed for the big celebration which will be held in this city on July 1st, 1908. Several valuable prizes have already been tendered the committee, including a valuable cup. In a few weeks definite information will be given the public as to the grounds, prizes, etc.

Charter Granted to New Company

United Agency Company Will Have Several Powers

The last issue of the Ontario Gazette contains the following of local interest regarding a charter creating and constituting John Oliver Fife, Hugh Patterson Lindsay and William Franklin Nelson, Insurance Agents; Roland Maxwell Glover, Accountant, and Ernest Victor Frederick, Physician, all of the City of Peterborough, in the County of Peterborough, and Province of Ontario, and Peter Speirs Ewing, of the Village of Warkworth, a Corporation for the purposes and objects following, that is to say; "(a) To carry on business generally as principals or agents, in the buying, selling, renting or exchanging, of any property, real or personal; (b) To carry on as agents the business of insurance in all its departments; (c) To collect and audit accounts and to act as financial agents for any person or corporation (d) To conduct an employment, messenger, express, cartage and livery business, and to provide all the necessary warehouses and equipment for such purposes and for carrying on a general storage business, and (e) to own and operate either as principals or agents, such vehicles of transportation, except railways for public use, by either land or water, as it may be in the interest of the Company to put in operation;" the Corporate Name to the Company to be The United Agency Company, Limited;" the Share Capital of the Company to be fifty thousand dollars, divided into two thousand five hundred Shares of twenty dollars each, the Head Office of the Company to be at the said City of Peterborough, and the Provisional Directors of the Company to be John Oliver Fife, Hugh Patterson Lindsay, William Franklin Nelson, Peter Speirs Ewing, Roland Maxwell Glover, and Ernest Victor Frederick, hereinbefore mentioned.

AMUSEMENTS

ERNIE MARKS CO.

The Ernie Marks Co. opened a four night's engagement at the Grand Opera House last evening, playing to a packed house. The production was "In the Rogue's Gallery," and it was put on in a manner that pleased the big audience immensely. There was plenty of dash and thrilling climaxes about the piece, while Ernie Marks in the role of "Larry Brogan," supplied fun galore. He has a splendid company with him, including Kitty Marks, Joe Lyons, Joe N. Mackin, Victor De Lacy, Jas. J. Hall, Wm. Kirbo, Harry Rooney, Alice De Lane and Ivy Evelyn Lyons.

The De Mateos, the handcuff artists, did a good turn among the specialties, and showed themselves exceedingly clever. They had to use their own handcuffs as no one responded to the invitation to come forward with a pair of the bracelets and put them on De Mateo. Tonight he will get out of an ordinary packing case, which is to be nailed up tightly. There were some good illustrated songs and other special turns that met with much favor.

The company should draw packed houses during their stay here.

Received Bad Gash in Hand

Mr. Martin Hoover Hunter St. Victim of Painful Accident

Mr. Martin Hoover was the victim of a painful accident on Saturday evening while engaged in his picture framing shop on Hunter street. A large piece of plate glass was falling, and Mr. Hoover made a rush to catch it, resulting in the thick part of his right hand being badly gashed. Medical aid was summoned and it was found necessary to place several stitches in the wound. Mr. Hoover will be unable to resume his work for several days.

Peterboro' Lady is Famous Sculptor

Miss Wallis Has Had Her Work Admitted to Salon on Several Occasions

Speaking of a former Peterborough young lady, the Toronto World says; Miss Katherine E. Wallis, the renowned Canadian sculptor, resident in Paris, has on several occasions had her work admitted to the Salon.

"Mercure sons la charme de son invention" is one of her strongest works, and has been very highly spoken of by Waldeman and other leading French critics. This fine piece of work in marble, together with a bust of an Italian peasant girl, also by Miss Wallis, is on exhibition in the gallery of the Provincial Museum in Toronto. Miss Wallis is also a painter of note, and has had several specimens of her work accepted by the Royal Academy of England and the R. A. of Scotland. She was at one time employed by the German Government in Berlin, but ultimately returned to Paris, where her studio now is.

Real Estate In Healthy Shape Here

Mr. Jos. Bell Thinks Peterboro' Most Active Real Estate Town in Ontario

Mr. Jos. Bell, of Bell & Taylor, the Water Street Real Estate firm, when questioned by the Review, concerning the real estate situation said that reports to the effect that there was a great depression in local real estate matters here, were very much overdrawn, and stated that while the real estate line in Peterborough is by no means brisk, it is in a healthy state.

"Comparatively speaking," he said, "the real estate business in Peterborough, has been during the past year, and is at present, in a good condition. In my opinion it has been better than that of Toronto, when the size of the two places is taken into consideration, and in Toronto there has been greater activity than in any other place in the province outside of this city."

Insurance Men to Hold Banquet

Several Applications for Membership—Other Business Done

The regular monthly meeting of Central Ontario Life Underwriters Association, was held in the office of the Great West Co. last night. Pres. H. P. Lindsay presided. There was a good attendance. Mr. Argue of Millbrook was among those present. Matters of interest to the members were considered.

It was decided to hold the December meeting in Port Hope, and on the third Monday in January, a banquet will be held here for which elaborate preparations will be made. Several applications for membership were received last night.

Ottawa College vs. Peterborough

University Awaits a Challenge From the Peterboro' Team

The Ottawa Citizen says:

"Will Ottawa College play Peterborough for the Canadian amateur football championship?"

A Citizen reporter asked the foregoing question of Rev. Father Fortier of Ottawa University this morning and his reply was to the effect that they were awaiting words from the Peterborough Club.

"It is their place to challenge us, not ours to challenge them," said Father Fortier. "We have not heard from them as yet, but if they send us a challenge, we will certainly give it due consideration. However, I think that we are through for this season. The Peterborough team would not prove a good drawing card in Ottawa and our own team is pretty badly crippled at present."

Father Fortier added that the College team is away ahead financially on this year's business.

Hartley is In Training At Toronto

Mr. George Stevens returned last night from Toronto and states that Hartley is in fine fettle for his match against Jimmy Reynolds on Saturday. He is staying at the Woodbine Hotel and will walk from 20 to 30 miles per day at the Mutual Street Rink in preparation for the contest. Mr. Stevens saw Reynolds, the Port Hope man in Toronto yesterday, but he returned to the lakeside town last night. He will go to Toronto on Thursday to finish his training. Hartley is having a pair of new boots made specially for the contest and feels confident.

In connection with the match a souvenir programme is being issued. It will contain a cut of the Peterborough walker, along with his record for the Oshawa, Toronto, Port Hope, Peterborough, performance. The front page of the cover will be devoted to advertising Peterborough. They will cost 10c. each, and will be on sale Thursday, at the following places in the city. R. J. Sayden's, F. D. Corbitt's, A. H. Stratton & Co.'s, Times bookstore, Review office and Murphy's bookstore, Charlotte street.

The money derived from the sale of the programmes will go towards a fund for Hartley.

It is expected that $1,000 will easily be raised, and it is intended to buy a home for the walking wonder.

A Toronto despatch has the following: David Hartley, the Peterborough walker, who is to meet Jimmy Reynolds, the Port Hope barber, here next Saturday in a 12 hours' match, fired and toe, arrived in Toronto yesterday morning, and went immediately to the Woodbine, where he has secured training quarters. He went for a five-mile walk out the track during the afternoon. He will walk from 20 to 30 miles daily, morning and afternoon, until the day of his race. A big crowd will come up from Peterborough to see the match.

Jimmy Reynolds, Hartley's opponent was in the city on business yesterday. He went back last night, but will return early Thursday morning. He says Port Hope will be well represented at the match, as an excursion will be run to accommodate those who wish to see the contest.

HOCKEY

Preston will likely play senior O. H. A. this winter. They say that if Berlin and Galt do, they will, and as both these clubs will play senior, Preston will follow suit. Last year they wished to enter a senior team but the O.H.A. shoved them into the intermediate series. However, they will likely be allowed to enter it this year.

Port Hope will play intermediate and junior, Alliston will play intermediate, Picton junior, Woodstock junior, Newmarket intermediate and junior, Sturgeon Falls intermediate, Belleville, junior, and Bespeler, who have never had a team before, wish to play intermediate. — Toronto Globe.

STOCKING ECONOMY.

Wonders Done by Working Darns at Holes in Silk Hose.

Since stockings are growing inside boration the poor girl is quite out of it unless she brings her clever fingers to the rescue.

She can do wonders at little cost by buying the ordinary silk stockings either in black, white or in delicate colors and embroidering a more or less intricate design upon them in eyelet work.

Floss of the same shade as the stocking is used, and sometimes the design is combined with inserts of lace or net in white, black or ecru or even dyed to match the more delicate tints.

If the lace stripes or medallions are added great care must be taken or it will ravel, and all the work will go for nothing at the first wearing.

Such stockings make really handsome Christmas gifts and really are quite inexpensive, as a nice quality of silk ones can often be picked up for $1, $1.50 or $2.

If made for a gift it is well to embroider them with a monogram and the favorite flower of the recipient to give them a personal touch.

These stockings are much prettier and in better taste than those covered with embroidered autographs, which are the latest fad of the seekers after novelty.

FOR THE LIVING ROOM.

Green Denim Makes a Fine Wall Covering.

In the living room or library, where pictures are to be hung, a plain quiet covering is best. A russet brown or a green denim makes a good background.

The frieze may be bright and figured or of a plain and contrasting color. Chints or cretonne will not be so good for this purpose, as some material with a more conventional design is needed, such as Indian prints.

If one prefers the frieze may be made of denim or grass cloth, on which a striking design may be stenciled.

The stenciling, if brown is used for the wall coverings, should be done in dyes by using a seal brown and black dye mixed with the water. The stain should be tried first on wood to be sure the desired shade has been obtained.

If the woodwork in the room is not of the weathered or burnt oak color it will be a simple matter to paint or stain it to match the wood on the walls.

Instead of using the wooden strips to cover the joints of the denim, wide leather gimp put on with large brass headed tacks is very effective.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

A good cover for irons when being heated on a gas or gasoline stove is an old teakettle with the bottom cut out.

Rub your aluminium teakettle with a flannel moistened with kerosene oil, then wash, rinse and polish with soft paper.

Dishes which have become brown and burnt from baking in the oven may be easily cleaned after they have stood awhile in borax water.

Cover your ironing board with a thick layer of newspaper before putting on the sheet. They make as fine a pad as a woolen blanket and are always at hand.

A carpet that is badly faded and hardly fit for use may be utilized in the following manner: Remove all the dust and tack it on the floor wrong side up and paint it. The first coat of paint should be quite thick, and it is better to use the yellow ocher for the first coating. The next two coats may be of any shade desired. Let the first coat dry thoroughly before applying the second. A carpet treated in this manner will outwear linoleum.

Cannas in Window Gardens.

The development of the canna is something remarkable. Already they are as varied as orchids, as brilliant as calceolarias and as delicately colored as the gladiolus.

The foliage shades from rich green to claret color or a veining of rich purple madder. Each spike of bloom has many flowers, so their beauty is not transient. Originally of a simple red, they have been so changed by culture as to assume many hues—pink, rose, scarlet, lemon yellow and variegated petals which suggest gay orchids in variety.

The roots of these have to be set out each year, but may be saved with ordinary care in the house.

Small canna plants make a good green for an inside window box in winter, especially in a hall room or office where a little screen from passersby is desirable, since the foliage is erect and tall. In a low room with little sun they would darken the place too much, for in a living room every bit of the sun is needed for sewing and reading during the wintry days.

The Pessimist.

He who depresses and saddens another by his pessimistic talk and his recitation of physical ailments, says Ella Wheeler Wilcox, does a far greater wrong than he who takes his purse.

Thousands of these mental house robbers are walking boldly into the homes of friends and acquaintances all over the land and stealing the accumulated cheerfulness of months. Yet the cheerfulness so stolen becomes ashes as soon as it is taken, and the thief goes forth no richer, while the victim is the poorer.

Almond Meal.

Nothing is better than almond meal to keep the skin smooth and white. Use it in place of soap or rub on the hands when almost dry.

Two Austrian navvies were killed on the C.P.R. at Nestleton on Saturday.

BASKETBALL

LOCAL BOYS IN TORONTO.

The S.P.S. students who are members of Central Y.M.C.A. have formed a school five and will represent Central this season in the City League. Several Peterborough boys, including Ross Dobbin, the old defence stalwart, are candidates from the team and should easily make good. Dobbin made his initial appearance in a Rugby uniform this fall and caught a place in the Varsity Intermediate.—Toronto News.

Will Speak on "Wonders of Water"

Mr. F. Russel Will Address Knox Church Boys' Club Friday Night

At Knox church, on Friday evening Nov. 22nd, at 8 o'clock, under the auspices of the Boy's Club of Knox church, lecture on "The Wonders of Water," by Mr. F. Russel, gold meadlist in chemistry and formerly demonstrator in the Science Institute at Walsall, England.

Among many other interesting experiments Mr. Russel will show how to decompose water, how to burn water, how to boil water with ice and how to freeze water while it is still boiling.

Rev. E. A. Pearson at Mark St. Church

Rev. E. A. Pearson, pastor of the George street Methodist church, preached to a fair sized congregation at the revival service at Mark street church last evening. It was a very interesting and profitable discourse, the speaker basing his remarks on the words, "To Live is Christ." The service was a bright one, and all joined heartily in the singing. Tonight Rev. Mr. Coon, the pastor, will preach.

OBITUARY

MRS. DAN SHANAHAN.

The death occurred at 228 Hunter street, early this morning, of Mrs. Dan Shanahan, after an illness of some weeks, suffering from heart failure. The deceased was fifty years of age, and was born in this city, where she always resided. Her maiden name was Mary Drake. Her husband predeceased her three years ago. The late Mrs. Shannon was a member of St. John's church. Three sons and four daughters are left to mourn her loss. The sons are Messrs. Cecil, of North Bay, and Bertram and Darrell, at home. The daughters are Mabel and Lizzie, of Lizzie, of Toronto; Gertrude and Hazel, at home.

The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon, at 2 o'clock, to the Little Lake cemetery, from the family residence, 228 Hunter street.

Men's Association Held Meeting

All Saints' Members Enjoyed a Social Evening

A regular meeting of the Men's Association of All Saints' church was held last evening. Mr. A. Graham, the president, presided. After routine business a social time was enjoyed. Mr. Featherstone gave a song and Mr. Wm. Edgar an address. Cake and coffee were partaken of.

It is proposed to hold an entertainment in December and a committee was appointed to make arrangements.

FAKE OPTICIANS ARE CANVASSING

Public Should be on Lookout for These Gentry

Mr. A. A. Fowler, optician, has just learned that some strange agents are canvassing near Peterborough, selling eye glasses, stating that they represent Mr. Fowler. These men should be given a wide berth. Mr. Fowler says that he is busy enough at home without sending out travelling agents, and if he can learn of their identity he will make it hot for them.

The beginning and the end of the meals of the day should be Chase & Sanborn's SEAL BRAND COFFEE. It's the first thing for breakfast—the last for dinner—and the "best thing" in every meal.

Langford Limped Painfully As He Left Port Hope To-day

Special to the Review.

(Port Hope, Nov. 20.—David Langford, who is endeavoring to walk from Oshawa to Toronto and thence to Port Hope and return to Oshawa, a distance of 138 miles, in 35 hours, arrived here at 10.55 this morning. He went to the Queen's hotel, where he had a rub down and took some stimulants. He says the roads are bad in many places. (When he arrived he was limping very badly, but he expressed himself as feeling confident of completing the journey on time. Langford said his feet were alright, but that the bottom of the left one was very sore. He was an hour short of Jimmie Reynolds' time and was confident of beating Reynolds' record. Langford looked pale and weary and it was the opinion here that he could not go much further. When he started away he limped very slowly and painfully up the hill towards Oshawa.

Langford has to arrive at Oshawa at 7 o'clock to-night to complete the journey in the 35 hours.

Tired, Nervous Mothers

Make Unhappy Homes—Their Condition Irritates Both Husband and Children—How Thousands of Mothers Have Been Saved From Nervous Prostration and Made Strong and Well.

Mrs Albert Mann Mrs Chester Curry

A nervous, irritable mother, often on the verge of hysterics, is unfit to care for children; it ruins a child's disposition and reacts upon herself. The trouble between children and their mothers too often is due to the fact that the mother has some female weakness, and she is entirely unfit to bear the strain upon her nerves that governing children involves; it is impossible for her to do anything calmly.

The ills of women act like a firebrand upon the nerves, consequently nine-tenths of the nervous prostration, nervous despondency, "the blues" sleeplessness, and nervous irritability of women arise from some derangement of the female organism.

Do you experience fits of depression with restlessness, alternating with extreme irritability? Are your spirits easily affected, so that one minute you laugh, and the next minute you feel like crying?

Do you feel something like a ball rising in your throat and threatening to choke you; all the senses perverted, morbidly sensitive to light and sound; pain in the abdominal region, and between the shoulders; bearing-down pains; nervous dyspepsia, and almost continually cross and snappy?

If so, your nerves are in a shattered condition, and you are threatened with nervous prostration.

Proof is monumental that nothing in the world is better for nervous prostration than Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; thousands and thousands of women can testify to this fact.

Mrs. Chester Curry, Leader of the Ladies' Symphony Orchestra, 42 Saratoga St., East Boston, Mass., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"For eight years I was troubled with extreme nervousness and hysteria brought on by irregularities. I could neither enjoy life nor sleep nights. I was very irritable, nervous and despondent.

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended and proved to be the only remedy that helped me. I have daily improved in health until I am now strong and well, and all nervousness has disappeared."

The following letter is from Mrs. Albert Mann, 154 Gore Vale Ave., Toronto, Ont:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I suffered a long time with serious female trouble having intense pains in the back and abdomen and very sick headaches every month. I was tired and nervous all the time and life looked very dreary to me and I had no desire to live until I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and to get some relief. My recovery was slow but it was sure and I have never regretted the money spent for the Compound as it brought back my good health."

Women should remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the medicine that holds the record for the greatest number of actual cures of female ills, and take no substitute.

Free Advice to Women.

Mrs. Pinkham, daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., invites all sick women to write to her for advice. Mrs. Pinkham's vast experience with female troubles enables her to advise you wisely, and she will charge you nothing for her advice.

Ask Mrs. Pinkham's Advice—A Woman Best Understands a Woman's Ills.

Three Laborers at Toronto
Victims of a Terrible Death

Four Men Killed, Three Badly Hurt, in Cable Accident.

Disaster at New Waterworks Tunnel Toronto—Cable Breaks and Hoist Falls to Bottom — 500-lb. Weight Crashes Down on Men Heaped at Foot of Shaft—Two Were Killed Instantly.

Toronto, Nov. 20.—Falling ninety feet to the foot of a shaft through the parting of a steel cable, four workers in the waterworks tunnel that is being constructed under the bay are dead and three are in a critical condition at St. Michael's Hospital.

The last blast had been fired, about 7 o'clock, and twenty men and two ponies had been drawn to the head of the 110 foot shaft just east of Hanlan's Point wharves. Seven men remained. These were nearing the top in the wooden "bucket" or elevator cage, when the 7-8-inch cable snapped on the winch drum and whirling over the pulley at the nose of the derrick-boom, allowed the bucket with its human freight to drop clear to the foot of the shaft.

After them came the 500-pound iron weight, which is used to unreal the cable when the "bucket" is lowered empty into the shaft. This weight crashed down upon the huddled forms on the floor of the "bucket" at the foot of the shaft, crushing the heads of two and the arms and legs of others.

Frightful Scene.

Superintendent of Construction W. J. Bradley had gone over to the tunnel head on the tug "Roy Mac," arriving just at 7 o'clock. He had just reached the head of the shaft as he heard the snap of the parting cable. This was followed by the sound of the bucket as it descended the shaft, banging against the sides.

Bradley immediately ordered a squad of men into the tunnel. Descending by the ladder at the side of the 12-foot shaft, they discovered the bodies of the men. Upon them lay the 500-pound balance weight. The cries of the living were frightful.

Considerable difficulty was experienced in removing this weight, and it took some time to extricate the men. They were carried into the mouth of the tunnel. Mattresses and pillows from the sleeping quarters were thrown down the shaft and the injured were placed on these. A cable was rigged on the drum and through the derrick above, but when lowered into the shaft it was found to be too short. This occasioned a further delay while another cable, taken from a nearby derrick, was rigged on a nearby shaft hoist. With this the injured, then numbering five, were hoisted to the top. Blackmore and Nelson had been killed instantly.

A telephone call had been sent to police headquarters and the two police ambulances, with H. Ellis' private ambulance, were waiting at the city side. The injured were hurried to St. Michael's Hospital.

But before he could be removed from the dock, Huron Elliott, the Indian foreman, was dead. Nevertheless, the body was taken to the hospital, where, after examination, the hurried verdict pronounced at the waterfront was confirmed.

The dead are: D. F. Blackmore, nipper, married; Jack Nelson, helper, 50 years of age; Huron Elliott, drilling boss, Indian, 24 years; "Jack" Gordon, driller.

Senate Vacancies.

Ottawa, Nov. 20.—At the Cabinet meeting yesterday afternoon it was expected that the Senate vacancies would be filled, and that the Alberta judges would be appointed. Though these matters were discussed, no decision was arrived at. The only two certainties for the Senate, as stated in a former despatch, are Hon. N. A. Belcourt, M. P., and Archibald Campbell, M. P. The other Ontario vacancy lies between Hon. John Charlton and W. S. Calvert, M. P.

The rumor was in circulation that R. G. MacPherson, M.P. for Vancouver, would be appointed warden of the penitentiary at New Westminster, B.C., but the position which Mr. MacPherson is anxious for is the postmastership of Vancouver.

Land Immigrants at St. John.

St John, N.B., Nov. 20.—The plan arranged by the C. P. R. and Allan Line, of landing all second-class and steerage passengers here, will materially swell immigration figures at this port. Both companies intend to bring passengers right to St. John, instead of landing them at Halifax as formerly.

Medical and baggage officials will meet all steamers at Halifax and complete the checking and examining on the way around. As a result the I.C.R. will lose $3 on each passenger who comes here direct instead of getting off at Halifax.

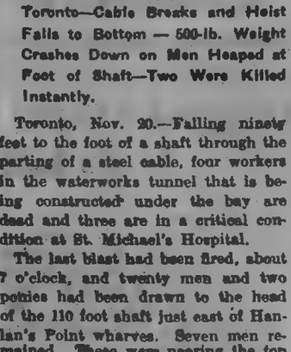
Barns Burned Down.

St. Thomas, Nov. 20.—The barns of George Goodhue, Port Stanley, were burned yesterday. The boys built a bonfire of hay and the board floor.

Port Stanley fishermen are having the bigest harvest in years, and will take in 400 tons, valued at $40,000.

Protected a Debtor.

Montreal, Nov. 20.—A judge yesterday protected a debtor in usury who owed $164.80 by making his payments $1.50 a month. It will take ten years to pay.



G. T. R. APPEAL TO OTTAWA.

Want Arbitration Board to Decide Question of Wages.

Ottawa, Nov. 20.—The G. T. R. have asked the Labor Department at Ottawa to appoint a board of arbitration to enquire into the merits of the request of the company's telegraphers for an increase in pay. The negotiations between the company and the men were broken off on Saturday.

The men are holding out for extra pay for Sunday work, a thing that is granted by every large system in Canada except the Grand Trunk, and for a general increase of about 20 per cent. in the wage schedule.

The G. T. R. yardmen have been successful in securing a 12 per cent. increase in pay, taking effect from Nov. 1.—The average yardman now receives $55 per month, and the yard conductor in the neighborhood of $75 per month. They will now receive, under the change, yard brakemen $70, and the yard conductor $95. This change will affect between 500 and 600 men on the entire system.

It is expected the demands of the engineers, firemen and telegraphers of the T. & N. O. Railway will be satisfied. The board of arbitration, composed of Prof. Adam Shortt, Wallace Nesbitt, K. C., and Mr. Campbell; have almost concluded their work and an award may be expected shortly.

OTTAWA MINT CLOSED.

Must Be Provided With Stout Fence According to Rule.

Ottawa, Nov. 20.—The Ottawa branch of the royal mint, which was proclaimed open on Nov. 9, has been proclaimed closed again by the Imperial authorities. In case of a mint the British authorities are very strict. The King personally puts his signature to the proclamation which announces the mint open and ready to coin gold for anyone who may offer it. Therefore, everything has to be in readiness, according to the regulations of royal mint authorities.

One of these regulations declares that around every branch mint there must be a protection in the form of a good stout fence. Since proclaiming the Ottawa branch of the royal mint open the royal mint masters have learned that the fence here is not furnished. Therefore they have withdrawn their proclamation and postponed the opening of the mint until Jan. 1.

COW DERAILED TRAIN.

Brakeman Fell Off Top of Car and Was Out In Two.

Goderich, Nov. 20.—An extraordinary accident occurred here yesterday morning on the G. T. R., which resulted in the death of Brakeman Durst of Sebringville, Ont.

The switching crew were taking 14 empty cars down hill, three-quarters of a mile west of the Goderich yard, when the train struck a cow on the track, derailing four cars and throwing Brakeman Durst under the train, killing him instantly.

Brakeman Durst was riding on the first car of the 14 which were being shoved down the Goderich hill ahead of the engine. The train was only running about five miles an hour. The deceased was knocked off the top of the car when the train struck the cow, and thrown underneath the train and cut completely in two.

SOUGHT NOTORIETY.

Girl Told False Story of Being Assaulted by Strange Men.

Lyons, N. Y., Nov. 20.—Angele Crousset, a 12-year-old girl, whose assertion that she had been assaulted by a strange man in the woods near her home in Clyde, caused great excitement in the neighborhood and led to the organization of a posse to hunt down her assailant, has confessed to the sheriff that her story was a pure invention.

The child declared that reading a newspaper account of an assault upon women, had led her to seek notoriety.

Rounded Up 'Phone Man.

Montreal, Nov. 20.—St. Lambert, after Sunday's gun fight between police and thieves, is nervous yesterday. Some one 'phoned the police that suspicious characters were in camp at Victoria bridge. The police surrounded the camp and held them up, only to find they were Bell Telephone linemen.

Held Incendiary.

Santiago, Cuba, Nov. 20.—An attempt was made here to set fire to the Government headquarters. A man entered the palace carrying a large can of gasoline. He threw the can to the floor and then slashing it open with a knife applied a lighted match to the liquid. He escaped.

Chadwick Is Freed.

Cleveland, Nov. 20.—The indictment returned in the Criminal Court here against Dr. Leroy Chadwick, several years ago, for aiding and abetting his wife, Mrs. Cassie Chadwick, in forging the name of Andrew Carnegie to a note for $5,000,000, has been cancelled.

Kaiser's Tip Totalled $10,000.

New York, Nov. 20.—A cable from London says: Before leaving Windsor Castle for High Cliffe Castle, Emperor William left no less than $10,000 to be divided in tips among the servants of the castle, the gamekeepers and the stable attendants.

Ex-Senator Indicted.

Findlay, Ohio, Nov. 20.—The grand jury yesterday returned an indictment against ex-Senator Thomas McConyea for alleged bribery in connection with the Standard Oil trial of last June. Byron Wilson was indicted several months ago for a like offence.

Steamer Ashore.

New York, Nov. 20.—The steamer Regulus, bound from Louisburg, N.S., for New York, with lumber, came ashore during the night in the fog and rain near the Belleport life-saving station. The crew of 18 men remained on board.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS
PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 days or money refunded. 50c.

PREMIER MAY RETIRE

Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman to Have Complete Rest.

King's Physician Made Lengthy Examination—British Prime Minister to Go Abroad—Has Overtaxed His Strength During Recent Session—Not Likely to Go to the House of Lords.

London, Nov. 20.—Sir Thomas Barlow, physician to King Edward's household, made a lengthy examination of the Premier, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, at Downing street, yesterday, and an official announcement was subsequently issued to the effect that the patient's condition was satisfactory, but that in view of the approaching session of Parliament it is necessary that he should have some weeks' complete change and rest. The Premier, therefore, is going abroad almost immediately. He has not been the same man since his wife died, last year, and his recent acute attack of heart trouble at Bristol was a signal that his political activities have overtaxed his physical strength. It would be no surprise to the friends of the Premier, who is 71 years of age, if much of his parliamentary work during the coming session is delegated to his colleagues in the Cabinet, and the rumors of his possible retirement next year from the leadership of the Liberal party are revived, as, in view of his onslaught on the House of Lords, it is not thought likely that he will care to accept a peerage and continue in the leadership amid the less strenuous surroundings prevailing in the hereditary House of Parliament.

BUCKINGHAM RIOTERS.

Received Two Months In Jail — Not Guilty of Manslaughter.

Ottawa, Nov. 20.—The trial of the six men who were charged with manslaughter in connection with the Buckingham riot of over a year ago and by which three lives were lost, was concluded yesterday.

The charge of manslaughter was found not proven, and the accused condemned to two months in jail for rioting. Immediately after the decision, which was made last in the afternoon, petitions for their release were put in circulation. There was much jubilation in Buckingham over the finding that the charge of manslaughter was not proven.

Must Pay Damages.

Toronto, Nov. 20.—Justice Clute yesterday awarded the relatives of Alonzo Burley $1,080 against the G. T. R. Burley, a conductor, was killed at London.

"It is difficult, I think," says Mr. Justice Clute, "to conceive of a practice more negligent and likely to cause injury than permitting, at night, the flying shunt to be made without any person or light to give warning of the approaching car. In the present case, while the engine carried a head-light, the car was allowed to follow without light or other protection. The engine, so far from warning the deceased of the approach of the car, was rather likely to mislead."

Anglo-American Convention.

London, Nov. 20.—A commercial convention between Great Britain and the United States was signed at the Foreign Office yesterday between Foreign Secretary Grey and Ambassador Whitelaw Reid, under which British works of art will henceforth be admitted to the United States at one-quarter less than the present duty. In return American commercial travelers' samples will be admitted free at British ports. In future the duty on works of art from Great Britain will be only 15 per cent.

Unrest at Vladivostock.

Vladivostock, Nov. 20.—The unrest among the soldiers quartered here has has not abated, and it is predicted that there will be another outbreak in about a week. It is reported that 200 mutineers were executed by hanging last week.

Expect a Long Session.

Ottawa, Nov. 20.—Members of Parliament in sympathy with the Government evidently expect that next session will be a lengthy one. Most of them are taking houses for six months or longer.

Anarchists Killed.

Lisbon, Nov. 20.—Three anarchists were engaged in making bombs when the material exploded. Two men were killed outright and the third was arrested.

Prohibition Bill Passes.

Montgomery, Ala., Nov. 20.—The Senate yesterday afternoon passed the prohibition bill by 32 to 2. The law becomes operative Jan. 1, 1909.

Fred Scott was exonerated from blame for the death of John Baptiste by a coroner's jury at Brantford.

Toronto Live Stock.

TORONTO, Nov. 19.—Receipts of live stock at the City Market since Friday, as reported by the railways, were 120 carloads, composed of 1930 cattle, 873 hogs, 2699 sheep and lambs, and 120 colves.

Exporters.

There was nothing doing in exporters excepting for a few bulls, and these sold at $3.30 to $3.75 per cwt.

Butchers.

We heard of one heifer that sold for $4.50, and one load of 18 butchers, 1270 lbs. each, that sold at $4.10, which were the highest quotations reported. Medium cattle sold from $3.50 to $3.90; common at $3 to $3.40; cows at $2.25 to $3.60; canners, 75c to $1.50 per cwt.

Feeders and Stockers.

There were a few good lots of feeders, and a large number of not very good feeders and stockers that were not good. The Messrs. Murby were busy as usual, as well as Lumbers & Halliday, with a large number of farmers that were looking for a few of the right kind.

Prices generally were not any higher. H. & W. Murby report the following quotations: Best feeders, 1000 to 1100 lbs., at $3.25 to $3.60; best stockers, 800 to 900 lbs., at $3.25 to $3.60; medium stockers, 600 to 800 lbs., at $3 to $3.25; common stockers, 500 to 700 lbs., at $2.60 to $2.85.

Milkers and Springers.

The good prices being paid for milkers and springers brought in a large number, there being between 70 and 80 cows of all classes on the market. Prices were a little easier, if anything, but there were a few that sold up to $65. Good to choice sold at $50 to $65; common to medium at $35 to $45 each.

Veal Calves.

Veal calves sold at the old prices, $3 to $6 per cwt.

Sheep and Lambs.

Export ewes sold at $3.75 to $4; a few choice yearlings sold at $4.50 per cwt.; lambs sold at $4.75 to $5.25 per cwt. for the bulk. Inferior quality lambs sold as low as $4, and selected ewes and wethers as high as $5.50 per cwt.

Hogs.

Mr. Harris reports $5.75 for selects and $5 for light unfinished.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

EAST BUFFALO, Nov. 19.—Cattle—Receipts, 200 head; fairly active and steady; prices unchanged.

Veals—Receipts, 200 head; active and 25c lower; $3 to $9.

Hogs—Receipts, 2600 head; slow; pigs, 10c higher, others 5c to 10c lower; heavy and mixed, $5.55 to $5.65; Yorkers and pigs, $5.60 to $5.70; roughs, $4.75 to $5; dairies, $5.50 to $5.60.

Sheep and lambs—Receipts, 2000 head; market steady; sheep, $3.50 to $4.50; culls, $3; lambs, $5.50 to $7; culls, $4.50.

Hogs—Receipts, 2205; steady at $5.30 to $5.40.

Chicago Live Stock.

CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—Cattle—Receipts, estimated at about 20,000 head; market steady; steers, $4 to $5.50; cows, $2.75 to $4.50; heifers, $2.50 to $5; bulls, $3.60 to $4.35; calves, $3 to $7; stockers and feeders, $3.40 to $4.65.

Hogs—Receipts, about 26,000; market weak; choice heavy shipping, $5 to $5.37½; light butchers, $5.40 to $5.30; light mixed, $4.95 to $5; choice light, $5 to $5.12½; packery, $4.90 to $4.95; pigs, $3.75 to $4.75.

Sheep—Receipts, estimated at about 15,000; market steady but slow; sheep, $3.75 to $5; lambs, $5.25 to $6.90; yearlings, $4.25 to $5.50.

Perjury and Forgery Among Charges That Are Admitted

London Election Witness Admits These Offences on Stand.

How Cash For Votes Was Handed Out—Bills Were Passed Over on the Street—"Money Talks" Says Pritchard—Has Faith In Power of Notes — Scathing Cross-Examination by Mr. Johnston.

Toronto, Nov. 20.—Many witnesses from London took the box at the London conspiracy trial yesterday and testified that the money to help Hyman win at the 1905 election was plentiful.

The evidence of Sifton, one of the defendants, who turned King's evidence, is looked for to supply the link which will connect Reid with the conspiracy. It is expected he will take the box to-day.

At the afternoon session Alfred Gotteliffe told of being promised $10 for his vote for Hyman. He reported it to the Conservative party, and was advised to take the oath and vote for Gray.

Mr. Johnson asked many questions to discredit the veracity of a man who swore falsely, but Gotteliffe stuck to his story, that he did not think he was doing anything wrong when he took the oath.

John H. Andrews, a voter in the Hyman-Gray election, told of being approached for his vote for Hon. C. S. Hyman. He was promised $10 if he voted right, and after the election received $9.50 as his fee for voting Hyman. He got the money in an envelope at Lewis' Hotel from Jerry Collins.

Enoch Fowler and Edgar Clarke, both electors in the 1905 bye-election, told of receiving money for their votes. Both were closely cross-examined by Mr. Johnston as to the date and election in which they received the money.

William Everett, John Redmond, John Weiner, David Howe and Chas. White, all citizens of London, gave the same evidence as in the Police Court, as to the sale of their votes to Jerry Collins for $10 considerations. Some were paid at Collins' hotel, some at Tom Lewis' hotel.

In nearly every instance Mr. Johnston tried to show that the characters of men who would sell their votes was not to be depended upon. Some of the witnesses, examined by the counsel for the defence, admitted that they could not remember the particular election and were not sure whether the money they got was for a provincial or a Dominion contest.

At the morning session Mr. Johnston went at Pritchett, self-confessed ballot-switcher and manipulator of spoiled ballots, with hammer and tongs. In some instances Pritchett contradicted his story of yesterday and told at the Police Court.

Mr. Staunton accused Mr. Johnston of trying to make political capital out of the case. The counsel for the defence hinted that considerable capital had been made out by the crown at the lower court. Mr. Staunton said he was not responsible for what took place in the Police Court.

Pritchett's evidence incriminated Lewis and O'Gorman.

To Mr. Johnston, Pritchett confessed that he had gone under an assumed name often, and that he did not know why there was a warrant out for his arrest. He admitted perjury and forgery in his work, which was not for money but for the party.

"Guilty or not guilty," continued Mr. Johnston. "At the bar of your conscience are you guilty or not guilty of all these things—bribery, forgery, and all the rest? Are you guilty or not guilty?"

"Guilty," answered Pritchett.

"And you come here now and want us to believe you?"

"Yes."

Mr. Johnston then questioned the witness about his buying a $4,500 house in London when he came back after the trip to Detroit.

"I thought you were broke then?" said Mr. Johnston.

"I bought that out of my own hard earnings."

"You would pretty near swear to anything for money?"

"Money talks with most of us, I guess you wouldn't object to a little," said Pritchett.

"Are you swearing the truth now?"

"Yes."

"With the same kind of conscience as you had in West Elgin?"

"I probably tried to overcome it there."

Many questions were asked about the witness' work in West Huron and South Ontario, which he reiterated as in the Police Court. At one time Pritchett swore that he had nothing to do with the defendant Reid.

W. Truedell, who voted in the bye-election in June, 1905, told of receiving $10 from Mulloy. George McCoy told the same story.

Cross-examined with regard to the meeting witness said he had had with O'Gorman and Smith in the Walker House, Toronto. Pritchett said there was no agreement as to bribery or other corrupt methods. Slipping ballots was only discussed. He had suggested that it would be cheaper to switch than to buy voters. Pritchett said that in each constituency he had a new agreement to operate with O'Gorman.

Witness admitted signing a paper as Marshall B. Johnson in West Elgin, declaring that he had regularly performed the duties of a deputy, but he had not thought of it as forgery.

In 1900 he had made an affidavit while in Detroit, at the request of "some parties from St. Thomas and Hamilton."

"Was Mr. Barker there?" asked Mr. Johnston.

"Yes."

"He was the Conservative organizer at Hamilton?"

"I believe so," replied witness, and then Mr. Staunton registered his objection to the defence trying to make political capital out of the evidence.

Pritchett said he had made the affidavit because he wanted to return home under the promise that no proceedings would be taken. This he had been promised by Mr. Barker or a Mr. Fleming.

Mr. Johnston quoted from Pritchett's evidence in the Police Court to that effect, but witness insisted that he did not say so. Asked whether he took the oath of secrecy at West Elgin, witness said he did not think so.

"Then," said Mr. Johnston, "our evidence is that you would have taken the necessary oaths in West Elgin, which you knew would have been perjury. You obtained your position of deputy for fraudulent purposes by using a false name. In law you admit that you committed the offence of forgery by wilfully and fraudulently using another man's name to papers that were wrong. You admit that you endeavored to instruct those people to swear what was false and to avoid the penalty of swearing. You admit that you were criminally engaged as a conspirator with O'Gorman in deceiving the electorate. You admit that where you find necessity for using a name not altogether your own, you use it. What do you say to all that—guilty or not guilty?"

"Guilty," said Pritchett.

HOMESTEADER MURDERED.

Police Making Search for Jacob Snyder—Former Pal Held.

Calgary, Nov. 20.—Recently a homesteader hailing from North Dakota named Jacob Snyder, who had come to this district and purchased some land, disappeared very mysteriously after he made all arrangements to build on his property. He was last seen in the company of a man named Leonard Shan, another North Dakotan, who gave his address as Hague, with whom he left the hotel one day. Shan came back shortly afterwards and later reported the disappearance of his friend to the police. The latter were suspicious of the stranger and when diligent search failed to afford a trace of Snyder the arrest of Shan, who had suddenly left town for the south, was ordered. He was caught at Caresholm, and when arrested had $78 in cash and two drafts for $400 and $500 respectively, drawn in the name of the missing man, on his person. They were payable in banks in the States. Shan will be held on the charge of theft pending further investigation.

Flag From Kingston, Eng.

Kingston, Nov. 20.—On Monday Miss Jennie C. Shaw received a most interesting package from England. It contained a Union Jack and a gracefully-worded note from the girls in St. John's School, Kingston-on-Thames.

The note spoke of the kindred name, Kingston, and said that the girls of the old home town wished to be one in spirit with the girls of the school in the new Kingston. They asked that a Canadian flag be sent them by the children here. This will be done.

For Legislature to Deal With.

Toronto, Nov. 20.—Hon. J. J. Foy stated yesterday that the request of the Town of Essex Centre to be paid the fine of $25,000 imposed on the Michigan Central Railway by Judge Riddell will come before the Legislature at its next session. As the town sustained considerable damage through the explosion the council feel that they are entitled to the fine, less the legal fees.

Bourassa Is Ill.

Montreal, Nov. 20.—Henri Bourassa is seriously ill.

After the election in Bellechasse he suffered from cold, which has grown worse, and to that is added nervous breakdown. No one is allowed to see him, not even his own family. He has been confined to bed since Thursday.

JAPAN AWAITS ISHI.

Emigration Question Will Depend on His Report.

Tokio, Nov. 20.—The Japanese Government anxiously is awaiting the return from abroad of Kiki-Yiri Ishi, chief of the bureau of commerce of the Foreign Office, who is expected about the end of this month.

It is stated at the Department of Foreign Affairs that negotiations concerning Japanese emigration to the United States and Canada will necessarily be delayed until his arrival, as he was a special commissioner sent to America for the purpose of investigating the subject.

Meanwhile, within the last week, private instructions have been sent to the inspectors at all ports to exercise the most vigorous supervision over emigrants for all points, and especially San Francisco, because recent investigations have shown negligence resulting from the passage of a number who were not qualified to be classed as students.

ONE AT A TIME.

Newspapers Fail to Consolidate the Mattie Perkins' Suits.

Toronto, Nov. 20.—Justice Clute has given judgment on the application to consolidate the actions brought by Mattie Perkins against a number of newspapers for publishing certain alleged libelous statements with reference to the proceedings against her on the charge of murder.

His lordship decided that the libels in some cases are not the same, and that therefore they cannot all be consolidated.

The costs are given to the plaintiff in any event.

Woman Terrorist's Nerve Failed.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 20.—A well-dressed woman, about 18 years old, was found in a dying condition yesterday at the station of the Tsarskoe Selo Railroad. She confessed to having been selected to execute an important terroristic act, but her courage failed and she took poison.

Bombs In New York Now.

New York, Nov. 20.—A dynamite bomb which had been thrown from a passing elevated train threw consternation into the sixteen families who occupy tenements on the several floors above Ling Kings laundry at 362 Third avenue early yesterday. The lower part of the building was badly damaged by the explosion.

Mother Dropped Dead.

Newcastle, N. B., Nov. 20.—A telegram from Denver, Colo., says Geo. Crocker of Millerton, N. B., was drowned in the lake there Monday while skating. The mother, who lived with him, fell dead when informed of the accident. Crocker was 30, and had only been married a short time.

Freda.

Life doesn't seem the same to us
Since Freda went away.
We talk about it every night
And also every day.
The kitchen seems a cheerless place;
We hate to turn the knob
And look into that lonesome waste
Since Freda yoomped her yob.

We miss our Freda dreadfully.
In fact, for her we pine.
Her English was distressing, but
Her breakfast rolls were fine.
And now we sit and think of her,
And in our throats a sob
Of sorrow rises at the thought
That Freda yoomped her yob.

She won't come back. She's married now.
She thinks she's better off.
Perhaps she is. At any rate,
It does no good to scoff.
But every time we think of her
Our sad hearts give a throb.
It makes a difference in our house
Since Freda yoomped her yob.

A MEMORY OF THE WAR

An Old Soldier's Story of the Battle of Yellow Tavern.

JEB STUART'S LAST FIGHT.

The Wounded General's Heroic Bravery in the Face of Death—Custer's Brilliant Charge as Seen by a Confederate Cavalryman.

"The most brilliant charge I ever witnessed was made by Custer at the battle of Yellow Tavern," said an old Confederate cavalryman. "It was near the beginning of what historians now call the Wilderness campaign.

"I was with Jeb Stuart, General Fitz Lee's division. Wickham's brigade and Phil Sheridan's troops were hanging on us like a pack of hungry wolves, nipping us at every turn.

"We left Hanover Junction about 1 o'clock one night and reached Yellow Tavern before 10 o'clock the next morning. We hadn't more than halted at the Tavern when up comes Sheridan and tries to drive us out. It was a pretty tough struggle, a hand to hand fight, and we fell back from the Tavern, but held our position on the telegraph road leading to Richmond. I was with the battery on the extreme left wing, and it was about 2 o'clock in the afternoon when orders came for the whole division, except the First Virginians, to dismount.

"It did seem good, I can tell you, after so many hours in the saddle, to stretch out on the ground and take a smoke—that is, all who had anything to smoke. There was just one pipeful among that whole battery, and the boy who owned it passed it down the line, and each man took his turn puffing at it. When it was gone we all began to speculate on what devilry Sheridan would be up to next and how Jeb Stuart would head him off. It wasn't long before some fellow wished for a drink of water.

"You know how it is. When one man wishes for water the whole company begins to swear they are dying of thirst. Jack Saunders and I took a bunch of canteens and started over the hill to a spring that he had seen that morning. I was on my hands and knees over the spring when I heard Saunders' grunt of surprise.

"There, only a few hundred yards away, was a considerable body of cavalry. Sure that it was our right wing, I wondered to see them mounted and in ranks. Just then the voice of an officer rang out:

"'Cavalry! Attention! Draw saber!'

"The entire line moved forward at a quick walk, and as the officer wheeled his horse I saw his face. My God, it was Custer! The situation came to Saunders and me like a flash. We threw down the canteens and started back to the battery on a dead run.

"'Trot!' Custer's voice rang out again. Then he shouted, 'Charge!'

"With wild cheers, his cavalry dashed forward in a sweeping gallop, attacking our entire left wing at the same time. We saw our battery taken, our line broken and our men running like sheep. Saunders and I had but one thought—to join our fleeing company. As we reached the telegraph road above the din of the battle I heard Jeb Stuart's voice. There he was, making a stand with a handful of men around him.

"It seemed but a moment before Custer's troops were coming back as fast as they had gone forward. They had met the First Virginians. We greeted them with the rebel yell and the last charge in our weapons. Jeb Stuart cheered us on—ah, how he cheered us! I gave them my last shot and was following with my weapon clubbed when I saw a man who had been dismounted and was running out turn as he passed our rally and fire his pistol.

"Jeb Stuart swayed in his saddle. It was only for a moment; then his voice rang out, cheering his struggling troops. The enemy rallied just across the road and fired a volley into the little band gathered around Jeb Stuart. His horse sprang forward, with a scream of agony, and sank down on its knees. As we lifted the general off the young officer who was helping me exclaimed:

"'My God, general, you are wounded! Your clothes are soaked with blood! You must leave the field, sir!'

"'No,' General Stuart answered; 'I will not leave until victory is assured. Get me another horse.'

"When I returned with the horse he was seated with his back against a tree, and when he tried to get up, weakened by loss of blood, he sank back again.

"'Go!' he commanded us. 'I am done for. Fitz Lee needs every man. I order you to go.'

"'We cannot obey that order, general,' the young officer told him, and I'll never forget the look that came over his face when he faced the general. 'We must carry you to a place of safety, however the battle goes.'

"'It must not go against us,' Stuart replied, and the thought seemed to put fresh vigor in his body. 'You must put me on my horse and keep me there. My men must not know that I am wounded.'

"We lifted him on his horse, and, mounting our own, we held him in his saddle. When the tide of the battle turned, supported between us, he made a last effort to rally his fleeing troops.

"'Go back, men!' he cried. 'Go back, men! Go back and do your duty!'

"We felt him sway in his saddle. The young officer turned our horses' heads to the rear, and we carried our fainting general from the field, still holding him upright in the saddle. That was Jeb Stuart's last battle and Custer's most brilliant charge."

Frank Corell, an Italian, of Ottawa, was stabbed by three men whom he refused lodging, and may die.

The Great Trouble.

"Really," said Nuriak self complacently, "it's easy enough to make money."

"Yes," replied the counterfeiter absentmindedly, "but the trouble is to get it into circulation.—Philadelphia Press.

The Exception to the Rule.

Here's reading of a heroine who saves a rushing train
By crawling o'er a slender bridge in time of wind and rain;
She waves the danger signal—a wisp of burning hay—
The train is stopped—and here it comes, as night doth follow day:
"Then she fainted away!"

You read of some bold holdup, who was quickly put to rout
By a muscular young lady who nearly knocked him out;
You learn how with two uppercuts she won the short affray,
And at the end you will not fail to get this news passe:
"Then she fainted away!"

But take a bargain Monday—a great crush at the store;
Around the ribbon counter the tides of commerce roar;
She plunges in the vortex and fights as best she may,
But when this struggle's over no truthful man can say:
"Then she fainted away!"

A PRETTY FROCK FOR COOL WEATHER

The novel feature of this little dress is the pretty blouse, the fulness of which is arranged in wide tucks and box-plaits, which are secured in front under an applied yoke of jaunty shaping, and at the back in the collar and belt. Two box-plaits also arrange the front of the straight skirt, which is attached to the blouse under the gracefully shaped belt. The waist is made high in the neck and the sleeves are of full length, thus rendering the frock particularly acceptable for wearing in cool weather. Navy-blue serge of fine quality is the material employed for making, trimming and bands used for the pipings. Any seasonable woollen goods, however, is suitable for developing by this model, or, for wearing in a mild climate, linen might be used. 4¼ yards 27 inches wide being required for the medium size.

W. H. HILL, Esq.,
Manager Central Ontario Sun Life of Canada
Peterborough, Ontario.

DEAR SIR,—

Your favor of the 24th inst. received enclosing statement of profits allotted to my policy 7001, in the "Sun Life" for the past five years.

Above policy is for $1,000 on the whole life five year distribution plan on which I paid an annual premium of $28.36, or $141.78 for the five year period.

I find the CASH PROFITS amount to $53.85, or about 40 per cent. of the total premiums paid during the five years. This is certainly a splendid showing and speaks volumes for the earning powers of the Sun Life Company's investments.

Thanking you and wishing your company continued success,

Yours truly,

Little Boy Has Exciting Experiences

Ten Days on Way From Toronto to His Destination in Douro

Started to Walk From Peterboro' to Toronto and Reached Pontypool

After having been on his way from the Children's Shelter, Toronto, to Mr Wm. Leahy's home in Douro, for ten days, Herbert Stickenrider, a boy of nine years, finally reached his destination this morning. For a child of his age he has had many exciting experiences and some he won't soon forget. A week ago Saturday last he was put on the C.P.R. train at Toronto for Peterborough where he was to meet his new foster parents. On arriving at the local depot there was no one there for him and the first thought that came to the little fellow's mind was to return to Toronto at the time was to foot it, so the stout hearted lad with plenty of pluck started out.

It was evening when he reached Pontypool tired and hungry. He was taken into Mr. Jas. Chambers home where he was given every care and attention.

Mr. Chambers communicated with Mr. Kelso at Toronto, and today Mr. O'Connor, an inspector of the Society brought the boy to this city and Mr. Leahy took the child to his home in Douro.

Mr. Chambers is to be heartily thanked for his kindness to the lad.

HAD TO HAVE HIS LEFT EYE TAKEN OUT

Mr. A. J. Hall Had a Painful Operation as a Result of a Serious Accident Received While Deer Hunting

Mr. A. J. Hall, Mark street, east city, who, while in pursuit of the antlered monarch in the woods of Burleigh township, about two weeks ago, met with a serious accident, as a result had to have his left eye removed on Monday last. It will be remembered that Mr. Hall got lost in a swamp and owing to the extreme darkness of the night was unable to find the road back to the farmhouse. Adding to the distressing circumstances, Mr. Hall fell on a tamarac twig, it entering the left eye. When the doctors were called in to attend him a piece of wood, three-quarters of an inch in length, was taken from his eye. It was impossible to save the sight, but the other eye is not in any way affected.

Mr. Hall, although suffering considerable pain, is progressing favorably.

Parents Responsible for the Actions of Their Children

Said Magistrate Dumble Yesterday Afternoon in Police Court—Boys Were Dismissed With a Warning—John Doig Also Discharged.

When the juvenile court resumed yesterday afternoon, the case against the three lads charged with stealing copper wire from the D.G.E. works and also the charge of the Machine Telephone Co., against three lads for the theft of three brass lugs was heard. After going into the evidence in detail His Worship dismissed the case.

Mr. F. L. Goodwill, solicitor for the Children's Aid Society, in a few well chosen remarks, referred to the repeated appearance of the mothers of these boys in court and the thought that they ought to be censured, for primarily they are responsible for the misdoings of their children. If the boys were properly brought up and not allowed to roam the streets at night, they would not appear before the magistrate so frerquently.

His Worship added a few words of advice to the parents present and urged them to train their children to be gentlemen.

To the boys he addressed some good counsel. "Keep away from where you are likely to be tempted to steal," said His Worship.

"If you continue your career you will end in the penitentiary."

DISCHARGED.

John Doig, who was charged with receiving goods from the boys knowing them to be stolen, was allowed to go, there not being sufficient evidence to convict him.

Curlers Get Into Line; Annual Meeting is Held

Much Enthusiasm Prevailed Last Night—Mr. C. N. Brown is the New President—Bonspiel to be Held

Curling has always been a great game in Peterborough, and this winter promises to see a continuation of the long series of season successes. At the annual meeting of the Peterborough Curling Club, held in the rink parlors, Charlotte street, last night, a large body of representative and enthusiastic local curlers, who displayed much interest in the proceedings and transacted a large amount of important business.

President T. F. Matthews was in the chair until after the election for officers for the season of 1907-08, when the new president, Mr. C. N. Brown, took the honored seat at the head of the table. Although the re-election of Mr. Matthews was proposed, he found it impossible, owing to pressing business duties to accept the nomination. In Mr. Brown the club has a most worthy official for its executive head, and one who has long been associated with curling in this city. Mr. Roland Waddell, the secretary of last season, was again urged to accept the position, and was, in fact, honored with the dual offices of vice-president and secretary-treasurer. The complete list of officers for the ensuing year is as follows:—

Hon. President—T. F. Matthews.
President—C. N. Brown.
Vice-President—R. M. Waddell.
Sec.-Treas—R. M. Waddell.
Associate Sec.-Treas.—H. T. Foote.
Executive Committee—Messrs. W. G. Ferguson, J. E. A. Fitzgerald, J. H Connal and C. Rutherford.
Chaplain—Rev. E. A. Pearson.
Membership—Messrs T Brightman, W E Talbot, T F Matthews, W S Dodd, W G Read, R J Winch, R Neill, James Davidson, A Moore, W M Laing, W McIlroy.
Bonspeil—Messrs T Brightman, R M Waddell, W G Ferguson, W J Thompson, D Davidson, J E A Fitzgerald, H T Foote and C Rutherford.
Schedule—Messrs. Angus McIntosh, C Rutherford, R M Waddell, H. T. Foote.
Messrs. B. T. Medd, T. Bullen Yeates and Dickson Davidson were taken place, Mr. H. R. H. Kenner moved, seconded by by Mr. W. E. Talbot, that a vote of thanks be tendered last year's officers for their efficient and much appreciated services.

The motion was carried and replied to by the retiring president.

It was moved by Mr. Matthews, and seconded by Mr. R. Neill, that the local clergymen and press representatives be given free passes.

A vote of thanks was tendered the press for their reports of last season.

Mr. Dickson Davidson moved that the club have a bonspiel this year. Mr. Medd, who seconded the motion, referred to the great success of the one held last season, and several of the other members present expressed their approval of the bonspiel being held. The bonspiel committee was then appointed.

On a general ballot Messrs. Connal and Rutherford were chosen as skips to represent the club in the

Tankard games. Mr. Matthews moved that the members should not be allowed to play this season until they had paid the fees for the coming year, and in case of those who had not paid up last year's fees, that they be debarred from playing until they had paid those of last year, and this year also. The motion was seconded by Mr. R. Neill, and, after some discussion, was carried. On motion of Mr. Matthews and Mr. W. E. Talbot, the special committee to confer with the rink owners was next appointed.

There was quite a lengthy discussion as to having the stones insured and making arrangements in connection with the boxes. The latter matter was left in the hands of the executive, who were instructed to bring in their report at the next meeting of the club, on Tuesday night, December 3rd.

WEDDING BELLS

HUGHES—WALKER

The marriage took place at St. Peter's cathedral this morning of Miss Margaret Walker, daughter of Mr. John Walker, of this city, to Mr. Wm. Hughes, of Camden, Addington County, son of Mr John Hughes, of that place. The ceremony took place at eight o'clock, and was performed by Rev. Father McColl. The groom was assisted by Mr. Vincent McNeill, of Camden, and the bride was assisted by Miss Catharine Sweeney, of the same place.

After the ceremony a dainty wedding breakfast was partaken of at the home of the bride's father, Elm street, after which the happy young couple left on a wedding trip. They will reside at Camden.

DOVEY—YOUNG

The marriage took place at Enismore on Tuesday morning, November, 19th, of Miss Mary Young, daughter of the late Robert Young, of Enismore, to Mr. Michael Dovey, of Lindsay. The ceremony took place at St. Martin's church and was performed by Rev. Father Fitzpatrick. After the nuptial knot had been tied, a dainty wedding breakfast was partakene Mr. Wm. Young, brother of the bride, did the honors.

The happy young couple will reside in Lindsay.

JOHNE—McCALLUM

The marriage of Miss Edith MacCallum to Mr J. B. Johne, took place at the residence of the bride's father, Rivington, Que. The bride who was given away by her father, wore a travelling costume of MacCallum plaid, with a hat to match, and a white feather boa, and carried a bouquet of roses. Rev. A. J. Brown, of Dutton, Ont., performed the ceremony. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Lorne MacCallum, and her cousin, Miss Jessie MacCallum. Mr. Neil MacCallum was best man. To the bride the bridegroom gave a pearl ring and a Scotch pebble belt buckle; to the bridesmaids he gave signet rings and to the best man he gave a pearl fleur-des-lis stick pin and gold cuff links. The gifts received by the bride include a silver Queen Anne tea service from the directors of the Children's Memorial Hospital, of which she was superintendent. Mr. and Mrs. Johne will visit Toronto, Niagara and Buffalo before taking up their residence in Peterborough. — Montreal Star.

MOORE—COLLINS

The St. Catharines Standard has the following reference to the marriage of Mr. S. S. Moore, formerly of the Review staff:—

"A very quiet wedding took place at the home of Mr. J. J. Collins, Granthem, on Saturday afternoon, at 2.30, when his only daughter, Evaline Maude became the wife of Mr. Samuel Stewart Moore, of Toronto.

To the sweet strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March played by Mr. Herbert Collins, B.A., of Napanee, brother of the bride, the bride entered the parlor on the arm of her father, who gave her away. She was handsomely gowned in white silk and carried a shower bouquet of bridal roses.

Master Clarence Collins, nephew of the bride, in a dainty white suit and carrying a basket of flowers, acted as ring bearer.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Ratcliffe, in the presence of only the immediate relatives of the contracting parties. Both bride and groom were unattended.

The house was very beautifully decorated with chrysanthemums. After the ceremony the guests sat down to a sumptuous wedding dinner.

The groom's gift to the bride was a beautiful set of furs.

Mr. and Mrs. Moore left on the 5.20 train for a wedding trip to Quebec. Mrs. Moore travelled in a suit of navy blue broadcloth.

The bride was the recipient of numerous costly and useful presents, which testify to the high esteem in which she is held by a wide circle of friends and acquaintances. They will reside in Toronto, where they will be followed by the best wishes of their numerous friends and acquaintances, for a long and prosperous wedded life."

FAIRBAIRN—SMITH

A quiet wedding was solemnized this afternoon at 1.3 0'clock at the George street Methodist Parsonage, when Miss Winnifred Smith was united in marriage to Mr. Gordon P. Fairbairn, of Smith. The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. A. Pearson.

Mr. and Mrs. Fairbairn will reside in Smith.

COL. GORDON INSPECTS BATTALION

Collegiate Institute Soldiers Win Words of Praise From Inspecting Officer—A Half Holiday

To use a military expression, the Collegiate Institute battalion came out of their annual inspection this morning with flying colors. The boys acquitted themselves in a manner that caused pride to rise in the hearts of their admirers and that won warm words of praise from the inspecting officer, Colonel W. D. Gordon, of Kingston, officer commanding the Eastern Ontario district.

The inspection took place at Riverside park at 10.30 o'clock and was witnessed by a number of prominent citizens as well as by all the male students and a number of the young ladies from the Institute. The members of the teaching staff of the Collegiate were all present, the Board of Education was represented by the chairman, Mr. Robt. Fair, and Mr. Wm. Pringle, and among the military men present were Col. Miller, Major E. B. Clegg, Major Young, of the 34th Field Battery, Capt. R. F. McWilliams, Capt. Eastwood, Major J. C. Davidson and Capt. Mills, who was in uniform and acted as aide-de-camp to Col. Gordon.

The three companies of the School battalion were out in full strength, the battalion being in charge of Major Harry Hall. Capt. F. Austin was in charge of No. 1 company, Capt. M. O'Brien of No. 2, and Lieut. S. Anderson of No. 3. Harry Hall is captain of the latter company, but as he was in charge of the battalion his place was taken by his lieutenant, Lieut Anderson.

The boys were first put through company drill and then through battalion drill and in both showed remarkable efficiency. They moved with uniform precision and executed the different movements in a manner that demonstrated them to be masters of their drill and that reflected great credit upon the instructor, Lieut J. F. Hodgson.

Before the battalion was dismissed Col. Gordon addressed the boys and congratulated them upon the good showing they had made. He impressed upon them the importance of military training and promised that the three companies would all be supplied with rifles at an early date. The colonel asked for a half holiday at the Collegiate Institute and it was granted by Principal Fessenden and the chairman of the Board of Education.

G. R. Coldwell was sworn in as Provincial Secretary of Manitoba.

Sockett and Hughes to perform the the ordinances of the church. The president and secretary of the Conference were instructed to issue a pastoral on the spiritual aspect of the Conference.

Rev. H. M. Manning, chairman of the committee, occupied the chair and opened the the meeting.

College Team is Ordered to Play Here

C.R.F.U. Instructs College Champions to Play at Peterboro' Saturday—Montreal Wants Game

The Canadian Rugby Football Union has ordered Ottawa College to play Peterborough there next saturday for the amateur championship of Canada. The students now have to come to Peterborough or default which would give Peterborough the championship. The locals, however, are anxious to meet the college champions and it is hoped they will be here for the game on Saturday. If they do come they will have to get a heavy guarantee and it will be up to the citizens of Peterborough to turn out and give the boys a bumper gate. The local team have done splendid work this season, but have only received half-hearted support from the people. If Ottawa College comes the grounds should be packed.

A telegram to the effect that Ottawa College had been ordered to play there was received from Mr. D. McKeand, the secretary of the Canadian Rugby Football Union at noon to-day. A telegram has also been received from the Montreal teams champions of the interprovincial union, asking for a game with Peterborough in Montreal. The Montrealers stated that they were trying to arrange with the O.R.F.U. for a game with Peterborough.

The local management are in communication with Ottawa this afternoon.

Post Cards From the Dublin Fair

Mr. R. J. Munro Receives Handsome Set of Views

Mr. R. J. Munro, of the Munro House, yesterday received a set of post cards from the Canadian Pavilion at the Dublin Exhibition. There are about a dozen cards in the set, and they give a splendid idea of what the inside of the Canadian building looks like.

The Dominion's exhibits show up to excellent advantage, and when one sees the cards an explanation is furnished of why the Canadian building is the most popular at the exhibition.

Sausage Which Caused Poisoning Not Obtained From Matthews Co.

All Animals Slaughtered by Them and All the Products Manufactured Are Under Inspection by Competent Government Official—Certificate of the Inspector.

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—Our attention has been directed to an article published in your paper last evening, giving an account of the poisoning of several members of a family on Harvey street, which poisoning was attributed to the eating of pork sausage.

As we manufacture a very large percentage of the pork sausage sold throughout this city, not only in our own retail stores, but by dealers in the outskirts, it would perhaps be inferred by many that the sausage which was used by the family in question, would be of our manufacture.

We wish to state most emphatically that we can prove beyond the shadow of a doubt, that the sausage was not obtained at our store, or from any dealers to whom we supply sausage.

Perhaps, the public are not generally aware that all of the animals slaughtered in our plant here, and all of the product manufactured are under inspection by a competent Government official. This officer not only certifies to the purity of the ingredients of all our product, but is in charge of the department, inasmuch as cleanliness of manufacture and sanitation is conserned.

We attach hereto, certificate which is sent out with each shipment of goods, bearing the signature of Dr. Ranson, which applies not only to goods shipped for export, but also to goods for local consumption.

We would thank you to publish this letter, along with the certificate attached, as we feel that by the publication of the article in your paper last evening, a reflection has been cast upon pork sausage, as generally sold, and which we wish to correct as far as this firm is concerned.

Yours truly,

I hereby certify that the meat product factory of the firm of Geo. G.T.R. Gate at Charlotte St. Was Damaged

Let Down on Passing Street Car Last Evening.

One of the gates on the east side of the G.T.R. track at the Charlotte street crossing was badly mutilated last evening. About six o'clock two street cars had arrived at the crossing at the same time. One had passed over all right, but a train was approaching and the night gateman, Mr. Geo. Davidson, in his hurry to prevent any other cars pass, let down the gates and the second car had not got over the track. The gate struck the car and tore the Canadian General sign off it. The gate was also damaged considerably.

BEER* BENEFITS THE WHOLE BODY
(NO OTHER FOOD-BEVERAGE DOES THAT MUCH)

NOT six people in a thousand (and those six have either diabetes or gouty tendencies) can get anything but real good from the use of good beer with their meals. Because that kind of beer (and no other kind is brewed in Ontario) benefits the whole body of the normal adult,—enriches the blood, vitalizes the stomach, makes kidneys and liver active, builds flesh and betters nerves.

Beer Is Not A Mere Tonic

Good beer, drank with meals and at bedtime, is not merely a tonic—for a tonic simply gets one part of the system to work better for a while, by stimulating its activity, while beer, rightly used, does the whole system permanent good.

Beer Builds Up Thin Folks

That is why good beer is such a notable flesh-builder, and why it is so effective in changing the too-white blood of aenemic people into the red, strong, healthy blood of the vigorous. It has qualities that are very valuable to women, especially. It is distinctly NOT an intoxicant, nor a hurtful stimulant. Ask your doctor if beer wouldn't be good for you as an item of daily diet.

* BEER is a term which covers lager, ales, porter and stout; and, in the practice of Ontario brewers, implies beverages made under most hygienic conditions from Ontario barley (the best in the world) malt, hops, and pure water. 302

TO UNITE SOUTH AFRICA

FORECAST OF NEW BRITISH COMMONWEALTH.

Colonies to Be Federated—Lord Selborne Issues Important News—To Establish One Parliament—Consolidate the Railways—Delagoa Bay Reaps Inordinate Advantages—Constitution of Present Legislature

A scheme of the greatest importance is on foot for the federation of the South African Colonies. A memorandum, edited by Lord Selborne, and issued with his authority, points out the necessity of establishing one Parliament to represent the whole of South Africa, and protect British ports and interests, especially in view of the position of Delagoa Bay, which, under the Portuguese, is reaping inordinate railway and other advantages. The memorandum asserts that the state of affairs is such that the political position of the country as a whole must within the present year be deliberately discussed between all the British South African Governments. The memorandum conveys the impression that union is necessitated by the position of Delagoa Bay, which is reaping inordinate railway and other advantages ruinously affecting the British ports, and the idea is that a consolidation of the railway and other British interests; terminating this state of things, though with scrupulous fairness to our ally Portugal, becomes increasingly pressing. General Botha and his Government point out that the memorandum was drawn up before they took office. While cordially approving of federation, they dissent from what is said in the document regarding Delagoa Bay, declaring that their attitude towards the Portuguese will always be sincerely friendly. Lord Selborne strongly deprecates regarding federation. The Colonies, it is pointed out, possess full self-government, but South Africa as a whole does not possess it, because there are constant inter-Colonial divergences which necessitate the intervention of the High Commissioner, who is controlled by the Imperial Government. Consequently, in extreme cases, the ultimate authority in the strictly internal affairs of South Africa is the Imperial Parliament. South Africa, the memorandum adds, can only be wisely and successfully governed by a Government responsible to a Parliament representing the whole of South Africa.

The four self-governing Colonies of South Africa meant that Orangia has been granted a constitution, are the Cape of Good Hope, Natal, the Transvaal, and the Orange River Colony. The present constitution of the Cape Colony dates from 1872. The Parliament consists of a Legislative Council of twenty-six members, elected for seven years, and a House of Assembly of 107 members elected for five years. Natal attained responsible Government in 1893. It has a Legislative Council of thirteen members, who hold their seats for ten years, and a Legislative Assembly of forty-three members, elected for four years. The Transvaal, under its new constitution granted last year, has a Legislative Council of fifteen members, and a Legislative Assembly of sixty-nine members. The letters patent, recently issued, providing for the establishment of responsible Government in the Orange River Colony vest the legislative power in a Legislative Council of eleven members and a Legislative Assembly of thirty-eight.

His Large Family.

A Washington scientist was recently much amused by a conversation between two young colored men who were discussing the scientific attainments of a fellow negro.

"There's no use in talking, Jim," said one of the negroes. "That man Morgan is certainly cultivated and educated to the limit. I was at a party the other night and he kept the company entranced for over an hour explaining science to us."

"What did he talk about?" asked the second negro.

"Everything scientific," was the reply, "but principally he told us how we are all descended from Mr. Darwin."—Lippincott's Magazine.

He Was Satisfied.

A Greenwich man tells of a Connecticut farmer who, after having driven a lot of hogs to Greenwich, sold them for precisely what had been offered him before he left home.

"You didn't seem to have made much by bringing your hogs down here," remarked the man who tells the story.

"Well, no," replied the agriculturist dejectedly, "I ain't made no money, but then, you know," he added, his face brightening, "I had the company of the hogs on the way down."

Pleasure of Memory.

"I beg your pardon, but have we not met somewhere before?" he asked, approaching the lady as she was making mysterious marks in the sand with her parasol.

She looked at him curiously for a moment and then replied, not without a certain sense of pleasure:

"Of course we have! We were engaged for a week and a half three summers ago."—Judge.

GIFT MAKING HINTS.

Presents Clever Women May Construct at Home.

WORKBOX AND TIE HOLDER.

Two Attractive Christmas Remembrances, In the Manufacture of Which Embroidery and Amateur Carpentry Figure.

THERE is an interesting variety of pretty Christmas gifts that women can make at home this year for trifling expense if they are ingenious enough to do a little carpentry work and have also the ability to embroider and crochet or knit.

One of these practical and desirable presents for either a man or woman is a necktie holder. It can be fashioned as simply or elaborately as is wished once the woodwork is made. These holders that may be hung on a bureau knob, attached to the gas jet or nailed to the wall in a bedroom are made of an oval piece of light whitewood that is covered with denim, crash, linen or satin in any shade desired. They are serviceable if the material is left plain, but when embroidered with tulips in red, white and yellow silk with green leaves or in a solid rose pattern in natural colors they are decorative and are really an ornament to any apartment. On this wood plaque a round steel rod is screwed, and on it the scarfs and ties are hung when not in use. At the back two ribbons—any length needed to suspend the holder from a desirable place—are attached and tied in a bowknot. The ribbons may be of a color to match the material.

Instead of an oval of whitewood a six sided piece about ten inches in diameter is needed for the modern workbox that is just now so acceptable because it contains all the necessary things that a housekeeper wants when she sits down to sew or mend.

Once the wood is carefully sawed into a hexagon it may be covered with dark red or deep green satin or with less expensive material, and then the task of fitting the workbox with spools, miniature boxes for needles, pins, tape measure, etc., may be started.

In the center a cushion for pins and needles is essential, and it may be made as decorative as is desired. Around it the small cardboard or pill boxes, covered with satin or whatever goods is used on the base, are glued in place, and between these boxes spools of thread are tied into place with narrow baby ribbon. On the tops of the boxes slips of ribbon are attached so that scissors, bodkins, knitting needles, thimbles and emery bags will have a place on the workbox.

Novel Pincushion.

A pincushion is a very necessary adjunct to the average woman's dressing table, and she is apt to be specially appreciative if the one bestowed upon her at Christmas is made in some novel form.

Brooches that are worn often are generally kept somewhere within easy reach, and they are preserved in better condition if their ordinary resting place is a wash leather cushion instead of a china or metal pin tray.

To make this brooch pincushion, use a round cushion covered with wash leather for your center and sew to this four flaps of velvet, heavy silk or any other material that you choose, lining each flap with the wash leather. Stick your brooches into the center cushion and fold the flaps over. The two that fold on top are tied together with ribbon.

Needlecase.

A charming present the business woman will appreciate is an individual needlecase. It is so small that she can slip it in her purse and take it down to the office, where it will not occupy any space in her desk. It is made just a little larger than a package of needles and is of silk covered cardboard. On one side is a strap to hold the package, and there are, besides, three thin flannel leaves for the loose needles.

OLD NORMAN GATEWAY.

Evesham, Where Princess Louise of France Is to Be Married.

Evesham, the picturesque old Worcester town whose foundations dip deep into history, is agog with excitement over the coming festivities inseparable to the marrage of Princess Louise of France, the only unmarried sister of the Duc d'Orleans. The bridegroom is Prince Charles of Bourbon, and it is expected that the OLD TOWER AND GATEWAY.

King and Queen of Spain, the King and Queen of Portugal, and many other great people will be present at the wedding which takes place this month. Wood Norton, the Duke's beautiful country seat, which will welcome all these great folk, is, roughly, two miles from Evesham.

Evesham, locally E'sam, has a wonderful tower and gateway belonging to an old abbey, a remarkable foundation in Prince Henry's grammar school (1548), and notable relics of the battle of 1265, when the Baron's war was terminated by the defeat and death of that turbulent spirit, Simon de Montfort. The earl's tomb has many visitor's to-day.

There is a Flemish air about many of the buildings of the town, of which Bridge-street is a notable example. Here there still stands a house where Charles I. stayed in the dread days of the Commonwealth, and an older tradition of Shakespeare clings to yet another, for, be it remembered, Evesham is but fifteen miles from Stratford-on-Avon. The approach to the tower is by a charming Norman gateway, which dates back to the twelfth century.

DOGS WITH WOODEN LEGS.

Dumb Animals Often Supplied With Artificial Limbs.

Walking along a country lane at Stanstead Abbots, Hertfordshire, a correspondent met a large sheep dog with a wooden leg. The animal was apparently suffering no inconvenience.

Accompanying the dog were two ladies, and they explained that the animal, whose name is "Bobs," met with an accident about four years ago, his paw being shut in a door by some children. The wound was treated and apparently healed, but subsequently it got worse and it became necessary a little while ago to amputate the leg. "Bobs" has become quite accustomed to his new limb, made by Messrs. Arnold & Sons of West Smithfield, and now capers about almost as well as ever.

"This is not the first artificial limb that we have made for dumb animals by any means," said the manager of the Smithfield firm to a representative of The Daily Mail.

"Only the other day we made a wooden fore-leg for the dog of a well-known London journalist, and just before then a wooden hind-leg for a celebrated Alderney cow that it was desirable should be kept for breeding purposes.

"Not a week passes without a pet dog or cat being brought to us for the insertion of a glass eye, and for a time we had in our care a racehorse belonging to Mr. McCalmont, which, having put its shoulder out of joint, had to live for a time with the limb in a plaster cast until the tissues had regained their normal strength and the animal could walk without artificial aid."

Cat's Salary Reduced.

Mr. Sydney Buxton, the Postmaster-General, told an amusing story at Glasgow. He said he found a cat on the staff of the Central Telegraph Office, which had been drawing eighteenpence a week for feeding.

It seemed to him that this cat ought not to live at the public expense, but ought to find its living on the rats round about it.

They had not cut off the eighteenpence at once, but they had reduced it very substantially. (Laughter.) That would show that whatever their misconduct in regard to Scotch legislation, this was a Government of efficiency and economy. (Cheers.)

In a rear end C.P.R. collision at Brandon on Saturday Brakeman McEachren was burned to death.

Humor

SIZED HIM UP WRONG.

Fistic Encounter Did Not Turn Out as It Was Planned.

"It was this way, you see," said the young man with the black eye and skinned nose and a gap in his mouth where two front teeth used to be. "I was elbowed by a feller on a street car and we had some words. I determined to lick that man or die. I could have hit him with a stone or a club or hired some ruffian to waylay him, but I wanted to polish him off scientifically. I wanted to daily with him—to jab and uppercut him and straight punch until I made a pulp of him."

"And so you took boxing lessons?" was queried.

"That's what I did—twenty-four of them. When I had finished my instructor said that I could knock out any man twice my weight in America. I had kept an eye on the elbow man and when I got good and ready I threw myself in his way. He gave me the elbow again. I called him a ruffian and a coward and invited him to step off the car."

"And the bluffer didn't dare do it, of course?"

"But he did dare. Yes, sir, he got down lively. I squared off at him and let go with my right. It missed. Then I let go with my left. It missed. Then I swung on him. He wasn't there. Then—then"—

"Then you caught him an awful wallop and killed him stone dead?"

"Not quite. Something came booming along and hit me all over the face and I went down and awoke in an ambulance."

"But you had taken twenty-four lessons in boxing."

"I had, but as I afterward found out the other feller had taken forty-eight."—Chicago News.

Strange Effect of Cold.

"There's nothing that warms me up," said the good natured boarder, "like a cup of hot coffee."

"And there's nothing," snorted the chronic kicker, "that makes me so hot as a cup of cold coffee."—Minneapolis Journal.

PASSEPARTOUT PICTURES AND MOUNTING BOARD

The fad for passepartout pictures is again growing very general. Many who have used this means of decorating their rooms, find there is no other way of treating pictures, that is so economical and satisfactory. The Review has a new line of passepartout in all shades, mounting papers and pictures in the popular sepia tints. Call and see them and fix up a few pictures for your friends for Xmas. Nothing is more acceptable than a pretty picture.

New Departure in Photography

An Innovation in Street Car Display Cards

Why do we read the cards displayed in the street cars? Is it force of habit? Is it because, after having taken a glance at one's fellow passengers there is nothing else to do, especially if we traverse the same route day after day? Anyway, the bright colors and brief statements attract the eye and beguile the passing moment. Occasionally some advertiser seeks to go beyond the attractive qualities of color and form, and breaks out in a new line, putting before the public something really high class. In this connection high art in advertising is exemplified in a card at present being displayed in the street cars. The scene depicts two prominent English actresses at luncheon using Holbrook's Sauce, the pose and color work being most natural and life-like. Each card is an original photograph and colored by hand. These cards are being sent out by Woods-Norris, Limited, advertising gagents, Toronto, on behalf of Messrs Holbrooks, of Birmingham, England, and Toronto.

Former Detective Now a Vagrant

W. J. Wells Arrested on That Charge in Winnipeg

A telegram bearing the signature of Chief of Police J. C. McRae, of Winnipeg, has been received at the Attorney-General's Department, Toronto. It says that William J. Wells, late of the provincial detective staff, is under arrest in the Western city on a charge of vagrancy. Wells, who was employed on the Barton township murder case, lived in Toronto. He disappeared when on a trip to the West, and recently turned up in Manitoba. Wells is well known in Peterborough, having taken a prominent part in working up evidence against Chas. Gow in the Dunmore tragedy.

AMUSEMENTS

THE WAGES OF SIN.

The Ernie Marks Dramatic Company played to a crowded house last evening, presenting the popular drama, "The Wages of Sin." The excellent caste performed their several parts most acceptably and were greeted with merited applause. Ernie Marks, who is a great favorite with local audiences, kept the people in fits of laughter. The specialities were of the same high order, with the exception that De Mateo, the handcuff king, was unable to perform on account of illness. However, he will appear tonight at the presentation of "Lost and Won."

James Killen, of Niagara Falls, a gardener, was killed by a M.C.R. train on Saturday.

The Government Has Bungled

Incapacity of Laurier Administration Once More Shown

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—That the Laurier Government has bungled Canadian affairs beyond hope, is universally believed. The high price of living and the tightness of money have brought about the most acute distress in the history of the country. There might have been some excuse if there were a poor demand or an inadequate supply. But neither of these conditions exist. It is simply a case of common bungling. To add to this we have the attempt to put cheap Oriental labor upon the market. This attempt, however, has resulted in a disastrous defeat that will yet prove to have been the Waterloo of the Liberal Government at Ottawa. Greed at Ottawa, just as at Toronto will work their ruin. Lemieux's visit to Japan and the prompt stoppage of Japanese emigration was brought about by the roar of indignation that went up from an indignant Canadian people. The retreat was so late as to make it a rout for the Laurier Government. Whitney's course to government in the interest of the people, is a striking contrast to the bungling and duplicity at Ottawa.

BANKS WILL BE ASKED TO MAKE OFFERS

For the Banking of the Different Civic Bodies for 1908

The banks of the city will be asked to tender for the carrying of the different civic accounts for the year 1908. This was decided on at a joint meeting of the Finance committee of the City Council, the Finance committee of the Board of Education and representatives of the City Trust Commissioners. The city's banking was discussed at some length and finally a committee was appointed to call for tenders. Those present were:—

City Council.—Mayor McWilliams, Ald. Tovey, Morrow, Bradburn and Whalen.

Board of Education.—L. M. Hayes, chairman of the Finance committee, Prof. Fain, chairman of the Board, B. E. Andersen and W. S. Robinson.

Water Commissioners.—T. F. Matthews and W. H. Moore.

Mr. Moore also acted for the City Trust Commissioners.

Tenders will be received up to Dec. 10th, the committee appointed to call for them being composed of Mayor McWilliams, Ald. Morrow, T. F. Matthews, L. H. Hayes and W. H. Moore.

HEARD VIEWS OF ASSESSORS AND SOLICITOR

The Court of Revision met again last night, but did not give consideration to any appeals. In order that they might proceed in the most intelligent manner they had the assessors, Messrs. McKee and McGrath, give an outline of the way they assessed, the basis of valuation, and other information of this nature. City Solicitor Hall was also present and explained the Assessment Act from a legal point of view.

Adjournment was made until Thursday evening at 7.30 o'clock, when the court will take up the appeals and confirm or reduce the assessment, as they may see fit.

The government has addressed a vigorous protest to the Grand Trunk Pacific, in regard to the delay of construction in the west.

IMPORTANCE OF TRENT CANAL

Mr. E. S. Clarry Gave Able Address Before St. Paul's Guild

"The early history and importance of the Trent Canal," was the subject of an interesting and edifying address given last evening before St. Paul's church Young Men's Guild. There was a good attendance and Mr. Clarry's address was deeply appreciated. (Mr. G. B Van Blaricom, president, occupied the chair.

At the close of his address Mr. Clarry was accorded a hearty vote of thanks on motion of Rev. Dr. Talling and Mr. J. W. Garvin, and unanimously carried.

Mr. Clarry traced the history of the Trent Canal from the time of the original report and estimate made by Mr. N. H. Baird in 1833, when Sir John Colborne was Governor-General of Canada, down to the present time. Mr. Baird estimated that the cost of the waterway from Lake Simcoe to Lake Ontario—a distance of 165 miles—at 495,000 pounds sterling. In 1834 the rebellion stopped all work on the canal. In 1837 the locks at Chisholm's Rapids, Hastings and Peterborough were built. Nothing further was done until 1870, when the Young's Point locks were constructed. Things were again at a standstill until 1882, when more locks were built at Fenelon Falls, Buckhorn and Burleigh Falls. In 1886-87 a royal commission was appointed by the government to inquire into the feasibility of the route and the advisability of completing it. Judge Weller was chairman of the commission and after taking complete evidence at various points in 1900 they reported favorably on the matter of carrying on the work to completion. Since then the contract for several sections had been let. About $6,000,000 had been expended on the canal so far and it would possibly require that much more to complete the work. The canal should be finished at the present rate of progress in five years.

In speaking of the benefits of the canal Mr. Clarry furnished many facts and figures in support of the wisdom and natural advantages of the work. He told of the reduction it would effect in freight rates, the impetus it would be to local traffic, how 100,000 horse power remained along its route as yet undeveloped and how, in the consumption of one item—coal—this city would save $33,500 a year alone in freight rates or 75 cents per ton on the amount of coal—43,330 tons—used in Peterborough in one year.

Has Very Many Victims Here

Reports Many Cases of Rheumatism and Gives Simple Home Recipe

Thousands of men and women who have felt the sting and torture of this dread disease, which is no respecter of age, person, sex, color or rank, will be interested to know that while for many years rheumatism was considered an incurable disease, now it is one of the easiest afflictions of the human body to conquer. Medical science has proven it not a distinct disease in itself, but a symptom caused by inactive kidneys. Rheumatism is uric acid in the blood and other waste products of the system which should be filtered and strained out in the form of urine. The function of the kidneys is to sift these poisons and acids out and keep the blood clean and pure. The kidneys, however, are of sponge-like substance, the holes or pores of which will sometimes, either from overwork, cold or exposure become clogged and inactive, and filling in their function of eliminating these poisons from the blood, they remain in the veins, decompose and settling about the joints and muscles, cause the untold suffering and pain of rheumatism and backache, often producing complications of bladder and urinary disease, weakness, etc.

The following simple prescriptions is said to relieve the worst cases of rheumatism because of its direct action upon the blood and kidneys, relieving, too, the most severe forms of bladder and urinary troubles: Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Mix by shaking well in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bedtime. The ingredients can be had from any good prescription pharmacy, and are absolutely harmless and safe to use at any time.

Banquet to Harrier Club Was Most Happy Affair

Recognition of Splendid Performances of Local Runners

Bright Speeches Around the Board

Members of Club Were Guests of Board of Directors of Y.M.C.A. Last Night.

The local Y. M. C. A. building has been the scene of many happy events, but probably no more jollier function has ever taken place there than the banquet tendered the Harrier Club by the Board of Directors last night. Everyone wore a happy smile when they sat down to the well laden tables and the smile was still there when the function was over. The banquet took place in the Assembly Hall where three tables were "spread," and gathered around them were the members of the Board of Directors, several other prominent citizens and the members of the Harrier Club. The latter organization is doing a great work in advertising Peterborough, and in promoting the interests of the local Y. M. C. A. During the evening many nice things were said about the Club by the members of the Board of Directors, and the nicest of all was the announcement of the president, Mr. Harding, who stated that the Board had granted the sum of $50 to the Harriers, to be used in connection with the indoor meet to be held on December 3rd. The announcement was received with great applause and caused unlimited jubilation among the members of the club. All the bouquets did not fly one way, however. The Harriers were loud in their praises of the Directors for providing the banquet and for other kindnesses shown and unanimously declared the governing body to be "alright," written in big letters.

About forty-five were present and the catering, which was done by Coleman Bros. was everything that could be desired. There were many bright speeches during the evening and the presentation of a gold pin to Ernest Wilson and a pair of gold cuff links to Peter Wallace, were features that met with enthusiastic approval. They were made by Mr. C. G. Graham, the treasurer of the Harrier Club, during Mr. Kenner's speech, in which he referred to the splendid achievements of the two young men in question.

Mr. R. E. Harding, president of the Association, acted as chairman with every acceptance, and after the menu had been done justice to, opened the second part of the banquet by proposing the toast to the King, which was honored by the singing of the National Anthem.

OUR GUESTS

"Our Guests" was next on the list. This toast was proposed by Mr. Vincent Eastwood. He complimented the Harrier Club on their splendid showing in the recent events in which members had participated and emphasized the important part clean, manly sports had in the building up of a strong vigorous manhood. He predicted a great future for the Harriers, as Peterborough was one of, if not the best city in Canada, and there was plenty of good material from which to draw. Mr. Eastwood said the Harrier Club was a valuable asset to the Y. M. C. A. and he was glad the Board of Directors had shown a due appreciation of what the boys were doing.

The toast was responded to by Mr. H. R H. Kenner, honorary president of the Harrier Club. Mr. Kenner made an excellent speech at the commencement of which he thanked the Board of Directors on behalf of the club for the kind spirit they had shown in preparing the banquet. A great deal of credit was due the Y.M.C.A. for what it had done in promoting manly sport. He was glad that the churches were beginning to give encouragement to healthy sport, and he believed that the Y.M.C.A. had set the example for them in this respect. Mr. Kenner then gave a concise review of the origin of the Olympic games and the manner they had been fostered and encouraged, especially in recent years. In the days of ancient Greece the games were held with the object of developing the individual man, as individual strength and swiftness counted for more in those days than at present. Mr. Kenner's mention of Sherring's victory at Athens in 1906, Fred Simpson's great run at Hamilton, Ernie Wilson's triumph over Tom Coley and Ray Best's good showing in the Montreal Herald race were the signals for outbursts of applause. The speaker predicted a great future for the Harrier Club, and promised the boys every support in his power.

THE HARRIER CLUB.

"The Harrier Club" was proposed by Mr. J. H. Conna', who paid a tribute to the five young men who had originated the Harrier Club seven years ago. Young men, he said, should pay attention to their physical welfare and they could not do better than join the Y.M.C.A. He referred to the good work that Mr. J. Howden had done in promoting good amateur sport in Peterborough, and concluded with the statement that if the Harriers of to-day kept before them the ideals of the young men who had originated the club there need be no fear of the future.

Mr. E. M. Best, president of the Harrier Club, made a happy speech, in which he referred at some length to the indoor meet to be held here on December 3rd. Tom Longboat, Tom Coley, Hilton Green, Sellen, O'Rourke and T. C. Flannigan, of the Irish Canadian Athletic Club, were coming, and the biggest time on record was assured. Speaking of the Olympic games at London next summer, Mr. Best said he would be surprised if Peterborough was not represented on the Canadian team.

At this point Mr. Harding announced that $50 had been voted by the Board of Directors for their sports. Cheers greeted the statement.

"Our Association" was proposed by Mr. R. M. Glover and responded to by the new secretary, Mr. H. C. Wright.

Mr. Glover dealt with the beneficial effects of a membership in the Y.M.C.A., and suggested that it might be a desirable move to have a bowling alley and a billiard table placed in the local building. He did not know if this would meet with unanimous approval, but it was worth consideration. Mr. Glover also paid a tribute to the new secretary, Mr. Wright.

Mr. Wright's response to the toast made a splendid impression. He was proud to be engaged in Y. M. C. A. work and deeply grateful for the cordial reception he had received in Peterborough. The Harrier Club was a joy to his heart and would always have his hearty support.

Before the last toast was honored, short addresses were given by Mr. J. C. Shook and Rev. E. A. Pearson. Mr. Shook alluded to Mr. Glover's proposal to have bowling alleys put in and said the matter was being given careful consideration by the Board of Directors. It was a somewhat radical step from the lines that had been followed in the past and might not seem just right to some people.

Rev. Mr. Pearson's remarks were received with great applause being of a most happy nature.

The toast to "The Ladies" brought forth two excellent speeches from the proposer, Mr. W. D. Campbell, and the seconder, Mr. Chas. Sisson. Many nice things were said about the ladies in a nice way.

The banquet closed with the pronouncement of the benediction by Rev. Mr. Pearson.

Fred Simpson and Ben Howard, of Hiawatha, were among those present and were warmly greeted. Ben has joined the local Harriers and will run under their colors in future.

During the evening Ernie Wilson made a short speech, thanking the club and the Board of Directors for the handsome gift presented him.

Hall Crowded to the Doors Last Evening

On the Occasion of the Presentation of Ye Olde Time Concert.

On the occasion of its second presentation the "Old Time Concert" at St. Andrew's Hall last evening was greeted with a crowded house. Every available space was taken and the people simply thronged to the building. To the very doors the place was jammed and from every vantage point possible were people intent upon seeing the customs and hearing the songs of the days of long ago. That the unique and varied programme was highly appreciated by the vociferous applause tendered each number. The programme was given the same as on Friday night, save that probably it was presented with a greater degree of excellence, as the different performers who had not previously appeared before the footlights had more confidence in themselves.

The stage presented a very attractive appearance, and the ladies and gentlemen, in the old-fashioned garbs, did much to recall to the minds of the people the quaint manners of dress of our ancestors.

It must have been a source of great pleasure and satisfaction to Mrs. McClelland and Mr. Freeland to see their efforts crowned with such success. They worked hard and incessantly, and no doubt they felt very gratified.

During the intermission last evening Rev. J. G. Potter, on behalf of the choir, thanked the people for their support and hearty appreciation. He referred to the good work of Mr. Freeland and Mrs. McClelland, who were instrumental in giving the entertainment, also those who took part are to be congratulated on the excellent way they performed their parts.

Ye olde time concert will long be remembered as one of the best amateur productions ever given in this city.

Going to be Hard Times

Many Applications to Charity Department for Relief

Mr. Finch Miller, City Relief Officer, informed the Review to-day that there were many applications for relief in Peterborough this winter, but refused to state any particular cases. Some who want assistance are English families that have come here, while a large number of those who require aid are sick and feeble people who are unable to work or are a source of expense to families whose means are very limited.

Mr. Miller says there has been a particularly large number of applications for relief this fall, and was of the opinion that there would be many cases of hardship next winter.

Enjoyable Evening; Fine Programme

Annual Tea and Entertainment Held in Temperance Hall, Smith

With ideal weather prevailing and the reputation which the residents of S. Central Smith have for their splendid concerts and entertainments, the Fourth Line Temperance Hall, Smith, was packed to its utmost capacity last night on the occasion of their annual tea and entertainment. An excellent supper was provided by the ladies of the church, and after the good things had been partaken of the following interesting programme was rendered, Rev. Mr. Pechover proving a most genial and efficient chairman:

Song ..... Mr. Campbell
Recitation ..... Miss Irene Young
Recitation ..... Little Miss Archer
Solo ..... Miss Jackson
Address ..... Rev. Mr. Buckler, of Omemee
Duet ..... Misses Chasty, Peterborough
Solo ..... Mr. Telford
Address ..... Rev. A. H. Brace, Peterborough
Duet, Mrs. Bryson and Miss Parsons, Omemee
Solo ..... Mr. Telford
Solo ..... Miss Parsons, Omemee
Address ..... Mr. Taverston, Omemee
Address .. Mr. Jardine, Principal Omemee High School
Solo ..... Mrs. Bryson
Solo ..... Miss Evelyn Chasty
Solo ..... Mr. Campbell
Reading (comic) ..... Mrs. Greystock

The duets of the Misses Chasty, of Peterborough, and Mrs. Bryson and Miss Parsons, of Omemee, and the solos of Mr. Telford, of Smith, were popular and heartily encored.

The proceeds of the entertainment amounted to over $66, the net profit which will be used in connection with Lakevale Presbyterian Church. Altogether a most enjoyable evening was spent.

After a hearty vote of thanks had been tendered the chairman by Deacon Graham, the meeting closed with God Save the King.

Said Good-bye to Popular Associate

Mr. L. Bolin Honored by His Friends of C.G.B. Test Department.

Mr. Louis Bolin, who for the past four years has been pursuing a four-year's course in the test department of the C.G.E. Works and has graduated from that department, was tendered a farewell banquet at Hooper's restaurant last night by his associates in the test department. Mr. Bolin leaves here to work in Pennsylvania, where he will be engaged on construction work for a large company. Mr. Cassiff presided last night. Several speeches were made by those present, expressing regret at Mr. Bolin's departure.

Mr. Herb. Hamilton read an appreciative address and Mr. C. Baldwin presented the guest of the evening with a handsome pipe. The recipient suitably replied.

Mr. D. Webster, of Montreal, a former employee of the department, who happened to be in the city, was present and delivered a happy address.

INTERRUPTED.

Its serpent coils this railway train
Must twist and writhe and bend
Through weary miles of hill and plain
Before my journey's end.
One happy moment since, I sought
To speed the flight of time,
Developing a clever thought
To fashion into rhyme,
But now, alas, a clod there comes
Who nips my little plan
And all my budding thought benumbs—
The cheery traveling man!

He sprawls beside me in this seat
And eyes these notes of mine,
And asks me if "the orders meet
Expenses" in my "line."
His trade, he says, "is pretty good
At this stage of the game."
He "can't complain at all." Oh, would
That I could say the same!
Farewell! Alas, farewell, my muse!
I take what joy I can
The while he sits and airs his views—
This cheery traveling man.

Sunday Dyspepsia.

"Sunday dyspepsia—that is what you have," said the doctor, smiling.

"Sunday dyspepsia?"

"Yes, and it is not a rare complaint either. It is due to this bad habit of eating foolishly and gluttonously on Sunday. Through the week you eat like a sensible man—a moderate breakfast early, a light luncheon and a good, substantial dinner at the end of the day. But on Sunday you eat a heavy breakfast at 10 or 11. At 1 you sit down to an enormous dinner, stuffing yourself without appetite, and at 6:30, when you are really hungry, you eat light, unsatisfactory food, like Saratoga chips and lettuce sandwiches—in a word, a Sunday supper. The result of this change for the worse, made once a week by millions of men, is Sunday dyspepsia, an ailment for which I always prescribe a 6 o'clock Sunday dinner."—New York Press.

CAPTAIN AS DIVER.

Shark Oversees Risky Piece of Work.

A sea captain's ingenuity and pluck are the subject of a capital story which comes from Hartlepool. Captain Ivor Mattson, of the Swedish barque Flora is the hero of the adventure, which occurred when the Flora was on a voyage from Norway to the Cape. Heavy weather was encountered in the Bay of Biscay, and the water commenced to make its way into the vessel at the bows. Despite the fact that the pumps were kept going—by means of the windmill on deck when possible, and at other times by hand—the water rose steadily in the hold, and eventually the Flora, which was by this time in the South Atlantic, was in a well-nigh waterlogged condition. The captain then decided upon heroic measures. It was impossible to stop the leak from the inside, so he determined to try and stop it from the outside. For this purpose a diving suit of some form was necessary, and out of a piece of sail cloth, Captain Mattson fashioned a huge bag, sixteen feet long and two feet in diameter, fixing metal rings at intervals inside in order to keep it in shape. At a suitable height he put in a small window, scraping the back off a cheap mirror for the purpose. Armholes and sleeves were fitted, and the whole apparatus so rigged up that the bag could be lowered into the water to the requisite depth to enable a person inside it to examine the hull of the vessel under water. Captain Mattson himself descended in this novel diving suit, and discovered, after considerable difficulty, two places where the water was entering.

With the aid of rags, rope, etc., he caulked the apertures, the dangers of the task being increased by the fact that, whilst the leakages were some four feet below the actual water line of the vessel, their depth momentarily increased to eight feet or so as the ship dipped to the long Atlantic roll. The pitching of the vessel, too, caused Captain Mattson to be continually thrown with more or less force against the hull, and indeed the friction gradually wore a hole in the canvas at the foot of the bag. Through this the water entered the bag and immersed Captain Mattson to the chin before he could call out to his men to haul him up. Another unpleasant interruption was caused by a shark. All the morning before Captain Mattson commenced operations a large shark had been swimming around the vessel. The crew had fished for him with meat, etc., but without success, but at length the monster, rising to grab at an insignificant an article as an empty match box that had been thrown overboard, Captain Mattson had a shot at him with a revolver. The shark was just below the water when the bullet hit him, and evidently not much damage was done. Still, he swam away, and was not seen again until Captain Mattson was below in his extemporised diving suit, the crew at once warned the captain of the shark's approach, but the captain decided to go on with his work. The shark came up, and Captain Mattson, keeping close to the side of the vessel, saw him come round the bows. The pilot fish that accompanied him inspected the canvas bag, but the shark passed, apparently unheeding, about four or five feet off. Captain Mattson was at first somewhat afraid the shark might attack his hands, and had his knife ready to defend himself if necessary. The leakages being repaired, the Flora continued her voyage to Cape Town, which she reached in safety, and, as a recognition of his daring and ingenuity, Captain Mattson was the recipient of several handsome presents.

THE SIXTEENTH CENTURY.

Children in England Had Beer For Breakfast.

Sixteenth-century children in England ate very different food from that consumed by modern American youngsters. The following dietary is taken from the Northumberland Household Books showing the nursery breakfasts at the beginning of the sixteenth century: "This is the Ordre of Braikfasts for the Nurcy, for my Lady Margaret and Maister Ingeram Percy every day in the week in Lent: Item, a Manchet (small loaf of white bread), a Quarte of Bere, a Dysch of Butter, a Pece of Saltfish, a Dysch of Sprotts ir iij White Herring, Braikfastis of Flesch dayly throwte the Yere: Item, a Manchet, a Quarte of Bere and iij Muton Bonys boiled. On Fysshedayes throw-owte the Yere: Item, a Manchet, a Quarte Bere, a Dysch of Butter, a pece of Saltfische or ax Dysche of Butter'd Eggs." Milk seems to have been an unknown beverage, but the beer of those days was very different from the modern article, and much more harmless.

THURSDAY TO MONDAY

Four Days' Introduction Sale in the Enlarged Home Furnishing Department

THE HOME FURNISHING DEPARTMENT, which has long been a feature of this growing business, has been doubled in size during the past re-building operations, and the stock increased accordingly, until we now have the largest stock and most commodious department of its kind in Eastern Ontario. The entire third floor, three stores wide, containing all the season's newest productions, must be introduced to hundreds of people in the next four days. We will give a big attraction in prices on Carpets, Rugs, Draperies, etc.—substantial price reductions that will help our patrons of those days to remember, with favor, this big money-saving department. TEACHERS HEARD GOOD REPORTS

Of the Anglican Sunday School Gathering in Toronto

At a joint meeting of the Anglican Sunday school teachers of the city held in St. John's church school house last night there was a good attendance. Rev. Wm. Major presided. Reports were presented from the recent Diocesan S.S. convention in Toronto by Mr. R. J. Devey, one of the delegates. Mr. J. J. Turner, jr., the other delegate, who was called out of the city on business, left his report, which was read by Mr. D. Spence.

Addresses were also delivered by Rev. Dr. Langfeldt, Mr. A. Poe, Mr. D. Spence, Rev. Canon Davidson and others.

A profitable discussion followed.

Desire Hadeau, an Ottawa lineman, touched a live wire and was killed.

Several Winnipeg bankers received words from Ottawa yesterday that the Government would assist them in moving the wheat crop.

To Hold Shredded Wheat Banquet

At Industrial Sale at All Saints' Church on December 5th

Arrangements have been completed between the Women's and Girl's Guilds of All Saint's church, and the Canadian Shredded Wheat Company, whereby a Shredded Wheat banquet will be held at All Saint's in connection with the Industrial Sale on December 5th. The banquet will of course be held in the evening and no doubt will prove a great success.

FOR SNAP SHOTS

Why not put all those snap shots you took this summer into a little book and use it as a Christmas gift for those of your friends who will be interested. We have a fine stock of mounting papers in brown, grey and white, that are the proper ones to use. The cover can be made of leather to match, or of a pretty embossed card. Call at the Review office and see the shades of paper used.

Hartley to Walk From Toronto To Montreal in Six Days Time

Will Undertake the Feat Next May—Distance is About 360 Miles—Reynolds Makes Great Record in Training at Port Hope.

In May next David Hartley, Peterborough's famous long distance walker, will attempt the feat of walking from Montreal to Toronto, a distance of about 360 miles, in six days. This will mean an average of 60 miles per day. Hartley's friends believe that he can accomplish the task. He will start from the King Edward Hotel on Monday morning at 6 o'clock, and reach the Windsor Hotel, Montreal, on the following Saturday evening.

It is expected that the expense of the trip will be borne by the people in the towns and villages along the roads by selling pictures of Hartley, which will contain a brief record of all his performances.

A GREAT WALKER.

Mr. George Stevens was in Port Hope yesterday and saw Jimmy Reynolds, who is to meet Hartley on Saturday next in Toronto in a twelve hour walking contest, do some fast work. In the drill ished Reynolds walked the first six miles in an hour and 30 seconds, and the second six miles in 59 minutes and 30 seconds, making twelve miles in two hours flat. He then tore off two miles in eighteen minutes Reynolds' friends are backing him strongly, but Hartley's admirers feel confident that he will win out in Saturday's great contest.

Reynolds left Port Hope for Toronto today.

A clean up-to-date show. Good specialties. Ernie Marks Co. "Grand" tonight.

Mineral Wealth in This County

Sample of Blue Cobalt Rock May be Examined at This Office

Owing to a typographical error in Tuesday's Review in refering to the discovery of gold, silver and copper ore in the northern part of the county which assayed highly when tested by Assayist Latimer, of Toronto, it should have read that a good sized sample of blue cobalt rock from No. 4 property is at this office, meaning the Review office and not at the office as stated in the article. The sample is here and may be examined by anyone. It is from the property in the northern part of the county for which claims have been taken out by a company of nine local workingmen. It is the desire of the company to secure financial backing from home capitalist or capitalists as they believe the property to be particularly valuable and the actual assays of the ore found there would seem to bear out the truth of their convictions. Full information concerning the matter may be obtained at 108 Stewart Street.

No Cardinal to be Appointed

Special to the Review.

Rome, Nov. 21.—The Pope has definitely decided not to appoint a new American Cardinal at the next Consistory, on Dec. 9th.

GOOD SHOWING

The Peterborough tax collector, according to the Review, has only 3,000 of this year's taxes yet to collect. That's a pretty good record. Wonder how it compares with Belleville's.—Belleville Intelligencer.

THE STRENUOUS LIFE

Nature will have her compensations. Our overworked bodies and nerves require recuperation and rest. The longer the delay, the greater the price. Before too late try the tonic influence of the Mineral Salt Springs. The "St. Catharines Well" for nervous troubles, rheumatism and allied diseases, appeals to those desiring relief and absolute convalescence. Write to J. D. McDonald, District Passenger Agent, Grand Trunk Railway System, Toronto, for illustrated descriptive matter.

W. G. MORROW,

YOU ARE SICK!

You're uneasy, restless, without appetite. Still worse, you are thin and fagged out. Work must be done, but where is the strength coming from? Make your blood nutritious and you'll have lots of strength.

Your only hope is Ferrozone, the great food tonic.

FERROZONE

It's a blood maker, blood purifier, blood enricher. It brings sharp appetite, digests and converts all you eat into nourishment.

Ferrozone makes muscle, tissue, nerve. It strengthens in a week, builds up anyone in a month. Think of it. You'll live longer and feel better by using Ferrozone. Avoid substitutes.

The London Election Case; They Were After the Coin

Evidence in Bribery Case as to Beck-Rumball Election.

London Witness Is Very Evasive—Crown Prosecutor Ashamed—Geo. Ardy In the Box—Witness Says Sifton Paid Out Money — Voters Were Disappointing—Did Not Stay Bought.

Toronto, Nov. 21—A dozen witnesses from London, including George Ardy, the defendant, who was discharged to be used as a crown witness, gave evidence in the London conspiracy trial yesterday. Crown Prosecutor Staunton expects to close the crown's case to-day. E. I. Sifton and Tom Lewis will be the new crown witnesses.

At the afternoon session Mr. Staunton asked permission to read the evidence of two witnesses who were absent. Mr. Judd then read the evidence of John Cox and Andrew Robinson, voters in the bye-election of 1905, relating to the receipt of envelopes containing money from W. J. Mulloy.

Hamilton Ramsay, for many years a resident of London, said that a polling booth was held in his house in the Beck-Rumble election of 1904. In the Hyman-Gray election he tried to let it for a similar purpose, but was too late in his application. After the election was over her was handed two five-dollar bills, but he could not swear who gave him the money.

Edward Jeffray, at one time secretary of the London Liberal Club, said that he had made up the list of deputy returning officers at the Gray-Hyman election. He appointed John Collins because he was an active worker.

Mr. Jeffray wanted to explain his answer, but was stopped by Mr. Staunton.

"Lawyers are the rottenest witnesses," said the prosecutor. "They talk too much."

Mr. O'Gorman had asked the witness to look after certain people "because the Tories were after him."

There was a bedroom in the Liberal building and Mr. Staunton tried to get the witness to say that O'Gorman occupied this room, but Jeffray would not admit that he knew the occupant of the room, although he had been told O'Gorman had slept there.

Witness knew that the Conservatives had protested against Jerry Collins and Bradwin as deputy returning officers.

"Did you ever know an election in London during the past ten years that O'Gorman did not work?"

"He was there."

"What did he do?"

"I don't know."

"What did Reid do?"

"He did most of the ordering."

"Was he the boss?"

"I don't think so."

"Did you ever get any money from him?"

"Yes. Liberal Club expenses, maybe $100 to pay for a reception to Mr. Hyman."

"Where did O'Gorman live during the last two elections?"

"I don't know exactly."

Mr. McEvoy cross-examined the witness briefly.

George B. Cooper, for several elections a deputy returning officer in London elections, was supplanted. He went to Collins Hall, where a man sitting near him gave him $15.

"I have been looking for the man since I came into court," said the witness. "The only man who looks like him is that man there," and he pointed to Harry Fowler, reporter for The London Advertiser, who was sitting in the press box busy with his "copy."

Amid general amusement Fowler disclaimed the idea that he had ever given anyone that much money.

Oscar Wootton contradicted his previous evidence at the Police Court. He claimed that the $10 he got was his wages from the tannery. He admitted taking Sifton to see some voters.

"This money was paid by Mr. Hyman in spite of the fact that you had been away canvassing votes?" asked Mr. Johnston.

"Yes," replied the witness.

George Ardy, who was discharged on the conspiracy charge and subpoenaed as a crown witness, deposed to finding six voters who were "all for the coin." Witness saw three alone and the others were interviewed in company with Sifton. Sifton gave them the money for voting for Hyman.

George Stephenson was seen and bought up by Jerry Collins. Collins was with Milly Mulloy.

"What was doing?"

"A $10-spot."

"Where did you get it?"

"At Lewis' Hotel, shortly after the election."

"What did you do with it?"

"I took it home." (Laughter.)

To Mr. Johnston witness said he was half drunk.

"Were you sober when you sold your vote?"

"A dam site soberer than I am today!" (Laughter.)

William Spence and William Servias gave evidence at the morning session. Serviss was sleepy and his evidence —the same story as he told in the Police Court—did not please the crown.

Francis Jones said that he had paid out $43 in the Hyman-Gray election and only got $41 back. He was questioned about an envelope he sent to a Mr. White.

"When did you give the envelope to White?" asked Mr. Staunton.

"I didn't give it to him. I sent it to him by my little boy."

"The day after the election?"

"Possibly, but not probably."

"What was in it?"

"I don't know."

"Tell the truth," thundered Mr. Staunton. "You're horrified at the whisky seller. I want to find out what you think of the truth. You have been posing here as a virtuous citizen."

Witness persisted that he didn't know what was in the envelope.

"Don't make a further spectacle of him," said Mr. Staunton when Mr. Johnston rose to cross-examine the witness.

"He's your witness, returned Mr. Johnston.

"Yes, and I'm ashamed of him."

JAP CONSUL RETURNS CHECK.

Motives High and Honorable But Government Cannot Accept.

Vancouver, B. C., Nov. 21.—The Japanese Government, through its representative, Hon. K. Morikawa, has returned to Commissioner W. L. King, Deputy Minister of Labor, the check for $1,600 which was recommended by the commissioner and authorized by order-in-council to be paid to the consul, being an allowance on account of expenses in the preparation and presentation of estimates and claims of losses and damages sustained by the Jap population in the recent riots.

Of the $1,600 payment, $1,000 was for legal expenses and the remainder for amounts expended by the Japanese consulate in the preparation of estimates and losses. Hon. K. Morikawa states that while appreciating the high and honorable motives, he regretted that it was impossible for the Government of Japan to accept a reward for protecting the interests and property of the subjects of Japan.

PUTS IT UP TO CANADA.

Roosevelt Will Help U. S. Publishers If We Help a Little.

Washington, Nov. 21.—It was learned yesterday that the recommendation which President Roosevelt will make in his message in favor of free paper and free pulp to satisfy the publishers will not be the splendid boon which the publishers expect, because it will be conditional.

The conditions under which the President would be willing to have free paper and free pulp are that there shall be no export tax maintained on wood by Canada, so that paper-makers can get free raw materials also.

There is now no duty on wood. As there is said to be no likelihood of Canada refraining from maintaining stumpage tax, there is also little likelihood of publishers getting the tariff revised for their purposes.

Shoots Husband and Self.

New York, Nov. 21.—Half-crazed by jealousy because of her husband's attentions to another woman, Mrs. Lottie Hitchcock shot and instantly killed her husband Robert, as he lay sleeping in bed. She then shot herself.

They were married about a year ago.

Petition For Engineer's Release.

St. Thomas, Nov. 21.—Mayor Lawrence and Barrister Brothers left last night for Ottawa, with a petition for the release of Murray Stephens, the M. C. R. engineer who is serving a six months' sentence in connection with the diamond crossing wreck. The petition bears 1,000 signatures.

G. R. Coldwell was sworn in as Provincial Secretary of Manitoba.

STEVE ADAMS ON TRIAL.

Says He Was Asked to Corroborate Harry Orchard's Confession.

Rathdrum, Idaho, Nov. 21.—Steve Adams, in his trial for the alleged murder of Fred Tyler, took the stand in his own behalf. He told of his arrest in Baker City, Oregon, and said he was not allowed to see a lawyer until just before leaving, when a man named Moore came up and he and Brown and Thiel got into the cab with him and rode to the depot. Moore looked at his requisition papers and told Adams that he could keep him there, but thought is best for him to go to Boise. He said Brown told him that if he would go to Boise and corroborate the statements of the officials there; he would be all right, as he was on the inside and knew what he was talking about. He was placed in the cell with Harry Orchard at Boise and kept there five or six days. During that time Warden Whitney took him out and told him if he would corroborate the confession of Orchard he would be all right.

McPartland told him how he had let off several people who had done the killing in the Molly Maguire cases because they turned state's evidence. McPartland told him he represented Governor Gooding and the State of Idaho and wanted him to connect Simpkins and other federation officials.

SENSATIONAL ARRESTS.

Five Men Held For Stealing Copper Wire—Several Shots Fired.

Hamilton, Nov. 21.—The police yesterday made an arrest in a sensational manner, when they took into custody Louis Levi, a well-known metal dealer; W. Brooks, Joseph Goldberg, Albert Dunsmore and Harry Weinstein, charged with the theft of nearly a ton of copper wire from the Brantford & Hamilton Railway.

For several months complaints have been made by the Toronto & Hamilton Railway, and others, about thefts of this kind. A squad of detectives waited all night five miles from the city for the men to call for wire, which had been hidden. The five arrived yesterday morning. The officers watched them chop the wire up, and tracked them through the marsh to Levi's place. P. C.'s Barrett and Brannon rushed in on the men and knocked them down with their clubs.

Brooks escaped, but surrendered after several shots were fired. The five were handcuffed at the point of a revolver. Bail was fixed at $2,500 each.

SUNDAY SWITCHING.

Grand Trunk Ask Railway Commission to Give Ruling.

Ottawa, Nov. 21.—The Grand Trunk Railway Co. has made application to the Board of Railway Commissioners for a ruling as to the interpretation of the Lord's Day Observance Act, with regard to the rights of railways to switch and break up cars of freight on Sundays.

The Department of Justice has been asked to give an opinion as to the interpretation of the act.

David Langford's Walk.

Oshawa, Nov. 21.—David Langford finished his trip of 138 miles over the Port Hope-Toronto route at 8.59 last evening, having taken 36 hours 58 minutes, 39 minutes behind Jimmie Reynolds' record.

Langford finished in very bad shape, and collapsed the moment he stepped inside the Commercial Hotel here. He had to be carried upstairs. The man staggered into town with an utterly dejected look.

It took 18 hours 18 minutes to make the trip from Oshawa to Port Hope and return. The roads were muddy and slippery throughout the trip, and Langford may be said to have made a marvelous effort. He finished with his feet in good shape, and the first thing he asked for after his record was figured out was a bottle of stout.

Much discredit has been cast upon former records by reason of rumors persistently circulated to the effect that the walking was not on the square, but no suspicion need be cast upon Langford's record, as he walked every foot of the distance under the eye of a reliable Oshawa man, W. H. Stephenson.

Considering the conditions under which he walked, Langford is to be congratulated on his great endurance.

Held Up Night Operator.

Bridgeburg, Ont., Nov. 21.—William Hodgson, night operator at the Grand Trunk station at Stevensville, about six miles from here, while at his work about 11.30 Tuesday night was forced at the point of a revolver to open the till and hand over its contents to a robber who entered and surprised him. After getting the money, amounting to about $21, the man escaped, walking westward along the track.

Irish University Bill.

Dublin, Nov. 21.—According to The Evening Telegraph, Secretary for Ireland Birrell's Irish University bill will propose the establishment of a new university at Belfast and a new university to supersede the existing Royal University, which consists of Queen's College, Cork; Queen's College, Galway, and New College, Dublin.

Bill Miner Captured.

Vancouver, B. C., Nov. 21.—A despatch from Seattle states that a man answering the description of Bill Minor, the notorious train robber, has been arrested. He bears certain tattoo marks which led to his identification after the hold-up at Kamloops, and the police are certain they have the right man.

Brother's Slayer Arrested.

Selkirk, Man., Nov. 21.—Paul Biskilko, who shot and killed his brother, Maxim, at Little Britain on Monday night, walked to Selkirk and gave himself up to Constable Gardiner yesterday.

He feels his position keenly and claims that the shooting was purely accidental.

James Killen, of Niagara Falls, a gardener, was killed by a M.C.R. train on Saturday.

VIGILANT USED CANNON

Fired Shot Across Bows of Four Yankee Poachers.

Fishermen and Their Boats Captured After Lively Chase—Vessels Were In Canadian Waters Near Old Hen Island In Lake Erie—Would Not Surrender Till Gun Was Used on Them.

Put-In-Bay, O., Nov. 21.—The Canadian patrol Vigilant fired a shot at American fishermen Tuesday afternoon and captured them and their boats after a lively chase.

The Vigilant came upon two fishing boats containing four men, and a gasoline launch near Old Hen Island. The fishermen, when ordered to surrender, burried aboard the launch and set out for American waters.

The men were taken aboard the Vigilant and kept prisoners for some time, but were finally taken to other boats fishing on the American side, and given their liberty.

INDIAN RAILWAY STRIKE.

6,000 Passengers Are Stalled—Trouble Began With Engineers.

Calcutta, Nov. 21.—Traffic on the East Indian Railway, 2,163 miles long, and the second largest line in India, is rapidly becoming paralyzed by a strike.

The trouble originated with the engineers, who are almost entirely European, and Tuesday and yesterday great numbers of natives belonging to the traffic staff joined in the movement.

The most important section of the road, from Calcutta to Allahabad, is practically tied up and already 6,000 passengers are stranded at Asansol, Bengal, the junction of the East Indian and Bengal-Nagpur Railroad, where the strikers are threatening violence. Reports are constantly coming in of engineers leaving their trains at remote stations, and in some cases driving off with their locomotives and leaving the cars.

The jute mills are seriously affected by the strike. They have been obliged to stop work in consequence of the shortage of coal, and it is feared that the tie-up will delay loading outward-bound ships. The strikers complain of overwork and poor pay.

The strike at the present time is specially serious, in view of the famine conditions, which are becoming daily more widespread, necessitating the speedy transportation of relief supplies.

Rebellion In India.

St. Catharines, Nov. 21.—"There is no disguising the fact that India is disturbed, and you can scarcely pick up a paper these days without seeing something in that connection. If India should one day wake up to what she could do, what would Britain do? what could she do? I am no prophet, but I tell you this: One of these fine days there will be an upheaval in India and perhaps 50,000 men will have to be slaughtered to bring about a result which easily could be accomplished if we went about the thing in the right way now."

Rev. Dr. D. V. Lucas, an extensive traveler throughout the world, and who has made India a close study, gave expression to the above sentiments here at a large meeting, presided over by Mayor Riddell. Dr. Lucas advocated the formation of a British Imperial Parliament. To this Parliament India should send 20 representatives, half of them natives.

Welch Confessed Robberies.

Boston, Nov. 21.—Samuel A. Welch of Kingston, Ont., who was arrested last week on a charge of breaking and entering, confessed to the police yesterday to eight house robberies in this city, and several more in Somerville and Cambridge. When Welch was arrested he was carrying a loaded revolver, 25 skeleton keys and an amount of jewelry valued at $1,000. He was held for the grand jury.

Yellow Fever In Barbadoes.

Kingstown, Island of St. Vincent, B. W. I., Nov. 21.—An outbreak of yellow fever has occurred in the Island of Barbadoes. An official report, issued there Tuesday, says four cases of the disease have been discovered, two of which resulted fatally, among the seamen of the British cruiser Indefatigable.

Ate Castor Beans.

Woodstock, Nov. 21—Harry Charlesworth and George Kerr, a Toronto traveler, narrowly escaped death on Tuesday night by eating castor beans. Mr. Charlesworth had the beans in his pocket and nibbled one of them. Finding them palatable, he offered some to Kerr.

He Fell Among Thieves.

Brandon, Nov. 21.—Henry Brown of Toronto was fleeced out of $240 by three Winnipeg card sharpers on the C. P. R. train Tuesday. They were arrested afterwards. A conviction was secured on a charge of gambling on a train.

Five Workmen Killed.

Norfolk, Va., Nov. 21.—Five workmen were killed, one fatally, and a number seriously injured by the explosion of a boiler in a planing mill at the John L. Roper lumber mills, Gilmerton, Norfolk County, yesterday afternoon.

Bloemfontein Elections.

London, Nov. 21.—(C. A. P.)—In the Bloemfontein (South Africa) elections yesterday the Constructionalists carried Bloemfontein, winning four seats easily and losing the fifth by two votes. Other results unknown.

Bourassa Not Ill.

Ottawa, Nov. 21.—Henri Bourassa's brother stated last night that the former member for Labelle is not seriously ill, as despatches from Montreal state.

G.T.P. engineering parties on the mountain section will remain out all winter.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, Nov. 20.—(Special.)—About 800 head of butchers' and canners' cattle, 12 milch cows and springers, 150 calves, 800 sheep and lambs and 400 fat hogs were offered for sale at the east end abattoir to-day. There was only one load of good cattle on the market, and the most of them could scarcely be classed as prime beeves, they were bought by the Meat Packing Company at $4.70 per cwt. None of the others sold at over 3½c per lb. and there were more if the butchers' cattle, not including the canners, which sold at less than 2c per lb. than were sold at over 3c per lb. The common stock seemed to be a drug on the market and sold at from a little over 1c per lb. up to near 2½c per lb. The canners sold from 60c to 80c per cwt. Milch cows sold at from $30 to $55 each. Grass calves sold at 2c to 3½c per lb.; suckers at 4½c to over 5c per lb. Shippers paid a little over 3¾c per lb. for good sheep; lambs sold at 5c to a little over 5½c per lb. There is quite a drop in the price of fat hogs and while 5¾c per lb. is the general price of the good lots, some lots sold at 6c per pound.

Costly Fire at Winnipeg.

Winnipeg, Nov. 21.—A spectacular fire took place last night when the Rat Portage Lumber Co.'s sash and door factory, Frost & Wood's three-storey warehouse, and Dyson's pickle factory were completely destroyed.

The fire started in the Frost & Wood three-storey frame warehouse, which was soon destroyed.

There was a heavy wind at the time, and the Rat Portage Lumber Co.'s factory soon caught and the firemen could do nothing with it. Dyson's factory also was destroyed. The firemen had a hard fight to prevent the fire from spreading still further.

The loss will be fully $250,000; partially covered by insurance.

Insane Mother Kills Children.

Rochester, N. Y., Nov. 21.—While temporarily insane, Mrs. Elizabeth Thomas, wife of Jacob Thomas a farmer, residing near Palmyra, slashed her two children in the throat with a knife yesterday morning, killing a four-months-old baby and wounding her five-year-old daughter Martha to such an extent that her life is despaired of. Her deed was not discovered until noon, when her husband and the hired man came in for their noonday meal.

BLAME N. Y. ENGINEER

Bridge Company Officials' Evidence as to Quebec Disaster.

Wrock Laid Directly on Change in Unit Stresses — Suggested by Theodore Cooper—Did Not Provide For Support of Increased Span—Placed Whole Construction Beyond Past Experience.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 21.—The collapse of the great cantilever bridge over the Quebec River on Aug. 29, with the incident heavy loss of life, was put squarely up to modifications in the original design of the bridge made by the consulting engineer, Theodore Cooper, in the testimony of the principal officers and engineers of the Phoenix Bridge Co., made public here yesterday by the Canadian Royal Commission, after four weeks of careful examination of the records and works of the Phoenixville Co.

The officials examined were David Reeves, president of the Phoenixville Iron Co. and the Phoenix Bridge Co.; John Sterling Deans, chief engineer; Peter Ssalpka, designing manager, and Ellsworth L. Edwards, inspector of the Quebec Bridge Co. at Phoenixville. In effect, their testimony was unanimous that the fault of the bridge could be directly traced to changes in the original plan made by Mr. Cooper, who, a short time before actual construction began, changed the length of the principal span from 1,600 to 1,800 feet without making adequate changes in the supports to the main span to compensate for the increased length.

"The fall of the bridge is to be laid directly to the change in the unit stresses as made by Mr. Cooper," said David Reeves, in his sworn testimony, "and," he continued, "he made modifications in the unit stresses to be employed by the various members, which very much increased them beyond precedent, and by so doing placed the whole design in a field outside the benefit of experience. Such high stresses had never before been used and by using them he acted on the authority of the Quebec Bridge Co. and the Dominion of Canada, invested in him.

TOP OF HEAD BLOWN OFF.

Terrible Death of Former Lansdowne Man Near Red Deer, Alta.

Brockville, Nov. 21.—The news has reached here of the terrible end of George Beatty, a native of Leeds County, and for many years a resident of Lansdowne, where he was born and raised. At Red Deer, Alta., while shooting rats in the cellar of his hotel, the gun discharged in taking it down from the wall, and the contents, entering over the right eye, took an upward course, blowing off the top of his head.

Deceased left these parts 25 years ago, after serving with the Canadian troops in the first Riel rebellion, and engaged in farming, near Red Deer, subsequently purchasing an hotel. He leaves a widow and family. Walter Beatty, ex-M. P. P., Delta, is a brother.

Accident on Grand Trunk.

Hamilton, Nov. 21.—An accident on the Grand Trunk near the "Y" at the extreme westerly limit of the city yards occurred shortly after 5 o'clock yesterday morning, when two freight trains had a pitch-in. The impact was terrific, and one of the engines and several cars were badly damaged, the wreckage being scattered over the tracks for a considerable distance. Traffic from the west was blocked for several hours, and the Toronto trains were sent east over the old Beach line. The auxiliaries managed to clear the line by noon. No one was seriously injured, the crew jumping before the crash. The damage to the rolling stock was considerable.

One of the freights was from Toronto, the other from the west.

Accidentally Shot.

Delhi, Nov. 21.—Yesterday morning at Hawtrey, a small village about five miles from here, Patrick Murphy took his gun and told his wife that he was going out to the barn to shoot a weasel.

Mrs. Murphy heard the gun fired, and, her husband not returning, she went out to the barn and found him lying dead, having been shot through the stomach. Murphy was a prosperous farmer, and leaves a widow and two young children.

A BECOMING TEA GOWN

The tea gown is as indispensable to the modern woman of cultured tastes as her slippers or her bath gown, especially during the cool days, when the fireside and the afternoon cup of tea are luxuries to be anticipated with delight. The model illustrated is an especially pleasing one, the long straight lines being becoming to almost any type of figure, while the tucked collar, wide at the back and shoulders and narrowing in front to a point, has a most graceful effect. A charming result, too, is afforded by the tucked yoke, below which the full front falls in unbroken lines to the hem. The gown is adapted to the figure at the waistline by a series of small tucks, over which a ribbon girdle may be adjusted if desired, though this is not necessary. Lansdowne was selected for developing the gown, dotted foulard being used for the full front and embroidered ecru batiste for garniture. To model the medium size 8½ yards 36 inches wide will be needed.

6957—6 sizes, 32 to 42 inches bust measure.

LETTER BOX THIEVES

MANY INGENIOUS METHODS OF STEALING MAIL MATTER.

Art of Dry Fishing—A Lucrative "Profession"—Thieves Usually Work in Pairs—Birdlime Used As Bait—Artful Dodges Resorted to In Order to Secure Success—Letters Rifled and Re-Posted.

The letter-box thief is by no means of recent birth. The calling has been practised in various forms for many years, and the adoption of the use of postal orders made the "profession" much more profitable, so that at one time there was almost a glut in its ranks. Many were the ingenious methods invented to carry out the larcenies successfully, writes Ex-Chief Inspector Robinson in Answers.

Letter-box thieves invariably work in pairs. One acts as the "look-out" or "crow," while the confederate operates the "tackle" and does the 'dry fishing," as it is termed, at the letter-box. When once letters are abstracted, they are taken clear away from the scene of operations—generally into some "doss house"—before they are examined.

When the thieves have decided on a private box they are to attack, which is usually selected by reason of its proprietors doing a class of business on the "cash with order" system, they carefully watch the postman on his first delivery of letters, about 8 a.m., and no sooner is he at a safe distance than one of the thieves is busy "angling" at the box by means of a string, or thin wire, attached to a piece of leather or canvas, about the size of an ordinary envelope. To this is affixed a weight, or heavy piece of lead, so as to carry the apparatus on to the letters in the box, and to exercise pressure when that position is reached. The whole is well besmeared with birdlime, to which anything loose will readily adhere.

Slick Contrivance.

To prevent larcenies of this kind, several important firms caused their letter-boxes to be constructed so that the letters fell many feet into the basement. This, for a time, was attended with some amount of success, but eventually an appliance to meet even this difficulty was constructed. It consisted of a bag, or pouch, attached to thin wire supports, riveted in the middle and worked on the principle of a pair of tongs. This pouch was inserted into the aperture of the letter-box, the apparatus being closed. When properly inside, the tongs-like wire were opened. This unfolded the pouch, and the top of each wire being bent, it was secured to the sides of the opening.

When the contrivance was full of letters to the mouth, they could be extracted one or two at a time by means of a pair of pincers.

Public letter-boxes are usually selected for their proximity to some noted commercial house, or large business establishment, from which cheques or postal orders are sent out by post—such, for instance as a prominent auctioneer's or large stock-broker's.

In addition to monetary losses, the trouble and inconvenience occasioned by the letter-box thief is immense. As may be imagined, many letters are drawn out of the boxes, and eventually destroyed, before even one is obtained containing anything of negotiable value.

Puzzling Case.

I recollect a case which at first seemed very puzzling. A postman on making his collection from a street pillar-box just off Drury Lane found some forty or fifty letters therein, the envelopes of which were open, although the contents appeared to be intact. In due course he reported the matter to the police.

In conjuction with the postoffice authorities, I had the letters placed in official envelopes and delivered to the owners. The damaged envelopes I retained to assist in the inquiry. Although smeared with a sticky substance, the fact of the letters being open in the box seemed most strange.

Inquiries revealed the fact that all the letters had been originally posted in the city. Then the secret was out. They had been stolen from a city letter-box, taken into one of the many lodging-houses in Clare Market, and there examined. Those found opened in the letter-box were valueless to the thieves, who, unable to destroy them in the house without attracting notice, considerately posted them, thus unintentionally saving much trouble to the owners.

A Terrifying Experience.

An interesting story of the supernatural was current not very many years ago of a young girl who slept one night in the "Blue," or "Haunted Room," at Hampton Court. At the witching hour, says the writer in "P.T.O.," she was awakened by a loud noise in the adjoining room. The door of her apartment was violently shaken, the handle rattled, and the sound of footsteps could be heard distinctly. Suddenly it appeared to the startled girl that a figure was gliding up and down in the darkness close to her bed; and then it seemed as if a towering form stooped and gazed into her face. No sound was uttered by the wraith, but the frightened girl felt a cold draught on her cheek, like the blast of an icy breath that might herald the passing of a soul. Then the atmosphere of the room lightened, the noises instantaneously ceased, and the poor girl was left in a dead faint. The integrity of the person who related this story cannot be questioned.

Napoleon and Waterloo.

Military men of all countries have repeatedly declared that Napoleon's last campaign was admirably planned and, up to Waterloo, admirably executed. Napoleon was defeated at Waterloo not because of any twist in his brain, but because of the rain that fell on the night of the 17th of June and the incompetency or treachery of Grouchy. Had it not rained on the 17th, or had Grouchy obeyed orders and kept Blucher from the French right, Napoleon would unquestionably have gained a victory at Waterloo.

Because of the scarcity of feed live stock in Elgin and Kent are being sold at sacrifice prices.

MURDERED IN COLD BLOOD.

Mollie Lewis Found Dead and Police Arrest Chinaman.

Frank, Alta., Nov. 21.—The mounted police from Frank were called to Blairmore yesterday morning on the discovery of one of the foulest murders in the history of Alberta.

Mollie Lewis, a woman of ill-repute, was found dead in her home near Blairmore at an early hour yesterday, and there are ample signs of murder. The police have arrested a Chinaman named Sam Sing on suspicion. There is as yet very little against him.

Revising the Vulgate.

Rome, Nov. 21.—Abbott Gasquet, president of the English Benedictines, has arrived in Rome to undertake the revision of the vulgate, or St. Jerome's version of the Bible. This matter has been entrusted to the Benedictines by the Vatican.

The abbot will select his assistants next week, and it is his desire to have among them an American. He is not restricted to Catholics in his selection. The Pope insists that the work be done in the most scientific way, to convince Catholics as well as non-Catholics, that this is a genuine attempt to discover the true basis of the text of St. Jerome.

This attitude will prove, it is believed, that the Vatican does not fear scientific discussion of the vulgate.

Tried to Stuff Voters' Lists.

Chatham, Ont., Nov. 21.—Wholesale fraud in stuffing and attempting to stuff the voters' list in Tilbury East, was proved against W. J. Coutts, worker in the interests of A. B. McCoig, M.P.P., Liberal candidate for the Dominion House of Commons in West Kent, at the Court of Revision held before Judge Bell in Valetta Tuesday. These charges were brought against the McCoig agent by H. S. Clements, M. P., the Conservative candidate. It was shown conclusively that Coutts, a recognized and prominent Liberal worker in the township, had deliberately added names to the voters' list of boys under age, non-residents of the township and deceased persons.

Injured by Explosion.

Listowel, Nov. 21.—Peter Nicholson, a sub-contractor on the Guelph-Goderich Railway, was badly injured yesterday by an explosion of dynamite. After setting the charge he returned to see why it did not explode. The explosion took place, blowing off his hand and injuring his eyesight, which the doctors are now trying to save.

Pope Postponed Consistory.

Rome, Nov. 21.—The Pope has expressed his intention to postpone until January the consistory which, it seemed to be established, was to take place in the middle of December. Nothing definite is known regarding the creation of new cardinals, but it would seem that only a few Italians will be created.

For the Layette.

In a recent number of the Delineator are given these few very suggestive and helpful hints in the matter of a baby's first wardrobe:

"First, a few of the 'don'ts.'

"Don't buy poor material, for baby's clothes are often soiled and often washed and should be strong enough to look well after frequent launderings.

"Don't make elaborate, fussy garments, which make the baby look like an animated pillowsham. They make hard work for the laundress, much trouble for the mother and a great deal of discomfort for the baby.

"Don't make more articles than are really needed. Baby grows very quickly and needs larger clothes every few months.

"Briefly, then, get good materials, make neat, simple styles and get just the needful quantities. An ample list will include:

"Six night slips, six day slips, one fine robe, six barriecoats (pinning blankets), three flannel skirts, three white skirts, three pairs bootees, thirty-six diapers, three flannel bands, three knit wool shirts with long sleeves and seven bibs."

Old Curiosity Shop.

The Old Curiosity Shop in Portsmouth street, Lincoln's Inn Fields, in which tourists have spent thousands and thousands of pounds, is soon to be demolished.

Countless persons have accepted this shop as the "Old Curiosity Shop" of Charles Dickens, but it has never been established that the great novelist had it in mind when he wrote his story.

TECHNICAL TRAINING.

What Is Being Done In England to Educate the Young.

Some few years back British manufacturers preferred the workman who could only use his tools. Theory was tabooed—practice was enough. But foreign competition has taught a lesson which is bringing about results beneficial to the trades of the country. It has been discovered that the man who can design and draw, as well as make, an object is the valuable person and he finds employment where the purely hammer and chisel practitioner has to go idle. In the technical schools under the control of the London County Council it is made imperative that the student shall know his trade from beginning to end. He must thoroughly work out his ideas on paper before he is allowed to express them in the necessary material. The system may be seen at its best in the exhibition of work executed by the boys and girls at the Technical Institute, Pitfield street, Shoreditch. In that admirable institute, they begin by giving the pupils an intimate knowledge of the alphabet of their craft, then they pass, as it were, to the forming of words, and, these essentials acquired they proceed to composition. The success of this training is evident in all the exhibits. For example, a boy is set to design a cabinet. He is told the dimensions. A rough design is made and criticized by the teachers; sectional elevation, and other drawings are limned. A cutting list is prepared, then the model is begun and completed to scale, and a cost estimate of the full-sized object is furnished. Is it small wonder that the knowledge of this exhaustive character is appreciated by the progressive employer? A talent thus developed can adapt itself to many things.

The school is meant for those who intend to follow some particular trade, and there are day and evening classes—those held in the day time being preparatory, those in the evening for youths who are in employment—the ages in both sections ranging from 14 years. The work done is excellent in design and workmanship. The idea is always in conformity with its practical evolution. Ornament is chaste and applied with taste and economy of material. Mother of pearl and the natural color of various woods are utilized with artistic judgment, evident in a series of cabinets, a handsome hall stand of oak inlaid with rosewood, holly, and ebony, and in two beautifully proportioned fireplaces and overmantles, one done by a deaf and dumb boy. Two or three other lads similarly afflicted show capital specimens of panelling, and there are a flight of steps with balustrade, the effort of six boys, a substantial well-fitted oak cabinet, upholstering, carving, architectural draughtsmanship, pattern making, etc.

The dressmaking and embroidery section contain skilful work, and in the domestic economy class girls learn how to cook a substantial dinner for four people at a cost of one shilling, dainty dishes for supper, pastry; and not only do they know how to treat the matter at their disposal but they know the constituent parts of a juicy chop or a pint of milk. In this branch elementary dressmaking and laundry work are important features, carefully studied and well executed.

RATS ATE HORSE ALIVE.

Horse Attacked by Rodents at Night Was Found Skeleton in Morning.

Kildysart, in County Clare, is becoming famous for happenings of a wonderful kind. Astonishing stories have come from that part of Ireland of late, but they have been entirely capped by the amazing tale now to hand concerning the exploit of a party of rats that attacked a horse alive, and in the course of one night picked clean its bones.

A horse which had been badly injured (so the story goes) was on Saturday handed over to a knacker, who took the animal down to the seashore, it being his custom to remove the hides from dead horses and to launch the remains into the sea.

The knacker, however, did not destroy the horse on Saturday, but left it on the shore, and early on Sunday morning returned with the intention of killing it. To his surprise all he found of it was the clean-picked skeleton.

The place is infested with rats, and it is thought that the horse lay down, and it being unable to rise owing to weakness, the rodents attacked the animal and ate it alive.

Quaint London Charities.

Distributions were made recently in connection with three strange charities operating in the parish of Holborn. One was the Isaac Duckett bequest, founded in 1620, to be applied in equal shares for the benefit of poor maid-servants who had served one master or mistress for seven consecutive years. Of late this period has been reduced to five years. Of 57 applicants 31 were elected to receive each $20. The longest period of service boasted was 39 1-2 years.

The other two charities—Lady Hatton's and Mrs. Palmer's—both related to aged widows of over 60 years of age who had resided in the parish for ten years and never received poor relief. Under the former request about 28 widows received money, while Mrs. Palmer's benevolence was responsible for 24 old ladies receiving $25—the first half-yearly instalment of their $50 pension.

DEAR SIR,—

Your favor of the 24th inst. received enclosing statement of profits allotted to my policy 7091, in the "Sun Life" for the past five years.

Above policy is for $1,000 on the whole life five year distribution plan on which I paid an annual premium of $28.35, or $141.75 for the five year period.

I find the CASH PROFITS amount to $83.85, or about 60 per cent. of the total premiums paid during the five years. This is certainly a splendid showing and speaks volumes for the earning powers of the Sun Life Company's investments.

Thanking you and wishing your company continued success,

Committed on the Charge of Housebreaking

Wm. Haines Appeared Before Magistrate Edmison Yesterday—Boys Fined

In the County Court yesterday before Magistrate Edmison, Wm. Haines, of Cavendish, was committed for trial on a charge of breaking into the house of Rich. Bell, also of Cavendish, and carrying away certain goods and chattels.

Mr. W. H. Moore conducted the case for the Crown, and Mr. E. L. Goodwill defended the prisoner and pleaded not guilty and elected to be tried by a jury. Several witnesses were heard, the case taking up the whole of the afternoon. The evidence is not particularly strong against the prisoner. He will have to await trial till the sitting of the next general assizes. In the meantime he is allowed out on bail of $500, of two sureties of $200 each.

DAMAGED A FENCE

Vincent Clancy, Jas. O'Toole, Jas. O'Toole, Jas. Primeau and Chas. Holland, were fined 50 cents and costs, amounting to $2.85, for making a fire and damaging the fence of Sidney Garret, of Otonabee. They pleaded guilty and Mr. Garret was awarded sufficient money to get a new fence.

Charges Will be Threshed Out

The charges in connection with the faulty construction of the Romaine street sewer will be threshed out at a meeting of the whole Council at the City Hall to-night. A large portion of the sewer has been opened up and it is stated that as a result of the investigation some of the city officials will be hauled over the coals. Street Commissioner Evans will make a report.

WILL HOLD MR. FITZGERALD RESPONSIBLE

At the meeting of the Board of Works last night, the city engineer made a report in regard to the conditions at the creek on Murray-st., where J. E. (A. Fitzgerald) is making ground by filling in the south side of the stream. (Mr. Hay stated that a channel 30 feet wide had been left on the right of way of Murray-st. He recommended that Mr. Fitzgerald be notified that he would be held responsible for any damage that may result next spring by the channel being confined as it is to the north side.

On motion of Ald. (Wilson and Johnston, it was decided to carry out the recommendation of the city engineer.

ANOTHER DENIAL

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—Your article two night's ago, referring to a case of ptomaine poisoning, caused by the eating of sausages, casts a reflection particularly on George street butchers. As my place of business is located on that street, I am included in the ban, and think it would be only fair to myself and the other butchers to have you give the name of the butcher who made the sausage in question, or make public the statement that the infected meat was not purchased at my store. Thanking you for you for your courtesy.

Industries Idle This Morning

Not Supplied With Power—Are in Operation This Afternoon

Several leading industries in the city were idle for a few hours this morning. The reason was "no power."

It appears that something got on the lines of the Peterborough Light Power Co. and caused a short circuit This caused all the fuses on the main feeders at No. 2 power house to blow out. They had to be removed and new ones installed. Some damage was also done to the wires at the back of the switchboard.

Non Jury Sittings Opened To-day

Three Cases on the Docket—Justice Maybee Presiding

Three non-jury cases are being dealt with by Mr. Justice Maybee at the fall sittings of the High Court of Justice, without jury, which opened this afternoon at 10 o'clock. The lawyers in attendance are messrs. R. E. Wood, F. D. Kerr, L. M. Hayes, M. P. Pousette and D. O'Connell.

The first case that came up this afternoon was Fowler vs. Green and Robson. The plaintiff, Margaret Fowler, a neice of Mary Robson, deceased, and the defendants, William Robson and Jas. T. Green, are the executors of the last will and testament of Jas. T. Green, deceased. The plaintiff claims that she was not paid $700, which the deceased Joseph Green had agreed to pay the plaintiff for the board and keep of Mary Robson, in addition to small weekly payments. The above amount was to be paid out of the estate of the deceased. Jas. Green, who signed a cheque for the amount on July 29, 1905. Dennistoun, Peck and Kerr for the plaintiff, R. E. Wood for the defendants.

Case of Assault Will be Heard

George Coleman and Wm. Watt will appear before Magistrate Edmison on Saturday, charged with assaulting George Sidey, of South Monaghan and occasioning him actually bodily harm. It appears that the defendants went to Sidey's home to spend the evening, and got into a scuffle in which Sidey got the worst of it. The case will be aired in court on Saturday morning. Both men were arrested, but Coleman got bail, and Watt is confined in the county gaol.

Ottawa Not Likely to Come Here

Peterboro' Ordered to Play off in Montreal a Week From Saturday

Secretary McKeandi of the C. R. F. U., has intimated to Treasurer Clark of the local club that Peterborough is scheduled to play off with Montreal in that city a week from Saturday for the Dominion championship in case Ottawa does not come here for the game on Saturday. From present indications the fourteen from the Capital city will not meet the locals and up to the present time have given no decided answer. The Peterborough club in naturally greatly disappointed over the results of their negotiations with Ottawa and would like nothing better than to have the match played as ordered by the Union.

A meeting of the executive and the team is called for to-night at the Oriental at 7.30 o'clock. Every member of the team and the executive is requested to be in attendance as matters of importance will be discussed, among them the question of sending a team to Montreal to battle for the Canadian championship is one of great moment.

PROGRAMME FOR INDOOR MEET DRAFTED

Three Mile Special Race Will be a Feature—Entries Should be Made at Once

A programme has been mapped for the big indoor athletic meet to be held in the Brock street rink on December 3rd and it is published below. It is subject to changes, but in the main will likely be the programme followed. The committee are hard at work and arrangements are rapidly being completed.

The programme which has been drafted is as follows:

1.—50 yards, handicap.
2.—880 yards, handicap.
3.—220 yards, handicap.
4.—1 mile, open.
5.—Exhibition of shot putting.—T. O'Rourke, of the Irish-Canadians.
6.—3 mile handicap, Fred Simpson and Ben Howard on scratch.
7.—Exhibition run.—Tom Longboat.
8.—3 mile special race, one entry from—
Irish-Canadians.
Central Y.M.C.A., Toronto,
West End Y.M.C.A., Toronto,
Peterborough Y.M.C.A.

It has been decided to have no five mile race owing to the small track and the two events on the programme that will likely arouse the greatest interest are the three mile handicap and the three mile special. There will be a big bunch of entries in the former, principally local men. It is proposed to start Simpson and Howard on scratch. Ernie Wilson will be Peterborough's representative in the three mile special event and should give a good account of himself.

Entries must be made to the secretary of the Harrier Club (Mr. R. M. Glover, Examiner office, before Friday, November 29th. There is no entry fee and the prizes will in all probability be gold, silver and bronze medals, for first, second and third places respectively.

The Irish-Canadians are coming in full force, including the great Longboat and Coley and Sellen. One of the latter two will represent the Irish-Canadians in the three mile special race.

Langford Was Again Unable to Make Time

Completed Walk of 128 Miles But Failed to Lower Jimmy Reynolds' Record

David Langford failed in his attempt to walk 128 miles in 45 hours. He arrived at Oshawa last night at 8.57, his time being 36 hours and 58 minutes, which is 39 minutes behind Jimmy Reynolds' time. From Port Hope to Oshawa was a desperate struggle for Langford, and he grew weaker as he neared the end of the trip. It was thought he would succumb a short distance east of the town, but the cheers of the throng of citizens who went out in the rain to meet him seemed to give him heart, and he walked into town a most pitable looking object. On arriving here he walked with a listless step and dazed look through a solid mass of people, to the Commercial Hotel, where he fainted on entering. He was carried to his room, and after being rubbed well, went to sleep.

Crescents and Karnots to Play

On Saturday Afternoon for the City Championship

The Crescents and Karnots will play a game of Rugby on Riverside Park on Saturday afternoon to decide the city championship. This no doubt will be a very interesting contest and both aggregations will struggle hard to win.

Chosen Friends Will Hold Debate

To-morrow Night in the S. O. E. Hall

At the regular meeting of the Canadian Order of Chosen Friends to-morrow night, an interesting debate will be given on, "Resolved that the country girl makes a better wife than a city maid." This question was discussed at a former meeting of the Order, but it is expected some new light will be thrown on the subject. All the members are urgently requested to be present at 8 o'clock in the S. O. E. Hall.

Fred Scott was exonerated from blame for the death of John Baptiste by a coroner's jury at Brantford.

ANNUAL MEETING OF BIBLE SOCIETY

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Bible Society will be held on Wednesday, Nov. 27th. Rev. W. H. A. French, of Fenelon Falls, will deliver the annual address. It is expected that the meeting will be held in St. John's church school house.

ENJOYABLE "AT HOME"

Peterborough Council, Knights of Columbus, held the first of a series of "At Homes" last evening in their spacious club rooms on George street. About 100 couples were present consisting of the members and their lady friends. Progressive euchre was enjoyed during the first hour or two, followed by a delightful dance. Miss McCabe furnished music. Refreshments were served. The committee to whom the success of the event is largely due, was composed of: A'd. Phelan, chairman; J. F. Foley, secretary; R. Sheehy, H. LeBrun, F. Shannon and F. McFadden.

Will Not Injure Delicate Fabrics

Mr. George Record Has Made Study of French Dry Cleaning System

About four years ago the New American French Dry Cleaning System was discovered by means of which a finished workman is now able to successfully clean and renew garments made of the finest and most delicate fabrics. Mr. George Record, who has just opened up his dry cleaning establishment in the new brick block, 173 Simcoe Street, has made a special study of this modern way of renovating valuable clothing, and is well fitted to give his patrons satisfaction in this line of work. The newest machinery has been installed, and everything is in readiness to handle the work quickly.

Mr. George K. Martin, who for the past two months has been in Nova Scotia on business, has returned to the city. Mr. Martin, who is inspector for the Imperial Guarantee and Accident Company, thoroughly organized the Maritime Province in the interest of his company. He says that business is good down east and the people happy and contented. In Cape Breton they had a rather severe snow storm six weeks ago.

Men Who Have Made Canada

Interesting Addresses Given at Y.M.C.A. Debating Club.

The regular meeting of the Y.M.C.A Literary and Debating Club was held last night. There was a good attendance. This club has progressed steadily ever since its organization and is now one of the most interesting, as well as the most profitable, clubs that any young man interested in literary work, or wishing to cultivate the art of public speaking, can belong to.

The meeting was in the form of orations of fifteen minutes each on "Men who have helped to make Canada."

The life and work of Sir John A. Macdonald was ably and cleverly dealt with by Mr. N. A. Howard-Moore.

Hon. Joseph Howe was discussed by the president of the club, Mr. Wilfred Shiner.

Hon. George Brown was referred to in a very able manner by Mr. Fred. Ray.

A general discussion on some of the great men who have helped to make Canada was indulged in by several of the members present. The question as to whether a man who is elected to Parliament should necessarily adhere strictly to his principles or be led with the majority was also considered at some length.

The critic of the society, Mr. J. E. Hudson, gave a very concise and impartial review of the different orations and complimented the speakers on the splendid addresses and the manner in which they had been delivered. He was well pleased with the literary progress of the club.

The next meeting will be held on Dec 4th, when an interesting debate will take place—Resolved, that the individual control of capital is opposed to the best interests of the people.

All young men interested, whether Y.M.C.A. members or not, cordially invited.

Motion refused with costs. C. W. Kerr for plaintiffs. J. Bicknell, K.C., for the Ontario Bank, third parties. T. W. J. O'Connor for defendants.

AMUSEMENTS

LOST AND WON

The Ernie Marks Company presented "Lost and Won" to a large and appreciative audience in the Grand Opera House last night. This evening the company will close its four night's engagement with "Dangers of a Great City." De Mateos, the handcuff expert, did some great work last night, in extricating himself from seemingly impossible positions. In the presence of a committee of three his hands were firmly bound with ropes and he was then tied in a chair. The handcuff expert succeeded in getting free in a comparatively short space of time and the ropes were not cut. De Mateos was also bound with ropes, placed in a box, the box was nailed and also bound with ropes. De Mateos succeeded in getting clear in a few minutes. His work was certainly wonderful.

THE WAY OF THE TRANSGRESSOR

Miss Francesca Parker, who plays the leading comedy role in the big scenic novelty, "The Way of the Transgressor" is a charming actress, who combines rare talent with youth and beauty. She is very graceful in her dancing and charming when she sings. She is only one of the large company engaged to play the dramatic roles in this attraction and these actors are supplemented by a corps of clever specialty performers who will introduce a number of novelties. The scenic effects are striking, novel and indescribably grand. A feature of the production is the wonderful Landseer dogs who have been educated to a marvellous degree of proficiency. They all play parts in the drama and play them in a masterly manner. 'The Way of the Transgressor' appears at the Grand Saturday, Nov. 23, matinee and night.

Was Disorderly in Chinese Cafe

Arthur Fowler Heavily Fined in Police Court—Other Cases

Arthur Fowler, a young Englishman, was fined two dollars and costs, amounting to $5.75, for being disorderly in the Chinese Cafe at the corner of George and King streets last evening. Fowler pleaded not guilty, but upon the evidence of C. Q. Woo, the proprietor, His Worship imposed the above fine, which was paid forthwith.

It appears that the defendant, with another fellow, went into the restaurant and ordered their supper. Fowler refused to pay and in a scuffle with C. Q. Woo some obscene language was used and a large window in the door was broken in an attempt to get Fowler out.

BOYS DID NOT GO TO SCHOOL.

Mr. Varadino, a Greek, was charged with neglecting to send his son, August Varadino, to school. The school register showed that he had only attended six days in September, but his father explained this by stating that they were Roman Catholics and his son was now going every day to the Separate school. His Worship enlarged the case until to-morrow.

Mrs. Watman faced a similar charge of neglecting to send her son to school. She said that she sent him every day and he only stayed away when ill. "See that he goes all the time or you will be fined if you appear again."

VIOLATED THE NEW BY-LAW.

Mark Butcher was not aware that a couple weeks ago a by-law was passed by the Council prohibiting the lighting of rubbish fires within certain city limits, and yesterday had one going near his shop on Simcoe street. He explained that they had no backyard and was forced to turn the rubbish on the street. His Worship accepted the explanation and warned Mr. Butcher not to do it again.
